A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

By a tenement house fire in Chicago, Monday, two men, two women and four children were burned to death.

Scrofula diseases manifest themselves in the spring. Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, and removes every taint of scrofula.

Dr. Clinton H. Davis, formerly of Iowa, has been killed by the Indians near Fort Crowell, Arizona.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

A despatch of June 5th from Rome announced that the eruption of Mt. Ætna has ceased, and the town of Nicolosa is safe.

After trying all the other plasters, salves, lotions, get relief and cure by using a Hop Plaster.

The coroner's jury in New York found that F. R. Reed, the Yale divinity student found in the East river with a bullet hole in his head, was murdered.

Not like others. Hop Plaster are pain allaying and strengthening. Used by multitudes.

The dead body of an unknown man, supposed to be a lumberman missed from the Glastenbury lumber camp last fall, was found on the 5th inst. on the Glastenbury mountains near Bennington, Vt.

Chronic catarrh. The result of twenty-five years catarrh:—The bridge, or division of my nose, was about half gone. I obtained a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm; have used four bottles, applying it to the affected parts with a swab, which has about cured up the nostrils. I had previously tried all other remedies on the market without permanent relief.—J. A. Wood, 96 N. High street, Columbus, O.

Thomas J. Sweeney, an ex-liquor dealer of Holyoke, Mass., who disappeared a month ago leaving his hat and coat on the river bank, has been found working in a mill at Patterson, N. J. He was under heavy bonds in a liquor case when he ran away.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

A number of the Dover high school cadet corps on Friday night serenaded Alderman Guppey and Ex-Alderman Trefethen with fish-horns, tin pans, drums, etc., and assaulted Mr. Trefethen, they having incurred the enmity of the boys by opposing a municipal appropriation of $225 for the purchase of guns for the cadets. The city government should at once cancel the appropriation.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Sold by druggists. Price, 50 cents a box. See advertisement.

The general synod of the Reformed church, sitting at New Brunswick, N. J., received a committee report, stating that the defalcation of the ex-treasurer, John R. Smith, was $24,425. The board being already $10,000 in debt the defalcation comes with staggering effect.

How Often

We see some young man who has squandered his money and ruined his health by excesses, and before thirty years of age is an all broken down and played out man! In all such cases I prescribe nature's tonic and nervine, Sulphur Bitters. They supply food for the brain, strengthen the nerves, and are successful in nine cases out of ten.—Old Physician.

The immense slaughter of birds for decorating female head-dresses is indicated by the fact that England imports from India, Africa and America ten million dollars' worth of feathers and birds every year. One and a half million exotic birds, including 250,000 humming birds, are annually imported to France and England.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children Teething. Time to relieve Chicago and it will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtJan

A MAP

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental line in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rails, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and the unfailing discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely served, before reaching Council Bluffs, Kansas City, and points in interior Dakota.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and read the new book "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. It is need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practiced by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

A Lucky Man.

Loyd French of Colesburg was in town Wednesday and called at the News office. His good-natured face was unwreathed in smiles and "he seemed just as happy as a big sunflower that nods and bends on the breeze." Loyd has just received $5,000 as the result of a $1 investment in the April drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery, and no wonder he is happy. Mr. French says he has drawn several small prizes in this lottery before, but had not bought a ticket for several years until January; since then he has a dollar in each monthly drawing, and the fourth time he it is for even $5,000. The number of his ticket was 11,565 Mr. French has a wife and five children, and is a man in moderate circumstances. The money he has drawn in the lottery will put him square on his feet, and give him a start in the world.—Elizabeth (Ky.) News, May 1st.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All whose BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 80 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE STRENGTH.

When the skin is very tough and hard, and the follicle is apparently effectually closed, the single strength will sometimes fail to reach the papilla; in such cases the double or triple strength should be used in connection with the single, using them alternately.

Price, Single strength $1.00; Double strength $2.00; Triple strength $3.00. If your druggists have not got it we will send it prepaid on receipt of price. BENTON HAIR GROWER CO.,

WIT AND HUMOR.

Mrs. Dusenberry—"The ladies are starting anti-plumage leagues all over the country. Now, as I am a humane woman——" Mr. Dusenberry—"I don't take any interest in the project. It is too trifling in its economical aspect. I could suggest an anti-league of great magnitude, and I'd like to see all the ladies join it." "Ah! what kind of a league is it?" "An anti-sealskin league. The seals have as much right to live as the birds, and there is ten times more money squandered for them."—Philadelphia Call.

The little ones have strange ideas of a hereafter. The Saunterer was conversing with a two-footer not long since, and the conversation turned on the New Jerusalem. "Well," said the tiny philosopher, "I expect only our heads go to heaven." "Why?" was the natural response. "O, because the pictures of angels that I have seen have been all head and wings." The same little logician, after hearing a description of the destruction of Pompeii, stood for a minute looking at Mount Vesuvius in a state of eruption, and then remarked: "Well, I suppose they were buried under the lava because people were wanted to fill up heaven."—Boston Budget.

Long and wearily had his anxious wife waited, when at last the husband entered, and, with his frame convulsed with anguish, threw himself into a chair, and burying his face in his hands, groaned: "We are ruined; tomorrow's sun will see the proud name of Jenkins among the list of bankrupts." Then outspoke the noble wife: "Say not so, my dear Peter; all is not lost. We have gone without ice for the last three months, and here is the money you gave me to pay the ice man," and she placed $50,000 on the table. The worn, weary face of the husband lighted up with joy as he exclaimed: "Maria, you are a daisy; if we had gone without gas for the same time I would have retired from business."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

"I've been basely defrauded," said the barber. "You see I am a sociable man and like to make it pleasant for my customers. About four months ago a stranger came in and took his place in the chair to be shaved. I asked him half a dozen questions and got no answer; finally he saw my lips move, and, taking out his note-book, scribbled on the fly-leaf, 'I'm totally deaf.' That settled it. He came in three times a week and almost always went to sleep in the chair while being shaved. To-day, while I was coming down in the car, I stood behind the fellow, and would you believe it, he was carrying on a conversation in an undertone, never missing a word his companion said. Deaf! Why, he can hear a watch tick in another man's pocket. It's a shame for him to treat me so."—Buffalo Courier.

He had never presided over a deliberative assembly, but he knew what he wanted (which is the main thing for the chairman of a meeting to know), and he said: "Twenty-five gentlemen have voted yes and forty gentlemen have voted no, and the motion is carried." "How do you make that out?" shouted several voices. "Why," said the chairman, "you go according to Cushing, don't you?" The disgruntled one had to admit that they did. "Well, then," continued the parliamentary neophyte, "doesn't he say that two negatives are equivalent to one affirmative? which is the same thing as saying that one affirmative is equivalent to two negatives?" There was a tendency to doubt that Cushing contained any such rule until one old gentleman who had voted in the negative said, "It's no use, fellers; we're beaten; I've heard that rule ever since I was a youngster."—Boston Transcript.

The impecunious dudes are delighted over the discovery of one of their number which is of such a novel nature as to be worthy of passing notice at any rate. The inexorable laws of fashion prescribe that the dude must have a crease running down the whole length of each trousers leg. Now this crease has a habit of absenting itself after the trousers have been worn several days, and making the dude's heart sad as he contemplates the solemn fact that he will have to pay his tailor half a dollar to press it in again. Now half a dollar is 50 big cents to most of our dudes, and they were beginning to feel the drain upon their purses when one of them hit upon a scheme which has secured him the grateful thanks of his fellows. Every night before he retires he folds his trousers carefully and lays them between the mattresses on his bed. He sleeps on them, and thus the creases are preserved for the admiration of the public next day.—Washington Letter to Boston Traveller.

I am afraid the incident of the time when Adjutant-General Guthrie declined to drink with Gov. Pattison is not as fresh as it might be, but it is good enough to risk, especially as they both acknowledged it. It happened at the time the governor-elect sent for Col. Guthrie to offer him the position of Adjutant-General. He tendered him the position, and at the same time, so that they might compare views, proceeded to give Col. Guthrie his own notions of the needs of the service. Prominently he spoke of the prevalence of drinking among the officers and the bad influence it must have on the men. Suddenly, as though it had just occurred to him to be worth while to know before he went any further, he whirled around in his famous revolving chair with the question: "By the way, Col. Guthrie, do you drink?" "Well, occasionally," responded the tall colonel, slowly. "But I don't care for anything just now, thank you."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Danger!

If you have a feeling of oppression and uneasiness a little above the diaphragm, and just below the right ribs, aggravated by lying on the right side, look out! As sure as fate, your liver is disordered. Perhaps not seriously as yet, but—fatal hepatic abscesses are not uncommon. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the precise remedy to regulate the liver, and prevent its congestion and inflammation, and to disperse such minor indicia of its derangement as yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye, furred tongue, sourness of the breath, nausea on rising in the morning, dizziness, sick headache and constipation. By relaxing the bowels painlessly, it opens a channel of exit for the superfluous bile, checks a tendency to congestion and engorgement of the liver, at the same time giving a gentle impetus to its secretive action, and affords relief to the stomach, which is usually inactive, out of order and oppressed with wind when the bowels are costive. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polis they have when new, which, everybod knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

Improvements are nearly completed at the Union house, and a few guests have arrived. During the winter a large addition was made, giving a new dining hall 40 x 60 feet; at one end are the carving rooms, at the other two small parlors, while above are ten airy sleeping rooms, most elegantly furnished. Other rooms have been remodelled, giving a parlor 20 x 40 feet, new fireplaces have been built in parlor and office, every room is connected with the office by electric bells, and there is a new bath room with hot and cold water.

There are several houses at the beach, built upon land owned by the town, which the law requires to be moved. It was a wrong act. Some of them are owned by people in Manchester, Lawrence and other cities, who spend their summers with us, and the town is benefitted. A furnished house was recently sold for $1250, and moved to the east part of the town.

There is a rumor in Boston that Collector Saltonstall has determined to resign his office, because it is so difficult to please the democratic politicians and carry out his cherished civil service idealism. If every public official appointed by the administration of President Cleveland should contemplate a resignation because he didn't satisfy his political friends, there would be vacancies every day in the week in New Hampshire and vicinity. We hope the Collector will remain in his office. It might be much worse if a change should be made.

John McClary Hill of Concord declines to go through the wear and tear of another canvass as a democratic candidate for governor. The principal work of a democratic candidate for governor in New Hampshire just now is to affix his signature to papers of applicants for office.

A large block of stock in the United States Shearer Co. is offered at auction to-day in Boston. That is where the lambs come in, probably.

AROUND HOME.

The house of our old friend John Nutter, on Water street, presents a fine appearance in its new coat of paint, and is quite an ornament to that quiet part of our city. It is painted in three colors, the main part a straw color, and the blinds and roof a bright red. The painting was done by Mr. Geo. H. Tripp, and in a first-class manner.

Sunday next, the 13th inst., will be observed by the North parish as Children's day, this being the first time such observance has obtained in that church. There will be a children's service in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the chapel on Middle street, which will be decorated with flowers and growing plants for the occasion; the exercises will consist of vocal and instrumental music, speaking of pieces by the children of the Sabbath school, etc.

The old Shaw house on Water street, now the property of Mrs. Benjamin W. Curtis, is being renovated as becomes an ancient mansion, and is being painted by Charles G. Meloon.

Joseph Jameson of Jefferson street has received from Epping some very fine silver-spangled Hamburg fowls, from which he intends raising chickens.

Justin V. Hanscom, Esq., has greatly improved the appearance of his residence by substituting for a front fence a handsome curb of granite.

The stores of Daniel Clark and Edward Jameson at Commercial wharf are filled with barrels for packing fish which are being brought in by the shore-boats. A few days ago two car-loads of barrels arrived here for them, about 600 of the barrels (sugar barrels) and 250 tea mats having been collected in Dover by Mr. Joshua M. Vaughan within two weeks.

Capt. James H. Chesley, a retired seacaptain, now living near Wolfeborough on the New Hampshire lake, was visiting Portsmouth last week, and engaged Warren Keen to build a flagstaff with old-fashioned cross-trees and cap. He said it was for the purpose of flying the old United States flag of the Union, which he delighted to look upon.

Prof. James Parsons of Philadelphia and Hon. N. G. White of Lawrence are occupying their cottages at Little Boar's head for the season. There has been an unusual demand for cottages for rent at Rye beach this season.

Mr. Elvin Newton came in from Lunging island, Isles of Shoals, on Sunday, to perfect his fishing arrangements. His crew are at the island, and most of his gear.

The schooners Hattie Lewis, Lillie, Emily A. Staples and Estella, with bricks from the up-river yards, sailed for Boston on Sunday.

The boiler of the steamer Appledore is undergoing repairs. An entire new set of tubes is being put in, and a thorough overhauling of the motive power is going on.

Cummings' shoe factory in South Berwick, which was shut down two weeks ago by the owner because the lasters' union submitted a new price list, started up last Monday morning, the proprietor yielding to the lasters' demands.

The Marshall house, York harbor, will open for the season June 25th. The proprietor reports the applications for rooms as out-numbering those of any former year, and more than half of the rooms have already been let for July and August.

Mr. Charles Churchill has recently placed upon his farm in Eliot four cosset sheep and a buck, lately landed in Boston from Morocco. They are said to be of very fine breed, and much more prolific than ordinary sheep.

The blueberry bushes on and around Mount Agamenticus are in full and plentiful bloom.

The canker worms have done and are doing great damage to the apple and elm trees in Eliot, some orchards looking as though fire had run through them. Other orchards that were attacked have been protected with paris green, which has been found quite as effective against the canker worm as against the potato bug, but has to be more sparingly applied, as the quantity which has no appreciable effect on potato vines will kill every leaf on an apple tree. The way it is applied is to fill a hogshead with a weak solution, about a teaspoonful of the poison to six quarts of water, place the hogshead on a drag and haul it through the infested orchard, stopping long enough at each tree to throw a small quantity of the infallible specific among the enemy by means of a portable force-pump.

In the British house of commons, June 7th, Gladstone's home rule bill was defeated by a vote of 341 to 311,—thirty adverse majority.

Happiness

results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

At Home

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 8th.

Rev. Eugene E. Colburn has just moved into the Paine house near the 2d Christian church, which the society have recently purchased for a parsonage. He was given a house-warming one evening last week, to which his parishioners responded liberally.

Mrs. Emily Goodwin and daughters, of Chelsea, Mass., have arrived at their cottage at the lower fore-side for the summer.

Rev. E. E. Colburn went to Haverhill, Mass., Monday to attend the New England conference of the Christian churches held there this week.

Mr. Henry W. Trefethen was quite seriously poisoned Friday evening last. His wife made some tea from herbs which her husband bought at a drugstore in Portsmouth, and he drank freely of it; in about half an hour after he was in great distress and nearly crazy, but the timely aid of Dr. Wentworth, who happened to be in the neighborhood, saved his life. Beltadonna was supposed to have been put in the herbs through mistake.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less. I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

The following named ladies and gentlemen have very kindly volunteered their services, and will appear at the strawberry festival to be given this evening at Congress hall by the Woman's Relief Corps in aid of the Soldiers Monument: Vocal music by Miss McCarthy, Cora Barnabee, and a quartette composed of Messrs. Newell, Cassidy, Gray and Hutchinson; piano solos by Mrs. Philbrick and Miss Whidden; whistling, accompanied by harmonica, by the Ham brothers; banjo playing by John Roberts, and harmonica solo by Mr. Philbrick. Mr. McIntire will generously place a piano in the hall for the occasion, free of expense. Mr. Pickard, who is a finished elocutionist, will give recitations.

The ladies of the Relief Corps, and all others interested in the object for which the festival is to be given, are requested to contribute cake or fancy articles for the occasion, sending the same to Congress hall this afternoon. See advertisement.

BASE BALL.

A game of base ball will be played at the Plains on Saturday between the Red Stockings of this city and the Rochesters of Rochester. The Red Stockings expect to have a game with the Newmarket club at a later date.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, June 8th.

Patrick Cassidy, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $5.76; county farm in default of payment.

IN A QUANDARY.

The town is billed for two circus shows, to visit us one before, the other after, the 4th of July. The boy of the period pauses in his financial calculations, and endeavors to recall the method by which his ancestor many years ago made his entree under the canvas without disbursing his hard achieved coin at the ticket wagon.

A PUZZLE.

While the steam fire engine Kearsarge was stationed on Market square, Monday afternoon, testing her gear by playing, it was deemed advisable to pump out the reservoir down far enough to see the working of the new two-inch feeding pipe recently put in by the aqueduct company. From what scanty information I have been able to glean the examination was not very satisfactory, as the new pipe, which has nearly double the capacity of the old inch-and-a-half one, did not deliver nearly so much water as the old one, though it has twenty feet more head. It took at least ten minutes to bail out the pit under the drinking fountain before a man could get down to turn the water on. The new pipe, if my information regarding it is correct, is by no means of the practical value that was anticipated, there being apparently a check to the free passage of a two-inch stream of water at some point between the reservoir and the State street main.

SPANNA.

POLICE AS PIONEERS.

Mr. Editor: The practice of having a squad of police officers march in front of a public procession was doubtless instituted in some city where there were plenty of officers, and others could do the police duty while their associates were on the march. But in a place of the size of Portsmouth, it is hardly worth while on occasions of public processions, when the services of the police in keeping streets through which the route of the procession lays clear of carriages, and in preserving order are so essentially necessary, to ornament a procession at such a sacrifice. On Memorial day, while the police were at the head of the procession, several boys on horseback were racing through crowded streets to the terror and danger of persons who had come out to see the procession. Had the police been permitted to be upon the duty most urgently demanded of them on occasions like Memorial day, the occurrence on Richards avenue by which a very estimable lady narrowly escaped a severe injury, would not have taken place. It is a theory in processional circles that police officers at the head of the column, like the pioneers who once marched in our volunteer military companies with uplifted axes, cleared the way; but there is a better process for this to be achieved by sending the officers ahead instead of having them march as a part of the procession. CLUB.

CARL BERRER KILLED.

Mr. Carl Berrer, for the past ten years or more connected with the United States engineer's office at Portland, was fatally injured while on the steam dredge at work in Portland harbor on the afternoon of the 7th inst., by the breaking of a chain which in falling struck him on the head, fracturing his skull. He died next morning. Mr. Berrer was well known to many persons in this vicinity, having taken a prominent part in the various surveys of obstructions in the harbor made by the government during the past ten years, and had much to do with seeing that the work of removing such obstructions was carried out according to contract. He made surveys for improvements in the Cocheco river, and also made the survey for the Quixotic dam across the Piscataqua below the Cocheco which was talked of some years ago.

ASTONISHING SPECTACLES.

Some of the Wonderful Things to be Seen Beneath the Canvas—A Peep at the Attractions of John B. Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Show, which will Exhibit in Portsmouth, Monday, June 21st.

No manager on earth has achieved the rapid improvement nor attached the good reputation Mr. Doris has. As a caterer to the amusement-public he stands without an equal. In no form of amusement has there been such radical changes as in the tenting shows. The people wherever Mr. Doris has exhibited in the eight years of his managerial existence, have learned to regard it as the embodiment of all that is new, fresh and desirable in a popular form of public entertainment, and a definite departure from the old-fashioned, over-estimated advertised concerns. Mr. Doris is a strictly conscientious manager—not only this, he is the most enterprising, and what is better, he never puts anything on the walls or in his newspaper advertisements that he hasn't got, and never makes any promises to the public that he does not fulfill to the very letter. This is the secret of his success, and this has made his name familiar throughout the country.

The Great Inter-Ocean Show for 1886 embraces some of the most amazing features ever presented to the people by a circus manager. Everybody leaves the tent bewildered with the variety of things they have seen, and astonished at their extraordinary character. It would be impossible, in an ordinary newspaper report, to go into detail concerning the attractions. Only a few of them can be mentioned, and to these few justice can not be done. First and foremost and most extraordinary of all comes James Robinson, the champion bare-back rider of the world and the Jupiter of the arenic firmament, the-man who rides, the hero of all-horsemen and wearer of the jewel-studded champion belt, is known the world over, and his claim remains unchallenged to-day; he rides with an ease and elegance of nature, unattained by art. He originated all the achievements in riding, now experimented by other equestrians. James Robinson will appear at every exhibition of John B. Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Show.

Other great attractions are Misses Ella Stokes and Sallie Marks; their riding is the very acme of female Equestrianism. John F. Batcheller acknowledged to be the champion leaper of the world; he turns single and double somersaults over long lines of elephants, camels and horses as easy as if he were merely walking down stairs. Johnnie Patterson, the rambler from Clare. The troupe of brawny Turks, twelve in number, were brought to this country one year ago by Mr. Doris, give an extraordinary exhibition; a whole show in themselves. On the elevated theatre stage, the funniest roller-skating act ever presented to be seen. The wonderful family of bicyclists appear. And there are other attractions, the trained animals are another strong addition to this great show. The old war elephant "Betts," a heroine of over 150 hard-fought battles, 142 years old; the oldest elephant is one of the strongest features of the monster menagerie, which has been enlarged since last season, and is now the most complete for specimens of rare and wild beasts. The princely parade in the morning, giving a free view of the monster elephants, camels and other animals, and displaying the immense, grand and gorgeous carnival, will occur between the hours of 9:30 and 10:30 A. M. Don't fail to see it.

MISS LOUISE POMEROY AS HAMLET.

The following is from the Haverhill (Mass.) Bulletin:

Last night Miss Louise Pomeroy played Hamlet, and that's saying a great deal for any woman, but play it as she did, and that too in a way that more than favorably compares with the very best of our few great exponents of this most difficult character. Miss Pomeroy has the advantage of a wonderful voice, and magnificent figure, and one quickly loses sight of the woman, in admiration of the actress. She was good in all the great scenes, the soliloquies were beautifully and thoughtfully read and in the closet scene with the Queen, Miss Pomeroy rose to actual greatness. The company, too, seemed imbued with the Star's ambition, and all were excellent. Mr. Arthur Elliot, who distinguished himself on Monday night as "Armand Duval," made a splendid "Laertes," Mr. Paluoni an excellent "Polonious," Mr. Seabrooke was really good as the "King," an achievement rarely accomplished, and Miss Maynard as the "Queen," and Miss Seabrooke as "Ophelia," were fully up to the requirements of their parts.

Miss Pomeroy opens a week's engagement at Music hall next Monday evening, appearing as "Hamlet." There will be a change of bill nightly. Sale of seats for this engagement will begin at Goodrich's on Friday morning.

The ladies of the Congregational society of Greenland will give a strawberry festival in the Greenland town hall on Tuesday evening, June 15th, if fair weather; if stormy, on the following evening. There will be a stage entertainment consisting of tableaux, readings, music, etc.

A STATEMENT.

Having recently driven a milk wagon for Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin, and hearing ing that the present driver has reported that I was discharged in consequence of some trouble with Mr. Wiggin, I wish to say that such report is false. I engaged with Mr. Wiggin two months ago, for eight months; the present driver and another man on the place were unfriendly to me, and Mr. Wiggin in consequence wished me to take my discharge; this I refused to do, and finally, to please his other help, he was compelled to discharge me. There was no no other trouble whatever.

EDWARD TOZER.

CONCERT.

A concert complimentary to Mr. C. P. Garvin will be given in Music hall Thursday evening, by the Schubert Quartette, Miss Ida F. Powell, reader, Miss Julia D. G. Kinsman, pianist, Miss Fannie P. Hoyt, violinist, and Mr. George King, whistling soloist. Reserved seats at Goodrich's.

THE COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

All the ladies belonging to the different religious societies who will take an active interest in getting up an entertainment for the benefit of the hospital, to be given some time in August, are requested to meet at the hospital to discuss the matter on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock.

PER ORDER.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' all-wool merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty.

Soda is the natural alkali of the blood, and is principally given in diseases attended with acidity of the stomach, such as gout, dyspepsia, etc. Preston's Pocket Package is convenient for travellers, and the Tablets perfectly reliable.

Don't miss the great mark-down sale of men's, boys' and children's clothing at Henry C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street. Men's all-wool suits $5 and $6, reduced from $9, $10 and $12; and children's all-wool Plaited and Norfolk suits $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50, are specimen bargains.

SKIN TORTURES — AND — BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally. For four months I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusual demand for it this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks the vital forces, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and constitutionally, the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

J. J. Page's cottage, is a pond inhabited by those lively, lively creatures that sing the April mornings in and the May evenings out. Dr. Page says they are great poison-eaters, water and air purifiers. Well, one of the mildest days this winter, after the great thaw, these frogs came up to the surface in the pond for their usual "pizen" and to sing. The inhabitant passed that way to the village. On his return the weather suddenly cooled, and as he neared the pond he noticed the echo of the old bass frog's voice returning a semitone from Mount Waldo, and the squealing of the soprano frog just passing over the Methodist church, and then all was still. As he approached nigher to the pond he was surprised to find it frozen over, with the frogs' heads all sticking up through the ice, with mouths wide open. The cold had come so quickly that the poor fellows hadn't time to shut their mouths and draw their heads under water before the ice closed around them, and there they remain to-day, as samples of Maine's winter pond lilies, set in pictures of ice.—Bucksport (Me.) Clipper.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said a lawyer of San Bernardino, Cal., while defending a client, "you would not send a man to jail for a little thing like this, would you? Why, gentlemen, if some of you had been punished for the little offenses you have committed you would be in the penitentiary to-day." This did not seem to strike the jury as good argument, and they found the accused man guilty at once.

Swopped the Offices for Drinks.

A well-known Pittsburger of orthodox republican principles, while in Washington recently on business with the patent office, was taking in the town one afternoon with his patent attorney, when the latter, at a loss for new diversions to offer his guest, abruptly said: "Let's call on the president."

"I'll go with you," said the Pittsburger, and to the white house they went.

They were received by Col. Lamont, and the attorney said to the president's private secretary: "We are from Owenton Ky., and would like to see President Cleveland about two appointments we applied for some time ago."

"Leave your cards," said Col. Lamont, stiffly, "and call again to-morrow. The president is attending a cabinet council."

"Oh, I guess we won't trouble to call again," said the mercurial Pittsburger. "I'll tell you what we'll do, colonel. We'll just swop off those offices for the drinks."

Col. Lamont unbent and smilingly replied: "Agreed. I wish I could get rid of all office-seekers as easily."

The Pittsburger says Col. Lamont knows what good whisky is.—Pittsburg Times.

There are 5,000,000 Indians in Mexico, making 35 per cent of the entire population. They speak thirty-five idioms and sixty-nine dialects. They are nearly all grossly ignorant, and live by themselves a wild, half savage life in the country districts. Governor Jose Maria Ramfres, of Chiapas, will soon ask the President to appropriate $1,000,000 to educate these Indians.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertising contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

Says the Biddeford Times: "Roscoe Jewell of Cornish, a member of Co. H of the 27th Maine Volunteers, has at last received a pension. He has been trying for a long time to secure one, but there is so much red tape in such matters that but little progress was made, till some men interested Congressman Reed, and the result is that Saturday, May 29th, Mr. Jewell received a check for $3,740, and is to receive a pension of $72 per month. His disability is total blindness."

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

A passenger train on a South Carolina railroad plunged through a trestle, June 7th, and six persons were killed.

Purify your blood, tone up the system, and regulate the digestive organs by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

The Grand Theatre at Louisville, Ky., was burned June 7th.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

Joseph Crowcher, ticket agent at the South Boston station of the Old Colony railroad, shot the purchaser of a ticket after a dispute over the payment, June 7th, and was arrested. The wounded man was taken to the hospital.

After trying all the other plasters, salves, lotions, get relief and cure by using a Hop Plaster.

A great fire occurred in Pittston and neighboring towns in Maine, June 7th. Several large ice houses and other buildings were burned, involving a loss of $250,000.

Not like others. Hop Plaster are pain allaying and strengthening. Used by multitudes.

The Washington Post, administration organ, makes a double-leaded appeal to the democratic leaders in the house urging them to do something for the navy. It says that the people will hold the democracy responsible for neglect, and warns them not to dawdle.

Chronic catarrh. The result of twenty-five years catarrh:—The bridge, or division of my nose, was about half gone. I obtained a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm; have used four bottles, applying it to the affected parts with a swab, which has about cured up the nostrils. I had previously tried all other remedies on the market without permanent relief.—J. A. Wood, 96 N. High street, Columbus, O.

Nathaniel Longley, city messenger of Bath, Me., died June 6th, aged seventy-three years. He was formerly in the employ of William King, the first governor of Maine.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

At Reading, Pa., June 4th, Frank Zabel, crazed by medicine, fatally shot his brother Charles, and then shot himself twice, and will die. Charles on his death-bed was married to Miss Salome Reeser, to whom he was previously engaged.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Sold by druggists. Price, 50 cents a box. See advertisement.

In Calvert county, Md., June 6th, a colored boy named Charles Whittle, eighteen years old, was lynched by about forty members of the Methodist church for attempted outrage on a little daughter of the minister.

How Often

We see some young man who has squandered his money and ruined his health by excesses, and before thirty years of age is an all broken down and played out man! In all such cases I prescribe nature's tonic and nervine, Sulphur Bitters. They supply food for the brain, strengthen the nerves, and are successful in nine cases out of ten.—Old Physician.

HALE'S HONEY is the best Cough Cure, 25, 50c., $1. GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP heals and beautifies, 25c. GERMAN CORN REMOVER kills Corns & Bunions, 25c. HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE—Black & Brown, 50c. PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS cure in 1 Minute, 25c. DEAN'S RHEUMATIC PILLS are a sure cure, 50c.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtJan

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefitted by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. It is need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

PEARLINE. James Pyle's Pearline stands pre-eminent as a most valuable acquisition to the laundry, for it very greatly lessens the labor of washing. It should be, as it very generally is, in every household. No family is so rich as to do without it and none so poor as not to afford to have it. It is obtainable at all grocery stores.

Christopher Jassen, visiting friends in Fairfield, Conn., discovered a long unused and rusty shot-gun which was loaded, and he went out for a little target practice. The gun burst, and his injuries will probably prove fatal.

Do not take quinine for malarial disorders. Ayer's Ague Cure contains none, nor any other injurious ingredient. This preparation, if taken strictly in accordance with directions, is warranted to cure all malarial diseases.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp, should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 40 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE STRENGTH.

When the skin is very tough and hard, and the follicle is apparently officially closed, the single strength will sometimes fail to reach the papilla; in such cases the double or triple strength should be used in connection with the single, using them alternately.

A BOY ON THE WAR-PATH.

Santiago McKin Tells of his Life Among the Apaches.

Santiago McKin is probably the only 11-year-old lad in America who has been on a scalping tour with a party of hostile Indians, writes a Deming, New Mexico, correspondent of the New York Sun. He has just left this town for his home, in company with his father, after a captivity of seven months in the Apache camp. When Geronimo and his band surrendered the other day, the soldiers were surprised to find a white boy with them who could speak no English, though bearing unmistakable traces of Celtic parentage. On securing an interpreter it was found that the little fellow could talk Spanish quite fluently, and by this means his story was obtained.

Santiago's father is an Irishman, who owns a ranch on the Mimbres, three miles from San Lorenzo, and his mother is a Mexican woman. On the 11th of last September he and an older brother were some distance from their home, and in ignorance of the presence of Indians, when a rifle-shot alarmed them. Looking up they saw six Indians approaching rapidly. Santiago's brother was killed at the next fire, but the boy escaped unhurt, only to be taken prisoner. The bucks threatened to cut him up, but on the intercession of one of their number he was turned over to the care of the squaws, who followed in the rear of the war party.

From that time on the boy was in no danger of death, but all winter and until two weeks ago he was compelled to keep up with the hostiles in their rapid movements from place to place, and was an eye-witness to more than twenty murders. When the savages took Santiago in charge they were on their way north. That evening they met a Mexican on the highway, whom they killed, and the next day they surprised two wood-choppers, killing one. The other escaped, and the Indians hunted for him for hours without success. As the savages proceeded they would fire their rifles into the houses that they came across, and frequently would set them on fire, but in most cases the inhabitants had fled. When white men were seen and they were to be killed the squaws would hide where they could observe what was going on. Some of the victims were butchered in the most cowardly manner, after the warriors had made protestations of friendship, and in nearly all cases their bodies were mutilated.

Two days after his capture Santiago says the Indians went into camp in a valley a few miles north of Cactus flat, about twenty miles from the White house, in the Mogollons, and there they remained, except as they went off on brief marauding expeditions for months. Soon after their arrival at this place they were joined by other savages, and the squaws worked industriously to give the camp an air of comfort. Some of the bucks would steal away every day, and on their return they would be loaded with the plunder of ranches, travelers, and prospectors. The boy's assertion that during all this time the hostiles were not once alarmed by troops, and that he had not during his entire experience with the band seen anything to indicate the presence of the army, caused much chagrin among the soldiers, as they had repeatedly said that there were no savages in the Mogollons. Coming in with scalps, ammunition, arms, blankets, and clothing, and sometimes with money and liquor, the braves would pass the evenings in displaying their trophies, boasting of their achievements, and gambling. One night a war-party came in with a lot of groceries and candy. The latter was given to the squaws, and they ate so much of it that they were made sick. It was afterward learned that this stock belonged to an old French peddler who had been murdered.

Some time after New Year's the Indians moved south by forced marches, subsisting on horseflesh. Wherever they went they burned and killed. So rapid were their movements, and so many changes of base were made under cover of darkness, that the boy lost all track of his whereabouts, and can now give only a vague description of his wanderings. His recollection of the murders that he witnessed is so keen, however, that a pretty clear idea of the raids of the savages can be had by one who is familiar with the depredations committed. When found the little fellow was almost exhausted, and it is probable that a month more on the warpath would have used him up. His parents had mourned him as dead, and when they were notified of his safety his father ordered him to be sent by rail to this place, where the two met. The lad has been made much of by everybody here.

The Virtue of Bottled Sea-Foam.

A few days ago a reporter witnessed at North beach, while listening to what the wild waves were telling to each other, the putting into practice of a strange superstition. A belief obtains among many of the credulous all over the world that ocean or river water, if collected in a certain way with certain vessels, is a positive cure for many diseases that flesh is heir to. The best known instance of this belief is the strong faith of the natives of India in the healing powers of the rivers Ganges and Euphrates. At a little cove between Meiggs' wharf and the Selby smelting-works two ladies, both apparently belonging to the most respectable social ranks, were the actors in the strange drama witnessed by the reporter. One of the ladies stood on the shore close to the rising tide, and was counting a long string of black and white cowrie shells, while repeating a formula of which the reporter could not

Danger!

If you have a feeling of oppression and uneasiness a little above the diaphragm, and just below the right ribs, aggravated by lying on the right side, look out! As sure as fate, your liver is disordered. Perhaps not seriously as yet, but—fatal hepatic abscesses are not uncommon. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the precise remedy to regulate the liver, and prevent its congestion and inflammation, and to disperse such minor indicia of its derangement as yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye, furred tongue, sourness of the breath, nausea on rising in the morning, dizziness, sick headache and constipation. By relaxing the bowels painlessly, it opens a channel of exit for the superfluous bile, checks a tendency to congestion and engorgement of the liver, at the same time giving a gentle impetus to its secretive action, and affords relief to the stomach, which is usually inactive, out of order and oppressed with wind when the bowels are costive. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

A Great Fizzle.

The great strike on all the surface railroads in New York city, Brooklyn and Jersey City, which began Saturday morning, June 5th, and left but one railroad in the three cities running,—the Third Avenue road of New York, which employes only non-union men,—came to an inglorious end Sunday, in the shape of a stampede back again by the strikers, without the strike being "declared off" by the executive committee or anybody else. One railroad on Saturday hired eighty non-union men, and put up a notice that none of the old hands would be taken back after noon on Sunday; a similar notice was posted by several of the other roads, and one gave notice that none of the old hands would be taken back on any terms. Many of the strikers had been very much displeased at the foolish order to quit work, and so, with the experience of the Third Avenue strikers before their eyes, they hastened to apply on Sunday morning for their old places.

This performance, it would seem, must totally destroy the once powerful Empire Protective Association, which dictated terms to all the surface railroads of New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City; and the rock on which it was wrecked was not organized capital or corporate power, but unjustifiable interference, by the association of working men, with the rights of other working men. The strike on the Third Avenue railroad, in support of which all the other strikes and "tie-ups" have been made, was not to enforce a demand of the employes for better wages, better hours or better treatment, but to force the railroad to discharge seven other employes against whom no charge was brought except that they were "non-union" men. The railroad refused to discharge the "objectionable" laborers, and the union immediately ordered a strike. Now there is no "union," at least on that road, but the seven "objectionable" working men are still there.

The Next Governor of Maine.

The republican state convention of Maine, at Lewiston on the 9th inst., nominated for governor Hon. J. R. Bodwell of Hallowell, who had 882 out of 1084 votes on the first ballot, Dr. A. C. Hamlin of Bangor having 201, and there being "one scattering."

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 9th.

Mr. L. A. Taylor of Lawrence, Mass., who recently purchased the Portsmouth steam laundry, has opened a branch office in the post-office at the foreside, and will also establish offices at Kittery Point and York. He has secured the service of an experienced laundryman, and all classes of work will be done, all ladies' work being under the charge of lady assistants. The laundry team for collecting and delivering the work will be put on next week.

The road machine which the town voted to buy has arrived, and has been worked on some of our roads.

The ferry steamer Mystic is on the railway undergoing repairs, and the James Sampson is doing her work.

People who live at the foreside who attend church Sundays like to have it quiet, especially during the services, and not have excursion boats coming up river keep their whistles continually blowing, as was the case when the steamer May Queen with a load of worldly people from Dover came up river last Sunday, and made such a screeching that it was a perfect nuisance.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Portland has again been nominated for Congress, this time by acclamation. We are very glad, and opine that there will be more democrats vote for him this fall than there was republicans who voted against him at the last election—and he will have the solid republican vote of the 1st district, too.

George A. Hill, third officer of the steamship Indiana, of the American Line, is at home on a short leave. George was promoted to third officer a short time ago, and we hope some time to see him master of a big craft. SUE ROSA.

THE BIDDEFORD ELECTION FRAUDS.

The trials of the parties charged with complicity in the election frauds in Biddeford, Me., commenced at Alfred on the 8th inst., Judge Emery presiding. Nine persons in all were indicted by the grand jury, namely: Charles H. Andrews, Elias Clark, Joseph Cote, Noel Yelandre and James H. Carter, all of Biddeford, for conspiracy; Fred T. Gillis, John H. Gillis, Edw. A. Smith and Lawrence Charlton, all of Portland, for illegal voting; and the whole pack in a joint indictment for conspiracy.

On the indicted parties being called upon to plead, Joseph H. Cote failed to answer, he having skipped to Canada, leaving his bondsmen, Edgar A. Hubbard and Henry Carroll of Biddeford, to pay $500 each on his account, the court ordering the clerk to declare the bail defaulted. Another one, James H. Carter, having left the state for Massachusetts when Biddeford was becoming uncomfortably hot, has not been arrested. The others pleaded not guilty; but subsequently the four Portland repeaters retracted that plea, and pleaded nolo contendere to the charge of illegal voting. A jury was sworn, and Charles Hobson of Buxton appointed foreman; and after the recess the trial on charge of conspiracy commenced.

County Attorney Higgins, in opening the case for the government, said that Joseph H. Cote engaged the repeaters in Portland, took them to the railroad station and brought them out to Saco by train; that they walked to Biddeford, where they were given their breakfasts at a restaurant; that Elias Clark was with Cote at the restaurant, and that he was also in the city assessors' office in the city building, where the men were kept. Noel Velandre acted as doorkeeper of the assessors' office, and James H. Carter was passing in and out of the room during the day.

At half past two o'clock the state called its first witness, Lawrence Charlton of Portland, who testified minutely to his being employed by Cote to go to Biddeford, and what he and the other repeaters did during the day. The witness said that James H. Carter gave a name to vote on in ward seven, and that he voted on it. He afterward tried to vote in ward six, but his right to vote there was challenged. He testified that Velandre guarded the door to the assessors' office in the city building.

In Limerick, a short time ago, a steer belonging to Edson Hill broke one of his legs in the pasture. Pain made the animal so wild that it was dangerous to approach him, so Mr. Frank Libby, a local sharp-shooter, was called on for aid, and put seven rifle bullets into him, without other appreciable effect than to enhance his wrath. He was finally lassoed and knocked on the head.

Work was resumed in Wentworth's shoe shop at Dover on the 9th inst., he having yielded to the claims of the operatives.

Happiness

results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

Found

At Home

A Public Benefaction.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows. Keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less. I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, June 9th.

John Devine, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; paid.

NEW CASTLE VS. NEWCASTLE.

We are glad to see that the eastern portion of Water street is to be named New Castle avenue. It is, perhaps, a rather large title for the thing designated, but it may grow to its name, and we see no reason why New Castle street should not now share in the new name. For years we have been trying to teach people to write New Castle with a capital C, according to the ancient and true style. It is not a matter of momentous importance, yet we may as well hold on to our primeval history, until we begin to make modern.—Penny Post.

Mr. Editor: Unlike your contemporary whose sentiments I have copied above, I am one of the many who can see no more reason for parting Newcastle's name in the middle, and calling it New Castle, than for changing Portsmouth to Port's Mouth, or Newington to New Ington. It is said the name in the original charter was spelled New-Castle; if so, it merely shows that our ancestors, or the engrossing clerk who wrote the charter out, did not know how to spell so well as we do. Another reason advanced by the few but earnest advocates of New Castle, is that the name was a purely local one originally, used to designate the village which had sprung into existence in the vicinity of a rebuilt or new fort, "the new castle." This seems to be going a very long way after a very strained and unlikely explanation, when there is a rational and plausible one close at hand, namely, that the new town, like most of the others in this vicinity, took its name from an old English town, and was called after Newcastle-under-Lime or Newcastle-upon-Tyne. There are no New Castles in England, that I know of, though there are a dozen or more in this country. It was not customary for our ancestors to call forts castles; not even the great and supposed-to-be impregnable Ticonderoga was called a castle—it was Fort Ticonderoga; and the fortifications at Crown Point and Stony Point, though of great strength and largely built of stone, were only forts. That a stockade, an earthwork, or a structure of brick and earth at Newcastle was ever called "the new castle," is very largely open to doubt.

SKEPTIC.

The annual meeting of the Howe Water Meter Co. was held in this city on the 9th inst., and Edson Kemp, Jonathan Janes, Daniel J. Tompkins and Guilford S. Reed were elected directors for the ensuing year.

Philip Holmes, Esq., of Greenland depot, who has been quite unwell for some weeks, is reported to be gaining in health, much to the satisfaction of many friends.

We have received from Mr. Winslow T. Perkins, station agent in this city for the Boston & Maine railroad, but now on a vacation which he is spending in the west; copies of the Tribune-Republican and the Rocky Mountain News, published at Denver, Col.

Mr. W. A. Robinson of Franklin Falls, formerly of this city, is state editor of the Journal of Education, printed in Chicago and Boston. This is one of the oldest and best of the educational papers of the country, and has always taken a firm stand on advanced ground in support of the public school system.

Mr. Willis Tetherly, employed at Frank H. Seavey's blacksmith shop at the Creek, had one of his fingers badly lacerted some days since by an old nail, which resulted in a mild form of blood poisoning, causing much pain. He is new recovering.

Capt. Mills, formerly master of the Reading Coal Co.'s steamer Lancaster, has been appointed port captain of the company's coal fleet at Philadelphia.

Capt. Buckley, "the saved burglar," is announced to relate the experience of his life, seventeen years of which have been passed behind prison bars, at the Association building this (Thursday) evening. It costs only five cents to get in.

On Tuesday forenoon, 8th inst., Mr. William Moses, who owns a farm on Rye road the buildings on which were burned some months ago, while walking about the premises fell into the old cellar and was badly jarred and bruised, but was able to get out of the cellar and into his carriage without aid. As he is over eighty years old his escape from more serious injury may be regarded as very fortunate.

The family of Mr. Stephen Decatur went to their summer residence at Kittery Point on Wednesday of this week, to pass the heated term. Mr. Decatur, who is well known as an enthusiastic yachtsman, has gone to New York, and will sail on the Puritan in the June races.

The Portsmouth Brewing Co. have voted $100 to the soldiers' monument fund.

A boat race is announced to come off Friday evening between John O'Donnell (Vanderbilt) and Jack Sullivan for $5 a side, from Concord wharf around the south beacon and return. Mr. M. Ryan will act as referee.

The schooner A. Hooper, Davis master, from Calais, Me., with 125,000 feet of dry, planed hemlock boards to John H. Broughton, arrived on the 9th inst.

The brick schooners G. W. Raitt, Estella, Hattie Lewis, J. Chester Wood and Lillie, from this port, and the Emily A. Staples from Saco, arrived at Boston on the 8th inst.; also the Gold Hunter, Matthews master, from Bay View, Mass.

The barkentine Lizzie Carter, Carter master, from Baltimore with coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived at the Concord railroad wharf on Wednesday, 9th inst. On the way down from Baltimore she touched on Barren island, but came off without damage.

The gondola Hardchance, Capt. Cheney, started up river from the Concord railroad wharf on Wednesday of this week, bound for Newmarket with a load of coal. The Hardchance made seven round trips to Newmarket the previous week, carrying about fifty-five tons of coal each trip.

The schooner Alfaretta, Thurlow master, of Newburyport, caught in her nets set off the Shoals on Monday night, the 7th inst., 800 large mackerel. Mr. Joseph Hows of Newcastle caught inside of the Sheals on Wednesday, the 9th, a halibut weighing seventy-three pounds, which was sold to Ed. Jameson.

The steamer Appledore will not be run between this city and the Shoals this season, her boiler having been condemned. Capt. Robinson, who is to command the Shoals boat this summer, and has been here looking after the Appledore's repairs, left for Philadelphia on the afternoon of the 9th inst. to endeavor to secure the steamer Oceanic for the season. The Oceanic is the old Major, which formerly ran on the Shoals route a number of seasons, and was burned at a wharf in one of the middle state ports several winters ago, rebuilt and renamed. She was originally a very able boat, fast and of unusual power for a vessel of her size, and is said by those who should know to be now better than ever.

Capt. T. H. Eastman is having his whale-boat yacht put in order for summer cruising by Mr. Lewis Holmes.

The following are among the transfers of real estate in York county lately left for record in the office of the register of deeds: Kittery—Josiah A. Stover et ux to Second Christian society, land and buildings for $1200; Joseph E. Jackson to Esther J. Jackson, land and buildings for $1; Sarah H. Riley to George D. Bedell, real estate for $100. Wells—Mary J. Manson to William G. Hill, land and buildings for $600; Emma Littlefield to George W. Hilton, land and buildings for $3,000; George Farnham to Mark Farnham, land and buildings for $500; Barak Maxwell of Ogunquit to Barak A. Maxwell, real estate in Ogunquit for $150; Ivory Goodwin of Wells to Ambrose Potter of Charlestown, Mass., real estate in Wells for $20; Silas Bragdon of Wells to William R. Anderson of Bay View, Mass., land and buildings in Wells for $3,800.

THE COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

All the ladies belonging to the different religious societies who will take an active interest in getting up an entertainment for the benefit of the hospital, to be given some time in August, are requested to meet at the hospital to discuss the matter on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock.

PER ORDER.

Don't miss the great mark-down sale of men's, boys' and children's clothing at Henry C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street. Men's all-wool suits $5 and $6, reduced from $9, $10 and $12; and children's all-wool Plaited and Norfolk suits $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50, are specimen bargains.

Sudden cases of sore throat and hoarseness are greatly alleviated by the use of Chlorate of Potash. Preston's Pocket Package is especially intended for travelers desiring the popular tablets in a convenient parcel.

Proposals for Bonds.

SEALED proposals will be received at the office of the Treasurer of the Portsmouth Machine Company, in Portsmouth, N. H., until two o'clock, P. M. of June 14th, 1886, for the whole or any part of an issue of $75,000 of the bonds of said Machine company.

These bonds are a series of one hundred and fifty bonds of $500 each, secured by a duly executed deed of trust to Edward P. Kimball, Marcellus Eldredge and Charles H. Mendum, as trustees for the holders of said bonds. These bonds bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October on presentation of coupon at the First National Bank of Portsmouth, N. H., the principal payable in ten years, and due in twenty years after date, and the bonds are dated April 1st, 1886. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

GUARANTEE FARM LOANS

IN NEBRASKA.

These Loans are Made and Guaranteed by the OMAHA LOAN AND TRUST CO., which has an authorized Capital of $1,000,000, and a Subscribed and Guarantee Capital of $500,000. The Constitution of Nebraska provides that the Stockholders are personally liable to the full extent of the Stock subscribed, and that in no case shall the indebtedness of the Company exceed two-thirds of the Capital Stock. When it is taken into consideration that the Stockholders consist of twenty-five of the most celebrated capitalists and foremost financial men of the Country — consisting in part of such men as Hon. Fred'k L. Ames of Boston, G. G. Williams, Pres't of the Chemical Nat. Bank, New York City, and W. J. Quinlan, Cashier of the above-named Bank, with Hon. A. U. Wyman, late Treasurer of the United States, as Pres't of the Co., it will occur to the most conservative investor that he can here invest his money and be absolutely as sure of both Principal and Interest being paid, and as promptly, as if he owned Government Bonds. The above-named Loans are in sums of from $300 to $5,000.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from Infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some months in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

quite catch the meaning, but it sounded like repeating a number of numerals in Spanish. Standing in the water, knee deep, regardless of the ruin to her clothing, was the other participant in the ceremonies. In one hand she held a white flint-glass bottle, with an extremely long, thin neck and a capacity of about a pint. With the other hand she was carefully gathering the foam from the crest of each incoming wavelet, using as a scoop a large blue shell of the coquille variety. The contents of the shell she carefully decanted into the bottle. The lady skimmer of the seas refused to answer any of the inquiries of the overcurious, preserving a strict and freezing silence, but the counting lady was more communicative. She said: "My friend is gathering the sea-foam to bathe her little sick dog in. You may laugh at us, but we know by trial that the water as we are now getting it is a sure cure for the poor thing. Unless we observe all the necessary form it is time and work wasted. There! Ah, poor thing! She has to commence all over again. She put the water without the foam into the bottle, and that spoils all she had already got. We were told of this cure some time ago. I tried it on my maltese cat, and it cured her, sure. All there is to do is to wash the sick animal in it; that's all there is of it. Yes, it may look very silly, the whole thing, but we are willing to be laughed at if our little darlings can be cured."—San Francisco Call.

A Bully Beaten.

The English Sparrow is a bully, and is ready to run away the moment his antagonist shows a disposition to stand his ground. I saw this demonstrated yesterday morning. A pee-wee fly-catcher, the first of the season—at least, the first I have seen this season—perched his tiny self on a dead limb of an oak. An English sparrow, who had been quarreling with himself and the rest of the world since sunrise, made a rush at the little fly-catcher. There were a scuffle in the air, a general shaking up, a chirp that sounded like a squeal. I supposed, of course, that the fly-catcher had the worst of the riot, and I pitied him. He is not bigger than your thumb, and I expected to see him driven out of hearing. There were a scuffle, a squeal, and then rapid pursuit, but it was the sparrow that had turned tail, and the fly-catcher followed him, popping his bill as if it were a whip. The sparrow went under the house, and the fly-catcher returned to his perch and sat there as unconcernedly as if nothing had happened.—Atlanta Constitution.

A man afflicted with deafness took a prescription to a Topeka druggist, who filled it with care and in the latest style. The deaf man asked the price, when the following talk occurred: Druggist (leaning on the counter and smiling in a won't-you-pay-up sort of a manner)—"The price is 75 cents." Deaf Customer—"Five cents? Here it is." Druggist (in a louder voice)—"Seventy-five cents, please." Deaf Customer—"Well, there's your five cents." Druggist (in a very loud voice and very firm manner)—"I said seventy-five cents." Deaf Customer (getting angry)—"Well, what more do you want? I just gave you your five cents." Druggist (sotto voce)—"Well, go to thunder with your medicine; I made three cents, any way."—Drug Record.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

City Marshal Fogerty of Dover has been presented with one of Randlett's best buggies, a harness made to order, a whip and pair of carriage robes, by about thirty prominent citizens who wished to indicate their approval of his energy and earnestness as an official.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

Over a hundred people were made sick at a strawberry festival in Somerville by eating ice cream, strawberries or cake, but none died.

After trying all the other plasters, salves, lotions, get relief and cure by using a Hop Plaster.

Four or five valuable dogs were poisoned in Dover on the night of June 7th.

Not like others. Hop Plaster are pain allaying and strengthening. Used by multitudes.

About 12,000 piece-work tailors in New York, Newark and Williamsburg have struck, to help the 8,000 journeyman tailors of New York who have been on a strike for some time.

Chronic catarrh. The result of twenty-five years catarrh:—The bridge, or division of my nose, was about half gone. I obtained a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm; have used four bottles, applying it to the affected parts with a swab, which has about cured up the nostrils. I had previously tried all other remedies on the market without permanent relief.—J. A. Wood, 96 N. High street, Columbus, O.

The carriage-body makers' strike in New Haven, Conn., after continuing three months, ended June 7th, nearly all the men returning to work that day on the same terms as before the strike.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

The grand jury at Milwaukee, Wis., having under consideration the recent labor riots and boycotts, has completed its labors and adjourned. Seventy persons were indicted, over forty of them for conspiracy growing out of the boycotts; and nearly all the indicted parties have been arrested. Robert Schilling, state organizer of the Knights of Labor of Wisconsin, was held in $1,000 on an indictment for conspiracy, and in $2,600 on an indictment for sending threatening communications.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Sold by druggists. Price, 50 cents a box. See advertisement.

It is stated that during the latter part of May, while the North Atlantic squadron was on its way from the south to New York, the Brooklyn collided with the Yantic in broad daylight. It is said that the Yantic was severely damaged, and that a large portion of her rigging was carried away. As nearly as can be ascertained no one was injured. The report of the occurrence has been forwarded to the navy department, but has not been given out for publication.

How Often

We see some young man who has squandered his money and ruined his health by excesses, and before thirty years of age is an all broken down and played out man! In all such cases I prescribe nature's tonic and nervine, Sulphur Bitters. They supply food for the brain, strengthen the nerves, and are successful in nine cases out of ten.—Old Physician.

June 8th was observed in Baltimore as confederate Memorial day.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and phy sicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtJan

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees to patrons the sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that crowning discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are delicately served. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the wheat-producing places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Chicago, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published to help their friends. It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. It is need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other falsehoods reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 60 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

The Mother of a Good Governor.

The mother of ex-Governor Murray of Utah was a remarkable woman. Her first husband was the brother of the noble and eloquent John J. Crittenden, and one of her sons was the recent governor of Missouri. "When I first saw Mrs. Murray," says a writer in the New York Graphic, "it was in her own beautiful Kentucky home on the Ohio river. I think I never saw a more magnificent looking couple than Colonel and Mrs. Murray. The latter was tall and stately, almost statuesque in her beauty. She was a veritable grand dame, but her dignity was tempered with the sweetest gentleness. She was moreover a woman of great intellect and character. Another son by her first marriage was a brilliant young fellow, brave and daring as a knight of old, who sacrificed himself years ago on a filibustering expedition to Cuba, that maelstrom that swallowed up so many bright and unselfish, misguided souls of the Southern chivalry. Young Crittenden, in company with other leaders of the expedition, was captured and sentenced to death. One by one, at sunrise, his comrades stood before a line of Cuban rifles, and at the order knelt and received in their ill-fated breasts a volley of Cuban bullets. When Crittenden's turn came, he refused to kneel, saying, 'A Kentuckian kneels to none but his God,' and despite threats, oaths and orders, he received the fatal shots erect and motionless. Years ago the favorite song in drawing-rooms throughout Kentucky and the South was a pathetic ballad founded on these last words and bearing on the title page a picture of this dauntless young spirit who had the courage of his convictions. Mrs. Murray was revered and honored by all who knew her."

The Bugle Weed.

At the Texas state medical convention, at Dallas, the most remarkable paper read was one by Dr. Briggs, of Fort Worth, who cited a case of a patient who was bitten by the deadly Texas tarantula, and was cured by the application of a liquid made from the bugle weed. He gave a history of this remarkable case. He said: "My attention was first called to this plant by Dr. W. H. Cooke, of Bonham, Tex., who received his information from the remnant of Cherokee Indians left in the mountains of North Carolina and East Tennessee. Anyone who has attended the fairs and other gatherings held throughout Georgia, Tennessee, and Kansas during the egress of the Indians from that country doubtless remembers that on such occasions there were many Indians who would with impunity allow the poisonous rattlesnake to bite them. It was observed that in order to counteract the effects of this poisonous reptile they masticated large quantities of bugle weed and swallowed the juice. That the bugle weed was the identical weed used at the time I have absolute proof. I am not aware that there is any literature upon this valuable plant outside of a vague and indefinite account in the United States Dispensatory, and in the more recent editions it is numbered among the unofficials. Having investigated so far as lay in my power, the history of this plant, I procured some of it and made use of it at the first opportunity."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Miss Murfree's Marriage.

The report that Miss Murfree, the literary star, will be married in a short time is confirmed by Congressman Richardson's daughter, who lives at Murfreesboro and is a close friend of the brilliant girl, who, under the pseudonym of "George Egbert Craddock," has been for several years delighting the readers of the Atlantic Monthly with graphic pictures of Tennessee life. Miss Richardson ought to know all about the matter, as she is to be one of the bridemaids. She is not acquainted with the coming bridegroom, however. Indeed, none of Miss Murfree's many friends in this city know anything about him, except that he is a farmer and lives near Pulaski, Tenn. He has been described as a six-footer, burly, devoted to cattle-raising, and having very little literary training.

It will not appear surprising that the young novelist should love a man with tastes so opposite to her own when the marriages of the literary women of the day are taken into account. A notable example of extremes meeting is found here in Washington. Mrs. Francis Hodgson Burnett has one of the happiest homes in this city, yet her husband is not a literary man in any sense of the word. He is a doctor, given a great deal to chemical experiments, and, it is said, has never in his life read any novels except those written by his wife. His tastes are purely scientific, while Mrs. Burnett's life is one round of literary work. They are the most devoted pair imaginable. In fact, after from ten to fifteen years of married life they are still in the turtle-dove period.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler-Wilcox's marriage is another example of extremes meeting. Mr. Wilcox has not the slightest interest in literature outside of Ella's poems and stories. Yet, if rumor be true, they are lovers of the most approved patterns, uncongeniality of tastes seeming to fan the flame of love. Grace Denio Litchfield's husband is an extremely prosaic business-man, although she is a high-strung, analytical writer.—Cor. Chicago Tribune.

Two Ohio Newspaper Women.

A Public Benefaction.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites. Is more reliable as an agent in the cure of consumption, chronic coughs and emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

Our Worst Enemies,

Next to our vices, are our follies. Among them is the imperilling of future bodily comfort, and the average tenure of life to which persons of moderately good constitutions are presumably entitled, by imprudence in eating and drinking, and the reckless use of drugs. It is one of the happy capabilities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that it can repair damage thus inflicted. When the blood is thin and watery, the bowels out of order, the complexion and tongue both giving evidence of billiousness, there is a necessity for repairs upon the human tenement obvious enough to startle its possessor. A course of the Bitters, the abandonment of "drugging" for relief, and a common sense diet and mode of life—these will speedily produce a change for the better. What quinine for fever and ague, and mercury for billiousness and constipation, won't do, the Bitters will. It also relieves rheumatism and neuralgia, and inactivity of the kidneys.

The Orangemen of Belfast, Ireland, renewed rioting on the 9th inst., and wrecked over one hundred houses of Catholics, burning two, and threw stones at the police, severely injuring some of them. The riot act was read and the police fired upon the mob, which replied with revolvers. Many were injured on both sides, and ten or twelve of the rioters were killed. The police were driven to their barracks by the mob, and the military were ordered out; the soldiers and the police finally triumphed. Rioting continues in the Orange districts of Monaghan. At Luergan several militiamen have been wounded, some houses wrecked, and several persons shot, some being dangerously wounded.

Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:—

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

The Plague

Raged in London in 1665, and 68,000 persons died. Epidemics are terrible in their results. Lung diseases, coughs, colds and bronchial difficulties are very prevalent in this climate, but a sovreign remedy is found in the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey, unequalled for purity and medicinal virtue. Bottled by C. H. Grant & Sons, Boston, and sold by druggists and grocers everywhere.

For sale by the bottle or case by John Laighton.

Big Victory for Edison.

After nine trials in London, Eng., before Mr. Justice Butt, in equity, the patent action brought by Mr. Edison of New York against Woodhouse & Rawson, for the maintenance of his claims on the exclusive use of filament of carbon in electric lighting, terminated with a decision in favor of Mr. Edison, the court having decided to maintain his claims in their broadest sense.

What the Strikes Cost.

Bradstreet's has been figuring up how much the recent strikes have cost. It estimates the loss in wages at $2,802,000, on current business at $2,105,000, and indirect losses, due to the stoppage of business, $24,800,000; a total of $29,707,000. And most of this is a dead loss, as much so as that of a great conflagration.

New Hampshire Patents.

The following list of patents granted June 8th, to citizens of New Hampshire, is specially reported by Franklin H. Hough, solicitor of American and foreign patents, 925 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C.:

S. A. Currier, Concord, butter-carrier.

C. D. Burton, New Ipswich, electrical-coupler.

W. D. Hill, Northwood, harness.

J. C. Mitchell, Lancaster, car-coupling.

J. F. Noone, Peterborough, truss.

G. E. Philbrick, Manchester, syringe.

H. R. Underhill, Derry, axle-box.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending June 8th was 396.

Stedman's "Poets of America."

The Revue des Deux Mondes for May has an article on "American Poets" by the lady who writes under the pseudonym of Th. Bentzon. The text is furnished by Mr. E. C. Stedman's recent volume, "Poets of America." The article is appreciative. Mr. Stedman, she observes, "deserves thanks for having devoted his profound erudition and the lofty impartiality of which he is capable, to making us acquainted with the literature of poetry as it has existed from the beginning in his country. His important and thorough study is conducted with the method, the scrupulousness, the perspicacity, which he applied formerly to the work of the "Victorian Poets." A remarkably faithful and lucid apercu of Mr. Stedman's book is then entered upon; one so faithful, indeed, that it is sometimes not at all easy to distinguish between the estimates of American poets conveyed to the Revue from Mr. Stedman's pages, and the original opinions put forward by the French reviewer.

The notice of the book fills several pages of the Revue. The space allotted to the discussion of the author's work and the extended manner in which the subject is discussed, show that the book has attracted attention in the literary circles of France, and will increase in Europe the readers of Mr. Stedman's writings.

The reviewer appears to be surprised that in such a country as ours so sound and good a book as Mr. Stedman's should appear, and asks:

Will inspiration elect to dwell in America? Will she produce truly new fruits, or will she remain what she has thus far been, not an imitation but a continuation of English literature? The hopes of Mr. Stedman are boundless, he is the most optimist of prophets. For our part, we do not believe that the universality of a literature based upon an imported language, nourished on the sentiments and traditions which belong to all the peoples brought together in the great focus of emigration, can equal for a long time originality pure and simple such as it is generally understood. Perhaps there will always be recognized the English good sense and uprightness, the German depth and tenderness, the French esprit, the Spanish passion, even as in the American type, properly so called, in the physical type which, if we believe Herbert Spencer, will become the most perfect in the world, thanks to the crossing of the Aryan sub-races, we will be able to distinguish without difficulty the physiologic peculiarities derived from this or that side.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Charles H. Colson of this city has been promoted to be a foreman of the roofing gang, which from Newport, N. H., last, is about to proceed to Newburyport for further operations.

Rev. Wm. E. Gaskin, formerly pastor of the Universalist Church in this city, has just been settled in a new pastorate in Wakefield, Mass.

Mr. Wilbur L. Davis, formerly a clerk in the drug store of Mr. George Hill, and who went west some weeks since, has purchased a store in Winchendon, Kansas.

Twenty-one carloads of stone from Hooksett, over 400 tons, brought in over the Concord railroad, was put down through the new portion of the Concord railroad wharf on Wednesday of this week, as ballast, and more is to follow.

The brick schooners Triton, Garnet, Lillie, Hattie Lewis and Estella arrived on the 10th inst. from Boston, light, and proceeded up river to load. The late trips of the brickers have been very expeditious.

Mr. Charles E. Boynton has commenced painting a part of Bow street red.

Quite a large delegation of Sons of Veterans went from this city to Manchester on the 10th inst. to attend the state encampment of the order, held there that day.

The hay crop, which two weeks ago promised to be unusually heavy, will be hardly up to the average, and in many places will be actually light, owing to the grass having suffered greatly from want of rain. The cutting of the crop will be commenced on many farms by the middle or last of next week.

Capt. Hobbs of the night watch started last Thursday morning for Quincy, Mass., after visiting which place he will spend the rest of his ten days' vacation at the mountains.

Mr. Guy S. Shannon, ship's barber of the U. S. S. Vandalia, who has been home on a brief leave of absence, left this city on the 10th inst. for New York to rejoin his ship.

The land for the new Maine Central railroad shops at Waterville, Me., has been bought, paid for, and the deeds delivered.

The fishing schooner Cora Morrison arrived at Wellfleet, Mass., June 9th, from a five weeks' cruise mackereling, with only six barrels of pickled fish.

Mr. S. R. Niles and wife, and Mr. Edward G. Niles, sailed from Boston for Europe on the 10th inst. by the steamer Gallia. Numerous friends of the tourists were on board to bid bon voyage. The floral tributes to Mrs. Niles on the occasion were most generous, and as the lady passengers observed, lovely.

AYER'S SUGAR CATHARTIC COATED PILLS

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter, disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less. I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

A ROMANCE OF APPLEDORE.

Some years ago, among the many youthful guests at the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals, was a young lady of the mature age of eight years. There were no doubt other young ladies of the same age there, but we have reference to one particular young lady. Now it is well known to the innumerable patrons of Appledore that Oscar and Cedric, the jovial Lords of the Isles, possess an inexhaustible fund of love for children, and never tire of looking after their welfare and pleasure; and that never, even when near the end of a long and wearing "season," is their patience so far used up as to allow them to speak harshly or unkindly to a child; hence, to a large number of little people, Appledore and Paradise are very nearly synonymous terms. This was evidently the idea of the young lady of whom we write, for she announced very positively that she would never marry any man who would not promise to bring her to Appledore on her wedding trip! She left the islands with the rest at the end of the season, and until the present season did not reappear there. Now for the romance.

Some little time since the Laighton Brothers received a letter from a gentleman in the state of New York, reciting that he had been laying seige to the affections of a most estimable young lady, who had been brought to favor his suit and allow him to name the happy day, but coupled her consent with the proviso that the wedding tour should commence with a trip to Appledore. He had selected the 9th of June as the day, and although the date was too early for the hotel to be open, he felt sure that the managers would consider the circumstances, and by consenting to receive him and his bride enable him to fulfill all the conditions imposed. Of course but one reply could be made to this appeal, even by bachelors of genuine human sympathies, —and Cedric isn't a bachelor, having a wife and baby of his own; so on Thursday forenoon last the good steamer Pinafore, Capt. Oscar Leighton commanding, came in from the Shoals to convey to Appledore the bridal couple, who were united in marriage at six o'clock the previous evening at Syracuse, N. Y., and took the next train for the New Hampshire seacoast, arriving on the eleven o'clock train and immediately proceeding to the island, the married lady thus carrying out the expressed determination of the eight-year-old girl.

NEW CASTLE.

This is the name of our neighbor by its charter, and no good reason is given for writing it with a small "c" except that Newcastle "is English, you know." The island town knows its name and has a right to it, though it is not English. The attempt to change it by outsiders reminds me of an incident. In the war times, a young man who volunteered at the provost marshal's office in this city enrolled himself by the Christian name of "Shedrick." One of the clerks, who was making the returns of the enlistment, had heard of the three veterans who stood the fire so well during the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, and was much exercised in his mind at the modern reading of an ancient name. Accordingly he turned to the chief of the office and said, "Mr. Provost Marshal, how do you spell 'Shadrack.'" The P. M. saw the point and answered, "Mr. S—— spells it with an 'e' and an 'i,' and he has a right to spell his own name as he pleases." Now will our friends please let New Castle do the same? J. B.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

Hon. Marcellus Eldredge having received from Jacob Wendell, Esq., of New York, a letter placing $200 to the credit of the monument fund, Mr. C. M. Gignoux, the chairman and treasurer of the finance committee, asked Mr. Wendell's consent to its publication, which having been granted, the letter is published as follows:

My Dear Sir: I received a few days since from John Albee, Esq., a copy of the Soldiers' Memorial, which I have carefully noted. The record of names honored on Decoration Day calls to mind many that I knew, and many that I knew of and felt an interest in, as natives of Portsmouth. I have read Mr. Albee's address, and the strong appeal made for the Soldiers' Monument, and to evidence my sympathy for the good object as well as to show my interest in honoring the memory of the loyal soldiers of my native place, though it is many years since I left my home for a residence in Boston and here, I authorize you to place my name on the subscription list towards purchasing a suitable site and base for the monument, say $200,—two hundred dollars—and on receiving advice from you to what order check shall be drawn, I will respond at once, and remain,

Yours very truly,
JACOB WENDELL.

MISS LOUISE POMEROY.

The Montreal Gazette says of Miss Pomeroy's "Juliet:" "Last night Miss Louise Pomeroy and her really excellent company appeared in Shakespeare's exquisite love story of Romeo and Juliet. The tragedy was most admirably performed by all the actors. Miss Pomeroy's Juliet may be at once considered as a performance of the highest order. Her physical beauty, the rare perfection of her voice, and the elegance of her costumes, combined with histrionic ability of great excellence, made her Juliet the equal of her predecessors in the character in this city. Mr. Arthur Elliot as Romeo was more than good. A very handsome man, he has all the other qualities that fit him for the classic drama to an eminent degree. Mr. Fuld, as Mercutio, gave an admirable performance. The scenery was unusually attractive and appropriate, and the performance generally far above the average rendition of Shakespeare."

Miss Pomeroy and her excellent company open a week's engagement at Music hall next Monday evening.

The strawberry festival and entertainment in Congress hall on Wednesday evening, under the management of the Woman's Relief corps, was a grand success; it was attended by a throng of people, who all seemed to enjoy themselves greatly; and the lady managers turned in to the monument fund, after paying all expenses, seventy-five dollars.

Mr. J. Clifford Simpson, of Greenland, has been elected editor of the new Literary Monthly, published at Dartmouth college.

Mr. R. Hamilton Perkins has been re-elected superintendent of schools in Chicopee, Mass., and had his salary raised $100, to $1,600 a year.

Capt. Thomas A. Harris and wife started last Thursday morning on a trip to the White mountains.

No better and fresher vegetables can be procured in the city than those brought in every morning from the Flynn farm, Greenland road, and sold by Flynn Brothers at their grocery and provision store on Penhallow street, near Bow.

The tallest peas and corn we have seen this year are growing in the garden of Samuel Adams, Esq. On Thursday last the peas were standing about four feet high in the row, and the corn was a foot high, not taking into account the bend of the leaves. Other vegetation in the garden was equally forward.

Miss Lizzie J. Hannaford, who was matron of the Children's Home from its start until her resignation a few weeks ago, was on Thursday morning last at eight o'clock united in marriage with Mr. John Day of Northwood, the ceremony taking place in the Episcopal church, Rev. Henry E. Hovey, the rector, officiating. Nothwithstanding the early hour the church was very well occupied by the friends of the bride. After the wedding there was a reception and breakfast at the residence of Mrs. John Rider on Pleasant street, after which the newly married couple took a forenoon train on their wedding trip.

Considerable attention was attracted on Thursday morning last by a sign standing on the ground in front of Montgomery's music and art store. It was in the form of a painter's pallette, of a size suitable for a Titan, and bore notices of the pianos and other musical instruments, music and fancy goods, pictures and artists' materials, etc., to be found in Montgomery's store. It was painted by W. J. Sampson & Co.; and ere this we suppose is adorning a blacksmith shop in York. A similar sign is to be put up on one of the islands in the river, and a third one at Rye.

The canker worms have done more damage to apple trees in this city this year than for many years before. The trees near Point of Graves are mournful to look at; three veteran trees in one garden on Water street have suffered especially, and look as though painted brown, there not being a single green leaf left on them. The pests have also committed great ravages in the vicinity of the Creek, and have not wholly neglected any part of the city. The fine young and previously flourishing orchard of Nathaniel Jackson on North-west street has been attacked by them, and looks to be in the sere and yellow leaf.

Where does the profit come in if the salvation army save one burglar, and by their hideous racket cause 250 decent persons who never stole anything to use language which sends them to perdition?

Hon. Frank Jones has presented his two little grand-daughters, Fifi and Ouisa, with two diminutive Shetland ponies, a side-saddle for each, and a village cart to correspond in size with the ponies.

Capt. Robinson, who has gone to Philadelphia to bring around the steamer Oceanic to run on the Shoals route this summer, was accompanied by Capt. Albert Rand's oldest son. A telegram from Mr. William Gerting, principal owner of the steamer, gives assurance that she can be had for the service desired, and with Gerting as engineer and Capt. Robinson as master, the old "Major" will drop quite naturally into the work she was at years ago with the gentlemen named in the same positions.

Mr. H. Gates Wentworth, for more than a year one of the city teamsters, and a most capable driver and thorough "horse man," has entered the employ of Hon. Marcellus Eldredge as coachman. Mr. John S. Wendell, Jr., has been appointed in his place as driver of the city team.

Have you seen the men's all-wool suits for $5, $6 or $7, marked down from $9, $10 and $12, at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street?

Sudden cases of sore throat and hoarseness are greatly alleviated by the use of Chlorate of Potash. Preston's Pocket Package is especially intended for travellers desiring the popular tablets in a convenient parcel.

Call and examine the children's all-wool plaited and Norfolk suits at $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty.

Proposals for Bonds.

SEALED proposals will be received at the office of the Treasurer of the Portsmouth Machine Company, in Portsmouth, N. H., until two o'clock, P. M. of June 14th, 1886, for the whole or any part of an issue of $75,000 of the bonds of said Machine company.

These bonds are a series of one hundred and fifty bonds of $500 each, secured by a duly executed deed of trust to Edward P. Kimball, Marcellus Eldredge and Charles H. Mendum, as trustees for the holders of said bonds. These bonds bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October on presentation of coupon at the First National Bank of Portsmouth, N. H., the principal payable in ten years, and due in twenty years after date, and the bonds are dated April 1st, 1886. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

GUARANTEE FARM LOANS
IN NEBRASKA.

These Loans are Made and Guaranteed by the OMAHA LOAN AND TRUST CO., which has an authorized Capital of $1,000,000, and a Subscribed and Guarantee Capital of $500,000. The Constitution of Nebraska provides that the Stockholders are personally liable to the full extent of the Stock subscribed, and that in no case shall the indebtedness of the Company exceed two-thirds of the Capital Stock. When it is taken into consideration that the Stockholders consist of twenty-five of the most celebrated capitalists and foremost financial men of the Country — consisting in part of such men as Hon. Fred'k L. Ames of Boston, G. G. Williams, Pres't of the Chemical Nat. Bank, New York City, and W. J. Quinlan, Cashier of the above-named Bank, with Hon. A. U. Wyman, late Treasurer of the United States, as Pres't of the Co., it will occur to the most conservative investor that he can here invest his money and be absolutely as sure of both Principal and Interest being paid, and as promptly, as if he owned Government Bonds. The above-named Loans are in sums of from $300 to $5,000.

SKIN TORTURES — AND — BLOOD HUMORS !!

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burn ing Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE, EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good chance this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, these suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly but surely does away with oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

[Concluded from 1st page]

they are printed. I want to tell you what I struck in my travels when I was playing tramp printer. It was in Massillon, O. There was an office there where a weekly paper was printed, which was conducted in all its departments by women. The proprietors were two sisters. They were both type-setters. They had a female apprentice. The elder sister was the editor, but the younger one was a good local writer. They had a 'patent outside' for the paper. All the rest of the work these three persons did. They even ran the press on which they printed an edition of 900 or 1,000. It was a power-press, and one of the drum-cylinder kind that turned with a big crank. Occasionally they sent out and hired a man to turn this press for them on publication-day, but often they worked the press themselves. They were none too rich, and they saved the expense, if possible. The peculiar feature of the office was its extreme neatness. There were no piles of dirt swept into the corners. There were no pi under the stands that bore the cases. There was a pot or two of flowers in each window, and a canary-bird sang in the cage above the type-rack. The old tramps ranging through the country then used to go in and take a look at the office. It was different from anything they saw anywhere. They used to shake their heads and go off muttering. They never asked for work. They knew that they couldn't spit tobacco juice on the floor of such an office. There was no 'hell-box' in which to dump their pi, and it didn't seem homelike to them, so they gave it a wide berth."

Fools and Their Money.

It is really singular what a craze some people have to find some way in which to get rid of their money. You see that in New York more frequently than in any other city in the country. This throwing away of cash by the young society people adds greatly to the sum of unhappiness and frequently brings the young men into trouble. Berry Wall, the kind of the dudes, is an example. He has got away down in the scale now, so that you frequently hear of him in singular escapades. Fast horses, the card table, and flippant women have eaten up a large fortune for him, and were it not that he has some good qualities about him that keep his relatives, who are still rich, ready to provide for his wants, he would soon be beyond the pale of the society in which he has been so long a curious and notorious figure. Frequently he is heard of being in trouble with his companions. A story is going the rounds now that recently at the gaming table a friend of his quit owing him $800. The brother dude gave him a check on his father for the amount. The old gentleman, it is said, refused to recognize the draft, and Mr. Wall is now to bring suit for the recovery of the money. Of course it will be settled before coming to the courts, but it it could go to a jury the exposure of the methods and practices of the young swells of New York society would be very interesting and instructive reading.—Boston Herald.

English Gourmands.

(From the Cincinnati Ohio Post.)

Recently a gentleman interested in the subject of dyspepsia, had occasion to look up statistics, and his report thereon is quite interesting. He finds that this complaint prevails principally among people of moderate living, and others of prejudiced views who oppose the use of stimulant in any form, and that among the more wealthy classes and those who maintain a sideboard, there are comparatively few cases of dyspepsia. He claims that in England, where there are the most immoderate eaters and gourmands of the world, and where the most indigestible edibles are indulged—such as plum pudding and veal pies at night—dyspepsia is almost unknown. Englishmen laugh at the feeble and debilitated stomachs of Americans, and any American who has traveled in England will tell how he was ridiculed at the mention of dyspepsia. Their exemption from diseases of this kind, this writer claims, is due entirely to the stimulants they drink with their meals—children as well as grown people, of all ages—and yet despite this free use of stimulant, there is comparatively little drunkenness among the English. He goes further to say, that there is a natural, inborn craving for stimulation, and on account of the great varities and indigestible qualities of the food of the present day, stimulant is as necessary as the food itself. It is a question, he maintains, whether the people of this country are not straining their ideas and prejudices against the use of stimulants to a dangerous extent and to the destruction of the health of the people. This stupid opposition to a judicious use of the same, especially when we have a pure article like Duffy's pure malt whiskey, has done more harm and been the cause of more misery—as evidenced by the thousands of dyspeptics and other invalids whose complaints are directly traceable to imperfect digestion—than could ever arise from even a free indulgence in the use of liquors. The waste and decay of the tissues is always closely associated with, and follows almost directly upon, a weakened stomach and impaired digestion, and in fact, nearly all complaints that human flesh is heir to originate from this source, and health and comfort hinge almost alone upon this point.

The fruit of the work accomplished in the New York School of Acting is becoming visible. This week at the two leading New York city theatres, former pupils of the school sustain leading roles, —Misses Kidder and Disler in "Nordeck" at the Lyceum, and Misses Craigin and Sheridan in "Prince Karl" at the Madison Square theatre.

The dissolution of parliament consequent on the defeat of the home rule bill, will take place the latter part of June.

Extra police have been put on in London, in consequence of expected troubles.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

The damaged reputation of Madame Adelina Patti has been patched up by her marriage with Nicolini.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

The death is reported of John C. Moore, one of the editors of the Lowell, Mass., Times.

After trying all the other plasters, salves, lotions, get relief and cure by using a Hop Plaster.

The descendants of Deacon John Butler, the first settler of Pelham, have just dedicated a monument to his memory in that town.

Not like others. Hop Plaster are pain allaying and strengthening. Used by multitudes.

Chronic catarrh. The result of twenty-five years catarrh:—The bridge, or division of my nose, was about half gone. I obtained a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm; have used four bottles, applying it to the affected parts with a swab, which has about cured up the nostrils. I had previously tried all other remedies on the market without percuanent relief.—J. A. Wood, 96 N. High street, Columbus, O.

The First brigade of Massachusetts militia went into camp on the state grounds at Framingham.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

George K. Smith, of Malden, Mass., aged fourteen, left his home a fortnight ago, and since then no traces of him can be found. He told several companions that he was going west to fight Indians, and showed the boys a revolver and a long knife.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Sold by druggists. Price, 50 cents a box. See advertisement.

A number of Stoneham, Mass., militiamen on their way to Framingham camp refused to obey the captain's order to take the horse-cars in Stoneham, because the Knights of Labor were boycotting the line.

How Often

We see some young man who has squandered his money and ruined his health by excesses, and before thirty years of age is an all broken down and played out man! In all such cases I prescribe nature's tonic and nervine, Sulphur Bitters. They supply food for the brain, strengthen the nerves, and are successful in nine cases out of ten.—Old Physician.

A despatch from East St. Louis, Ill., says the city council has discharged the entire police force on the charge of conspiracy to rob banks and business houses of the city. Eighteen months ago the city treasury was robbed of $8,000, and a lieutenant of police, Tim Duffy, is now serving a sentence for the crime. He made a confession recently, the result of which was the trial of two other city officials for implication in the offence.

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City (Leavenworth and Atchison) are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining cars, in which elaborately prepared meals are served to order. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. One of the two fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. It is need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

THREE EFFECTS.—The thousands of remarkable cures which have been accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla are due simply to three effects which this great medicine has upon those who take it:

First: It purifies the blood.
Second: It strengthens the system.
Third: It gives healthy action to the digestive organs.

With those three effects no disease can long retain its hold. It is forced to leave the system, giving place to health and strength, through the potent influence of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists. Try it.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 80 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE STRENGTH.

When the skin is very tough and hard, and the follicle is apparently effectually closed, the single strength will sometimes fail to reach the papilla; in such cases the double or triple strength should be used in connection with the single, using them alternately.

C. B. LEWIS.

Biographical Sketch of "M. Quad," the Detroit Free Press Humorist.

Chas. B. Lewis, or "M. Quad," who has made the Detroit Free Press paper famous by his humorous articles, is now a man of about forty-five. He started life as a printer, on a paper in Lansing, Mich. He served for three years in the war of the rebellion, on the Union side. At the close of his military career he accidentally learned of a journalistic opening. This fact was the turning point in a life filled to overflowing with a certain kind of eventful interest. Seeing one day an advertisement in a printer's journal that there was a paper wanting an editor in Jonesboro, Tenn., he applied for the situation and his proposition was accepted. He threw up his situation in Lansing and started for Jonesboro. Coming into Cincinnati he was surprised at the bigness of the city, and when he saw the steamer which was to convey him down the river puffing and blowing out great quantities of steam he rather feared to enter her. He went up to the clerk, who was taking bills of lading, and asked him if he thought there was any danger of the steamer blowing up, as if so he did not care to go. A crowd of passengers standing by laughed, and the clerk was inclined to think that Lewis was trying to guy him. A glance at his green, country air, and a look at his honest face, convinced him that the young man was in earnest, and he assured him that the "Magnolia," for it was that famous boat, was all right, and that he could safely trust himself to her. With that "M. Quad" took his bundle from his shoulder and stepped on board. Now, a rival boat had got about fifteen miles' start of the "Magnolia," and as she left the wharf she put on all steam, intending to catch and pass her. Lewis supposed it was all right, and was much interested in watching the machinery.

The "Magnolia" was the fastest boat on the river, but this time she outdid herself, and just as she came in sight of the rival boat her boiler burst, and up went the ship, and Lewis went up with it, but coming down near the shore he was just able to crawl to dry land, when he sank down insensible. Being so near the engine he was badly injured, and his face was so covered with soot that he looked like a very negro. Those who came to the assistance of the other passengers thought him such, and paid no attention to him until all the others were cared for. Then they took him in charge and sent him to the hospital at Cincinnati. His eyes were almost put out, and it was not thought that he would live.

He recovered, however, and threatening the steamboat company with a suit, succeeded in extracting $12,000 from it. Half of this sum went to his lawyer. With the remainder in his pocket he went back to his home in Lansing. His first journalistic work after his return to Michigan was done on a newspaper published at Pontiac. One day the editor went away, leaving Lewis in charge, and not enough copy to fill out the paper. Lewis made enough copy to fill it himself—composing an article giving a full account of his adventures on the Mississippi. It was headed, "How it feels to Be Blown Up." And Lewis composed it in a humorous vein, setting it up as he went along. The article was copied widely, and among other papers, in the Detroit Free Press. He was engaged by the editor of that paper as a reporter, and was placed in charge of the local, criminal, and fire departments of the journal. It was while pursuing his duties as reporter that he was struck with an inspiration which laid the foundation for great future popularity. While noting the daily occurrence of incidents, tragic and amusing, which grew out of the criminal record, he conceived the idea of originating his, "Hour at the Central Station," a series of incidents which contained vastly more humorous originality than truth and veracity. "Bijah Joy," a real personage, was selected as the central figure, around which a strange kaleidoscope of exaggerated humanity was daily set in motion, to the unbounded amusement of the laughter-loving public.

A trouble soon arose in the Free Press camp, however, through the zeal of the rising young journalist, which bade fair to end disastrously for all concerned. In originating his series of criminal sketches, Lewis at first used the real names of parties who were summoned before the magistrate, clothing them with exaggerated fictitious raiment, which, while highly amusing to outsiders, somewhat lacked the necessary humorous element for the appreciation of those most vitally interested in the matter, and the result was a vigorous and concerted "kick." For a time it is said to have required the services of several accomplished peace-makers to satisfy the mob who daily besieged the offices of the newly-created humorous journal. After a time the novelty of this sort of thing is alleged to have worn off with those most interested, and Lewis—or, as he was now known, "M. Quad"—was requested, as his imagination was evidently unbounded, to carry it far enough to cover the matter of cognomens, as well as incidents. This smoothed matters over, and the "Hour at the Central Station" became one of the features of the paper.

As time rolled on, the "Hour at the Central Station" began to lose its freshness as a literary and journalistic novelty, and the inventive brain of its author was set to work to think out a worthy successor that would admit of new and striking features without entirely ignoring the general plan of humor which had been originally decided upon. The now famous "Lime Kiln Club" was the eventual result of these cogitations, a style of humor which admits of that dry philosophy for the production of which "M. Quad" has

A Public Benefaction.

How to launder linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

Take Care of the Navy.

Admiral Jouett has been detached from the command of the North Atlantic squadron, and ordered to act as president of the naval inspection board.

No little gossip is indulged in as to the cause of this change. Some wise correspondent has been charged with the story which he has let off to the Advertiser that "in the present delicate condition of affairs a man of less impetuous nature than Jouett, one of discretion and conservative judgment, was desired by the secretary of the navy for this place."

There is nothing "impetuous" about the navy department just now. The secretary has learned that a British war vessel is cruising up and down the coast between the Isles of Shoals and Quoddy head, and he has determined to keep the Tennessee and the other ships of the squadron safe at anchor in the North river until everything bellicose disappears from the waters. Yes, when Great Britain has her men-of-war off the coast, Mr. Bayard advises a peaceful demonstration on our part. And shall this glorious summer honeymoon be disturbed by the harsh sounds of war? No; not if Judge Holman and Samuel Randall can handle the naval appropriations. People do not seem to understand that this is a reform administration, and not one which professes to fight anything but the appropriations. The navy department will look about for a cautious, conservative and careful man to look after the home squadron, and see that it is not run into or captured in case it comes out of New York harbor.

The Oregon Election.

The election returns of Oregon summarized are as follows: The republicans re-elect Herman to Congress by 1000 plurality, and also elect their candidates for secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction, and public printer. The democrats elect their candidates for governor, treasurer and supreme judge. As the governor, secretary of state and treasurer constitute the board for the management of all state institutions, the democrats will have control of the state affairs for the next four years.

A Democrats' Demurrer.

The letter of John M. Hill declining to enter again upon a candidacy for the office of governor of New Hampshire, is somewhat remarkable and quite unique. How can it be supposed that under the present administration the democratic party is going to enter with unity of purpose and harmony of action, and old-time zeal and activity, to redeem the state from the management of the republican party? Mr. Hill evidently does not circulate among the rank and file of the democrats, else he would not assert that the state of New Hampshire can be carried by the so-called democratic party, any more than can the state of Massachusetts. DEMOCRAT.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Boston, Halifax & Prince Edward's Island Steamship Line, "Delightful Summer and Ocean Excursion." The fleet of this line is composed of the iron steamship Merrimack, 2,200 tons, one of the strongest, finest and fastest steamships in the United States, and the always favorite and first-class steamships Carroll and Worcester, well known to all the travelling public. No more delightful trip can be taken than to make the round trip in one of these steamers, leaving Boston at twelve o'clock, noon, every Wednesday and Saturday; calling at Halifax, Port Hawkesbury, Pictou and Charlottetown going down, remaining at Charlottetown two days, giving ample time for a run through Prince Edward's island, truly called the Garden of England; calling at Port Hawkesbury and Halifax on the way back, and arriving at Boston early in the morning of the second Friday or Monday after departure, taking nine days, and at a very moderate cost. In this voyage one travels 1,500 miles, and is furnished with comfortable stateroom accommodations and excellent board. Certainly no cheaper or more enjoyable trip could be planned.

A despatch of June 10th from Halifax, N. S., was as follows: "The Gloucester schooner Matthew Kearney, recently seized in Prince Edward Island waters for buying potatoes, is at Canso, the captain having abandoned the voyage; he was unable to get bait, and was unwilling to run the risk of seizure. Six Gloucester mackereling schooners and one banker are anchored in Canso harbor tonight. The banker, the Annie Jordan, is reported to have purchased bait at a fish trap near there. The cruiser Conrad left Port Hawkesbury this morning, and is believed not to be far from Canso."

At Springfield, Mass., June 10th, Miss Abbie Laslin, aged forty-three years, killed herself with a pistol. She was in ill health.

A great cloud of dust has been arising from the macadamized streets of Portsmouth for a fornight, and the optic and olfactory organs of every man, woman, child and beast have been almost obliterated. It is understood that $500 is appropriated by the city for a partial sprinkling; but better leave the whole matter alone, if it is not to be completed.

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hamsh, Cormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

A GREAT IMPROVEMENT.

The straightening, widening and regrading of Sagamore road, which the city government has voted to continue to Little Harbor road, has progressed far enough to show the vast improvement on a much travelled thoroughfare. A further great improvement is that on South road,—the removing of the zigzag wall of Hall's field and the erection of a straight fence, with a round corner to match that of the cemetery. Were all four of the corners at the junction of South street, Miller avenue, South road and Sagamore road rounded, it would give better drainage to the roadway. Mr. Miller will give the city, if desired, the land on his side from Miller avenue to Broad street to widen and straighten the sidewalk, the line of which is irregular, and to round the corners on both streets. This would be of particular advantage at the Broad street corner, where the driveway comes close up to his fence.

MISS LOUISE POMEROY.

Miss Louise Pomeroy played "Camille" last night, and in such a way that the performance was a positive triumph. The "Camille" of Dumas has ever been a most difficult character for any but the greatest of actresses—requiring as it does the finest and lightest touches of high comedy, and ascending as the play continues, to the limit of tragic and emotional acting. In all of these requirements Miss Pomeroy was in every way successful. In the last act in particular, Miss Pomeroy's acting was most excellent, and her death scene was intensely pathetic and vividly realistic. Mr. Arthur Elliot as "Armand Duval" materially increased the favorable impression he had already made in other parts. The great scene between "Camille" and "Armand" in the fourth act has never been better played in Montreal, and it roused the audience to unwonted enthusiasm and secured a great call for the actors at the end of the act. Again must we compliment the management of the theatre on the beauty and appropriateness of the scenery.—Montreal Gazette.

The engagement of this famed actress will open at Music hall next Monday evening. Seats are now on sale.

A SOCIAL EVENT.

The winter rage of fashionable theatre parties have extended to the entertainments given under canvas. An exchange, in speaking of the excellence of John B. Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Show, refers as follows to a new and very stylish custom: "Noticeable in the reserved seat portion of the mammoth tent was the Circus Sociable, given by a number of our most prominent convivialle gentlemen to their lady friends; comfortable and elegant cushioned chairs were reserved especially for their exclusive benefit by the management. The idea is a very good one, and we are glad to learn that the appreciation of such respectable amusements will grow rapidly, as evidenced by the superb exhibition given by Mr. Doris here." Doris' circus will exhibit in Portsmouth on Monday, June 21st.

Two new trusses have been constructed, and put in place of old ones, over spans at Portsmouth bridge.

Native strawberries, raised in Eliot and Newington, arrived in the market this week. The first were from Eliot, on the 9th.

Miss Morgan's school for young ladies closed on Thursday afternoon last, until October. Miss Morgan sails for Europe next week.

Universalist church, Pleasant street; no pastor. Sunday school in vestry at 3:00 P. M.

Sunday will be quite generally observed by the churches of this city as "Children's day." This is peculiarly a Methodist institution, and is celebrated by that denomination throughout the country on the second Sunday in June; and the Methodist church here will be handsomely decorated with vines and flowers, and cages of singing birds. Rev. Dr. O. H. Jasper will preach in the morning a sermon especially adapted to children, and in the evening the Sunday school will give a concert. The North parish will observe Children's day for the first time, with a children's service in the chapel on Middle street at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, the chapel being decorated with flowers and growing plants, and the exercises consisting of vocal and instrumental music, speaking of pieces by the children, etc. At the Sunday morning service in the Second Advent church a sermon especially for children will be preached by the pastor, Rev. C. R. Crossett; and a children's service will be held in the Middle street church in the forenoon, Rev. Dr. Alden giving an address.

There will be preaching in the Universalist church at the usual hour Sunday morning, by a gentleman from Tufts college.

De Witt Clinton Commandry of Knights Templar will assemble at their asylum on Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, for the purpose of proceeding to Christ church to listen to a discourse specially prepared for the occasion by Rev. Sir Knight Hovey, rector of the parish. The Sir Knights will appear in Templar uniform.

The South-end base ball club would like to play a game with the Bound-to-Wins; address George Hector.

The Donnell house at York beach, S. G. Donnell proprietor, opens for the season on Tuesday, the 15th inst.

Carlos Maurau, widely known as Harry Bloodgood, who was at Music hall in this city not long since with his new play, "Rose and Coe," was on Friday announced to be dying at his home in Lower Bartlett.

Mr. Alfred O. Larkin has gone on a fishing trip to the Rangeley lakes, Maine.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. will shortly erect a new building to be used as a scald shed.

There was a disappointed wedding party in this city on Thursday evening. The bride-elect, the groom and the wedding guests were in readiness at the appointed time, but the groom failed to appear, owing, it was said to his having been too earnest during the day in taking leave of his old companions. After waiting until patience had not only ceased to be a virtue, but had ceased to exist, the bride declared the match off, and the guests proceeded to eat the wedding supper.

The Whale's-back fog-horn was sounding steadily through Friday night, and making almost as much racket as the salvation army; but unlike the latter it was a good way off, as people of any musical sensibility must desire, and its noise was possibly of some benefit.

Both the tide-gates at the north mill-bridge are now in position, the ugly job having been finished on Friday, and the pond can now be kept full at the option of the powers that be.

At the annual meeting of the state encampment, New Hampshire Sons of Veterans, at Manchester on Thursday, the 10th, Michael Crowley of this city was elected lieutenant colonel.

Referring to the announced visit of the president and his wife to the White mountains after the adjournment of Congress, an exchange says: "It is possible that the president may decide to visit Frank Jones of New Hampshire, at his country seat near Portsmouth, and that he may even conclude to enter the enemy's kingdom and go to the dominion of Blaine at Bar Harbor; but, without determining these two side excursions, the plan is to go direct from Fabyan's to Boston over the Boston & Lowell railroad. It is said that President Cleveland wishes to pay for the use of the car and to defray other expenses of the journey, but the railroad companies will not accept compensation."

The benefit entertainment complimentary to Mr. C. D. Garvin, at Music hall on Thursday evening last, drew a good house, and was a very pleasing affair, the principal fault being the too great length of the performance, consequent on the persistent recalling of each performer. There were sixteen numbers on the programme—quite enough without any encores.

The steamer Mystic on Thursday came off the the marine railway at Kittery, where she has been thoroughly repaired, and been fitted with a new propeller, made for her by the Portsmouth Machine Co. to the entire satisfaction of Capt. Rashe Trefethen, who heartily commends the work done by the company to any one wishing any machine built or castings made. The Mystic will resume her regular trips to-day at noon.

The schooner George Savage, Soule master, bound from Bath for New York, which put into this port leaking on the 4th inst., went on the railway at Kittery on the afternoon of the 10th, for repairs.

The Laighton Brothers' steamer Appledore, condemned for this season's work on account of the unsatisfactory condition of her boiler, will be overhauled from keel to rail before another season; a new boiler will be put in, her engine made as good as new, and better if possible, and everything done to make her entirely fit and trustworthy for her work. The old schooners E. A. Creed and Eliza, which have done excellent service in the past as tenders to the Shoals hotels, will not be fitted out for that purpose any more, and are offered for sale cheap. The Eliza has a good suit of sails and is otherwise well found.

The skating rink at York beach was opened for the season on Monday evening of this week, and the attendance showed that quite a number of cottagers had already located for the summer.

GUARANTEE FARM LOANS

IN NEBRASKA.

These Loans are Made and Guaranteed by the OMAHA LOAN AND TRUST CO., which has an authorized Capital of $1,000,000, and a Subscribed and Guarantee Capital of $500,000. The Constitution of Nebraska provides that the Stockholders are personally liable to the full extent of the Stock subscribed, and that in no case shall the indebtedness of the Company exceed two-thirds of the Capital Stock. When it is taken into consideration that the Stockholders consist of twenty-five of the most celebrated capitalists and foremost financial men of the Country—consisting in part of such men as Hon. Fred'k L. Ames of Boston, G. G. Williams, Pres't of the Chemical Nat. Bank, New York City, and W. J. Quinlan, Cashier of the above-named Bank, with Hon. A. U. Wyman, late Treasurer of the United States, as Pres't of the Co., it will occur to the most conservative investor that he can here invest his money and be absolutely as sure of both Principal and Interest being paid, and as promptly, as if he owned Government Bonds. The above-named Loans are in sums of from $300 to $5,000.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions, Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call my self cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and parts of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

HERMAN SLADE.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially in this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. Scaly, putrid matter distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignorant, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, coughing, stuffing of obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the sense of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

long been noted. These articles have been running once a week without cessation for several years.

In addition to his humorous productions Lewis is the author of occasional bits of tender pathos—quaint scenes from the tearful and tragic side of life—which, in the estimation of many of his admirers, take rank above his lighter work. Under his earlier contracts with the Free Press he was not restricted in regard to writing for outside publications, and as his pen is a wonderfully prolific one, he produced much that was published in various parts of the country, for the most part anonymously. Among these productions may be mentioned a series of "Black Hill Sketches" for the Cincinnati Enquirer, weird and fanciful pictures of backwoods life which were said to have been exceedingly popular; paragraphs humorous and otherwise for the Pittsburg Dispatch, New York Telegram, New York Star, and a series of humorous sketches and stories for Ballou's Magazine. All those contributions, with the single exception of those published by Ballou, appeared anonymously.

Mr. Lewis is said to receive $5,000 a year from the Free Press, and he has declined many offers of a larger salary from other newspapers, preferring to remain in Detroit.—Tid-Bits.

George Westinghouse.

George Westinghouse owes his great and rapidly increasing wealth to his inventive genius. Twenty years ago he was a poor young man, but he struck it rich in his air brake for railroads, and money has since flowed into his coffers in a golden stream. He is one of the most profific inventors of the age, and has enough good mechanical ideas to furnish every manufacturing establishment in Pittsburg with successful specialties. He is not only highly skilled in theoretical and practical mechanics, but is also a thorough electrician. He expends an ordinary fortune every year in experiments necessary to the perfection of his inventions. By warrant of the King of Belgium he is entitled to the title of Sir George Westinghouse, having been knighted by that monarch as a recognition of his services to the world as an inventor. He is a native of New York State, and is about 40 years old.—N. Y. Sun.

Rev. John P. Newman, who was Gen. Grant's family chaplain at the Metropolitan Methodist church, and was sent around the world by him under the pretext of examining consulates, brought home a barrel of old Scotch whisky, writes Ben: Perley Poore. Not wanting it for his own personal use, he proposed to one of his parishoners, Mr. Cake, then the proprietor of Willard's hotel, to exchange thirty gallons of it for pale sherry. Glad to accommodate his pastor by rendering spiritual aid for spiritual comfort, Mr Cake made the bargain. One of his bartenders was rash enough to mention to a journalist the fact, and it soon became a public matter. Mrs. Newman was distressed beyond consolation. "The idea," said she, "of my husband, a Methodist temperance divine, being made known to the community as a trafficer in whisky, and smuggled whisky at that, and then the thought of having a drink called after him, 'Newman's Hot Scotch!'"

Considerable interest is felt in Lawrence, Mass., regarding the settlement of the post-office question. There are at least nine candidates for the position of postmaster.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

General C. S. Hamilton of Milwaukee, Wis., Ex-United States marshal, has been striken with apoplexy.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

It is reported that a syndicate of New York capitalists have advanced money for the completion of the Cape Cod ship canal.

After trying all the other plasters, salves, lotions, get relief and cure by using a Hop Plaster.

The Stoneham, Mass., militiamen deny that they disobeyed orders in not using the boycotted horse cars the other day; their action was the result of a vote of the company, assented to by the officers.

Not like others. Hop Plaster are pain allaying and strengthening. Used by multitudes.

The Chicago Times charges that $127,000 was given to less than twenty of the Chicago city council for the passage of the ordinance allowing the North Chicago Passenger Railroad company to do about as it pleases in the streets.

Chronic catarrh. The result of twenty-five years catarrh:—The bridge, or division of my nose, was about half gone. I obtained a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm; have used four bottles, applying it to the affected parts with a swab, which has allayed our pain up the nostrils. I had previously tried all other remedies on the market without permanent relief.—J. A. Wood, 96 N. High street, Columbus, O.

The Knights of Labor assembly comprising the New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City car drivers, declared the Third Avenue strike "off," and the executive board declare that there shall be no more strikes if they can prevent it.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation, and made it the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

Winnifred Walsh, a young unmarried woman, was fatally burned at Fall River, Mass., June 10th. She attempted to start a fire with kerosene oil, when the can exploded.

Something that will quiet the nerves, give strength to the body, induce refreshing sleep, improve the quality of the blood, and purify and brighten the complexion, is what many persons would be very glad to obtain. Carter's Iron Pills are made for exactly this class of troubles, and are remarkably successful in accomplishing the ends desired, as named above. They are useful for both men and women. Sold by druggists. Price, 50 cents a box. See advertisement.

Ayer & Maddocks, tanners, of Lowell, Mass., have shut down their works on account of interference by the Knights of Labor.

How Often

We see some young man who has squandered his money and ruined his health by excesses, and before thirty years of age is an all broken down and played out man! In all such cases I prescribe nature's tonic and nervine, Sulphur Bitters. They supply food for the brain, strength on the nerves, and are successful in nine cases out of ten.—Old Physician.

A special grand jury has been called at Chelsea, Vt., to take action in the case of Mrs. Sloan, the child murderer.

"I have no appetite," complains many a sufferer. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives an appetite, and enables the stomach to perform its duty.

An infernal machine was exploded in the doorway of a Protestant's house in Lugan, county Armagh, Ireland.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relations to all principal lines East and West, at Initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, with miles of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and the exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialities of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and superb Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Favorite Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all point in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of Interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. It is need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If having medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of doll'ars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

COURTSHIP ON THE RANGE.

Fine Emmet, cattleman, or Duc de Durham, as he was sometimes called, was a character who had an existence and a location at Deer Trail, Col. Fine possessed a large amount of personality, as, indeed, did many of the sturdy cowmen of the plains. He was the owner of large herds of cattle, and, by the use of the unlimited range afforded by Uncle Sam's vacant land, had only to take care of what he had and watch himself grow rich.

Besides his cattle business, he was also an expert gambler, and, as nearly everybody in this western country indulged in this kind of a pastime, he found no difficulty in providing himself with partners to his heart's content. There seemed to be method in his indulgence, for he nearly always pocketed the stakes and increased his possessions thereby.

In the conduct of his business he employed quite a large number of cowboys and with these, in one way and another, he would manage to play until their earnings were all exhausted, and at the end of the season they would have nothing to show for their work.

Among the rest whom he employed one spring for this kind of work was Pat Drake. Pat was a fine-looking young fellow, skilled in all the arts that go to make an expert cowboy, at home in the saddle, and toying with a lariat as a child would a plaything. Another fact, not so well understood in camp, was that he was very expert at cards, and would play whenever he was invited with all the nonchalance with which he engaged in every duty or pleasure that fell to his lot.

The old mat Hitson was another large cattle owner who lived at Deer Tail. He was formerly from Texas, and had a large family comprising two daughters and several sons. He was of the lawless renegade sort who had always brought odium on the whole fraternity of cowboys and cattlemen, and his family partook of these characteristics.

One daughter, Nellie, though uncouth and rude, as with her surroundings she could not help being, was nevertheless possessed of finer sensibilities, higher aspirations, and a more affectionate temperament than the rest.

Emmet had all along admired Nellie, and it had generally been understood, by the family and others who knew them, that they would eventually unite their destinies. But when Pat Drake, with his handsome face and dashing ways, came into the camp, it was easy to be seen that he made an impression upon the fair Nellie and was himself smitten with her.

The reckless, happy-go-lucky Pat rode the range faithfully during the day, and was ready for any proposed amusement in the evening. It not unfrequently happened that by some coincidence he met and spent a portion of the evening with Nellie.

Though his services were valuable, he was not long in seeing that he was not liked by his employer, and was also aware that the Hitson boys were far from regarding him with favor.

An instinctive feeling that Pat was his equal, or some sort of reluctance, had prevented Emmet from playing with him. One evening after several months' service, however, they met at the saloon when Jesse Hitson was present. After significant winks had passed between him and Emmet, the latter invited Pat to play, and they were soon seated and playing in dead earnest. Emmet soon became aware of the fact that he had met no "tenderfoot," but he was bound to win, at least, the amount he was owing Pat for his services. Pat, however, steadily led the game, and Emmet found himself as steadily losing, at which he began to play more recklessly, and endeavored by swaggering to intimidate Pat. The latter kept perfectly cool, however, and continued to pocket the stakes. The amount of the winnings had now reached several hundred dollars, and Emmet decided to put a stop to it some way, and finally he angrily exclaimed:

"You are cheating, Pat!"

"It is a lie!" said Pat quietly, and almost in the same breath.

Both men grasped for their revolvers, but Pat was surprised to hear Jesse Hitson say, coolly:

"Don't ye pull your gun, Pat; I've got the drop on ye."

For an instant Pat's coolness left him, as he saw the fearful odds against him; then everybody was startled by hearing a female voice saying:

"Hide out, Jesse Hitson, or I will let daylight through you! Give your gun to the bartender and go through that door quick." Then, almost in the same breath, Nellie, for she it was, added: "Pull your gun, Pat! I have got the drop on both of them, and am going to see fair play." Then, when she had seen Jesse out of the door and Pat's revolver in position, she said to Emmet: "Now, Fine Emmet, you put up or shut up! Back out or go on and play just as you choose, but if you do play, I will see that it is done fair. In fact, I never would have interfered but for some remarks I overheard Jesse make, and from which I concluded Pat would have no chance against both of you."

There was something about backing out, and that, too, in the presence of Nellie, that Emmet could not bear, and so he concluded to try his luck still further. His playing was of such a spiritless character, however, that Pat had a complete victory. His winnings grew considerably larger, and 200 head of cattle had been staked and won before Emmet would consent to back down, though every minute that he delayed was sacrificing so much to his pride.

When at last Emmet withdrew it was in no half-hearted way, but with a cordial manner, and he took Pat's hand and said:

"Pat, you are the best man, and I am glad to surrender to such a whole-souled

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

THE SAFEST FOOD IN SUMMER FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN. A Sure Preventive of Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is

FOR SALE AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL — BY — CHARLES E. LAIGHTON & SON

Our Worst Enemies,

Next to our vices, are our follies. Among them is the imperilling of future bodily comfort, and the average tenure of life to which persons of moderately good constitutions are presumably entitled, by imprudence in eating and drinking, and the reckless use of drugs. It is one of the happy capabilities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that it can repair damage thus inflicted. When the blood is thin and watery, the bowels out of order, the complexion and tongue both giving evidence of billiousness, there is a necessity for repairs upon the human tenement obvious enough to startle its possessor. A course of the Bitters, the abandonment of "drugging" for relief, and a common sense diet and mode of life—these will speedily produce a change for the better. What quinine for fever and ague, and mercury for billiousness and constipation, won't do, the Bitters will. It also relieves rheumatism and neuralgia, and inactivity of the kidneys.

George W. Vaughan of Buffalo, N. Y., has a big Confederate flag that floated over the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch office until Richmond fell. Some time ago he wrote to the Dispatch people telling them that he had their old flag, and offering to exchange it for a Union flag. The answer came promptly and politely, that they had had all they wanted of the rebel flag, and that Mr. Vaughan was quite welcome to it.

100 Doses One Dollar

Is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthing qualities. A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will last a month, while others will average to last not over a week. Hence, for economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A team of George W. Anderson of Rochester which was stolen several weeks ago, was found at Island Pond, Vt., where the thief having it in charge was under arrest for breaking and entering a house there. The thief was identified as a Frenchman formerly employed in Anderson's brick yard. After serving a sentence for breaking and entering at Island Pond, he will be brought to Dover for trial.

Playing

Cards were introduced in France in 1391, for the amusement of the King and royal family. In 1873, in the state of Kentucky, a far better discovery was made, i. e., that a pure and wholesome alcoholic stimulant could be made for the use of the people, as a public blessing, and the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey has proved such ever since. It is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and Druggists and Grocers have it on sale, and will indorse its excellence.

For sale by the bottle or case by John Leighton.

OUR NEW YORK FASHION LETTER.

Morning Dresses—Travelling Outfits—Simple White Costumes—Wools and Silks.

Lace matinees over colored silk are pretty, and may render dressy some partly-worn silk skirt, the two silks either matching or contrasting, a bright matinee looking well with a dark skirt. Another pretty idea is to select a very thin white wool, and having tucked it perpendicularly, run colored ribbon in the tucks; here likewise there being uniformity or contrast of colors. There is universality too in these light-looking morning dresses, since choice of colors renders them of such varied character as to suit the young, middle aged or elderly. Ribbon bows set about can give finish, and with addition, if need be, of a lace breakfast cap to match, the outfit is complete. There are tasteful morning dresses of wool lace with ribbons showing through the open meshes, that tell their own jaunty story. Wool lace, however, is hardly high style, though not altogether among things of the past. In

TRAVELLING

There will be immense demand for long Newmarkets and Raglans, the former fitting close and with or without cape, the latter loose, but both very long, rendering the dress skirt of little importance except perhaps a glimpse at the lower edge. Thus the crumpling of a nice skirt is avoided, and good dresses can be kept fresh. For material, the list of light mixed cloths is endless. But there are equally long cloaks made of lace, satin or silk, and in demand for other occasions than travelling. If not very long, the outside garment must be very short, and each day reveals the growing popularity of jet. Many of the latter are composed entirely of beaded net with fringe on the edge, and the favorite style for making is the straight breadth of goods folded in the middle and extending its whole length around, with straight pieces sewn on for the front. Shoulder seams take off all fullness and give obligatory shaping. Each day likewise shows the progress of plain material for short wraps, and here the sleeves are of beaded net, or independent jet or colored bead ornaments are sewn on so as to do away with plainness. Thus the plain fabric serves only as the groundwork for display of the overwhelming run upon jet and colored beads. Simple white dresses to be worn at

WATERING PLACES

Are of plain mull or nainsook in side plaits and combined with tucks, and some attractive ones are tucked perpendicularly all around the skirt, with round tucked waist to match. Ribbon looks well run in all or some of the tucks. Lawn hemstitched in stripes or cross bars, figured or lace-striped mulls give a change, and there are brocaded white satines with almost the shimmer of silk. As the present might be called a summer of sashes, the conclusion is foregone that sashes will be important. Mitts are black or match the ribbons of the dress, but if kid or silk gloves are chosen, tan shades are in far greater demand than anything else. Black silk stockings with Newport ties or slippers are almost a regulation finish. Before going to the seaside or country everybody should be supplied with Button's Raven Gloss shoe dressing, since besides being the best it is so conveniently put up for travelling. Some of the

MOST STYLISH DRESSES

For summer outfits are of wool interwoven with tinsel, and draped so as to show the selvage that does duty as a trimming. There is nothing more attractive than the Bengaline silks striped in two tones, unless it be the dresses of glace silk where the loveliest of floral patterns are displayed on a groundwork of such color as to show them off—pale pink, corn, sea green or pale blue. Plain silk is combined usually, and there are frequent additions of beads or lace. Greatly delighted is, likewise, are the so-called jewel dresses, which made an appearance in spring but will now find room for fuller exhibition. Fine black net is bespangled with artistic embroideries of beads, while glowing at intervals are colored stones simulating rubies, emeralds, sapphires, etc. The favorite combination is velvet and Chantilly lace. Moire silk has come in with remarkable ascendency, and is constantly seen as a large part of or in touches upon handsome silk or fine cashmere dresses. Cashmere, indeed, comes quite to the front, and costumes where it is united with gay plaided silks will be constantly seen during our summer dress parade.

LUCY CARTER.

A Judicious Nomination.

We are glad to note that the republicans of the second district of Maine had the wisdom to renominate, with a unanimity which does them credit, Ex-Gov. Dingley as their candidate for re-election to Congress. Gov. Dingley is a valuable member. He is industrious, practical, and alive to the interests of his constituents; and he is just the kind of representative that contributes to the state and the country an abundance of energy combined with political experience and knowledge in his office, which the people always appreciate in this class of public men. No more fortunate selection could have been made in the second district.

A Thrifty Executive Committee.

A New York despatch of the 10th inst. says that "notwithstanding the virtual abandonment of the strike against the Third Avenue railroad by the executive committee of district assembly seventy-five, the rank and file of local assembly 4103, composed of the strikers, refuse to recognize their defeat, and declare their ability to yet turn it into a victory. The men have revolted against their leaders, and are seeking admission into district assembly forty-nine, and the work of reorganization has begun. It is claimed that there is at least $30,000 to be accounted for by the executive committee. The members of the committee have many of them come out in new suits since the strike began, and at all times they have been well supplied with cigars and pocket money. When Master Workman Boyle was arrested the other day he had $105 in his vest pocket, and said he could furnish more if necessary. An auditing commitee has been appointed." The loudest-mouthed of the "friends of the working men" who have led in these strikes, were probably of the class who "earn a living by the sweat of their jaws," as is usually the case.

The Ohio club of Cincinnati has issued a manifesto to the democrats of Ohio, declaring that the party should purge itself of corruption, as manifested at the recent election. It warns them that unless they do so they cannot succeed in obtaining control of the state.

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

A large part of the people of Manchester are loony, "clean gone" on base ball. The Manchester club one day last week having won a game at Concord, on their return from that city were received with a demonstration that surpassed anything of the kind ever witnessed in Manchester. More than 10,000 people marched in procession and lined the sidewalks. The Manchesters were provided with barouches, which were trimmed with flags and preceded by two drum corps, and the procession, carrying brooms, marched through Elm street, which was ablaze with fireworks, while flags and handkerchiefs were waved from every building. The affair wound up with a reception at the Manchester house.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. HOTEL POCAHONTAS.

The new summer hotel erected by Mr. Jebison on the attractive spot which the "Piscataquatico Chowderheads" a dozen years or so ago christened Pocahontas point, it always before having been known as "Little Bar point," is now ready to receive guests, and already has a number under its roof. Horace Mitchell, Jr., of Kittery Point, is manager; John Campbell, of Newcastle, head cook; Robert Billings, of Kittery Point, porter; the table girls, reputable young women of the surrounding country, are in charge of Miss Ella Jellison of Kittery Foreside; the pastry cook is from Boston. The steamer James Sampson, Capt. C. F. Duncan, will make two round trips daily between this city and the new jetty run out from the point, leaving the landing at the foot of Daniel street at 11:15 A. M. and 6:10 P. M., and Pocahontas point at 1:30 and 6:45 P. M.

MUSIC HALL.

This evening, at Music hall, Miss Louise Pomeroy and her dramatic company will open their week's engagement with "Hamlet." A large number of reserved seat tickets have been sold, but others can be procured at Goodrich's. See advertisement.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The U. S. S. Leyden, at New York from this station, was in the dry dock there last week, having touched on Lawrence point, near Hell Gate, while on the way to New York with the shaft for the Vandalia.

Lieut. Samuel L. Jackson, U. S. M. C., is detached from the marine barracks at this navy yard, and ordered to report for duty on the U. S. S. Brooklyn, now at the New York navy yard under orders as flagship of the Asiatic station.

Lieut. Louis J. Gulick, U. S. M. C., is detached from the marine barracks at Brooklyn, and ordered to report for duty at the marine barracks at this navy yard.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer May Queen, Capt. Williams, was announced to make a trip from Dover to York beach and return, touching at this city both ways, on Sunday, the 13th inst., but the rain prevented.

The tug Ann had a string of three loaded "brickers" in tow on Saturday, bound for the lower harbor.

The schooner New Boxer, Rankin master, from Bangor, was last week landing lumber at J. P. Simpson's wharf, York harbor.

Capt. Joseph Haley brought in on Friday seventy-five large mackerel. Several small lots were also brought in on Saturday, caught in drag-nets.

The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell sailed for Boston on Saturday evening, under command of Capt. Charles W. Drowne.

Mr. Oscar Laighton on Saturday received from Capt. Robinson, at Philadelphia, a telegram stating that the agreement for the steamer Oceanic had been made, and the boat would be here this week, in readiness to start on the Shoals route next Monday.

Mr. Orin Downs of this city has bought at Newcastle, for shore fishing, a boat of the whaleboat pattern.

Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell will sail this morning in his schooner, the Lucy, for Star island, Isles of Shoals, to commence his fish-buying and curing operations for the summer, and get the Atlantic house in trim for the reception of guests.

Mr. G. Horace Dame arrived home last week, after a service of three years as machinist on board the U. S. S. Nipsic, on the South Atlantic station.

Lieut. N. J. Coffin arrived home on Saturday last, from the southward, after a long absence.

The first rain of any account for several weeks came on Sunday, and thinned out the church congregations, laid the dust in the streets, and delighted the farmers. There has been no lack of water in the springs and wells hereabouts, but the surface of the ground had become very dry, and crops of some kinds have suffered, though not seriously.

Silas Philbrick has eleven men employed at his stone and marble yard on Water street. The men on Saturday asked for nine hours as a day's work, and their request was acceded to; but in consequence of the great press of work at this time, they agreed to work an hour extra each day for the present, with a corresponding increase of pay.

Mr. James Janvrin has taken the contract to build a house for Capt. J. Albert Sanborn on South street, nearly opposite the entrance to Langdon park. Mr. Janvrin is also to build by contract a parsonage house for the Congregational society in Newington, the foundation for which has been completed. John Andrew Pickering, Esq., is chairman of the building committee of the society.

The committee having the matter in charge have appointed Bro. Andrew P. Preston as chief marshal of the day, on the occasion of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of St. John's Lodge, June 24th. He has accepted, and appointed Bro. C. W. Tracy as chief of staff.

Mr. Shanahan, the contractor for the big sewer, is much pleased with the change he made to tunnelling through the Deer street ledge instead of blasting out a deep trench. The bore is now being put through the hardest kind of blue trap rock; the tunnelling was commenced on Tuesday of last week, and up to Saturday night the hole had been put in twelve feet. The distance to be tunnelled is about ninety feet.

Mr. Edwin A. Tilton has resigned his position as organist and choir master at Christ church, and closed his duties there last Sunday. Mr. Tilton has been in charge of the music of that church since its establishment, having done service at St. John's church for some years previously. Mr. Frank W. Moses succeeds Mr. Tilton in charge of the choir.

There were many teams in this city from the neighboring towns in York county, Saturday, the drivers as a rule hurrying up their business, and leaving as early as possible. The general report was that the crops promised well, provided rain enough to wet the surface of the ground should soon come. The canker worms were reported to have made bad work in the apple orchards everywhere, and to have attacked the walnut trees in many places. Samuel W. Armstrong came in from York in the morning for the first time in several weeks, and took back sails from Drowne's loft for the schooner Karen Happuch, Philbrook master; this schooner is the first vessel to load this season with bricks from Norton's yard on York river. Landlord Grant, of the Sea Cottage at Long sands, York beach, was also in town, with a fine team; he reported having about twenty boarders at his house, and that the ocean front of York already begins to present a lively appearance, although so early in the season.

A paper called the Sea Shore, to be published weekly during the summer months, is shortly to be issued by John D. Randall and E. A. Tilton of this city. The paper will be devoted exclusively to sea-side news and gossip.

Mr. D. Foxwell Stoddard, formerly in the livery stable business in this city, was in town on Saturday. He now has a quite extensive farm in Dover, near the Durham line, on which he has made considerable improvements since he went there.

The Good Templars of York gave a successful entertainment and strawberry festival in the S. S. S. hall at the village on Wednesday evening, the 9th inst. There was a large attendance, all having a first-class time, and about $15 were made above expenses.

Jonathan W. Getchell, a prominent business man of Exeter, was stricken with apoplexy Saturday morning at the breakfast table, and died in less than two hours. He leaves a widow and one son, Prof. Clarence B. Getchell of Phillips academy.

A boy twelve years old, son of Edward F. Tuttle of Exeter, died Saturday morning, having accidentally shot himself under the eye with an old revolver with which he was playing the previous evening.

Harry Bloodgood, the noted negro minstrel, died at his home in Lower Bartlett on the night of the 12th inst.

THE BIDDEFORD ELECTION FRAUDS.

The trial of the alleged conspirators closed Friday evening, the evidence for the defence being all in by noon. B. F. Hamilton of Biddeford made the argument for the defence, and Attorney General Baker for the prosecution. Judge Emery gave an hour's charge, and the jury retired at 6:15 Friday evening; they were out all night, and on being called Saturday morning reported a disagreement. The Biddeford respondents were held in $500 each for appearance at the September term of the court.

Naval Intelligence.

The U. S. S. Nipsic was put out of commission at New York on the 10th of June.

The U. S. S. Trenton, flagship of the Asiatic squadron, arrived at Singapore on the 4th inst.

Rear Admiral S. R. Franklin, in the flagship Pensacola of the European squadron, arrived at Alexandria, Egypt, May 4th, and had an interview with the Khedive on the 8th. On the 12th, in company with the Kearsarge, the Pensacola sailed for Syria; on arriving at Smyrna the admiral intended shifting his flag to the Kearsarge, and proceeding in the latter vessel to Constantinople.

Admiral Jouett was relieved from command of the North Atlantic squadron at his own request. The order detaching him is as follows:

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, June 7th, 1886.

Sir: At your own request you are hereby detached from the command of the North Atlantic squadron, and you will proceed to Washington, D. C., and report to Admiral David D. Porter for duty as president of the board of inspection and survey. This employment on shore duty is required by the public interests, and such services will continue until the 7th of June, 1889, unless it is otherwise ordered. W. C. WHITNEY, Secretary of the Navy.

Rear Admiral James E. Jouett, U. S. N., commanding United States naval force on North Atlantic station, New York.

Lieut. A. G. Paul has been detached from the Lancaster, and ordered home.

Paymaster I. Goodwin Hobbs has been ordered to the New Hampshire to relieve Asst. Paymaster T. J. Cowie, who will continue his duties as commissary of the ship.

Ensign R. T. Mulligan has been ordered to the bureau of navigation.

Have you seen the men's all-wool suits for $5, $6 or $7, marked down from $9, $10 and $12, at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street?

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty.

Call and examine the children's all-wool plaited and Norfolk suits at $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street.

Sudden cases of sore throat and hoarseness are greatly alleviated by the use of Chlorate of Potash. Preston's Pocket Package is especially intended for travellers desiring the popular tablets in a convenient parcel.

Don't miss those men's black whipcord and blue diagonal suits for $10, marked down from $15 and $16.50 at the great slaughter sale at No. 32 Congress street, Hewitt & Co.'s.

These Loans are Made and Guaranteed by the OMAHA LOAN AND TRUST CO., which has an authorized Capital of $1,000,000, and a Subscribed and Guarantee Capital of $500,000. The Constitution of Nebraska provides that the Stockholders are personally liable to the full extent of the Stock subscribed, and that in no case shall the indebtedness of the Company exceed two-thirds of the Capital Stock. When it is taken into consideration that the Stockholders consist of twenty-five of the most celebrated capitalists and foremost financial men of the Country — consisting in part of such men as Hon. Fred'k L. Ames of Boston, G. G. Williams. Pres't of the Chemical Nat. Bank, New York City, and W. J. Quinlan, Cashier of the above-named Bank, with Hon. A. U. Wyman, late Treasurer of the United States, as Pres't of the Co., it will occur to the most conservative investor that he can here invest his money and be absolutely as sure of both Principal and Interest being paid, and as promptly, as if he owned Government Bonds. The above-named Loans are in sums of from $300 to $5,000.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Torures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which defied my struggles, despite all my remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than CATARRH. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and weaks up the strongest of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular nomenclature of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and historic method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most opprobrious symptoms, clearing the head, restoring the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

[Concluded from 1st page]

tenor, and one who has done everything on the square; but the worst of it is, I suppose I must surrender Nellie, too. What can't be cured must be endured, though, and the only consolation I know is to seek some one else to fill the aching void." And then he added: "I don't want you to fix a day for the wedding until I have a chance to see you again, as I want to make some arrangements that will be agreeable both to you and to me. You are now the owner of cattle enough to make a cowman of no mean pretensions, and we want to keep on friendly terms. Still it seems a little rough for me to have to furnish the bride and the settin' out too."

Pat deposited enough money with the bar-keeper to entertain all callers, and then walked home with Nellie.

Upon arriving at the Hitson homestead they found Jesse had preceded them, and the whole family was in an uproar. The only one who espoused Nellie's cause was her mother, and this, too, contrary to the expectations of Nellie and Pat. Fine Emmet, they knew, was considered too good a catch to be trifled away. But though the old lady had showed a disposition to see fair play, she did not assent to the whole transaction without an investigation, and as the young couple entered she said—

"What does this mean, Nell?"

"It means that Pat and I have been out walking," said the girl, somewhat timidly.

"How did you come to be walking together, Pat?"

"Nellie helped me out of a bad scrape and saved my life, so very naturally I saw her home; moreover, we love each other, and want you to consent to our marriage."

"But Fine Emmet has the first claim to her," said the old lady.

"He has given it up fair and square and says I can have her," said Pat.

"That makes things look different," said the old woman. "But what can a poor cowboy like you do with a wife? How can you take care of Nell, who has always had all the ponies she wanted to ride, and everything to her notion?"

"I have 200 cattle and $1,000 in money that I won of Fine Emmet tonight," said he.

"Can you keep them?" the old woman queried.

"That I can, and get more all the while."

"Wall, that looks like business, and I guess the old man and I can get along with it if you two can, and Fine feels as you say about it. If he only wanted Kate, now, you too could be partners, and make a strong team on this range, with the Hitsons to back you."

Kate, to whom the old woman had referred, was the older daughter, and, though not possessed of as desirable a disposition as Nellie, had always been jealous of Emmet's attentions to her, and as she listened it was evident that the arrangement rather pleased her than otherwise, and, unnoticed by the rest, she glided out of the house. Not many minutes afterward she returned, accompanied by Fine Emmet, and in high glee shouted:

"Mother, Fine wants you to consent for him to marry me, and we want a double wedding one week from to-day."

"Wall! this beats all the doings down in Texas before the war," said the dazed old woman. "But you can't get married next week, or the week after, and not until the east 'round-up' gets back. Then we will have the biggest time there has been on this creek for twenty years. With fiddles from Denver, and a man to keep sober and take care of the guns, there shall be no limit to the enjoyment, and you shall have a glorious 'send-off.'"

A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

Rev. Samuel Kirkland Lothrop, long pastor of the Brattle street church, Boston, died June 12th, in the 82d year of his age. He was ordained to the ministry and settled as pastor of the Unitarian church in Dover, N. H., on the 18th of February, 1829, the church edifice being dedicated the same day.

"I have no appetite," complains many a sufferer. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives an appetite, and enables the stomach to perform its duty.

The insurance of $2000 which the late Col. B. W. Hoyt of Epping had on his life, in the Provident Association in Concord, has been paid to his first wife, Mrs. Jennie K. Hoyt, the beneficiary of the same. This lady was divorced from him, and it will be remembered that he married a Manchester lady for his second wife, only ten days before his sudden death.

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with Nervousness and Dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and Dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

A Littleton dispatch says: The worst log jam ever known on the Connecticut river, near Lower Waterford bridge, has been broken after three weeks of labor. The drive belonged to the Connecticut River Lumber company.

Cocaine, Iodoform or Mercurials in any form in the treatment of catarrh or Hay Fever should be avoided, as they are both injurious and dangerous. Iodoform is easily detected by its offensive odor. The only reliable catarrh remedy on the market to-day is Ely's Cream Balm, being free from all poisonous drugs. It has cured thousands of acute and chronic cases, where all other remedies have failed. A particle is applied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents of druggists.

At a meeting of the governor and council in Concord last week, the petition of Mrs. Adelaide Cilley Waldron, of Farmington, for an appointment as notary public, was received, and laid upon the table pending the opinion of the attorney-general as to her eligibility.

Dyspepsia comes from torpid liver and costiveness. You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly. Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night for a week or so, will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver and ensure a quick and healthful digestion. These Pills are purely vegetable, contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young.

A missing dory of the Gloucester schooner Fox has arrived at Lamaline, Newfoundland; the crew were five days and nights without food or water. Two men of the Gloucester schooner Richard Gerring have been picked up at sea, and taken to Cow Bay, C. B., whence they were sent to Boston under care of the American consular service.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, &c., should try them.

Advices from Auckland, New Zealand, state that at Tarawera there has been a volcanic eruption, proceeded by an earthquake. Many natives and Europeans perished.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. IA MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, as initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, protected by miles of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, fast, upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated and Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "specialize medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

Model of the "Naniwa."

An elegant model of the Naniwa, the celebrated cruiser recently built in England for the Imperial Japanese navy, has just been completed at the Washington navy yard, and sent to the navy department, where it will be one of the most conspicuous ornaments of the secretary's office, and will afford important aid in determing the type of our future war vessels. The Naniwa is 300 feet long, 46 feet beam, 18 1-2 feet mean draught of water, 3,730 tons displacement, and is undoubtedly the fastest cruiser in the world. The model, which is on a scale of one-quarter inch to the foot, is the work of the construction department of the navy yard, under the superintendence of Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn, who examined this vessel on the stocks during his recent tour of the European dockyards. The work has been carried out in minute detail. It is the most beautiful and most accurate ship model which this country ever produced, and for which Naval Constructor Hichborn is to be most deservedly congratulated on the success of his excellent labor and ability.

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters, and until I began using them in my family, we had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. RUGS.

Handsome and ornamental rugs may be made at home. One of the expensive is the Chenille rug. Collect all your woolen scraps—no matter how small or how much soiled—old flannels can be dyed with bright dyes and add very much to the beauty of the rug. Cut all the pieces into crosswise stripes about half an inch wide; the length is of no consequence. Thread a needle with very strong thread doubled. Gather the pieces through the center with not too fine stitches. As fast as a piece is gathered push it down close to the knot. Push each piece as tight as possible to the next one. Continue in this way until the thread is full, then tie on another thread and proceed as before. Make in skeins about six yards long. It requires about one hundred and fifty yards for a rug. Take it to a carpet weaver and have it woven three-quarters of a yard wide. If you have enough reds of different shades to make fifty-eight yards for a border at either end, and have the center "hit or miss" it makes a beautiful rug. These rugs are very handsome, and being alike on both sides, wear beautifully. The only expense is in weaving, generally fifty cents or one dollar. This work utilizes pieces that would otherwise find their way into the rag bag. Very pretty rugs can be made of small silk scraps, no matter how much defaced, they will all work in. Cut in strips about half an inch wide and two inches long. Take a piece of ticking, having the stripes about one-third of an inch wide, cut it the size of the rug wanted. Thread a sewing machine with coarse thread (number thirty) and needle. Place one of the ticking stripes under the needle, then lay on the silk pieces close together, with the middle of each piece on the ticking stripe, and stitch down to the end of the stripe, then stitch back again close to the last row of stitching; this will make it strong. Put the ticking in place with the next stripe under needle. Fold back the fringe, make the preceding row, back out of the way and proceed as before. A black border and mixed center are very rich looking. After the rug is finished line with some heavy material to keep flat.

Home made Smyrna rugs are very elegant, and when carefully knit are equal to the imported ones in beauty. For these there comes a thick heavy worsted, called Smyrna wool. It comes in all the rich Oriental colors and can be bought for one dollar and twenty-five cents a pound. It requires four pounds of the wool to make a rug one yard long by three quarters wide. This is a pretty size. You also need two coarse steel knitting needles, and Dexter cotton, number six. There is a fine soft cotton called Smyrna cotton that comes for knitting these rugs, but it is more difficult to find it. Cut the wool in bits of equal length, about two inches. With the cotton cast on forty-two stitches, knit once across plain.

Second row—knit one stitch cotton, lay in a piece of wool, so that half is in front and half at the back of the work, knit in; then bring the half from the back to the front of the work and knit it; then lay in another piece of the wool and continue until twenty pieces have been worked in.

Third row—knit a row of plain cotton; then another with wool, and so on alternately. This makes a strip nine inches wide. It is knit width wise, and in many strips as the rug is to be long. After making the strip the desired length, bind off. As each strip is finished, with a sharp pair of scissors clip off the uneven ends, before sewing pieces together. Knit as tight as possible to make firm. Patterns come in colors for knitting these rugs, but any pretty cross stitch pattern will do, putting a piece of wool for every stitch in the pattern and knitting a plain stitch between. Rag rugs are knit from the same directions.—Mrs. C. S. Fox, in Good Housekeeping.

In the Sick Room.

A thermometer is indispensable in the sick room and the temperature should be carefully regulated by its indications. An open fire is the best ventilator when it can be had, sometimes this is impossible, then the nurse must exercise her ingenuity with the means at her command. If there is a fire-place, a lighted lamp can be set in it in summer when a fire would make the room too warm. When the room is heated by a register or a coil of hot water pipes, or a close stove, a metal dish filled with boiling water and put where it will keep hot will moisten the atmosphere by the steam it gives off. A window should be arranged to open an inch or two at the top and a strip of baize, or coarse flannel tacked over the aperture. This will admit a constant supply of fresh air with no draught. A screen can be placed between the window and the bed if the cool air strikes directly upon it. The proper temperature at which the room should be kept varies with the nature of the illness. It is lower for fevers than for diseases of the chest and throat, and in some cases, as rheumatism, may be governed by the feelings of the patient. The wards of a general hospital are kept at 68 degrees. It must be remembered that a person in bed does not take cold unless exposed to a strong draught, or violent changes of temperature or the body being suddenly cooled by throwing aside the bed clothes.—Elizabeth Robinson Scovil, in Good Housekeeping.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

Lieutenant A. W. Greely becomes a captain by promotion in course, and there is said to be a "high probability" that he will soon be made assistant adjutant general. In no better way could atonement be made for the summary refusal of Congress a few weeks ago to reward an officer who had wrecked his health for his country in an experience of extraordinary peril and suffering. The nation has far from paid its debt of gratitude to this man, or to the humble sharers of his heroic devotion.

The warm weather often has a depressing and debilitating effect. Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes all languor and lassitude.

J. Frederick Busche, editor of the labor organ at Hartford, Conn., Thomas Mulcahy, president of Typographical Union No. 47, and Walking Delegate Benjamin F. Gledden, have been arrested for conspiracy in boycotting the Journal and Courier of Hartford.

THE SAFEST FOOD

IN SUMMER

FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN.

A Sure Preventive of

Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is

The Most Nourishing,
The Most Palatable,
The Most Economical,
Of All Prepared Foods.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

PROF. CHS. LUDWIG VON SEEGER,

Professor of Medicine at the Royal University; Knight of the Royal Austrian Order of the Iron Crown; Knight Commander of the Royal Spanish Order of Isabella; Knight of the Royal Prussian Order of the Red Eagle; Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, &c., &c., says:

"LIEBIG CO'S COCA BEEF TONIC should not be confounded with the horde of trashy cure alls. It is in no sense of the word a patent remedy. I am thoroughly conversant with its mode of preparation and know it to be not only a legitimate pharmaceutical product, but also worthy of the high commendations it has received in all parts of the world. It contains essence of Beef, Coca, Quinine, Iron and Calisaya, which are dissolved in pure genuine Spanish Imperial Crown Sherry."

Invaluable to all who are Run Down, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Bilious, Malarious or afflicted with weak kidneys. Beware of Imitations.

HER MAJESTY'S FAVORITE COSMETIC GLYCERINE. Used by Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales and the nobility. For the Skin, Complexion, Sunburn, Chapping, Roughness. $1.00. Of druggists.

LIEBIG CO'S Genuine Syrup of Sarsaparilla, is guaranteed as the best Sarsaparilla in the market.

"Supporting Reform."

We notice that the official call for the democratic state convention at Concord on the 29th, invites "all voters who are desirous of supporting reform in the federal government" to join with the democracy. It is a capital hit, for by common consent there has never been greater need of reform than now under this mugwump administration. It ought to be reformed right away.—Dover Democrat.

Our Worst Enemies,

Next to our vices, are our follies. Among them is the imperilling of future bodily comfort, and the average tenure of life to which persons of moderately good constitutions are presumably entitled, by imprudence in eating and drinking, and the reckless use of drugs. It is one of the happy capabilities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that it can repair damage thus inflicted. When the blood is thin and watery, the bowels out of order, the complexion and tongue both giving evidence of biliousness, there is a necessity for repairs upon the human tenement obvious enough to startle its possessor. A course of the Bitters, the abandonment of "drugging" for relief, and a common sense diet and mode of life—these will speedily produce a change for the better. What quinine for fever and ague, and mercury for biliousness and constipation, won't do, the Bitters will. It also relieves rheumatism and neuralgia, and inactivity of the kidneys.

It is estimated that the losses caused by the strike on the Third Avenue horse car line of New York city will round up fully $1,000,000. There were originally 1500 strikers, and 1000 of them are now out of work.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is more reliable as an agent in the cure of consumption, chronic coughs and emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

A new post-office has been established at Fortune's Rocks, a sea-side resort two miles west of Biddeford pool, and George K. Burnham appointed postmaster.

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

John Beler, who recently abjured Catholicism, tried to preach at Allentown, Penn., Sunday, but was prevented by a mob which attempted to throw him into the river. The police saved his life.

Playing

Cards were invented in France in 1391, for the amusement of the King and royal family. In 1873, in the state of Kentucky, a far better discovery was made, i.e., that a pure and wholesome alcoholic stimulant could be made for the use of the people, as a public blessing, and the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey has proved such a success. It is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and Druggists and Grocers have it on sale, and will indorse its excellence.

For sale by the bottle or case by John Laighton.

A Moderate Claim.

The Canadians, it appears, modestly claim to own all of the ocean inside of a line drawn "from headland to headland," and for three marine miles outside of such a line, and threaten to seize and confiscate any American vessel caught fishing in their waters. This utterly preposterous claim, if allowed, would on some parts of the provincial coast keep our vessels more than thirty miles at sea, on pain of being captured if they fished any nearer the land. And our state department does not seem to know what to do about it! British Minister West should at once give Mr. Bayard his instructions in the premises.

Fancy Andrew Jackson's administration being at a loss what to do under such circumstances; or James G. Blaine's, had he been elected president. The official information that Canada made such a claim would not have had a chance to get cold on the desk of Old Hickory's secretary of state, before a message would have been on the way to the British foreign office announcing that the claim would not under any circumstances be allowed, and that any interference with an American vessel on the high seas would be regarded as an aggression of the gravest character; and no such aggression would have taken place. But then the old-time democratic administrations were jealous of American honor and sailors' rights. Probably the next information received by Mr. Bayard will be that Canada has drawn a line from Cape Sable to Land's End, and claims all the water on both sides of it as her especial fish pond.

Naval Intelligence.

It is generally understood in navy circles that Rear-Admiral Stephen B. Luce, commandant of the naval war college at Newport, will succeed to the command of the North Atlantic squadron. The statutes provide that when an officer of the navy below the rank of vice-admiral reaches the age of sixty-two years, he may be retired by the president, or he may be retired after forty-five years' service. Rear Admiral Luce will have been forty-five years in the service on October 19th, but he will not be sixty-two years of age until March 5th, 1889, hence he will have nearly three years more of active service.

Another change of command authoritatively reported is that of Commodore Ralph Chandler, from that of commandant of the New York navy yard to the command of the Asiatic squadron. His last cruise ended in July, 1881, and he is third on the list of commodores, so that he will be rear-admiral before another six months. Commodore Daniel L. Braine is reported to be the probable selection of Commodore Chandler's successor.

A board consisting of Vice-Admiral Rowan and Rear-Admirals Worden and Luce will meet at the navy department to examine Commodores J. A. Jouett and J. H. Russell and Captain James A. Greer for promotion.

Commodore J. H. Russell has been ordered to hold himself in readiness to assume command of the South Atlantic squadron. He has selected Capt. S. L. Breese to command the flagship Lancaster, which vessel, when heard from three weeks ago, was at Cape Town, Africa, on the way to Rio de Janeiro. Her present commanding officer, Captain E. E. Potter, will be relieved and ordered home.

The Pigman court of inquiry, which has been in session on board the Tennessee at New York, has sent a report of its doings to the navy department. Mr. Pigman, when executive officer of the Tennessee, was reported by Admiral Jouett for lack of ability in his position. The admiral stated in his report that the crew of the Tennessee was in a condition bordering on mutiny owing to the manner in which Mr. Pigman discharged his duties.

Lieut. Comdr. J. E. Noel, executive officer of the Adams, has been tried by court-martial at Payta, Peru, on charges of being absent from his station after his leave had expired, and of drunkenness. The court acquitted him of the first charge, but found him guilty of the second, and sentenced him to be reprimanded in general orders by the rear admiral commanding the squadron. Rear Admiral McCauley issued an order disapproving the sentence, stating that it was not in accordance with the evidence, and that the court had but ill-performed the duties assigned it. He directed that Lieut. Comdr. Noel be released and restored to duty.

A board of naval officers of which Capt. R. L. Meade is president has been ordered to appraise the stores at the various naval stations, and report such as may not be needed.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa sailed from Norfolk for Rio Janeiro on the 12th inst.

The previously reported collision between the Brooklyn and Yantic, on the passage of the North Atlantic squadron from Nassau, N. P., to New York, resulted in the loss of the Brooklyn's flying jibboom, and the Yantic's mizzen topmast.

Gunner Charles H. Venable is ordered to ordnance duty at the Washington navy yard.

Gunner T. R. Wilson is detached from the torpedo station, and placed on sick leave.

Gunner Charles B. Magruder is detached from the Pensacola navy yard, and ordered to the Tennessee.

Gunner William W. Carter is detached from the Tennessee, and placed on waiting orders.

John H. Westfall, of Rochester, N. Y., has been appointed an acting gunner in the navy.

Lieut. C. D. Galloway has been detached from the naval academy and placed on waiting orders.

Chief Engineer George W. Stivers has been detached from the New York navy yard, and ordered to the Essex.

Assistant Surgeon William R. Hall has been detailed as judge-advocate.

A Royal Tragedy.

Ludwig II, king of Bavaria, was last week deposed on account of hopeless insanity, and committed suicide at six o'clock in the evening on Sunday by throwing himself into Starnberg lake. His physician, Dr. Von Gudden, who was walking with him at the time, was drowned in attempting to save him.

Representative Holman having succeeded in having the salary of Mr. M. Parry Kennard, United States sub-treasurer at Boston, reduced to $4500 in the legislative appropriation bill, now before Congress, Gen. Collins of Massachusetts made a manful fight against the reduction, and the salary was allowed to stand at $5000, the amount fixed by law.

The overseers of the poor are said to be unanimous in disapproval of the proposal to sell the almshouse, or any more of the city farm.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

Synopsis of a Remarkable Lecture, Delivered by Dr. R. E. Hammond, Before the National Scientists' Convention.

"We call this an 'age of progress,' and so in very many respects it is, but I do not hesitate to declare most emphatically, that in many things that constitute true happiness we are simply children. Let us see: We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. Occasionally his appetite was poor, but then in a few days afterward it was ravenous. He felt strange pains shooting through his body, but, as they did not remain, he forgot them. His head pained him periodically; he was somewhat paler than common, and unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

Dr. Hammond then instanced a number of cases of persons well known to him who had died in great agony, although they had experienced few symptoms and little pain, and continued:

"Why is it that so many little children are to-day puny, stunted, and apparently blighted for life? Because those early and inevitable diseases, measles, scarletina, etc., have so weakened certain organs that nature cannot do her work, and the child languishes, perhaps dies. Look at the list of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of all diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful sudden strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is that men and women drag along, die and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of the things, and was Bright's disease of the kidneys. That was the inward cause: these are the outward manifestations. Every disease must have a root, just as certainly as every plant. Kidney disease is the great root from which most modern diseases, no matter what their name may be, actually spring.

"But because the kidneys are so important, so delicate and so powerful, they require the greatest care in treatment. Ever since the day when Dr. Bright discovered the connection between morbid outward symptoms and internal decay, physicians, scientists and chemists have sought for a cure and powerful relief. It has been a difficult, often a fruitless search. Many remedies are now before the public, but, so far as I have been able to learn by chemical analysis, and actual test, only one possesses absolute merit and power. I have seen a number of cases, and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation Hunt's Remedy has been almost remarkable in its results. One case in particular was that of a prominent banker residing in New York, whose family physicians, assisted by the best counsel that city could produce, declared his case to be hopeless, and who was afterward restored to perfect health by the means I have named. I have not hesitated to use it freely among my patients, and from the results I have secured, I shall continue to do so."

The doctor explained how men and women should live in order to meet this terrible malady, and instanced several additional cures which had followed the use of the remedy before referred to. In concluding he said:

"If men and women could only be aroused to a realization of their actual danger, to a sense of what is before them unless they take prompt and proper action, and then by a correct course of life and the use of just the right means seek to prolong their lives, most of the present suffering and untimely deaths might and would be avoided."

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. L. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

THE NORTH PARISH SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT.

On Sunday evening the Sunday school of the North parish observed Children's day, for the first time. Although the evening was very disagreeable, the chapel on Middle street was well filled; and those who stayed away on account of the weather missed the best concert that has ever been given by that school. The display of flowers was one of the finest ever seen at any similar service in this city; a principal feature, worthy of especial notice, was a pillow of about 300 Marechal Neil roses, which alone made a very pretty appearance, and besides these there were growing plants, ferns and other flowers too numerous to mention. The alter was also very prettily festooned with evergreen and daisies. A number of canary birds with their sweet voices added much to the musical exercises, and seemed to enjoy the evening as well as any of the audience. The singing of Misses Henscom, Brown, Butler and Ferguson was very pleasing, although they had had but little time for practice; and "Consider the lilies," sung by Mrs. McIntire, was beautifully rendered. The reading of Miss Woodward, and recitations by Misses Grace Brown, Fannie Butler, Lizzie Ferguson, Mattie Kimball, Flora Dow and Georgia Moses were all very fine. We wish we had space to give the programme complete, but can only say further that it was a grand success in every particular, the little folks all doing well their parts. The music was furnished by an orchestra under the direction of Mr. W. W. McIntire, consisting of Thomas D. Noyes, violin, George B. Chadwick, 'cello, Samuel L. Kingsbury, Harry Hutchinson and Eddie Goodall, flutes, and Mr. McIntire, piano. The superintendent wishes to thank the orchestra for their valuable and highly appreciated services; and the superintendent and the ladies of the Young People's Association may take much credit to themselves for the marked success of the concert. At the close of the exercises the roses and other cut flowers were distributed among the children and the audience, and there were enough for every person to receive some. M.

GUESS HE'LL COME.

Daniel Lamont says the president and Mrs. Cleveland will not visit the White mountains this summer. Mr. Cleveland has all along been noted for giving out that such and such a thing (getting married, for example,) would not be done, and then something has occurred. We will not believe the private secretary this time.

The managers of the Maine Central, the Portland & Ogdensburg and the Boston & Maine railroads have offered to provide special trains for President Cleveland and wife to visit the White mountains and Bar Harbor. If the president of the Portland & Ogdensburg road, who is collector of the port of Portland and manager of the democracy in Maine, with the aid of such reliable democrats as Frank Jones of the Boston & Maine and Arthur Sewall and Payson Tucker of the Maine Central, cannot induce the president to invade the Pine Tree state notwithstanding he will be obliged to meet Mr. Blaine at Bar Harbor, then what is the use of having any democratic party?

The president will steam over the great lakes in August, and if he compasses all the trips which have been marked out for him he will become noted as the Great American Traveller, and Daniel Pratt of Boston will have to take in his sign.

BASE BALL.

The game of base ball between the Newmarket club and the Red Stockings of this city, announced to be played last Saturday, did not come off, the Newmarkets telephoning down that they could not play until Wednesday, the 16th inst.

The South-end base ball club say they would like to play a game with the high school nine.

MUSIC HALL.

Though the weather was unfavorable on Monday evening, a fair audience assembled in Music hall to witness the presentation of "Hamlet" by Miss Louise Pomeroy and her dramatic company. Her success in the difficult character was a pleasing surprise, and the support is what has been claimed for it, really good all through. Miss Pomeroy was called before the curtain every act.

The entertainment afforded is one of the best that has been at Music hall this season, at any price.

This evening "Camille" will be the attraction. Tickets at Goodrich's.

PORTSMOUTH MACHINE COMPANY.

The stockholders of the Portsmouth Machine Co. met at the machine shop on Monday, the time fixed for the annual meeting. By reason of the results of an account of stock taken since the 1st inst. not being fully completed, the meeting adjourned to Monday next, June 21st, at three o'clock P. M.

DEATH OF CHARLES RAYNES.

Charles Raynes died at the residence of his brother, Francis Raynes, at South Berwick, Me., on Sunday, at an advanced age, after a brief illness. He was born at Raynes' neck, York, where his ancestor, Francis Raynes, obtained a grant of land with Godfrey in the Mason & Gorges colony about 1640. At an early age he learned the ship carpenter's trade in this city, and became a skillful draughtsman; and in company with Frederick W. Fernald, under the firm name of Raynes & Fernald, built many fine ships at Badger's island. Later he was associated with Stephen Tobey, as Raynes & Tobey, in building at the Raynes yard the ship America for D. & A. Kingsland of New York; and afterward was more or less associated at times with his brother, the late George Raynes, in getting out the models of many of the splendid clipper ships which sailed out of this port. A number of years ago he removed to South Berwick, where he purchased some property, and has since lived in retirement. Although very peculiar in his ideas and habits, he was very popular with those with whom he associated. In religion he was a Universalist; in politics he was an extreme democrat up to the end of his life. In anticipation of the end he some time ago made all the arrangements for his interment. He was never married.

The Hotel Pocahontas did not open on Monday, as proposed, the furniture not arriving from Boston as expected. The schooner Golden Gate, with the furniture on board, put into Gloucester on account of adverse weather and fog, and was detained there over Sunday. The steamer James Sampson went to Gloucester on Monday, to tow her around.

The sea wall of Newcastle avenue was nearly completed on Saturday; and the fence, and the grading of the sidewalk and driveway, will be finished this week if the weather is favorable. To complete the good job already done there, the earthern sidewalk should be kerbed with stone its entire length; this would hold the material in place, and when it was once trodden down hard it would not thereafter be turned into mush by rain.

Owing to the rain on Sunday afternoon De Witt Clinton Commandry of Knights Templar did not attend divine service at Christ church as intended, but will do so next Sunday afternoon, when the discourse specially prepared by Rev. Sir Knight Hovey will be delivered.

The contract for supplying the Portsmouth Gaslight Co. with coal for the year has been awarded to E. F. Sise & Co., who will furnish the celebrated Westmoreland gas coal.

Capt. Til Creamer on Saturday night last caught in his drag nets 700 mackerel, which were sold at eight cents apiece.

Mr. Winslow T. Perkins, station agent in this city for the Boston & Maine railroad, arrived home on Saturday after a month's trip through the west, during which time he travelled over 10,000 miles by rail.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, arrived at Broughton's wharf on the 14th inst. from Bangor with 300 M shingles, 100 M laths, 60 M feet of long lumber and 400 cedar posts, to John H. Broughton.

Gov. Hill of New York will be the guest of Hon. Frank Jones this week. The governor is expected to arrive here on Wednesday, spend the day with Mr. Jones, go to Concord on Thursday morning to be present at the dedication of the Webster statue, and leave for Boston in the evening.

The Salem (Mass.) Cadet band, twenty-four pieces, Jean Missud leader, has been engaged by De Witt Clinton Commandry of Knights Templar for service on St. John's day, June 29th, on the occasion of the celebration of the 550th anniversary of St. John's Lodge of this city.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

Call and examine the children's all-wool plaited and Norfolk suits at $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street.

Sudden cases of sore throat and hoarseness are greatly alleviated by the use of Chlorate of Potash. Preston's Pocket Package is especially intended for travellers desiring the popular tablets in a convenient parcel.

Don't miss those men's black whipcord and blue diagonal suits for $10, marked down from $15 and $16.50 at the great slaughter sale at No. 32 Congress street, Hewitt & Co.'s.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially in this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in this country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has caused more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all, passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, catarrhal fevers, inflamed throat, obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the sense of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

ing ringlet in the dim distance, the flash of a pair of lovely eyes, the simplest suggestion of a fair woman rivets his attention instantly. No setter dog ever "points" with more rapidity or accuracy than the ex-member when he scents the presence of a lovely woman. I saw the ex-member "point" the very instant he entered the Capitol. Following the direction of his ardent gaze, I saw a slim-figured blonde young woman, dressed in a snug suit of black, with a jaunty hat perched high upon her well-poised head, back from which trailed a long black veil. She was leaning upon the arm of a gray-bearded, severe-looking old man.

The ex-member recognized the old man and dashed up to him. He wrung his hand in a perfect passion of friendship, as he gazed over his shoulder right into the blue, blue eyes of the blonde, blonde girl.

—"Permit me to present you," said the old man.

The ex-member placed his hand on his heart and bowed a bow the like of which is rarely seen upon this or any other stage. Into it he blended the most remarkable curves of admiration and profound respect for the fair creature.

She received him with great effusiveness, but in a moment a shower-bath descended upon his raptures.

Said the old man: "Miss Blank is taking subscriptions to Gen. Logan's book" (etc., etc., for five minutes).

The ex-member, who is an extreme Democrat and a hater of Logan, was caught and landed one minute later. He paid over the subscription, and for the rest of the day did not look at a pretty woman.

A Painful Incident.

An incident, thrilling in its consequences to the Leisure and Hack families, of Louisville, occurred in the city court recently. Clarence and Fred Leisure and Frank and James Hack, four small boys, were arrested for beating tin cans and blowing horns under the windows of a neighbor named Shaw. Miss Shaw had a beau, and the racket was so uproarious that they could not hear each other speak. It turned out upon examination that there had been a lawsuit between the Hack and Shaw families, and the tin-canning and tooting had been going on for eight months. Judge Thompson, on the bench, said: "I will fine these boys $10 each, but the fine will be remitted if their fathers will take them into the marshal's office and whip them soundly, in the discretion of Deputy McCorkhill." Both fathers arose instantly and agreed to the proposition. The boys were led into the office, a double strap was taken, the young criminals laid across the table, and the fur began to fly. Deputy McCorkhill was not satisfied with the inaugural dash, and asked the father if he was not consumptive. Before the affair was over the pantaloons of the young offenders had been lathered in severe style, and when they went out of court after the judge had confirmed the commissioner's report, they waddled with great difficulty and pain.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Consumptive patients are advised by a pupil of Liebig, in the Apotheke Verein, to live in rooms where one or two drams of sulphur are melted on a hot stove. The first ten days bring increased cough and irritation, then these cease and the patient improves rapidly.

Carl Schurz puts in his spare time these days lecturing on modern education.

A Mystery.

Of the 118 delegates to the democratic convention which renominated Congressman Bynum of Indiana, sixty-nine (more than one-half) have signed a statement declaring that they did not vote for Bynum. This makes it interesting to know how his alleged nomination was brought about. There must have been some very experienced democratic vote-counters in charge of the polls.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four cents packages) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

Bishop Hendricken, of the Catholic diocese of Providence, R. I., is dead.

A fire burned the court house, hotel and business blocks in Litchfield, Conn., causing a loss of fully $100,000.

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with Nervousness and Dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

The Beverly Gas Co., or a majority of its stock, has been sold to a few gentlemen who intend to add an electric light plant to furnish light for the shoe product. The capital of the company was $40,000, and it has not paid a dividend for some years. The stockholders found that their property would become of but little account unless they caught on to the latest racket in the business of furnishing light.

Cocaine, Iodoform or Mercurials in any form in the treatment of catarrh or Hay Fever should be avoided, as they are both injurious and dangerous. Iodoform is easily detected by its offensive odor. The only reliable catarrh remedy on the market to-day is Ely's Cream Balm, being free from all poisonous drugs. It has cured thousands of acute and chronic cases, where all other remedies have failed. A particle is applied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents of druggists.

The week's programme for the big sloops Puritan, Priscilla, Atlantic and Mayflower includes three races, as follows: Tuesday, the 15th, Atlantic yacht club race; Thursday, thirty-two mile race of the New York yacht club; Saturday, forty-mile race of the Seawanhaka yacht club, with a special prize of $1000 for the winning sloop of the "big four."

Dyspepsia comes from torpid liver and costiveness. You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly. Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night for a week or so, will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver and ensure a quick and healthful digestion. These Pills are purely vegetable, contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young.

Five tramps broke into a freight car standing on the track at Montpelier junction, Vt., and with pistols and knives defied the railroad employes to get them out. On the arrival of the freight train the hands succeeded in routing them. Two of the gang were afterward captured at Montpelier, and officers pursued and caught the other three. One slipped his handcuffs and tried to escape. Another jumped from a swiftly-moving carriage with the handcuffs on his wrists; the officer fired three shots over his head, and was about to shoot him down when he was stopped. All are now in jail. They attempted to wreck a freight train by throwing an obstruction on the track, but failed in the attempt.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night swea's, &c., should try them.

The Great Falls Manufacturing Co. offers its creditors sixty per cent cash, or eighty per cent in notes at twelve, eighteen, twenty-four and thirty months.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

During a riot in Sligo, Ireland, on the nigot of June 12th, several houses of Protestants were wrecked.

For pains, severe aches, weak parts, nothing equals the Hop Porous Plaster in value. 25 cts.

The police in Ireland have received information against members of moonlight gangs in Clare, Limerick and Kerry. All the gangs are organized, directed by chiefs, bound by oaths, and have a system of passwords.

Ayer's Pills are palatable, safe for children, and are more effective than any other known cathartic.

An explosion occurred in N. H. Amsden's furniture manufactory at Concord, at one o'clock Sunday morning, blowing out a wall and badly injuring the watchman. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Dolly.

We were schoolfellows, Dolly and I,
At a little dame's school in the town close by;
I carried her books and she held my hand—
Two innocent children of Gods own band.
We would marry when we grew up, we said,
Grave plans for the time to come we laid—
A small boy I and a wee girl she,
In those bygone days—ah me! ah me!

We grew—we were married—Dolly and I,
At the quaint old church in the town close by;
The farm was purchased, the fees were paid—
"What a blithe young couple!" the neighbors said.

And so we were fill the winds blew bleak,
And chilled the roses on Dolly's cheek,
Like the waning tide of a wave was sea,
Her life ebbed gently—ah me! ah me!

If you want to know why I of times sigh,
You must come with me to the town close by;
You must see the church where our vows were said,
And the mound that covers the restful dead,
For my love is sleeping the quiet sleep
The Shepherd calls his own when a flock is shep—
And the world is not what it used to be,
Ere its sunlight faded for her and me.

FILLING A TOOTH.

Contrast Between the Methods of Old-Time Dentists and Those of To-day.

"When an old-time dentist began to prepare a tooth for filling," said a dentist to a Philadelphia News reporter, "he began by laboriously removing the decay from the cavity in the tooth with a hand-drill—a sort of cup-shaped gouge. A great deal of difficulty was experienced in keeping the tooth dry, as the least moisture in the cavity would prevent the filling from packing. To overcome this the patient's head was thrown back until his face was horizontal, and a napkin was constantly employed to wipe off the tooth. If the nerve was exposed it was killed with a red-hot wire, a proceeding, I can assure you, that in the anti-nitrous-oxide gas days caused the patient to screech with great vigor. When the hole had been properly drilled out—two hours' work, at least—the filling was put in and packed into place by what was known as 'hand-pressure'—simply pressing the gold in with a steel needle. Later on the hand mallet came into vogue. The filling was hammered into place with a steel prod and a metal mallet, a process requiring two operators—one to hold the mouth open and direct the prod, while the other gave the mallet strokes. It was not calculated to make a man particularly happy, especially if the nerve had been improperly treated.

"After the hand mallet came the automatic plugger, and with it a most ingenious idea, called the 'rubber dam.' That is simply a sheet of thin rubber, into which holes are punched by an instrument so adjusted that the hole can be of any required size. The 'dam' is placed over the tooth, first being secured behind the head with clamps, and not a particle of spittle can interfere with the operation. To make this doubly sure a silken ligature is tied around the tooth, and, the patient being provided with a saliva ejector, the operator is free to work without hinderance or delay. I look upon the 'rubber dam' as invaluable.

"The automatic plugger is now giving way to the electric plugger, an ingenious little instrument operated by electricity that gives a multiplicity of strokes whose force can be regulated at will. You can readily see how quickly the work can be done.

"The preparatory process is equally speedy. A four-cell battery furnishes power to a revolving rod, which turns 2,000 times a minute. The end of the rod is hollow, and into it is fitted a drill, which the operator selects from a large collection as best suited for the size and depth of the cavity. To such a state of perfection has this been brought that it is possible to drill all around the nerve, then put a cap over it, and over the cap the filling. When the tooth-structure shows that the nerve should be destroyed it is devitalized by a painless process. This, however, is not often necessary. After the filling process is completed the rough surface of the gold is made flush with the tooth by means of a rapidly revolving corundum-wheel propelled by the same electric power. An hour suffices for the entire operation. Ten or fifteen years ago a half-day was consumed, and often very unsatisfactorily.

A Burmese Fairy Story.

Fairy tales are popular among them, and there is one which comes from over the border in Siam, which was told us by a Siamese. The exaggerations all hang together artistically and are in the same vein as it were. "There was once a king who heard that there was an enormous giant in a far country, and he declared that he should never rest till he got a hair of the giant's head. So he sent his fleet, and they sailed and they sailed and they sailed for weeks and weeks and weeks, and at last one day in the afternoon it became suddenly dark, and they stuck fast, and could get neither forward nor backward. Now, the fact was that they had got inside a hole in a sort of carrot, the smallest vegetable in the giant's kingdom. And behold the next morning the giant's children went out to fish, and they picked up two or three elephants on their way for bait, but they were only able to catch a few of the very smallest fishes in the country—something equivalent to your minnows," said the narrator. "And as they were going back they saw the carrot growing by the water's edge, and pulled it up to put it into the curry, and inside it was the whole fleet. After they got home the giant threw the fish and the carrot into the pot in order to boil them, when the fleet rose out of the root to the top of the water with all the men in it. 'What are those curious insects?' said the giant, peering down into the pot." Then came a good deal more, which the narrator had forgotten. "The men tried to shout to the giant and tell him what it was they wanted, but their voices were too weak, and he could not hear a word they said. At length he lifted them up to his ear in his hand.

Our Worst Enemies,

Next to our vices, are our follies. Among them is the imperilling of future bodily comfort, and the average tenure of life to which persons of moderately good constitutions are presumably entitled, by imprudence in eating and drinking, and the reckless use of drugs. It is one of the happy probabilities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that it can repair damage done inflicted. When the blood is thin and watery, the bowels out of order, the complexion and tongue both giving evidence of biliousness, there is a necessity for repairs upon the human tenement obvious enough to strike its possessor. A course of the Bitters, the abandonment of "drugging" for relief, and a common sense diet and mode of life—these will speedily produce a change for the better. What quinine for fever and ague, and mercury for biliousness and constipation, won't do, the Bitters will. It also relieves rheumatism and neuralgia, and inactivity of the kidneys.

Thomas S. Pearson, proprietor of a restaurant in Boston, shot himself through the head with a revolver in his place of business last week. His wife and son are proprietors of the Gorham house at Old Orchard beach.

In the court at Alfred, last Saturday forenoon, the four Portland bummers who pleaded nolo contendere to a charge of illegal voting at the Biddeford municipal election were sentenced as follows: Lawrence Charlton to four months, and Fred T. Gillis, John H. Gillin and Edward A. Smith, alias "Finger" Smith, to three months imprisonment each.

Thomas S. Pearson, who committed suicide in Boston last week by shooting himself through the head in his restaurant, was three or four years age proprietor of the "Pearson house" in Limerick, Me., and was well liked and respected there.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is more reliable as an agent in the cure of consumption, chronic coughs and emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

In St. Louis, June 14th, warrants were issued for the arrest of forty-seven Knights of Labor for injuring and destroying railroad property during the recent Southwestern railroad strike.

THE SAFEST FOOD IN SUMMER FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN. A Sure Preventive of Cholera Infantum It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed. Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels. For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled. For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. A Public Benefaction.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

YORK, ME., June 12th.

Hon. B. F. Northup, in his lecture at town hall May 22d, on the subject "Our Town, its Needs and Possibilities," forgot to mention that the town needs democrats who can hold the federal offices, without transporting men from adjacent towns for that purpose. The following notice in relation thereto has been posted:

WANTED. A man from Kittery, or some adjoining town, to manage the democratic caucuses and other affairs in York. One who can recommend himself as "entirely unsolicited on my part, sir-r-r!" preferable. PER ORDER.

"That tired feeling" from which you suffer so much, particularly in the morning, is entirely thrown off by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FOR SALE AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL — BY — CHARLES E. LAIGHTON & SON

Why is It

That the sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla continues at such a rapidly increasing rate? It is,—1st: Because of the positive curative value of Hood's Sarsaparilla itself. 2d: Because of the conclusive evidence of remarkable cures effected by it, unsurpassed and seldom equalled by any other medicine. Send to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., for book containing many statements of cures.

A staging on which seven men were standing, engaged in building a chimney for the new dye house of the Cocheco Print works at Dover, gave way Monday afternoon, and two of the men fell twenty feet to a floor below, the other five saving themselves by clutching the wall. One of the two who fell, John Robinson, was severely and it is feared fatally hurt.

Playing

Cards were invented in France in 1391, for the amusement of the King and royal family. In 18[illegible], in the state of Kentucky, a far better discovery was made, i.e., that a pure and wholesome alcoholic stimulant could be made for the use of the people, as a public blessing, and the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey has proved such ever since. It is bottled by E. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and Druggists and Grocers have it on sale, and will indorse its excellence.

For sale by the bottle or case by John Leighton.

The Great Race.

The Puritan, Priscilla and Atlantic sailed in the race at New York Tuesday, the Mayflower not starting. The Puritan crossed the starting line eight seconds ahead of the Priscilla, and twelve seconds ahead of the Atlantic, the three passing buoy No. 5 within seven minutes of each other, the Puritan leading and the Priscilla astern; at 1:48 P. M. the Priscilla was ahead and the Puritan astern; and they passed in by Sandy Hook about half-past three, with the Priscilla five and one-half minutes ahead of the Puritan, and the latter a minute and a half ahead of the Atlantic.

Naval Intelligence.

A Constantinople despatch of the 14th says: "The United States man-of-war Kearsarge, temporarily the flagship of Admiral Franklin, is here and will remain a month. Application has been made for permission for the Kearsarge to enter the Black sea. The United States steamer Pensacola remains at Smyrna."

The secretary of the navy has written to the president of the board of inspection of foreign vessels at New York, saying that the department is anxious to secure a list and description of those steamers of the American mercantile marine which in time of need might be called upon at once for special purposes. He also requests the president of the board to endeavor to enlist the interest of the ship owners in this scheme, and adds that the department will cause the names of such vessels as may fill the necessary requirements to be entered on the list, which will be known as the auxiliary naval list.

A Terrible Fate.

The brigantine Scotswood, Huxable master, while on the trip from St. John's, N. F., to Cape Breton, June 8th, picked up a dory in which were two bodies in an advance stage of decomposition. There was nothing to show who the men were or to what vessel or nationality they belonged; but from general appearances it was supposed that they were French fishermen, and were probably two of the forty-six poor fellows reported missing on the Grand banks during the recent unprecedented and impenetrable fog. One was a man of small stature, of dark complexion, had but little hair on his face, and was partially bald; he was dressed in blue trousers, shirt and canvas jacket, and wore heavy boots. The other was a heavy-framed man, with large features and heavy sandy whiskers; he was dressed in oil skin trousers, shirt and knitted frock. Both were marked on the arms with Indian ink, but the marks could not be made out because of the decomposition. They had undoubtedly starved to death, after terrible suffering and exposure. In the dory were found a knife, on the handle of which were the letters "L. V.," a thole pin marked "D. A.," two gray woollen mitts with the letter "R.," stitched with red yarn. The heller was marked "V." The smaller man's shirt was of black and red checked flannel. The dory was half full of water. The bodies were buried at sea, and the dory carried into port.

At a recent democratic congressional convention in Maine the list of delegates was largely stuffed with names of democrats who perhaps would have attended if any one had come from their towns. An unsophisticated delegate undertook to reject the impertinent enquiry as to how many delegates were present, the figures stated as the result of a ballot not tallying with the report of the committee on credentials; but the indiscreet fellow was promptly sat upon by the managers of the circus.

It is stated that the president has transferred the matter of patronage distribution in Massachusetts from Congressman Collins to Judge Endicott and Collector Saltonstall, and the designation of the postmaster at Lawrence is an assurance that what is known as the "better element" of the democracy are to come to the front, while the lesser lights will occupy seats in the rear.

Fred Hermann, late director of the Cincinnati infirmary, has been sentenced to the state prison for misappropriating the funds of the institution.

Congressman Hewitt of New York has introduced in the house a resolution providing for the celebration of the anniversary of Washington's inauguration.

Drendonne Alexandre Paul Borteau, the French author, is dead.

Jack Brixton, who was arrested for being the leader in the conspiracy to rob the East St. Louis banks, has been discharged.

MARITIME NOTES.

Mackerel were on Monday reported as being taken off this port in considerable quantities, Elvin Newton's gang, at the Isles of Shoals, having caught many, and Capt. Creamer having brought in a considerable number that day. The latter also brought in on Tuesday 1100 mackerel, taken off the Shoals on Monday night.

The schooner Comet, Capt. Yeaton, is fitted for the use of fishing or sailing parties, and can accommodate thirty persons for a ten days' cruise. Parties desiring further information can get it by applying, either personally or by letter, to Capt. N. W. Yeaton at Newcastle.

The schooner yacht Una, which was towed to Boston from this port some weeks ago, after having been laid up here several years, has been sold to Mark A. Hanscom of that city.

HAMPTON, June 15th.

Again we hear the marriage bells. A wedding took place at the residence of Samuel Emery, Esq., Mr. Warren Towle being united to Miss Clara Emery. The bride, one of the belles of the town, was arrayed in blue satin adorned with lace and flowers. The wedding cake was the best, the trousseau of the bride the richest and most extensive, known in this vicinity within memory. Rev. H. B. Copp officiated, and the couple leave the Granite State for Massachusetts. Some of the bachelors of the town are marrying widows, and we hope the president's good example will be followed by the single men of the land.

Some of the dealers complain that while the law is properly enforced to prevent the sale of undersized lobsters in the large towns and the cities, that the catchers constantly and without restraint evade the law by selling little ones at a small price along shore, very much to the disadvantage of honest purchasers. For instance, they say that in the town of Rye small lobsters are sold at very low prices, and the attention of the fish and game commissioners is invited to this illicit trade. It appears evident that if the regulations are properly carried out the lobsters will continue to increase; otherwise not.

AYER'S SUGAR COATED CATHARTIC PILLS

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine extract, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hamsik, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEBLE, Salem, Mass.

MUSIC HALL.

Miss Louise Pomeroy scored another great success on Tuesday evening as "Camille," and as on Monday evening her support was admirable. A large portion of those who witnessed her wonderful impersonation of "Hamlet" were again present, and her reception was as flattering as on the first night. If there are persons who stay away from these performances because of an impression that tragedy cannot be creditably presented at cheap rates, they have only to attend one evening to be undeceived.

Romeo and Juliet this evening.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

There was a meeting in the city rooms, Monday evening, of the conference committee appointed by the board of aldermen and the common council to consider the differences between the boards in regard to the proposed sale of the almshouse and city farm and part of the city's stock in the Portsmouth & Dover railroad. The committee failed to reach an agreement, the conferees on the part of the aldermen being a unit in favor of selling, while the council's representatives as unanimously opposed the propositions; and each committee firmly held to its own views.

A special meeting of the city council was called by the mayor for Tuesday evening, to take action in regard to the invitation from Gov. Currier to our city government to be present at the unveiling of the Webster monument in Concord on the 17th inst.

The boards met in convention, and it was unanimously decided, by a yea and nay vote, to accept the invitation, the expenses to be paid from the contingent fund.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

Why do the women want the saloons closed on Sunday?

1st. Because they wish to enjoy the society of their husbands on the one day of release from labor, and they believe that anything which allures husbands and fathers from their families is an enemy to the home.

2d. Because they know that hard working men need one day in seven for the rest that can only be found in their own homes, or in such outside recreation as may be shared by their wives and children.

3d. Because they wish to strengthen the ties between father and children. In many cases, Sunday is the only day in which they can enjoy each other's society.

THE VERY ACME OF GREATNESS REACHED AT LAST.

The management of Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Circus desires to especially announce earth's greatest equestrian artist, Mr. James Robinson, the wearer of the diamond-studded champion of the world belt, and the medals of France, Spain, Russia and his own native country, America. Mr. Robinson is more celebrated than any other living equestrian, and is a household word in every land. He has just completed the most brilliant tour around the world ever made, and was received everywhere with an unbounded enthusiasm and marked distinction never accorded any other artist in the profession. Everywhere he rode his bareback steeds, the public turned out en masse, and pronounced him without an equal on the face of the earth. For a period of years Mr. Robinson has offered a standing challenge of $10,000 to any who will compete with him in any of his marvelous feats, and yet in the multiplicity of equestrian talent with which the world abounds, not a single rival has dared to dispute in friendly contest his undoubted claim to be the greatest master of his art. With surprising agility and intelligent judgment he performs his marvels of miraculous deeds, so perfect in their very nature, that the witness should find it almost impossible to believe they could be accomplished without the subtle aid of ingenious illusion. Mr. Robinson will ride at every performance of the Great Inter-Ocean Show. The champion belt and medals will be on exhibition in Hutchinson's jewelry store window on Monday, June 21st, the day the big show comes to Portsmouth.

Hotel Pocahontas opens to-day.

The Portsmouth Trust & Guarantee company paid a dividend of three per cent on the 15th inst. The semi-annual (guaranteed) dividend of $2.25 per share on stock of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire was also paid on the 15th; stockholders in this city are paid at the National Mechanics & Traders' bank.

Deer street, where the big sewer is now approaching completion, has been put in such repair as to allow the summer travel to pass over it conveniently.

Rev. W. A. McGinley of this city and Rev. Dr. Quint of Dover were last week members of a Congregational council which met in Newburyport to consider the trouble which has for some time existed between the Whitefield church in that city and the Congregational body at large, in regard to the orthodoxy of the pastor, Rev. Henry E. Mott. The result of the investigation was that the council declared the Whitefield church in good fellowship and Mr. Mott in good standing, and so should be recognized by all churches and ministers. Rev. Mr. McGinley was moderator of the council, and from the extended report of the proceedings published in the Newburyport Herald it is apparent that his sound sense and judicious rulings as presiding officer contributed no little toward enabling the council to reach the very satisfactory conclusion finally arrived at.

We on Tuesday received from Mr. James R. Yeaton some green peas which he picked on his place on Richards avenue, and which were the first seen by us this season, raised in this vicinity. This is about a week earlier than peas were brought in last year, and we do not think there have been any brought in earlier than the 20th of June for a number of years.

Some little excitement was occasioned on Broad street, Tuesday forenoon, by a slight fire in a shed at the house of Walter L. Brown, caused by children playing with matches. The fire was put out by the neighbors with buckets of water, without a general alarm being given; and had it not been so put out it would undoubtedly have been knocked out in one round by the dignified gentleman who arrived with an axe on his shoulder just after it was extinguished.

Mr. John Kelley, now a student at Dartmouth college, will have the position of messenger on the steamer running between this city and the Shoals this summer.

Sergeant Gallagher, U. S. A., formerly for many years stationed at Fort McClary as custodian of that fortification, is on a visit to this city.

The report of the county commissioners, superintendent of county farm and house of correction, sheriff, solicitor, clerk of the supreme court and county treasurer for the year ending May 1st, 1886, has been received.

Mr. Willie Dow, having repented of his base ball proclivities and thrown aside his dazzling uniform as a club man, now wears a white frock in a provision store.

Chester B. Curtis of Dartmouth college, class of '89, will have a situation at the Appledore house this season.

An unusually large number of the class of '86 at our high school are candidates for college this year, and all are thinking of going to Dartmouth. Frank C. Hoyt, Clifton H. Humphreys, Everett Trefethen and Frank E. Mason are candidates for the Chandler Scientific department, while George B. Stavers, Minot H. Beacham and Harry Hutchinson propose to pursue the usual classical course.

The Exeter News Letter says: "J. Warren Towle, Esq., of this town, is understood to be pressing Rev. L. F. McKinney, of Manchester, very closely for the democratic nomination in the first congressional district."

Joshua M. Vaughan has recently been receiving large quantities of fruit, which he has distributed through the neighboring towns on both sides of the river.

Mrs. Temperance Spinney, nee Hodgdon, of Hancock street, was ninety-five years old on the 11th day of July. She came of old stock, and was born in Newington.

The blasts fired in the tunnelling operations on Deer street cause much heavier concussions in the immediate neighborhood than when a trench was being blown out; a number of panes of glass have been broken by the jar, in buildings close by, and on Tuesday a marble representation of a bible was thrown from its pedestal in Treat's marble yard, and about ruined.

The Newmarket Advertiser says: "Albert Smith of the Bay-Side beats them all on strawberries. He left on our table last Saturday (June 5th) a fine box of large, ripe berries, raised on his farm. This, we believe, is the earliest date that strawberries have ever ripened in this vicinity."

Marriage bells have rung merrily of late in many a Manchester household, and to-day rang out their gladness at the home of ex-City Solicitor George W. Prescott, 350 Central street, the parties to the union being his mother, Mrs. Julia A. Prescott, and John E. Dimick, the latter a resident of Portsmouth, where he holds the position of agent for the Concord railroad and is widely known and highly esteemed. The apartments were fragrant with the perfume of flowers, which came as remembrances from friends in various parts of New England, and in the pleasant front parlor where the ceremony took place was a large array of china and costly gifts from the friends of both the groom and bride. Chief among the mementoes was an elegant silver service comprising six pieces, which was inscribed with Mr. Dimick's monogram, and were tendered with the best wishes of J. A. Walker, Arthur W. Walker, John E. Locke, Hiram Lord and Henry J. Eaton of Portsmouth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. H. Kimball, pastor of the First Baptist church, at two o'clock, and being private was witnessed by but a few of the near relatives and close friends. At three farewell salutations were exchanged, and Mr. and Mrs. Dimick took their departure with many good wishes ringing in their ears. They will visit Boston, New York, Philadelphia and finally Washington, and their journey will also include a trip down the Hudson from Troy. They will make their home in Portsmouth.—Manchester Union.

SCHLOTTERBECK'S

CORN, WART AND BUNION SOLVENT.

A CURE IS GUARANTEED.

SKIN TORTURES — AND — BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathesome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from Infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE, EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, these suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto unheard method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

and a whole boat's crew marched in at the hole and went ever such a long way up inside, and then they all shouted together and told him they had come from their king to ask him for a hair of his head. So at last he was able to hear what even then seemed to him only a whisper. Unlike the old, the giant was apparently as good-natured as he was big—he gave them the hair, lifted them back to sea, where the hair, when put on board the fleet, nearly sank it, 'after which he puffed out his cheeks and gave a tremendous blow which carried the fleet straight home, hundreds of miles, at one go!" —Good Words.

How to Cure Sleeplessness.

Says a writer in the Fortnightly Review: When sleeplessness is troublesome relief should be sought for in the discovery and removal of the cause, whenever possible. The condition is often due to indigestion, and, when this is the case, the ordinary remedies for inducing sleep are worse than useless. The nervous relations between the brain and the stomach are so intimate that disorder of the one organ is almost certain to affect the other. Excitement, worry, and anxiety, which have their seat in the brain, interfere with the functions of the stomach, and in like manner anything that unduly taxes the power of or irritates the stomach disorders the circulation and nutrition of the brain. The sleeplessness often complained of by gouty persons is due to the poisonous effect of the morbid material upon the nervous system. Excessive smoking, too much alcohol, tea and coffee, often resorted to by overworked persons, are frequent causes of sleeplessness. In all these cases the cause is removable, while the effect may be counteracted by appropriate treatment. Nothing is more mischievous, however, than to continue the habits, and to have recourse to drugs to combat the effects. A due amount of exercise tends to induce normal sleep, and such exercise need not be of a violent character. A walk of two or three miles daily is sufficient, and is perhaps as much as a busy man can find time for. A ride on horseback, the Palmerstonian cure for gout, is probably the best form of exercise for those whose minds are constantly at work. It has been well said that a man must come out of himself when in the saddle. He is forced to attend to his horse and to notice the objects he meets. Walking may be a merely automatic process, and afford little if any relief to the mind, and carriage exercise may be practically valueless, if the mind is not diverted from what had previously occupied it.

It is estimated that there are more than 100 clubs in New York City, and that their total membership comprises from 70,000 to 80,000.

"Gath" tells the following: "I knew Henry W Longfellow very well. He was a man entirely by himself. He was a consummate artist, but he had the personal weakness of all literary people about Boston. I recollect once sitting with Lowell at the old College Hotel at Cambridge, when he said: 'Just look at this coming across the street!' There came Longfellow across, walking on his heels so as to keep his boots from being muddied. He had on a red necktie, a silk vest of some fancy color, a coat of brown or olive tint with a velvet collar, and fancy gloves upon his hands. Dressed like a swell, it did look too funny for a man of his intellect. But he was always fastidious in that way. His concern for financial and social success in life was nearly as artistic as his poems."

Smart Alecks.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)

There is to be found in every community among every class, a superserviceable few so smart in their own conceit, that to appear wiser than their fellows they adopt the rule to believe nothing that is said, and agree with no one in anything they do. Among the thousand things which they deprecate in business it is a special fashion, where their ignorance is most conspicuous, to criticise adversely all advertised articles. They "spread themselves" on these as their "greatest forte." The compass of their wisdom is this: that because an article is extensively advertised it must necessarily be a fraud; for, as they say, if it was not a fraud the proprietors could not afford to spend such enormous sums in making their wares known to the public. The absurdity of such a pretense will be best illustrated by a conversation which the writer had a few days ago with a member of a large concern, in which this very question was discussed.

"Why," said the gentleman, "take our own case, for instance: We are spending two hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year in placing our goods before the trade and public. Now, is it reasonable to suppose that we would spend this amount of money in a worthless article, without merit of any kind, when by the mere outlay of one thousand dollars or less, we could buy the best prescription or formula?

"My long experience and observation," he continued, "have been that a person trying an article that has no merit, upon the strength of newspaper advertising, and talking against such an article can do more harm than a column of advertising in its favor. On the contrary, a good opinion expressed in like manner, from one to another, on an article that has merit, is the best form of advertising."

In the past four months we have received over 3,000 unsolicited testimonials unqualifiedly endorsing the merits of our specialty—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, all of which are on file among the most valuable records of our house, and open to the inspection of any one interested—and out of this entire number fully 2,500 of the writers state that they were induced to take it, upon the recommendations of friends who had already tried it, and only 500 who had taken it on the strength of the newspaper notices alone.

"Yet," said the gentleman, as he walked away, "we are probably doing the largest newspaper advertising in this country."

Cocaine, Iodoform or Mercurials in any form in the treatment of catarrh or Hay Fever should be avoided, as they are both injurious and dangerous. Iodoform is easily detected by its offensive odor. The only reliable catarrh remedy on the market to-day is Ely's Cream Balm, being free from all poisonous drugs. It has cured thousands of acute and chronic cases, where all other remedies have failed. A particle is applied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents of druggists.

Dyspepsia comes from torpid liver and costiveness. You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly. Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night for a week or so, will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver and ensure a quick and healthful digestion. These Pills are purely vegetable, contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young.

The money loss by the Vancouver fire was $1,000,000; ten dead bodies have been found, and a number of persons are missing.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night swents, &c., should try them.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

Lord Macaulay found time in the midst of his literary and other labors to cast his eye over a full-dress affair or two, and he gives this advice to those ladies in decollete who may or may not have known where to draw the line: "The drapery should be so arranged as at once to answer the purpose of modest concealment and judicious display."

Talk about discrimination in freights in this country. An English paper states that the shopkeepers in the town of Bacup, in Lancashire, England, can buy sugar in London, send it to New York, via Liverpool, order it back to Bacup, again via Liverpool, at tenpence a ton less than they can get it over the railroad from London to Bacup direct.

The last lecture of Father Hyacinthe at his Gallican Church in Paris was disturbed by four enemies of his doctrine, who assailed him with foul abuse. As the church was full, and as most of the hearers were in sympathy with the lecturer, the disturbers were set upon by the masculine part of the congregation. The place of worship was almost turned into a field of battle. When the disturbers were ejected the people outside, who were unable to get in, would have handled them roughly had not the police interfered.

A short time ago a menagerie was on exhibition in the town of Aberdare in Wales. Some boys managed to gain entrance to the inclosure where the elephant, only four inches less than the renowned Jumbo, was stabled. They proceeded to feed the elephant with crackers, etc., when some of the more mischievous gave the animal a lot of stones. This so enraged the creature that it attempted to wreak vengeance on its tormentors. The boys, however, managed to escape over a wall. The elephant then turned upon an old man named David Watkins, 65 years old, who had been an amused spectator of the proceedings. He was unfortunately unable to make his escape; the elephant seized him with its trunk, dashed him violently to the ground, and then battered him with its trunk. The cries of the old man brought to the spot the keeper, but he was in turn compelled to seek safety in flight. Watkins was finally rescued, but died the next day.

Our Worst Enemies,

Next to our vices, are our follies. Among them is the impoverishing of future bodily comfort, and the average tenure of life to which persons of moderately good constitutions are presumably entitled, by imprudence in eating and drinking, and the reckless use of drugs. It is one of the happy capabilities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters that it can repair damage thus inflicted. When the blood is thin and watery, the bowels out of order, the complexion and tongue both giving evidence of biliousness, there is a necessity for repairs upon the human tenement obvious enough to startle its possessor. A course of the Bitters, the abandonment of "drugging" for relief, and a common sense diet and mode of life—these will speedily produce a change for the better. What quinine for fever and ague, and mercury for biliousness and constipation, won't do, the Bitters will. It also relieves rheumatism and neuralgia, and inactivity of the kidneys.

The schooner M. A. Baston, at Gloucester from the Grand banks, reports the loss on May 25th of two of the crew, John Noren and Hans Olsen, while tending trawls in a fog. The schooner Frederick also lost two men, but they were picked up when nearly dead by another vessel, and landed at Miquelon.

FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN.

A Sure Preventive of

Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

If the world's record had been within reach of his clubs, he would have broken that too.

That Terrible Drain

Which scrofula has upon the system must be arrested, and the blood must be purified, or serious consequences will ensue. For purifying and vitalizing effects, Hood's Sarsaparilla has been found superior to any other preparation. It expels every trace of impurity from the blood, and bestows new life and vigor upon every function of the body, enabling it to entirely overcome disease.

Bradstreet's reports that of the 200,000 employes who received concessions as to shorter hours with full pay one month ago, less than 140,000 retain these advantages, one-half of whom are at Chicago, and one-sixth each at Cincinnati and New York. The pressure of competition from ten-hour workers is breaking down most of what is left of the movement.

Cards were invented in France in 1391, for the amusement of the King and royal family. In 1881, in the state of Kentucky, a far better discovery was made, viz., that a pure and wholesome alcoholic stimulant could be made for the use of the people, as a public blessing, and the G. A. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey has proved such ever since. It is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and Druggists and Grocers have it on sale, and will endorse its excellence.

An Important Decision.

A case of interest to brewers as well as municipal authorities has been decided in the United States Circuit court in Kansas recently. The defendants built a brewery in Lawrence, the building and fixtures being valuable for brewing purposes only, and worth $50,000. For other purposes they were not worth $5000. While the defendants were engaged in beer making a constitutional amendment was adopted which prohibited the manufacture of beer except for medicinal, scientific and mechanical purposes. Subsequent laws were enacted, under which a permit was essential to manufacture even for the excepted purposes. The defendants were refused a permit and the state court issued an injunction restraining them from manufacturing beer, and they removed the case to the federal court. The United States court holds that a state cannot by a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture of beer take away the value of property employed in such manufacture, without providing for due compensation therefor. It is worthy of note that the decision was rendered by Circuit Judge Brewer!

Secession Agitation.

A despatch of the 15th inst. from Halifax says: "Great excitement prevails here to-night over the result of the provincial elections held to-day. An overwhelming vote has been recorded in favor of the repeal of the act of the union, and in favor of secession from the Canadian confederation. Three of four counties of the island of Cape Breton, Halifax, and all shore counties doing business with the United States, especially fishing counties, give unprecedentedly large majorities for secession candidates. The idea is that as soon as we can get clear of the union with Canada we could get reciprocity with the United States. Nova Scotia's natural market is the United States, and free trade would vastly increase her prosperity. The intention is for Nova Scotians in the Dominion parliament to follow the tactics of the Parnellites in the imperial parliament. Steps will be immediately taken to ask the imperial parliament to repeal the British North American act. The agitation is expected to have an important influence upon the fishery question."

Lieut. Comdr. J. H. Green is detached from the Galena, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieut. T. A. Lyons and Chief Engr. G. H. White are ordered to the Galena.

Lieut. B. M. Boyle is ordered from the Tennessee to the Galena.

Chief Engr. C. E. De Valin is detached from the Galena, and placed on waiting orders.

Passed Asst. Surgeon E. M. Green is detached from the museum of hygiene, and placed on waiting orders.

Pay Director Edward May is ordered to special duty at Norfolk.

Admiral Jouett took leave of the officers of the North Atlantic squadron on Tuesday, the 15th inst. His flag was hauled down as the thirteenth gun of a salute was fired, and the senior officer's pennant of Capt. Robert Boyd was shaken out. Capt. Boyd will command the squadron until a new commander-in-chief is appointed by the secretary of the navy.

The Big Sloops.

The first race between the three big sloop yachts Puritan, Priscilla and Atlantic, on the 15th inst., reached a most lame and impotent conclusion, all the boats being became portions of the time, and the Puritan failing to get across the winning line at all, having finally to take a tug to keep from drifting foul of the judges' boat. The Priscilla beat the Atlantic about twelve minutes. The Puritan gained about five minutes on the Atlantic and nine on the Priscilla from the start to the Scotland lightship, but lost badly in beating from there to the Sandy Hook lightship under a light air and gentle swell. The last two hours of the race dead calms and light cat's-paws prevailed.

It is announced that the cabinet at the meeting on the 17th inst. "discussed the fisheries question without arriving at any definite conclusion." What has the cabinet got to do with the fisheries question, anyway? The British minister is taking care of all that.

Mr. Flagg F. Grant, who was acting station agent at the Boston & Maine station in this city for a month recently during the absence of Mr. Perkins, is now acting as clerk at the Rockingham house during the temporary absence of Mr. Brown, the clerk.

The weekly payment system on the Boston & Maine railroad will go into effect next Saturday. All the employes, except those at the Boston end of the lines, will be paid by check.

The Boston & Maine railroad management has given a contract to the Mason Locomotive Works at Taunton, Mass., for the construction of four heavy passenger engines and four shifting engines for yard work.

A fishing schooner, name unknown, was seen on the 15th inst. off Seal rocks, Newfoundland, standing in for the land under all sail, when she was struck by a violent off-shore squall, keeled over, and sunk almost instantly with all on board.

It is now conceded that the debatable question whether York contains a man capable of drawing the salary of collector of the port, or must depend upon the aid of Kittery in filling the office and Portsmouth to make the selection, will be decided in town meeting at the coming state election. In the meantime the new appointee calmly awaits senatorial confirmation, and stands ready to obey his country's call. "Blessed are the pure in heart."

Governor Hill of New York has vetoed the bill providing for a spring election of aldermen for New York by cumulative voting.

The White House presented a scene of unusual brilliancy on the occasion of the reception by President Cleveland and wife on Tuesday evening, June 15th, which was attended by over 2000 persons. Mrs. Cleveland was thoroughly self-possessed, and won the admiration of everybody. Among the callers was the Brazilian prince, now in Washington.

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Ellinah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After trying under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

MUSIC HALL.

Wednesday evening another audience was delighted at Music hall, by the artistic presentation of "Romeo and Juliet" by the excellent Louise Pomeroy dramatic company. That a woman could take the part of Hamlet, rot merely passably but superbly, was an agreeably surprise to our theatre-goers; that the same actress could portray the widely different character of Camille, feminine and emotional in the extreme, and do it in a manner to hold the closest attention of the audience, seemed incredible; but Miss Pomeroy having done both, her brilliant success in Shakespeare's great love story was anticipated.

This evening "East Lynne" will be the attraction, and to-morrow evening "Hamlet" will be repeated, undoubtedly to a crowded house.

HOTEL POCAHONTAS.

Manager Horace Mitchell, Jr., of the new Hotel Pocahontas, has been a busy man this week. In the early part of the week the schooner Golden Gate, with the furniture for the hotel, was at Gloucester, detained by a head wind, and the proposed opening was in consequence postponed. Mr. Mitchell from his educational experience has been taught to begin his term on time, and he dispatched the steamer James Sampson to Cape Ann to tow the Golden Gate to Pocahontas point. The steamer found the schooner and the start was made with a light breeze; the steamer could tow the schooner, but with a free wind the G. G. could tow the J. S. However, an arrival at the point soon followed, and Mitchell had twenty-five men at work discharging the cargo and carrying it to the hotel. The fact was, Horace was entertaining some of the guests at his cottage at Kittery Point, while others from New York were to be cared for on Thursday. The result was the opening came off, and the guests were well cared for.

The new hotel faces the east, and stands in a line due north of Whale's-back lighthouse, on a good elevation which affords excellent facilities for drainage and fine ocean views. The house has about fifty rooms for guests. Its parlors are toward the south. Its hall is spacious and attractive. The dining room has fine sea views, and the chambers on either side beautiful prospects. The location on a promontory far into the sea is one where cool breezes will always be enjoyed, while attractive drives and woody walks are at hand. An excellently constructed road leads from the bridge between Gerrish island and Kittery Point, so that one can drive directly to the house as well as approach by water. A substantial pier has been built, with two sets of steps which permit easy landing at every stage of the tide.

Mr. Jennison has been most liberal in his endeavors to make the Pocahontas attractive in every respect, but nature has furnished a spot that can have few if any rivals on our shores. A sloping hard beach for bathing, an easy approach by sail boats and steamers, and an attractive carriage road will invite visitors to the spot.

The house opened with a goodly number of guests. The cuisine was commended, the rooms inspected and pronounced excellent, and the entire establishment decided to be one of the coziest and most agreeable places of resort to be found on the New England sea-coast.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

The eleven o'clock train from Boston on the 16th inst. brought to this city several prominent gentlemen of New York state. They came as the guests of Hon. Frank Jones, who travelled with them from Boston. The party consisted of eight persons, namely: Gov. Hill; his private secretary, Col. Wm. G. Rice; Robert A. Maxwell, superintendent of insurance; Comptroller A. C. Chapin; Col. E. L. Judson and Col. J. S. McEwen, of the governor's staff; Hugh Hastings of the World, and George F. Spinney of the Times. The party proceeded to the Rockingham house and inspected its splendid appartments and appointments, and shortly afterward were driven to Mr. Jones' residence, where the grounds were greatly admired, and lunch was served. After lunch the party went to Newcastle and surveyed the Hotel Wentworth and grounds, returning to this city to accept Mr. Jones' hospitality for the night. They leave this morning for Concord.

The invitation to participate in the Masonic celebration in this city on the 24th inst. has been accepted by Manchester Commandry of Knights Templar. All the other commandries in the state have been invited.

Wednesday afternoon, 16th inst., about two o'clock, a team belonging to Wm. A. Hodgdon passed from Austin street through Winter street into State without a driver, at a lively pace. There was not sufficient room to turn either way into State, or else the horse was not inclined to do so, and ran directly across the street, colliding with the fence along the Goodwin field, about a rod of the fence being knocked down. The horse was thrown down and the wagon completely overturned. The animal cleared himself from the wagon there and made directly across the field to the northwest corner, where he was caught by a gentleman going by.

John Kelley, Sr., denies that his son is to be messenger on the Shoals steamer this summer.

Many complaints are made of the firing of crackers and toy pistols in the streets by boys, to the frequent annoyance of pedestrians and danger of persons driving spirited horses. The fourth of July is nearly three weeks off, and if its pyrotechnic celebration is to commence now it will be terribly wearisome before it ends. The police will do well to enforce the law, at least until within a reasonable time preceding the glorious day.

Mr. William H. Alexander, fuel agent of the Concord railroad, formerly station agent of that road in this city, was in town on Tuesday.

The big bore in Deer street, six feet in diameter, had been carried in a distance of twenty-four feet at noon on the 16th inst,—a much greater progress than could possibly have been made in the same time by trenching. Several ladies have gone down in the tubs used for hoisting the excavated rock, to inspect the work.

A very charming way of spending idle hours has been inaugurated by the Louise Pomeroy theatrical company in this city, who engaged a good boat and competent skipper for the week of their stay here,—the ladies to avail themselves of the pure air and beautiful scenery of our fast-rolling river in fine weather,—the gentlemen "weather or no." The investment pays in renewed vigor for the evening's work, and communing with nature is preferable to stagnating about the haunts of men.

The new yacht put in the water this spring by Mr. Charles S. Drowne, made by altering over a launch, was out on the river for trial on Wednesday forenoon of this week, and abundantly satisfied her owner and his companions, sailing up well, and going through the water even with the lightest breeze at a rate which surprised as well as pleased all hands. Mr. Drowne has not yet given her a name, but is thinking of calling her the "Startled Fawn." He started with her on a pleasure trip to Portland, Wednesday evening, with four or five friends.

The schooner Lucy D., Chase master, from Philadelphia for this port with coal, went ashore on Finn's Point bar, near Newcastle, Del., on the 14th inst., but was pulled off after a few hours' detention, and proceeded.

The York county conference of Congregational churches was held in Kennebunk on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, the services commencing with a sermon by Rev. George Lewis of South Berwick, on "Religion the key to the mysteries of the natural and spiritual world." Tuesday evening was devoted to a discussion of the labor problem. On Wednesday morning the York County Bible society, the oldest Bible society in the country, held its annual session, officers were elected, and the matter of canvassing the county anew to supply the destitute with Bibles was referred to an appropriate committee. Rev. Stewart Sheldon, fresh from Dakota, told the need of houses of worship in that territory and Rev. C. E. Andrews gave, in closing, the pastors and churches some good pastoral advice.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 15th.

Morrill Lodge of Good Templars, at North Kittery, will hold the first strawberry festival of the season at the first Methodist church vestry on Thursday evening, the 17th inst. There will be music by Miss Florence Ella Sanderson, and Mr. Charles E. Lovell; Miss Millie Damon, organist. Ice cream will be served. If stormy, the entertainment will be postponed to the first fair evening following.

The graduating exercises of the class of '86, Kittery free high school, will take place at the 2d Methodist church on Friday, July 2d, at two o'clock P. M. The class is composed of four scholars, viz.: Miss Bertha M. Norton, Miss M. Gertrude Chase, Miss Edith B. Abrams and Master Alfred C. Hayes.

Stillman A. Greenleaf of Boston, formerly of this town, is visiting friends here.

Rev. H. S. Ives of Brooklyn, N. Y., will preach in the 1st Christian church, Kittery Point, on Sunday the 20th inst., as a candidate for settlement.

The canker worms are making most damaging havoc among the apple trees of North Kittery.

Mr. George W. Muchemore is making quite extensive repairs and improvements about his buildings. SUB ROSA.

Rev. B. S. Maben, of York has published a little four-page tract which under the head of "One fold for all Christians" makes a powerful appeal for Christian unity and non-sectarianism. SKIN TORTURES — AND — BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from Infancy to old age, are speedily cured by the CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the drugists, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of the Eczema form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than CATARRH. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto unified method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

ciation of the whisky traffic and the evils of alcohol. It would take the most extravagant praise of every man, woman, and child present to give the faintest idea of the real grandeur of that man's words—the droliest, the prettiest, the most sublime, or the saddest words that ever fell from human lips. With every flight he seemed to rise higher and higher, and when he brought his majestic, sweeping gestures into play he was like the eagle parting the clouds with a tireless wing; then he would lower his splendid voice, and, in a tone of unutterable tenderness, relate some pathetic incident that caused tears to rush unbidden to every eye; and then suddenly, with a tongue of flame, he thundered away in a fierce attack against the evil that has draped the world in sorrow, while his great, sad eyes seemed to look clear across the plains of eternity. He finally closed with a reference to his God, and, raising those lustrous eyes to heaven, he delivered an apostrophe that is seldom equaled. It was a burst of solemn and pathetic feeling; it was electric. It was like the last beam of sunset, or the gleam of summer lightning, radiating from the brow of cliff and mountain."

Five Hundred Dollars for a Hat.

Track-walkers, railroad hands, and some laborers in the vicinity of Tarrytown were kept in a state of excitement on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by the mysterious and persistent enquiries of three New York detectives about a black derby hat. It was said to have been lost from a train, but the trackmen were so pestered about it that they thought it must be at least a murder case that was being fathomed. The hat was found in the possession of a track-walker late on Friday. Liberal rewards had been offered for its recovery by the detectives, and when it was passed into the hands of the leader he plunged his hands into the leather lining, and in a moment brought out a sheet of note-paper, partly written over and ornamented at the top with a magnificent crest. "It's good for five hundred, boys," was all he said, as he handed the lucky finder $10 and distributed another $10 among the men who had interested themselves in the search.

A Tribune reporter who came down on the train yesterday with the detectives gathered from their talk among themselves that the fate of two families hung on the recovery of that hat and the letter inside. It was a note from a married woman to a married man. He was coming from Tarrytown to New York, and in stepping from one of the cars to the smoker, while the cars were in motion, his hat was blown off. The consequences of the discovery of the letter with its tell-tale crest induced him to send for a detective and offer $500 for its recovery.—N. Y. Tribune.

There are several photographers in New York who have posed, collectively, over 3,000 dogs and cats. One of them says that in most instances the photographer is not permitted to touch the animal. The dog is taken into the gallery in a basket by a waiting maid, the mistress spreads a costly rug on the table and the dog is then posed in different attitudes.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous debility, lost manhood, debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. It in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Many persons in this city and vicinity will be interested to know that the accounting officers of the treasury are now settling the accounts of Andrew H. Allen, late disbursing clerk of the court of commissioners of Alabama claims, and also of the other persons named in the act of June 3d, to provide for winding up the business and paying the expenses of the court. When these accounts are settled payment of the judgments of the court will commence. The drafts will be made payable to the judgment creditors, but sent to the attorney or attorneys of record. If there be no attorney of record, then direct to the creditors. They will commence to issue drafts to pay judgments about the 1st of July. The pro rata to be paid will be about thirty-six cents to the dollar of the awards.

The Unenviable Position of an Indian Agent and His Seven Associates.

There are two Indian agencies, the Uintah and Ouray, each about thirty miles from this settlement, writes an Ashley Forks (Utah) correspondent of the Denver News. There are about twenty-two hundred Indians on the two reservations, and they are all armed (and well armed) with the latest improved weapons. The Mormon dealers and others in this valley sell them guns, pistols, and ammunition whenever asked for. In fact, there is a fraternal harmony existing between the Mormon and the Indian, which has been nursed and cultured by the Mormon church, for the fact is well known that leaders of the Mormon church located here are allowed to expend a certain sum annually to negotiate the friendship of the savage. The traders at the agencies are not allowed by the regulations of the Indian department to sell fixed ammunition, and yet they do carry in stock, without limit, powder, lead, primers, shells, and reloading outfits. Herein consistency is a jewel.

The agent and employes allowed here number eight all told. These men are placed among one thousand or twelve hundred brutes, and no defense of any kind allowed them. The situation of these two agencies is deplorable. The distance to a railroad or telegraph station by the nearest mail route is over two hundred miles, the roads are impassible nearly five months out of a year for any vehicle but a buckboard, and in case of an outbreak the settlers would have to suffer for weeks before military aid could be had. The agent and his seven men are supposed to act as a standing army, missionaries, and general civilizers, the articles of war, peace and industry—universal contortionists, so to speak.

The agent must be a general arbitrator for and between the government, the Indians, and the settlers in the surrounding country. He must listen to all complaints of the Indians, which alone are burdensome, and ameliorate their grievances. The settlers give him school because he does not keep the Indians on the reservation and "don't know how to handle 'em, and because he don't make the lazy cusses work." The government holds an agent responsible until satisfactorily explained (?) for any breach of the regulations which may be brought about by a conspiracy of circumstances. For instance, an officious Mormon reported how he seen a coil of fence-wire in this place which had been stolen from one of the adjoining agencies. Without any inquiry the coil of wire was charged up to the agent by the department.

An agent is expected to be at his agency, everywhere on the reservation, and all around on the outside, all in the same moment. If a misdeed be perpetrated he can not commence procedure himself, but report the matter to the department, and then, if considered of importance, it is shoved into the judiciary department and filed for its turn, and, if ever reached, referred to the district attorney to "look up." By this time the mischief is done, the offender escaped, or the important moment gone by. An agent is warned by the regulations if he commences proceedings in any case he does so on his own responsibility. It is poor encouragement for an agent to undertake any matter and often those who are unacquainted with the red tape route ask why nothing was done about so and so. The uninstigated and inhuman stinginess and parsimony of the government in providing for the comfort and safety of an agent is without parallel, and the settlers who crowd to the front and open up the country are left with no protection but a mutual one.

At the time of the Meeker massacre Father Meeker was writing and telegraphing for the Indian department for ninety days that Perkins and other dealers on Beard and Snake rivers were selling the Indians ammunition, and an outbreak was feared. It took all the time for the "red tape" to move and start troops from Fort Steele, a distance of 175 miles, and the agent and employes were let out on the scalp route before they (the troops) had traveled 125 miles. And still the "red tape" is slowly traled, the suckers which constitute the army are safely housed miciviic multiplicity, and an Indian agent is placed with seven men to hold down and control a thousand savage brutes and stand off the border ruffians, the interloper, and astute Mormon, who teaches the Indian that the government is a common enemy, and trades them rum and ruin. Last summer one of the agents notified the department of the lawlessness of the Mormons and others furnishing the Indians with whisky, who came to the agency drunk and disorderly, and requested something be done to stop it. A communication was received in reply that the matter had been referred to the district attorney. That was the last of it. The officials at Washington are safe. The army is safely housed. The Indians continue to get whisky and raise the devil around the country, and settlers who are uneasy ask: "Why isn't something done to stop it?" And a relentless echo replies: "Stop it."

There are two or three bands of Utes who will not stay on the reservation. When they go in with complaints about the treatment received from the cowboys or settlers the agent warns them of trouble as only a question of time, and urges them to move to the reservation. They laugh at him and go away again. Finally, a letter comes from Washington saying a communication has been received stating Indians have been burning timber or committing some other depredations on the Grand or White river, and the department says: "You must keep your Indians on the reservation." And the agent who has the

Sharp Pangs Athwart the Forehead,

And in the muscles of the neck and shoulder usually most violent after nightfall, are among the cheerful manifestations of neuralgia. It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquilizer. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gout. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver and bowels, and enriches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of fortifying the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble.

More trouble has arisen in the stitching room of Martin French & Co., shoe manufacurers, of Dover. It seems that Mary Cole, a book-keeper, was discharged. She laid her case before the Knights of Labor, who, on investigation, could see no cause for her discharge. An order was issued on the 16th for the stitchers to "go out" at ten o'clock that forenoon, and they went.

That Terrible Drain

Which scrofula has upon the system must be arrested, and the blood must be purified, or serious consequences will ensue. For purifying and vitalizing effects, Hood's Sarsaparilla has been found superior to any other preparation. It expels every trace of impurity from the blood, and bestows new life and vigor upon every function of the body, enabling it to entirely overcome disease.

The Gleaner, of Fredericton, N. B., thus discusses the cost to New Brunswick of confederation: "The debt of Canada is $280,000,000. New Brunswick's share of it is therefore $21,500,000. This is $14,500,000 more than the debt with which we entered confederation. Our share of the cost of the Intercolonial railway was $3,000,000. Will somebody tell us what New Brunswick has to show for the other $11,500,000?"

Playing

Cards were invented in France in 1391, for the amusement of the King and royal family. In 1873, in the state of Kentucky, a far lower discovery was made, i. e., that a pure and wholesome alcoholic stimulant could be made for the use of the people, as a public blessing, and the G. G. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey has proved such ever since. It is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and Druggists and Grocers have it on sale, and will indorse its excellence.

A Reformer, Ceases to be Appreciated.

While the republicans administered the affairs of this great and glorious country, and progress and genuine reforms incident upon the abolition of slavery, etc., made it necessary to expend liberal sums for governmental purposes, the democrats delighted to listen to the howl of the "watch-dog of the treasury," the prince of objectors, Judge Holman of Indiana,—one of the most selfish politicians ever seen in Congress. But now that the democrats wish to expend reasonable sums for the needs of the government, as well as to disburse heavily in a direction which accords with their own plans and purposes, Holman's wail of waste becomes a nuisance, and the fiat has gone forth from the administration to "tie up the dog." In short, there is no longer any need to the party of such a nuisance as Holman has become, and he is to be put on the shelf. Holman has many henchmen appointed to office under this administration, and from them came a united note of alarm. Just as the appropriations—the pet grievance of the watch-dog—come before the house, he is called off to take measures to secure his re-election, which is in danger for the first time for nearly twenty years, as the democrats at Washington, having had enough of the "Judge," have arranged for a better man to run against him in the convention.

[Since the above was in type we note that Mr. Holman has secured a re-nomination in a stormy convention. When the "Judge" rose to respond to the nomination a large number of delegates withdrew in a body. The nominee proceeded to explain to his dissatisfied followers how it was that the administration was not inclined to appoint more democrats to office in his district.]

Shocking Tragedy.

On the 2d of June instant Winfield B. Thompson of Kansas City, aged twenty-seven years, married Miss Genevieve Kohler, a handsome young woman of twenty-three employed as clerk in a New York dry goods store, he having previously been engaged to a girl in Kansas City. The couple went on a wedding trip, and returned to New York on the 8th, taking apartments at the Sturtevant house, where they seemed to be devoted to each other, and happy. On the 16th Thompson shot his wife dead in their room, and then shot himself in the head and breast, inflicting wounds supposed to be fatal. Thompson's ante-mortem statement was taken at the hospital. He said: "I refuse to make a statement as to the shooting, or the cause thereof. There was no quarrel between us at the time of the shooting." It is said that before Thompson broke the engagement with the Kansas City lady, he experienced great despondency. He was the eldest son of Dr. C. L. Thompson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Kansas City, who started June 15th on an extended vacation tour through Europe.

A Change of Programme.

From Halifax advices of June 16th it appears that an important change has been made in the policy of the Dominion government in regard to the fishing question within the past few days. The dispatch says: "Six weeks ago a fleet of cruisers was established, and instructions given to the captains and all collectors of customs for a vigorous enforcement of the treaty of 1818, including power to seize American vessels engaged in buying bait or other supplies, shipping men or transshipping cargo. It was under those instructions that the seizures of the schooners Adams and Doughty were made. A few days ago that circular was cancelled and a new one issued, which, it is understood, omits all reference to the purchase of bait or other supplies, the transshipping of cargo, or the shipping of men. After reciting the clauses of the treaty, it instructs Canadian fishery officials that all American vessels visiting Canadian ports are to be supplied with a copy of the official warning, and if, at the expiration of reasonable time, they are found in port or inside the three-mile limit, fishing or preparing to fish, then they are not to be seized, but an officer merely placed on board and the facts telegraphed to the minister of fisheries. This is generally understood here to be in deference to the wishes of the imperial government for the conciliatory enforcement of the treaty, in hopes of the speedy appointment of a commission to settle the whole question permanently. But in case those hopes are not realized, Canada will doubtless enact such legislation as is necessary to fully protect her interests and enforce those local laws independently of the treaty."

Ivory berries, which the boys of Portsmouth used to hunt for in Freeman's woods, years ago, and occasionally find, are now brought to this city from York in considerable quantities, and sold to the fruit stores quite cheaply. The flavor of these berries is very pleasant to the average taste, and the color pleases the eye; but we never saw them growing so plentifully that we would be willing to pick them at less than two dollars a quart, and should not expect to make over fifty cents a day at that price.

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores to the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandheis, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or grizzly whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

A Fatal Delusion.

The Fancied Security and Apalling Perils of People Revealed.

The eminent scientist and author, Dr. Joseph F. Edwards, of Philadelphia, relates the following wonderful experiences:

"During my term as resident physician in the medical wards of the Philadelphia Hospital, it was a common occurrence for an ambulance call to be received from one of the down town station houses. Upon reaching the place designated, we would be shown a man or woman who has been found unconscious on the street, and supposed to be intoxicated. He would be removed to the hospital, where he would linger unconscious for twenty-four or thirty-six hours, and then die. In the majority of these cases a post mortem examination would reveal a most horrible state of affairs which I will explain hereafter."

"A lady in apparently good health, who rarely complained, and then only occasionally, of some slight and transient ill feeling, as nearly every one does at some time or other, took a long walk with her husband, and upon returning home (feeling particularly well) went to her room to remove her bonnet, and, while standing in front of the mirror, fell to the floor in a convulsion, followed by twenty-four hours of unconsciousness, and death without a return to consciousness. A post mortem examination revealed the true cause in a most horrible form."

"A young married man for years suffered from dyspepsia, for which he consulted many physicians. After suffering in this way, and having no other symptoms of disease, he awoke one morning to find a very slight swelling, scarcely more than a puffiness, under one eye. In less than a month he was dead."

Now, the real and terrible cause of all these deaths was Bright's disease of the kidneys, and, they might all have been avoided, had the unfortunate victims known what a horrible malady was fastened upon them. But Bright's disease has no symptoms of its own. It steals into the system like a thief, and deceives its victim by showing the symptoms of nearly every other disease.

But what can be done?

Take it in time.

If you feel unaccountably tired; if you have peculiar passing pains; if your appetite is uncertain; if your head aches occasionally; if your sleep is irregular; if the fluids passed are profuse or scanty, do not delay, but use the best known means for escaping agony and death before it is too late. For the purpose there is a remedy, and the only one that has ever proven absolutely certain. Hunt's Remedy has never been equalled and it is the only absolute one known to the medical profession. There are thousands of men and women to-day who enjoy perfect health who would be in their graves had it not been for this wonderful remedy, and there are thousands of others who require it without an hour's delay. This is no idle statement, but truth drawn from cases which are beyond question.

The strike of the journeymen tailors of New York ended June 12th. This sends 2,000 men back to work.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Wednesday evening, June 16th, Mayor Eldredge in the chair:

Present the full board, except Aldermen Locke and Coffin.

Records of the last meeting were read and approved.

The petition of the Woodward underground telegraph and telephone Company to lay its wires in our streets, was referred to the committee on streets.

The petition of W. A. Plaisted and others asking for the enforcement of the Sunday ordinance, was accepted, and it was voted to instruct the city marshal to enforce the same.

The petition of W. J. Sampson and the other members of Kearsarge Engine Co. No. 3, for new fire hats, was granted, and the committee on fire department was authorized to purchase the hats.

A resolution prohibiting showmen and peddlers of all kinds from exhibiting or doing business on Market Square, or any street leading thereto, without first having obtained a license from the city, was passed.

The bond of Samuel P. Treadwell as tax collector and city treasurer, was read and accepted.

A message from the common council announcing the passage of the ordinance authorizing a discount on taxes, was received, and the ordinance was passed by the aldermen under a suspension of the rules.

The committee on accounts reported, recommending the payment of bills amounting to $1926, report accepted, and the bills were ordered paid.

Complaints regarding the pump and watering trough on Islington street in front of the jail, and a request for its removal, were received. The matter was referred to the mayor.

The removal of the pump and watering trough on Miller Avenue was also alluded to, and it was stated that the trough was a great convenience to people coming into the city. Some of the aldermen thought it advisable to put the pump and trough in order again. The matter was referred to the committee on streets.

Adjourned to Thursday evening, July 1st.

MUSIC HALL.

"East Lynne" was the play on Thursday evening, and received the most finished performance it has had here to our knowledge, Miss Pomeroy showing the same artistic excellence in the dual role of the tempted wife and the repentant mother that she did the previous evening as Juliet.

This evening her great representation of Hamlet will be repeated. To-morrow afternoon an opportunity will be afforded of seeing this fine tragic actress in a ridiculously amusing comedy, "Engaged," and in the evening she will appear as Richard III.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J,

THURSDAY, June 17th.

Nellie Dutton, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

Lizzie Murphy, for drunkenness, was ordered to the county farm for thirty days, and long enough in addition to work out $6.90 costs.

George Emery, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90; county farm for not paying.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The electric light of this city is evidently a thing of the very near future. The directors of the Portsmouth Machine Co. at a recent meeting authorized the Electric Light Co. of Portsmouth to place their plant in the building of the Machine Co.; and a contract has been closed with the Frenyear & Razee Co. of Exeter to furnish a sufficient plant of the Maunkuche system, which they manufacture. The outfit will include thirty-five arc and 375 incandescent lights.

Mr. Wark, agent of the Frenyear & Razee Co., was in this city on Thursday, and in conjunction with E. S. Fay, treasurer of the Portsmouth company, has settled upon the location for street lights as follows: Corner of Rock and Islington streets; corner Middle and Islington; corner Vaughan and Deer; at Fay's store; on Market square; corner Bow and Market streets; corner Daniel and Chapel; corner State and Pleasant; on Haymarket square. It is expected the plant will be in running order and the lights showing, in about ten days.

The two Pettits, playing with the Boston club, are the noted lawn tennis players. F. Whitman, who did excellent play for the Portsmouths, though only fifteen years old is one of the best players in the club.

An entertainment will be given in Rechabite hall, Market street, in aid of the Portsmouth Boys' Club, this (Friday) evening, the attractions consisting of Italian views shown by the stereoptican in the hands of W. W. McIntire, assisted by a lady lecturer; music by the Portsmouth quartette; and brief addresses by Rev. Henry E. Hovey and Mr. John Albee. The rules of the club are such as must make it an agency for good among the young men, and it deserves encouragement. Ticket fifteen cents.

The reunion of the Kearsarge survivors will take place to-morrow forenoon at eleven o'clock, at the Quincy house, Boston. The Boston & Maine management has very generously granted to the veterans in this city and vicinity, and their friends attending the reunion, reduced rates over that road, of which Mr. Martin Hoyt will give further information. It is proposed for the party to start by the 8:20 A. M. train.

Mr. Spinney, the Albany correspondent of the New York Times, who accompanied Gov. Hill on his visit to this city, is a native of Great Falls, and a practical printer as well as an able journalist. Mr. Spinney while in town on Wednesday improved the opportunity to call on his relative, Ephraim C. Spinney, Esq., of Kittery, and listen to some sound democratic utterances from the war horse of York county.

At a meeting of the democrats of ward two, held Wednesday evening, 16th inst., Daniel E. Leavitt, John Conlon, Samuel W. Emery, George B. French, George E. Hodgdon and Frank Williams were chosen delegates to attend the state and congressional conventions to be held on the 29th and 30th insts. at Concord and Manchester.

Thomas P. Jones was badly injured in one arm by the bursting of a bottle at Boynton's bottling establishment on Bow street, Wednesday of this week; three stitches were taken to close the wound by the surgeon attending him.

Mr. John F. Leverton, a native of this city, and formerly in business here as a barber, and later as a photographer and manufacturer of hair dye, died on the 9th inst. in Falmouth, Mass. He removed from this city about fifteen years ago.

A son of Mr. George W. Jones received a very severe cut across the fingers of one hand, on the inside near the palm, while at work in an ice-house on the 16th inst. The wound, a very ugly one, was dressed by Dr. Sherburne.

Gov. Hill of New York and his party, accompanied by Hon. F. Jones, Mayor Eldredge and other members of the city government, and a number of prominent citizens of Portsmouth, left for Concord by the regular train on the morning of the 17th inst., in the directors' car of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Thirteen hundred large and handsome mackerel were brought in on Thursday forenoon last by Capt. Til Creamer of the sloop John W. Caswell, taken off the Shoals the previous night in drag nets.

Mr. Allen Greenough, of Boyd road, on the 16th inst. had for dinner new potatoes raised on his farm, some of them being larger than ordinary hen's eggs.

The schooner George Savage, bound from Bath for New York, which came in here on the 4th inst., leaking, and has been on the railway for repairs, came off the ways on the 16th, and commenced reloading for her original destination.

Miss Louise Pomeroy, the brilliant tragic actress now playing an engagement in Music hall, was formerly the wife of "Brick" Pomeroy, the noted editor of "Pomeroy's Democrat." She was divorced from him about twelve years ago.—Penny Post.

Hereafter the Woman's Relief Corps will hold their meetings on the first and third Thursdays in each month.

The Congregational society of Rye will hold a strawberry festival in the town hall on Wednesday evening, June 23d.

The Lawrence American says: "Look out for your pocket-book' should be your motto to-morrow. A gang of pickpockets and bunco stereers is following the Doris circus, and although the state officers in this county have succeeded in preventing any serious loss, the people in other parts of the state have suffered quite severely. Look out for them!"

Have you seen the men's all-wool suits for $5, $6 or $7, marked down from $9, $10 and $12, at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street?

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

Call and examine the children's all-wool plaited and Norfolk suits at $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street.

Sudden cases of sore throat and hoarseness are greatly alleviated by the use of Chlorate of Potash. Preston's Pocket Package is especially intended for travellers desiring the popular tablets in a convenient parcel.

Don't miss those men's black whipcord and blue diagonal suits for $10, marked down from $15 and $16.50 at the great slaughter sale at No. 32 Congress street, Hewitt & Co.'s.

GUARANTEE FARM LOANS

IN NEBRASKA.

These Loans are Made and Guaranteed by the OMAHA LOAN AND TRUST CO., which has an authorized Capital of $1,000,000, and a Subscribed and Guarantee Capital of $500,000. The Constitution of Nebraska provides that the Stockholders are personally liable to the full extent of the Stock subscribed, and that in no case shall the indebtedness of the Company exceed two-thirds of the Capital Stock. When it is taken into consideration that the Stockholders consist of twenty-five of the most celebrated capitalists and foremost financial men of the Country — consisting in part of such men as Hon. Fred'k L. Ames of Boston, G. G. Williams, Pres't of the Chemical Nat. Bank, New York City, and W. J. Quinlan, Cashier of the above-named Bank, with Hon. A. U. Wyman, late Treasurer of the United States, as Pres't of the Co., it will occur to the most conservative investor that he can here invest his money and be absolutely as sure of both Principal and Interest being paid, and as promptly, as if he owned Government Bonds. The above-named Loans are in sums of from $300 to $5,000.

I have a few on hand, and can order at short notice any amount desired.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions, Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease pronounced by physicians Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES advertised, I concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE, EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.
120 E. 4TH STREET, NEW YORK.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good chance this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.
UNIONTOWN, KY.

CURE IN EVERY CASE.

Your CUTICURA REMEDIES outsell all other medicines I keep for skin diseases. My customers and patients say they have effected a cure in every instance, where other remedies have failed.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by DR. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and arrests the alarming accompanying tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

nerve to control a thousand brutes has not the sand to write the department to "come out and keep them on yourselves" for fear of public disgrace by removal, and he knows if he can not do it with his standing army of seven men that Gen. Crook with his army and horde of scouts could not do it. Colorow is allowed to roam, a pest to the White and Bear river country. If the settlers were to attack and kill any of his band those left would fly to the agency and wipe out the agent and his army. The Indian department knows he is there, but it is the settlers, the Indians, and the agent for it. The toys of the army must be protected and comfortably housed. The merchant at Meeker and other points are much to blame for this. They invite the Indian trade; they buy buckskin of them, and sell them in turn guns, ammunition, or anything they have in stock. Make the merchants refuse their trade and you will force them away. It is deplorable, but nevertheless true, that the Utes can buy all their guns, ammunition, and whisky they want anywhere around the reservation, and people guess and stagger at the Indian problem.

Big Diamonds and Poor Luck.

A leading London jeweler, in talking with a Pall Mall Gazette reporter, remarked: "A big diamond always brings bad luck. I would not hold one, except in the way of trade, on any terms. If a man comes to me with a diamond worth £100,000—as a matter of fact there are few diamonds of that value—I should proceed in this manner. I should look at the stone, weigh it, test it, and having satisfied myself of its value, I should hand it to the vender and ask him to seal it up. Why? So that he might not show it to any one else. I should then ask him to call in 48 hours for a reply, and call some friends together, and I should say: Here is a diamond in the market worth £100,000; what will you take? and we should form a syndicate, buy the stone, and, holding it for a time, ultimately cut it and sell it in small portions."

Reconstructed by a Coon.

But a few days since we noticed a buck darky, apparaled with a pair of been jeans, mount a four-year-old mule. Immediately we halted to enjoy the free circus. Though poorly provided in the way of saddle and bridle, the darky rammed the cutting blades into the flanks of the mule. True to his instincts, there was a visible elevation of the spine and a couple of eccentric dashes to the right and left. Another dig from the glittering rowels, and he lowered his crest, laid back his ears, and loped away like a buck rabbit in front of a hound. His spirit had been broken, he had surrendered to the inevitable, and the "intelligent contraband" was master of the situation and victor over his lifelong enemy. In the halcyon days anent the late civil strife such a performance would have cost some white man $1500. The best point of resistance has been reached and passed. The Georgia mule has been reconstructed, and by a coon. —Macon Telegraph.

Accounts show that the saltpeter beds of Nevada are far better situated for their development than the niter region of South America, which is an arid desert. Water for all purposes is conducted from ocean water and carried to the niter fields, fuel being procured from the mountains in South Chili. In Nevada the saltpeter deposits are in the vicinity of a rich farming country, with an abundant supply of wood and water at hand.

Naval Intelligence.

A naval court martial has been ordered to convene at the Boston navy yard for the trial of Commander Henry L. Johnson, on charges of scandalous conduct and disobedience of orders. The following officers compose the court; Rear-Admiral S. B. Luce, president, Commodore Bancroft, Capts. Joseph Fyffe, J. N. Miller, Charles N. Norton and George H. Perkins, and Commanders C. W. Schoonmaker and B. J. Cromwell, members, with Capt. George C. Reid, U. S. M. C., as judge advocate.

Secretary Whitney on the 15th inst. ordered the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron, namely, the Tennessee, Swatara, Galena and Yantic, to proceed to sea from New York without delay, and direct their course to Portland, Me. The Tennessee, Swatara and Yantic, under the command of Captain Robert Boyd, it was expected would leave New York on Friday morning. The Galena is undergoing some repairs, which will detain her for about three weeks. She will join the squadron at Portland as soon as she can be put in readiness for sea. The vessels of the fleet will participate in the centennial celebration of Portland on July 4th, 5th and 6th.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

Nelson Palmer, of Baltimore, Md., a young stock broker, was discovered in forgeries, and killed himself with poison. His mother lives in Maine.

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with Nervousness and Dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

Mr. Gladstone has issued an eloquent manifesto to the electors of Midlothian. He says that it is only a sense of the gravity of the home rule issue that induces him, at his time of life, to again seek a seat in parliament.

Dyspepsia comes from torpid liver and costiveness. You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly. Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night for a week or so, will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver and ensure a quick and healthful digestion. These Pills are purely vegetable, contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young.

The latest report states that 100 natives and ten English persons lost their lives through the eruption of the volcano of Tarawera, in New Zealand.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, &c., should try them.

It is announced that Secretary Manning is greatly improving in health.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

King Otto, the new monarch of Bavaria, is said to be more crazy than was his brother, the late king. Prince Luitpold, Ludwig's nephew, has been made regent.

Ayer's Pills are palatable, safe for children, and are more effective than any other known cathartic.

At Hinesville, Ga., a party of colored people while returning from church disputed as to the language of the exhorter's text. Richard Perry, while trying to stop the quarrel, incurred the wrath of Sam Martin, who shot and killed him. A general fight followed, in which Sam Martin, Tom Meed and Mrs. Alcinda Law were fatally wounded.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

"It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters, and until I began using them in my family, we had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. Since we began their use, we have had no doctor to pay, and three dollars invested in Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.—E. Knott, Postmaster, Waverly, Iowa.

At the annual meeting of the Dover Gas Light Co., held January 9th, 1886, it was resolved by the directors that if the circumstances of the company warranted it, the price of gas would be reduced on the first of July. In consequence of the general increase of business of the company in the city the price will be reduced July 1st to two dollars a thousand feet.

Cocaine, Iodoform or Mercurials in any form in the treatment of catarrh or Hay Fever should be avoided, as they are both injurious and dangerous. Iodoform is easily detected by its offensive odor. The only reliable catarrh remedy on the market to-day is Ely's Cream Balm, being free from all poisonous drugs. It has cured thousands of acute and chronic cases, where all other remedies have failed. A particle is applied into each nostril; no pain; agreeable to use. Price fifty cents of druggists.

The question—"What shall be done with the surplus?" is no longer in order. At the end of fifteen months the statement is made in the house that the treasury is threatened with a deficit, and the statement is not challenged by any democrat. The excessive taxation about which we have heard so much, seems to have found its fate in the democratic administration. It will now be proper for Mr. Morrison to introduce a substitute for his defeated free trade scheme, and head it "a bill to increase the tariff."

Mondays and Tuesdays

Besieged by Moonshiners.

"We reached the house about sundown, and when we had got off our horses I called Davis' attention to a smoke curling above the trees in the distance, as if guns had been fired as a signal for something," said Deputy United States Marshal Phillips of Tennessee to a Nashville Union reporter, describing the "Peek House fight" between moonshiners and United States marshals in 1878. "I suspected something wrong and told Davis so. Well, when we were rested a little we went out to cut some corn and get other feed for our horses. What was our surprise to see hiding and peeping out from behind bushes and fence corners about a dozen men. I was in my shirt-sleeves and had only this pistol," said he, throwing down a revolver on the bed beside him. "I said to Davis that it would do well to examine into the reason why all these men should be present, so we got over the fence into a cornfield, and a good many of them ran off. There was one man who yelled 'Come back and fight like men!' to the fleeing moonshiners, but that did no good.

"While I was watching for some one to show himself a ball fired from the rifle of one of the men struck the buckle of my suspender on the left side, cut it in two, entered the flesh, and glanced around the lower rib. I went back to the house and got my gun, but Davis jerked it away from me because his had burst. Not one of the moonshiners was hurt. This was Friday evening. We went back to the house, went in, and during the night the house was surrounded by between fifty and one hundred moonshiners. I was considerably weakened from the loss of blood, and remained on the first floor. The rest of the men, except two, whom we had dispatched to Nashville for reinforcements, went to the second story. The chinking and bobbing was out of the space between the logs, and through these cracks the men poked their firearms at the horde of besiegers who thronged about the house all day Saturday. During this day Charles Tippen and Press Smith were wounded, one in the arm and the other in the nose and cheek.

"The fusillade was kept up all day, our men watching the moonshiners and they keeping at a safe distance and as much out of sight as they could. They offered to buy the house from old man Peek to set it on fire, but this scheme did not materialize. They did take the front part of a wagon, and nailing a plank to it to screen themselves, and kindling on it. No one could be found brave enough to let the fence down that the wagon might be backed up to the house, and this attempt also failed.

"On Sunday Mrs. ——, the daughter of Mr. Peek, started to the spring to get some water, but was driven back by the moonshiners, who said they would not allow her to get water for such scoundrels as those sheltered under her roof. In about an hour it rained hard and we caught as much water from the roof as we wanted. On that day many citizens from miles around came and pacified the mob and induced them to leave us."

Window Grown Ivies.

When standing ivies in the window, arrange the vines gracefully, to the undersash, fastening them by light string wherever necessary, or to curtains by bits of green worsted. They make a fascinating embroidery to white lace curtains. There is no more delightful or suitable decoration for a hall than that made with ivy. Brackets upon which to stand the pots can be fastened to the wall on each side. The vines may be trained all over. An ornamental, portable screen of ivy is a lovely object to arrange this month. A box, very like a window box, can be made varying in length from three to six feet, and one to two feet wide, mounted on castors. A number of laths of wood, smoothly planed, should be nailed crosswise and fastened upright at the back of the box. The best height is from four to four and a half feet. Paint the entire box and lattice work green. Fill the box with mould and set in the ivy plants, which, when once started, will creep all over the trellis work. It increases the beauty of the piece to plant the front of the box with lily of the valley, or primulas. If desired, other climbers, such as clematis or morning glory, woodbine or passion vine, may be grown with the ivy, or instead of it. Nothing so embellishes a room as a screen of this kind placed in the window or across the corner. In a corner pocket on the wall is a very graceful position to place an ivy pot, allowing the vines to tumble out with their luxuriant profusion.—Fannie A. Benson, in Good Housekeeping.

New Bait for a Husband.

In the way of maturely bald heads being turned by the scheming girls, writes a New York correspondent of the Albany Argus, they are telling in produce-exchange circles of a fair young ammaneusis who captured a rich husband by trick and device. He was a widower, hard-seasoned by a quartet of a century of woman-hunting. He hired a comely girl to work a typewriter in his office. For a year he thought nothing of her beyond her employment in a purely business way. Last summer's heat made him sleepy on idle afternoons, and he got into a habit of taking a nap on his sofa. The demure, irreproachable girl had eyes this, it would seem, determined to become his wife. He was rich, she was good, and the enterprise was altogether commendable; but a big barrier was his dislike of her sex, and he had never evinced the slightest sentimental interest in her. She might have been a pimply-faced boy with chapped hands for all that he observed of her girlish charm in her person. She looked him carefully over and decided that his ex-

And in the muscles of the neck and shoulder usually most violent after nightfall, are among the cheerful manifestations of neuralgia. It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquilizer. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gout. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver and bowels, and enriches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of fortifying the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble.

PROF. CHS. LUDWIG VON SEEGER,

Professor of Medicine at the Royal University; Knight of the Royal Austrian Order of the Iron Crown; Knight Commander of the Royal Spanish Order of Isabella; Knight of the Royal Prussian Order of the Red Eagle; Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, &c., &c., says:

"LIEBIG CO'S COCA BEEF TONIC should not be confounded with the hosts of trashy cure alls. It is in no sense of the word a patent remedy. I am thoroughly conversant with its mode of preparation and know it to be not only a legitimate pharmaceutical product, but also worthy of the high commendations it has received in all parts of the world. It contains essence of Beef, Coca, Quinine, Iron and Calisaya, which are dissolved in pure genuine Spanish Imperial Crown Sherry."

Invaluable to all who are Run Down, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Bilious, Malarious or afflicted with weak kidneys. Beware of Imitations.

HER MAJESTY'S FAVORITE COSMETIC GLYCERINE.

Used by Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales and the nobility. For the Skin, Complexion, Eruptions, Chapping, Roughness. $1.00. Of Druggists.

LIEBIG CO'S Genuine Syrup of Sarsaparilla, is guaranteed as the best Sarsaparilla in the market.

N. Y. Depot 38 MURRAY STREET.

A Public Benefaction.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby St., Boston.

Secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
late Commissioner of Patents.

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia are indescribable. The distress of the body is equalled or surpassed by the confusion and torture of the mind, thus making its victims suffer double affliction. The relief which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Congressman Morrison on the 17th moved to take up his tariff bill, but the house by a majority of seventeen refused to consider it.

Playing Cards were invented in France in 1391, for the amusement of the King and royal family. In 1873, in the state of Kentucky, a far better discovery was made, namely, that a pure and wholesome alcoholic stimulant could be made for the use of the people, as a public blessing, and the G. G. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey has proved such ever since. It is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and Druggists and Grocers have it on sale, and will endorse its excellence.

For sale by one bottle or case by John Laighton.

OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP.

The president's attention has been called to the fact that five postmasters appointed under his administration took an active part in the convention that nominated Congressman Holman of Indiana on the 16th inst. for re-election. Besides this exhibition of offensive partisanship, there were in the convention one internal revenue collector and an Indian agent working for Mr. Holman. Many a man has of late been obliged to walk the plank for less offensive partisanship than this.

How much better the virtuous democracy of ward two in this city act in obeying the law in this respect. When a committee including the collector of the port, and the collector of internal revenue as the figure head and active participator, was nominated, a due regard for the proper observance of the laws induced a prominent young democrat to move in the caucus that the names of these worthy members be stricken from the list, and it was done accordingly.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

At a regular meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps, held Thursday evening, 17th inst., the committee on the strawberry festival reported the net proceeds to be $77. The treasurer of the corps was directed to deposit the same in one of the banks, and notify Mr. C. M. Gignoux that it was subject to his order. The following resolution was submitted by Mrs. A. P. Kent, and adopted:

Resolved, That the Woman's Relief Corps extend their most hearty thanks to Mrs. George Philbrick and Miss Florence Whidden for their faultless execution on the piano; to Miss Mary McCarthy, to the charming little Miss Cora Barnabee, and to Mr. Cassidy, for their beautifully rendered songs; to Mr. John Picard for his acceptable reading of "Sheridan's Ride;" to the male quartette, composed of Messrs. Newell, Cassidy, Hutchinson and Gray, for their most pleasing selections with Mr. McIntire as accompanist—who also generously placed the piano in the hall for our use free of expense; to Mr. John Roberts for his famous banjo playing; to Mr. G. E. Philbrick for his skillful performance on the harmonica; and last, but by no means least, to the Horn brothers for their wonderful and delightful whistling and harmonica performance. Our thanks are also due to all who in any way, either by personal effort or pecuniary aid, helped to make the evening such a grand success.

THE ADMINISTRATION BEHIND IN THE CAUCUS.

As we look over the list of delegates chosen from ward two for the democratic conventions, we are compelled to admit that the collector of the port seems to have lost his grip on the democracy of his ward, or else he has become such a civil service reformer in politics that he takes no part in the primaries. To allow such an anti-Cleveland, anti-Jones, anti-Ritredge war democrat as George E. Hodgdon, Esq., to be chosen delegate, to permit the selection of such an outspoken critic upon the president and his appointees as City Solicitor Emery, and to consent that the names of others who are on the list should be adopted by a democratic caucus in the Custom House ward, when better results were expected in official circles, leads us to believe that the Cleveland representatives were found wanting in the late caucus.

THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH.

John B. Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Circus—Mammoth Museum—Deep Sea Aquarium—Elevated Theatre Stage and Unequalled Menagerie.

This immense attractive aggregation which is to appear at Portsmouth on Monday, June 21st, is without a doubt the largest and most complete show traveling, and the excitement is already making itself manifest among our citizens. Everybody, or nearly everybody, is making preparations to go and take all the children. Too much can not be said to urge our amusement loving people to attend John B. Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Circus, Museum, Aquarium, Elevated Theatre Stage and Monster Menagerie—Twelve Shows in one. They will positively see the Greatest Show on Earth. James Robinson, champion of all champion bare-back riders. More new novelties, attractive features, curiosities, aerialists, bicyclists, jugglers, roller-skaters, athletes, gymnasts, equestrians, equestriennes, rare animals, horses, costumes, riders, chariots, cages, wagons, lordly birds, towering animals, mammoth beasts and over-powering and truly tremendous features than ever did exist, or can possibly be gathered together in one show. Augmented by everything of value and splendor, that money could purchase.

Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Show has the reputation of coming fully up to all advertised, and many of our exchanges say they have done more than this. The grand, free, princely street parade on the morning of the exhibition is a rare sight.

AROUND HOME.

As freight train 240, from Portland, was making the station in this city at seven o'clock Friday evening, a stake on a platform car broke, and three oak piles, each about fifty feet long and two feet in diameter at the butt, left the car, one of them landing nearly at right angles with the tracks at the Vaughan street crossing, and the other two falling on and partially disabling the switch. The Flying Yankee was switched in on the inside track, and the Dover train came in slowly over the damaged switch. Repairs were made as soon as the trains were in. The big logs, in unloading themselves from the car in that premature manner, gave things a very lively appearance there for a few moments.

Employes of the city are said to be electioneering in ward one for the continuance in office of the present aldermen from that ward.

Capt. Daniel C. Rich, of No. 74 Market street, has just arrived home from a voyage of three weeks to the eastward—by land. He reports the crops well advanced, and the season a little more forward even than in western New England.

A person attempting to step from the sidewalk to the roadway on Market street, at points where there are old-fashioned awning-rails extending from post to post, is quite likely to get a good bump on the head or to flatten his nose against one of the numerous hanging advertisements of circuses which so prevail there.

Fred Newton, who came in from "Langing" island on Wednesday of this week to play a game of base ball, he being a member of the Riverside club, reports several schools of mackerel seen off the islands, which the men went off to, but the fish were shy, and settled. He thinks the prospect for a summer catch is good; there seem to be plenty of mackerel, but they are not schooling satisfactorily.

The new stone-crushing machine recently procured by the city does excellent work, and a good lot of it. It makes light of grinding up the hardest paving stones, and keeps three men pretty busy at removing the crushed material as it falls from the screen, by which it is assorted into sand and three sizes of stone for road making.

The steamer Clara Batemen started for the Shoals at 3:30 A. M. Friday, with the Appledore landing-stage and brow in tow.

The town of Eliot will hold a special meeting on the 22d inst., to see if the voters will direct the purchase of a road-making machine.

It is stated that the steamboat landing at York beach—or what is left of it—formerly belonging to and used by the Portsmouth & York Beach Steamboat Co., has been purchased by parties who intend to put it up at the newly-laid-out summer village of Evanston, as a landing for the steamer May Queen, which is to run between this port and York beach this season, in charge of Pilot Blaisdell of Newburyport. The May Queen is announced to make an excursion from Newmarket to York on the 25th inst., starting from Newmarket at 7:30 A. M., and one from Dover to Salisbury beach on the 27th, leaving Dover at six o'clock in the morning; fishing lines and bait, and a fish chowder, furnished free to all patrons of the boat.

The Eliot town house is without a single pauper tenant at present. The keeper came into Portsmouth last Friday to make arrangements for the burial of the last unfortunate individual remaining there, whose funeral was decently cared for.

In our issue of the 15th inst. we referred to the fishermen of Rye selling small lobsters, but upon inquiry find that the lobsters which are sold are those the dealers will not buy, measuring just ten and one-half inches when alive. In boiling, lobsters will shrink about a quarter of an inch, and the city dealers refuse to buy them unless they measure over ten and one-half inches.

The body of Nelson Palmer, the young stock broker who committed suicide while under arrest in Baltimore, was taken to Saco and interred in Laurel Hill cemetery, in compliance with his written request. The remains were accompanied by relatives from Boston.

The Coming Task.

It is stated that Col. John H. George and other prominent admirers of Daniel Webster were prevented from taking an active part in the ceremonies of unveiling the statue of the Defender of the Constitution on the 17th inst., for the reason that at the request of many prominent democrats who were in Concord on that day the colonel promised to prepare the difficult and delicate resolution wherein the square-toed democracy of New Hampshire—the worshippers of Andrew Jackson and the admirers of Franklin Pierce—are to endorse President Cleveland.

What renders the task more intricate than have been the stereotyped denunciatory wind-puffs of the conventional democratic resolutions for many years, wherein have been arraigned the republican administrations in nation and state, the republican party, and every progressive enactment for the last quarter of a century, is seen in the fact that the new administration officials are expected to prepare and present an endorsement which in its enthusiastic reception by the convention will stifle the combined private profane condemnation of the president's policy by the impatient privates who will be asked to swallow the repulsive dose.

Great Disaster in Central America.

John Hotchkiss, an English manufacturer who has just arrived from Realejo, Nicaragua, reports a frightful eruption of the volcano Monotombo on May 22d. The city of Managua, the capital of Nicaragua, suddenly settled three feet below its former level, destroying all buildings of any great value, and causing much loss of life. Telegraphic intelligence from a town at the terminus of a railroad, forty miles from Realejo, (the port of call of the Pacific Mail steamer,) was even more startling. The place was being fast buried beneath hot volcanic ashes, and many lives had been lost. In response to the appeal for help from the survivors a train was made up at Realejo and sent out about two hours before the Pacific Mail steamer left the port. The situation in Realejo began to grow somewhat threatening, and the departure of the steamer was somewhat hastened on that account. The sky became dark, and of a strange gray tint. Fine volcanic ashes began to fall, and the atmosphere became oppressive and breathing painful. Mr. Hotchkiss says the fall of ashes increased as the ship left the harbor, and they continued to sift down upon the decks until the vessel was fully forty miles out. Over the interior of the country, toward the volcano, there appeared to hang a dense dark cloud. The decks of the ship received a coating about half an inch deep of the volcanic ashes before getting beyond reach of the shower.

Aristocratic society in New York has suffered another terrible shock in the marriage of Miss Clara Mason, a millionaire's daughter, to William Underhill, a clam-digger and stage-coach driver. As Clara is worth $250,000 in her own right, she is not worrying as to what her family is going to do about it. With that much money and the clams which William can provide, she doubtless thinks love in a cottage may be quite endurable.

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandhein, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or sandy whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

PREPARED BY R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H., U. S. A. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

The house of representatives passed the senate bill granting the franking privilege to the widow of Ex-President Grant.

The four big sloops raced again on Thursday, the 17th inst., and the Boston boats were nowhere. The Priscilla won, with the Atlanta second and the Mayflower last.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

THE MASONIC CELEBRATION.

The 150th anniversary of the organization of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., of this city, will be celebrated on Thursday of next week, the festival of St. John the Baptist. Preparations for the event were commenced in October last, when the following named brethren were appointed a committee of arrangements:

Wm. G. Billings, Washington Freeman, Josiah G. Hadley, Howe Call, Marcellus Eldredge, Frank J. Philbrick, John H. Slater, Edward W. Riley, Benjamin F. Webster, Henry E. Hovey, Daniel E. Leavitt, Michael Crowley, Joseph R. Curtis, Thomas J. Mitchell, Albert R. Junkins, John H. Cheever, William Ward, Calvin Page, John Dame, Henry F. Wendell, T. E. O. Marvin, Oliver G. Fernald, Frank Jones, Samuel S. Fletcher, John H. Locke, William B. Grogan, Robert King.

To this committee were subsequently added John Tanton, W. M., Walter H. Page, S. W., and Richard I. Walden, J. W., and Bro. John Christie, of St. Andrew's Lodge.

The arrangements of the committee are now virtually completed, only minor details remaining to be perfected. The Masonic bodies of the city will assemble early in the forenoon, and march to the railroad station on Bridge street between ten and eleven o'clock to receive the visiting bodies; and on their arrival the procession will move through Bridge, Islington, Cabot and Middle streets to near the house of John Christie, counter-march, through Middle, State, Chapel and Daniel streets, Market square, Congress and Chestnut streets to Music hall, where services will be held as follows: Music by band; prayer; reading of scripture; singing Masonic hymn, by male quartette; reading of original ode, written for the occasion; address by Bro. Charles Levi Woodbury; music by band; benediction.

At the close of the exercises the procession will reform, and march via Congress, Pleasant and Water streets and Newcastle avenue to Marvin's island, where a clambake will be opened and a collation served.

The number of Masons present is expected to reach 1200, lodges in Kingston, Epping, Greenland, Exeter, Newmarket, Rochester, Dover, Salmon Falls, Farmington and Alton, Mt. Horeb Commandry of Knights Templar, of Concord, and Trinity Commandry of Manchester, the Masonic Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, and other bodies, having already signified their intention to be present. There will be from seven to ten bands in the procession, including the Salem band, engaged by St. John's Lodge, and the Salem Cadet band, engaged by De Witt Clinton Commandry, for the day.

The history of St. John's Lodge is the early history of Masonry in New Hampshire. In the archives of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts is a document of which the following is a copy:

To the Right Worshipfull & Worshipfull Henry Price, Grand Master of the Society of Free & Accepted Masons, held in Boston, and To ye rest of the Brothers, Greeting:

Wee the under named persons of the Holy and Exquisite Lodge of St. John do request a Deputation and power to hold a Lodge According to order as is and has been granted to faithfull Brothers in all parts of the World; Wee have our Constitution both in print and manuscript as good and as ancient as any that England can afford.

Worthy Sir:—Wee request ye above as a favour hearing that there is A Superior Lodge held in Boston, and if Granted, it will encourage us to keep a Constant correspondence, by communicating our brotherly affections, one to another once a Quarter, which Concludes us as wee ought Gentm.

Your obedient servants,
ROBERT BROUGH,
THO. CANZEAU,
JOHN MILLS,
JONATHAN NAILER,
WILLM. CANTERBURY,
WILLM. GROGAN.

Portsmouth, February ye 5 day, 1735-6.*

Of the exact date of the first meeting there appears to be no record. At a regular communication of the lodge, Nov. 9th, 1835, it was "Voted that the 100th anniversary of the organization of this lodge be appropriately celebrated June 24th, 1836;" and "that Bros. John Christie, Samuel Shackford, Joseph D. Pillow, Elisha C. Crane, John W. Abbott, John Locke, Nehemiah Moses, John Knowlton, Josiah G. Hadley, Robert Smith, Eben Lord, Robert Neal, John Hodgkins, Levi Moses and Nathaniel Pierce constitute a committee of arrangements for said celebration."

At a meeting of the lodge Dec. 13th, 1835, an address was delivered by Bro. John Bennett, secretary of the lodge, and the following, "being the historical part of said address," was entered upon the records:

It appears that the first Grand Lodge in New England was constituted by the Grand Master of England in the year 1733, and their first meeting was held in Boston July 30th the same year. In 1734 a dispensation was granted by the Grand Lodge for the erection of a Lodge in Portsmouth, N. H., denominated the Holy Lodge of St. John; this was the time, without much doubt, when Masonry commenced in this place, although there is no record to be found until the year 1739, when their bye-laws were made, and the first meeting which is recorded was held, 17th January; a record of this meeting is as follows:

"Tuesday ye 17 Jany, 1739—40, being Lodge night and the 11th night of the Quarter—The following Bretheren met at ye house of B. B. Henry Sherburne—Present Geo. Mitchell, Master — Nathl. Fellows, S. W.—Robert Hart, J. W.—Henry Sherburne, Treas.—Jona. Loggin, Secy. — Jona. Mills, Joseph Franklin, Jona. Nailer, Joseph Sherburne, Thomas Newmerick, Charles Tracy, Joseph Moses (Tyler.) Visitors—R. Worshipfull Robert Thomlinson, Grand Master of New England."

George Mitchell presided as master from the commencement of the time of the first record.

The committee appointed at the meeting of Nov. 9th, 1835, performed their duties efficiently, as is indicated by the following account of the proceedings at the Centennial Celebration, in the records of St. John's Lodge:

The 100th anniversary of the establishment of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, Portsmouth, N. H., was celebrated on Friday the 24th of June, A. L. 5836, (the festival of St. John the Baptist.)

The lodge assembled at Masonic hall, where a procession of 200 Masons, composed of visiting brethern, Washington Chapter, De Witt Clinton Encampment, St. John's Lodge, the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, and the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, was formed under the direction of Br. Robert Neal, grand marshal, assisted by Br. Joseph Towle of Epping, Br. Francis R. Bigelow of Boston, and the marshals of the respective bodies. The procession moved with an excellent band of music through several of the principal streets to the North church, where an address was delivered by R. W. Bro. Chas. W. Moore, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts; selections of the holy writings read by Rev. Bro. Moses How, and prayers offered by Rev. Bros. J. A. E. Long and J. P. Atkinson, and other appropriate exercises performed.

After the services the procession was again formed and returned through several streets to Masonic hall. The major part of the brethren then marched to Jefferson hall, which was beautifully decorated with evergreens, where after prayer by Rev. Bro. How, they sat down to an excellent and sumptuous dinner provided by Bros. Neal and Hadley. Most Worshipful Weare Tappan of Bradford, grand master of Masons in New Hampshire, presided at the table, assisted by Right Worshipful Bro. Benj. B. Appleton of Boston, Worshipful John Christie of Portsmouth, and Bro. Winslow Lewis, Jr., of Boston. After thanks to the Great Giver of all good had been returned by Rev. Bro. Long, the regular sentiments were announced by the toast masters, Bros. John Walton and Nehemiah Moses.

The regular toasts (omitting the attached sentiments, for which we have not space) were as follows: The Institution of Free Masonry; The Grand Lodge of Massachusetts; The Memories of our deceased brethren, Washington, Lafayette and Franklin; The Origin of Our Order; Anti-Masonry; Our Brethren From abroad; The Chaplains of the Day; Sincerity; The Square, Level and Plumb; The Three First Degrees in Masonry; The Holy Bible, Square and Compass. There were also a large number of volunteer toasts. The celebration occurring but a few years after the famous Anti-Masonic storm, it was natural that that strange craze should receive especial attention, and it did, in several of the toasts and responses; and Bro. John Christie, then worshipful master of St. John's Lodge, in a card of thanks published after the celebration to those who had assisted in making it such a great success, spoke very plainly of the storm and its promoters, and expressed both thankfulness and pride that in Portsmouth the unjust persecutions and slanders had but lightly touched Masons and Masonry. During the services in the church, an ode written for the occasion by Bro. Thomas Power of Boston was sung, to the tune "God Save the King"—now known in this country as "America;" and the closing hymn, to "Old Hundred," was also specially written for the celebration by Mrs. Sarah J. Hale of Boston.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call my self cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially in this the century of Skin Cures. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entitled more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. Catarrh is distributed throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

treme baldness of head was his weakest point for attack. One day, when he arose from his nap, she calmly said: "Mr. ——, your hair is mussed. Will you let me fix it?" He glanced quickly at her, but she was as placid as a heifer with its feet in a creek, and he could discern no more obliquity of purpose than if she had proposed to jigger off a commercial letter at his dictation on the type-writer. So he grunted an assent, and she came up behind him with comb and brush. Then she made the stroke for fortune. If it had been so much as a touch of her soft hands to his bare pate, or the suggestion of a caress to his shoulder, he would have known that she was up to some wile of fascination, and her venture would thereafter have been hopeless. But she knew what she was about. He felt nothing but the brush and comb. However, those tools of hair-dressing were deftly put through the motions of parting hair where it ought to have grown, while in point of fact there was nothing there except the merest furze. A mirror hung opposite, and he looked into it to catch her laughing behind his back, but she was as tranquil, sweet, and grave as though her job wasn't a hollow mockery. He was caught without further struggle, the narrative of the exchange avers, and she was retired from office service, to become a week ago the half-millionaire's bride.

Senator Evart's Joke.

Gov. Alger relates a story at Senator Evart's expense. When the senator arrived in Detroit last winter with the other statesmen who went there as guests of the republican club, it was immediately told around that he had gotten off a great repartee on the train. Some one had asked him about his long sentences. He had replied with a sly laugh that "no one objects to long sentences except the criminal classes." Later in the day a dinner was given to the statesmen. At the dinner-table the allusions to the senator's prolific use of words flew out from him the reply that "No one objects to long sentences except the criminal classes." There was a banquet at night at which speech-making was the order of the day. He almost immediately alluded to the repeated jokes that were hurled at him for his extended sentences, and, adding that they came from the democratic camp, said: "No one objects to long sentences except the criminal classes." This fourth repetition of the joke was too much for the senatorial party, and they immediately took a vote in executive session to admonish the senator that another allusion to the criminal classes and long sentences would be cause for a "chestnut."—N. Y. Tribune.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

W. Remeyn Verunlye, who ten years ago "went into Wall street" with $1,200,000, has come out without anything. He has assigned $50,000 nominal assets to liquidate $45,000 of real liabilities.

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with Nervousness and Dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. In viale at 25 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

The democratic central committee of Marion county, Indiana, has by a vote of sixty to twenty-three declared that William D. Bynum is not the regular nominee of the democrats of that district, and requested the withdrawal of both Bynum and Bailey.

Dyspepsia comes from torpid liver and costiveness. You cannot digest your food well unless your liver and bowels act properly. Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night for a week or so, will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver and ensure a quick and healthful digestion. These Pills are purely vegetable, contain no mineral and are absolutely harmless for old and young.

At Claremont, on the 9th inst., Edward Slade was run over, a wheel of a loaded wagon weighing 2500 pounds passing over his body. He got up and walked home, and was back on his team the next day.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, &c., should try them.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

The shoe shop of J. S. Turner at Rockland, Mass., which employed 200 hands, has shut down, owing to trouble between the union lasters and the firm.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefitted by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

The peculiarly adroit task of making a safe speech at the dinner given to Gov. Hill by the Bay State democratic club last week seems to have been achieved by Judge Woodbury, whose experience in stirring up the state department of this lethargic administration admirably qualified him to make an "of course we all support Cleveland, d—— him" address. Gov. Hill, as he had poured into his ear the private complaints and criticisms of the time-honored democrats upon this "d—— state of things," as a leading democrat of our city designates the present condition of political affairs, could but say to himself "How different all this will be if I am the next man in the White House."

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters, and until I began using them in my family, we had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. Since we began their use, we have had no doctor to pay, and three dollars invested in Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.—E. Knott, Postmaster, Waverly, Iowa.

—First passenger (in Paris hotel office)—"You are from Chicago, I see." Second passenger (with pride)—"Yes, sir." "I thought so. There are certain characteristics peculiar to Chicago travellers that distinguish them from the ordinary run of people." (Highly delighted)—"Yes?" "Oh, yes. Will you please take your feet off the seat so tha I can sit down?"

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get "Allcock's Porous Plasters." The popularity which these plasters have attained during the past thirty years has no parallel, so it is no wonder that imitations and counterfeits abound.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, etc., will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price twenty-five cents.

—"Are you pretty well acquainted with your mother tongue, my boy?" asked the school teacher of the new scholar. "Yes, sir," answered the lad, timidly. "Ma jaws me a good deal, sir."

Hay fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. Fifty cents at druggists; by mail, registered, sixty cents. Ely Brothers, druggists, Owego, N. Y.

Use Hop Plasters because you know they are made from hops, gums and Burgundy pitch.

A semi-official communication from Berlin says that the patience of the German government with the Chauvinism of France is exhausted. France is plainly striving to provoke a hostile feeling in Germany, which feeling, if aroused, will not be merely transient, but will likely lead to grave results.

Avoid the use of calomel for bilious complaints. Ayer's Cathartic Pills, entirely vegetable, has been tested forty years, and are acknowledged to be the best remedy for torpidity of the liver, costiveness and indigestion.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 70 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE STRENGTH.

Pronunciation in School.

School children are causing revolutions in their homes of late, all because their teachers are getting up so many new-fangled ideas, and the parents not being "up to snuff" have quite exciting discussions with their children.

A little 7-year-old boy returned from school the other day and said to his father:

"Where's my dahg?"

"Your what?" asked the anxious parent. "Why, Sport, my dagh." "You must say dog," said the father. "No, I mustn't," answered the youngster, "my school-mawm says it's not dog; my dagh," and then he stretched his mouth wide open so you could see his bronchial tubes, and pronounced the word over and over a dozen times, insisting that the teacher says it's "dahg," at least that's the only way to spell the word as he said it was pronounced.

"Did your teacher say 'dahg,' Willie?"

"Yes, mawm," replied the boy.

"You must say mam, not mawm," replied the fond mother.

"Well, I don't care; my teacher said it was 'mawm,' and she gives me a mark if I say mam."

A number of the ladies in that neighborhood met by chance the next day and the subject came up. Each was surprised to find that the other had been through the same experience, and they wondered what would be the next new scheme. This will explain an "incident" that happened to one of the Nebraska hunting party the other day. While riding through the snow and mud two feet deep, and all hands nearly "frozen" one of the boys broke out with the exclamation that he'd be hanged if he wanted to hear any more talk about dog—"you must say dahgs," said he. And he was at once thrown out of the wagon, run over by one wheel and left to walk to town. But the only mystery is now explained—he had learned from his children to say "dahg" and only desired that his companions should be posted. So the dog must take a back seat to let the dude dahg have a chance. And "mam," that we were obliged to say to everybody under the penalty of a "strapping," is now "mawmn." Surely this is another link in the evidence that the child is father to the man.—Council Bluff's Nonpariel.

Life and Death With a Snake.

A Scotchman thus relates a stirring incident that occurred upon the Isthmus of Panama: "The day was melting. The path was shady, and runs through a grove of mango bushes, and being fond o' the fruit I picked and ate till I could eat no longer, when what should dart down from the tree, full at my face, but one of those nasty black constrictors. Luckily I put up my right hand and catched him by the neck before he had time to bite. I knew the vermin weel, and had seen plenty o' them, and, to tell the real truth, their bug's waur than their bite, for they don't belong to the poisonous kind. But they are fashious enough for all that, for if they come to close grips it takes a pretty stout chiel to untwist them. Weel, as I had the vermin safe by the neck, I didna fash myself very much, beyond wonderin whether I would kill him or 'take him home alive. Mind ye, all the time he was dabbin' an' dabbin' at me wi' that forked tongue o' his glintin' in and out o' his ugly mouth, like the telegraph needles. Kill him, thinks I. But first to swing him off, for by this time he had the grip, and wasna like to yield. I soon found that there were twa to that game. Try as I might, my gentleman would not budge an inch. I tried my full strength, but na. I cried to Jennie to fetch something, for I was not far off the station, but she never heard. I was beginning not to like the way things were going, for the beast was grippin' sys the closer, and the arm that held him was getting tired. Besides, the grip was round the other arm, which I could only move below the elbow. The beast was coiled over my left shoulder, then round under my right arm, and then across my waist, binding, as I've told you, my left arm. If once I let go, I knew he would strangle me, and to tell the truth, I could not hold out much longer. I always carried a knife, which I knew was in the pocket of the flannel shirt I was wearing, and my only chance lay in getting at it. I could just reach it by bending my left arm, and I daurna let go to the right. And as I fumbl't it gave me a terrible turn to find that the vermin had steekit my pocket as firm as if it had been sewn up. My right wrist was getting weaker and weaker with holding the snake, and faith he constrictor knew it as he girned and hissed at me, and darted fire o' these ugly een o' his. I was sair left to mysel. Thinks I, 'Mac, you've got your match at last.' I didna care so much for my chest, for all his cuddlin'; but my throat, once round that, and I would have said, Mac, ye're a dead man!' All this time the vermin was trying to get to my throat, and as I found him winding up, the perspiration broke over me. What was to become o' the wife and Jennie, and me awa? That was an anxious thocht to me at the time. Weel, just as my gentleman was working for my throat wi' his coils, he gave my pocket the slip, and left it free. I felt my arm growing strong again. 'Feel for the knife now, Mac,' says I to myself, and in two cracks it was in my hand. Then bending my head to meet my hand—I know the brute thocht I was done—I unclasped the gully with my teeth, and in an instant after it was slipped in between him and my body, with the edge turned out."

The Ethics of Masculine Dress.

Do not underestimate the importance of dress. No man can be too well dressed who is not extravagantly dressed. It was Talleyrand who said,

[Concluded on 4th page.]

The Slaughter of the Birds.

O Woman! You are charged with being the direct cause for the annual murder, in American alone, of 5,000,000 harmless creatures, the pretty birds. And all because your shameless master, or siren mistress, Fashion, orders you to wear the poor, murdered birds upon head-gear. These same birds, if allowed to live in peace with us, as their and our Maker intended, would have been not less useful to us than the horse or ox. The birds are our chief natural protection against the insect hordes which are now accredited with destroying yearly over $300,000,000 worth of food and fiber plants. The Cape Cod bird-killers shoot 40,000 tern each year, and near Philadelphia 11,000,000 bobolinks have been killed in a single month. A New York dealer handles 30,000 skins a year, and 70,000 were supplied to the New York dealers in four months from a single village. In one London auction room over 760,000 bird-skins were sold in four months last year. These are but a few figures. The result of the slaughter is that in many localities the birds are almost if not wholly annihilated. Happily, the American Ornithologists' Union has taken the good work in hand of counteracting the brutal custom of fashion, and of enforcing the laws against bird slaughter. Queen Victoria is arrayed against the custom of wearing birds in England, and it is proposed to organize societies of fashionable women in our cities to bring into disrepute this wicked folly.—Our Country Home.

Lactated Food FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

THE SAFEST FOOD

IN SUMMER

FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN.

A Sure Preventive of

Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is

The Most Nourishing,
The Most Palatable,
The Most Economical,
Of All Prepared Foods.

PROF. CHS. LUDWIG VON SEEGER,

Professor of Medicine at the Royal University; Knight of the Royal Austrian Order of the Iron Crown; Knight Commander of the Royal Spanish Order of Isabella; Knight of the Royal Prussian Order of the Red Eagle; Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, &c., &c., says:

"LIEBIG CO'S COCA BEEF TONIC should not be confounded with the horde of trashy cure alls. It is in a sense of the word a patent remedy. I am thoroughly conversant with its mode of preparation and know it to be not only a legitimate pharmaceutical product, but also worthy of the high commendations it has received in all parts of the world. It contains essence of Beef, Coca, Quinine, Iron and Calisaya, which are dissolved in pure genuine Spanish Imperial Crown Sherry."

Invaluable to all who are Run Down, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Bilious, Malarious or afflicted with weak kidneys. Beware of Imitations.

Sharp Pangs Athwart the Forehead,

And in the muscles of the neck and shoulder usually most violent after nightfall, are among the cheerful manifestations of neuralgia. It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquilizer. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gout. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver and bowels, and enriches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of fortifying the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble.

A Public Benefaction.

How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which, everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia are indescribable. The distress of the body is equalled or surpassed by the confusion and tortures of the mind, thus making its victims suffer double affliction. The relief which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs. The Administration at Cross Purposes.

The navy department would borrow American steamships in case of an emergency, while the postmaster-general has done his level best to wipe out every American steamer that had a mail to carry, and thwarted the efforts of owners of such vessels by withholding all subsidies enacted for their encouragement. This presidential wedding may have made the cabinet hilarious, but it is far from being cohesive save in the office and affairs of the of patronage.

The Big Sloops.

The third race of the big sloop yachts took place on Saturday, the Puritan this time being sailed by Capt. Frank Crocker, who sailed her in the races with the Genesta last year. The Puritan crossed the starting line within one second of the time limit, the Atlantic losing about seven minutes and the Priscilla eight, and the Mayflower a quarter of an hour, on the start. The Puritan was nearly half a mile ahead of the Priscilla and Atlantic when they crossed the line, the Mayflower being a half mile astern of them. During the race the Priscilla caught up with the Puritan, but the Boston sloop got away from her again, and finally came in winner of the race and the Seawanhaka cup valued at $1000, offered as a prize for the winning sloop of the four. The Priscilla was second and the Mayflower third at the finish, and the Atlantic last. The Mayflower sailed over the course quickest, but lost through her delay in starting; and it is claimed by her friends that she showed by her work and in various ways that she is as much better than the Priscilla and Puritan, as the Puritan was better than the Priscilla last year; and as between her and the Atlantic a comparison would be quite serious and out of place." There will be some lively racing yet before the Genesta's competitor is selected from among the four sloops.

A hearing at Wells was had last week in the matter of the location of a bridge and highway across the Ogunquit river, on an appeal from the decision of the county commissions of the county of York, before Moses F. Safford, Ivory Littlefield and Natham Dane, a committee appointed by the supreme court. The question has excited much interest, and many witnesses were examined. Eminent counsel are retained in the case, including Drummond & Drummond and Judge Tapley, for the petitioners, and N. & H. B. Cleaves and George C. Yeaton for the town of Wells.

The new arrangements of the Boston & Maine and Maine Central roads will allow one to leave St. John at 6:40 A. M., and reach Portsmouth at 7:30 and Boston at 9:30 P. M. Trains will leave Bangor and St. John, each way, both Saturday and Sunday nights.

The Penny Post omits the president of the common council from the list of prominent persons who rode in the procession at Concord on Thursday, and representing the city government. The fact that the council has got the better of the aldermen regarding the proposed sale of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad shares, causes a cessation as to the enquiry "of what use is the council?"

The Oceanic opens July 1st. Since the close of last season the house has been thoroughly renovated, and open fire places put in the office and parlors. Mr. T. L. Cleaves, of the Parker house, Boston, will be steward, E. Riley bookkeeper, and Mrs. Mary J. Williams housekeeper. This house has more advance engagements than in any previous year, and it looks like a better season than last year, which was the best the Oceanic ever had. A party of fifty school teachers from Philadelphia will make a visit there on July 20th; also an educational society of Baltimore, seventy-five in number, will arrive at the house July 28th.

One feature of the Dingley shipping act which has just become a law is the abolition of custom house, steamboat inspector and similar fees. Collectors and other such officers who have been paid by fees, will have salaries paid direct from the treasury. As this is a reform administration it is presumed that these officials will not be paid high salaries, but only in proportion to the actual service performed by them. This article goes into effect July 1st; the other sections of the act take effect at once. The penalty for minor violations of the law is changed from a forfeiture to a fine. Several features of the law will be gladly appreciated by owners of coasting and fishing vessels, who will be relieved from payment of small fees every time a transfer or change is made in their property.

The Union Pacific railroad has sold about four millions of dollars worth of bonds of the St. Joseph and Grand Island road. The proceeds of this sale are to go toward reduction of the floating debt of the Union Pacific. If the bill before congress passes, a possibility of dividends looks more likely to occur. The stock has advanced in market in consequence of this sale.

Joseph Chamberlain, in a speech at Birmingham, England, denied that there was any difference in the principles upon which Lord Hartington and himself desire to deal with Ireland. He declared that any concession to the Irish in America, who are unquenchably hostile to England, would be an abject surrender to dynamite.

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and delightful article. It restores the scalp which has become thin, weak and diseased, to its original vigor, and makes it nourish the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandhein, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. FROUNFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

THE POMEROY WEEK AT MUSIC HALL.

Those who have been present at Music hall during the performances of Miss Louise Pomeroy and the company which so ably supports the distinguished actress, have been abundantly repaid in their enjoyment. The gratifying feature in this company is that the star does not rely upon her ability alone to carry through the representation, but is supported throughout by members of no ordinary capacity. Ladies and gentlemen have appeared in the plays of Shakespeare who have understood the text and been qualified for properly rendering it. Indeed, in the representation of Hamlet for illustration, the various parts other than that of the prince were so admirably portrayed that the interest of the audience was maintained throughout each scene. It is not only that Miss Pomeroy excels in a part which has called for more study to qualify an artist for its representation than perhaps any other of Shakespeare's characters, but there is no omission in regard to the other characters. The management does not seem to be inclined to say to the public, "We present you an artistic and carefully studied representation of Hamlet, and we cannot afford to have the other parts assigned to actors of merit because a lower grade of artists can be engaged at less rates who can go through with the role." No, there has been nothing of this sort seen in the representation by this company. In every play the minor parts as well as the leading ones have been ably rendered, correctly enacted and satisfactorily delivered in the veriest detail. This has not been the rule of the road with many leading dramatic artists, who either by themselves or their managers have relied upon the strength of their reputation for excellence in their individual parts to pull through a poor support. The rule that a talented tragedian should be supported by a good set of actors and actresses has been by far "more honored in the breach than the observance," and it was a pleasant surprise at the first representation of Hamlet on Monday night, to see the very creditable support given through the tragedy. If the management are to reverse the rule and give the provincial audience the advantage of seeing a company whose composition is such that Hamlet can be and is rendered as well in Music hall as in any theatre in the country, this healthful change should have a deserved encouragement from the public. The company at Music hall last week was in its representations far above the highest anticipation of any of its auditors. It is to be commended for its excellence in the production of plays which, while they may be less inviting to many who prefer to be amused rather than instructed, are nevertheless more healthful, more lasting and more beneficial in developing and maintaining a correct taste in dramatic enjoyments, and in the end prove more satisfactory to a discriminating audience than the ephemeral comedy which is forgotten when the green curtain falls.

THE KEARSARGE REUNION.

The third annual reunion of survivors of the Kearsarge-Alabama battle was held at the Quincy house in Boston on Saturday, the attendance being as follows:

Henry Cook, Quincy, Mass.; Andrew Lawley, John Bickford, Gloucester; George W. Remick, Newburyport; James O. Stone, William B. Poole, Lynn; P. McKeever, Malden; William Wainwright, Lawrence; Charles A. Poole, Waltham, Mass.; John T. Stackpole, John W. Sanborn, Hyde Park, Mass.; James H. Magee, Marblehead; John E. Brady, New Bedford; Lawrence T. Crowley, John E. Ordkorne, Austin Quimby, John Reding, Boston; J. L. Sanborn, South Boston; G. Woodbury, Beverly, Mass.; Lyman D. Spinney, Kittery, Me.; Roscoe G. Dolley, Tilton, N. H.; Adoniram Littlefield, Dover; Jerry Young, Newmarket; Thomas Salmon, True W. Priest, John W. Young, Martin Hoyt, Portsmouth; and I. P. Miller, Portsmouth, as an invited guest.

Considering the fact that they were all old enough to take part in the famous naval duel off Cherbourg on the 19th of June, 1864,—twenty-two years ago,—the twenty-seven veterans were a very young looking body of men, as well as intelligent and self-respecting far beyond what could be seen in a representative party from any other naval service on earth but our own volunteer navy. After paying due attention to an excellent dinner, they withdrew to a private parlor for a social smoke and overhaul of reminiscences, and to discuss plans for the next reunion.

Mr. Martin Hoyt, who for three years had been a chief worker in arranging for the reunions, wished to retire from the position of secretary, but it was unanimously voted that he continue, and he acquiesced. The day and place of holding the next reunion was discussed. The 19th of June next year falls on Sunday; and the general sentiment of the ex-seamen seemed to be that while it was all right to fight a battle on Sunday, or do any other necessary and proper business, the reunion to commemorate the battle and have a social good time should properly be held on a secular day. The decision arrived at was that the Kearsarge veterans will next meet at the Quincy house on Saturday, June 18th, 1887, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as early as railroad connections will allow; subsequent proceedings for the day to be decided after assembling. It was voted that each man present be through the year a committee of one to notify any other Kearsarge veteran of whose whereabouts he may learn, of the proceedings at this gathering; and with hearty handshakings the former shipmates then separated for their respective homes.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, June 19th.

Peter Lowry, for drunkenness, was fined three dollars, and costs taxed at $6.90. He will work out his fine at Brentwood.

As this is "circus day" there will no doubt be plenty of thieves in town, and it will be well to look out for your pockets and your houses.

Prof. Brown, the optician, is now at the Rockingham house, room No. 8, on his 15th annual visit to Portsmouth. Office hours from 1:30 to 3:00 and from 7:00 to 8:30 P. M.

M. Parry Kennard, Esq., assistant United States treasurer in Boston, was in this city on Saturday.

Col. Charles A. Sinclair has arrived home from North Carolina, where he has been looking after certain railroad interests with which he is connected.

A rumor has been current, and hoped to be true, that the U. S. S. Nipsic was to be repaired at this navy yard, but orders have been issued for repairing her at the New York yard. It is estimated that the cost will be in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn, U. S. N., made an official visit to the navy yard as member of a board of survey, Saturday.

The steamer Oceanic, Capt. Robinson, arrived on Sunday morning at one o'clock, fifty-four hours from Wilmington, Del., and took a berth at Appledore wharf. She begins her regular trips to the Isles of Shoals at eleven o'clock this morning.

Ex-Comdr. Hartford, on Friday and Saturday of last week, was engaged in clearing the Point of Graves burying ground of its annual growth of underbrush. Lyman wore out one blade on Friday, and next day remarked that "Time might cut down all, but old-Time rocks' was mighty bad for a scythe." Every little improvement of this sort goes a great way in giving our city a good name for its many attractions, in the mouths of our myriad summer visitors.

The democrats of ward four on Friday evening nominated the following delegates to the state and congressional conventions, and also a ward committee: State, Daniel Marcy, David Urch; congressional, James W. Lefavour, James Janvrin; ward committee, David Urch, Robert W. Phinney, Wm. A. A. Cullen, Howell C. Russell, Wm. Smart, George A. Trafton, Michael H. Gregg.

Capt. Thos. H. Eastman has regained his health very rapidly since his return from Washington. His schooner boat, which is one of the most comfortable as well as fast sailing crafts on the river, has recently been renovated by Lewis Holmes, and will probably make her first trip of the season early this week.

The new office of C. E. Walker & Co., corner of Water and State streets, is being still more modenized. A new counter has been arranged, and the coal heavers will be accommodated by being paid over the desk by the cashier, instead of wandering about desultorily in search of some one to look after their interests.

The examination of pupils for admission to the High school will take place this year at the High school building on Monday and Tuesday, the 28th and 29th insts., commencing at nine o'clock each day.

The Thursday Club of Brookline, Mass., a company of gentlemen associated for literary purposes, and holding weekly meetings at which papers are read and discussed, had their annual summer meeting on Saturday in this city, with a dinner in the restored Langdon dining room of the Rockingham house. Wm. Whitman, F. Rockwood Hoar, Jerome Jones, R. G. F. Candage, John W. Chandler, Wm. Hobbs, B. Wadleigh, J. D. Runkle, M. P. Kennard, John K. Rogers, John P. Henry, Wm. Aspinwall and Charles M. Clapp, are members of the club, which left Boston on Saturday morning by the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad, stopping off Exeter, where they spent an hour visiting points of interest, and then drove in carriages to this city. After dining, the club, under the escort of Mr. Kennard, made the tour of the town, returning to Boston by the 7:40 P. M. train.

The custodian of the custom house building has been authorized to grant Mayor Eldredge permission to erect and put in place in the vestibule of the post-office two electric lights.—Times.

Fourth of July.

For over a quarter of a century, the enterprise of Masten & Wells, of Boston, has contributed very largely toward enabling the spirit of '76 to manifest itself in a jubilant manner. Their various assortments of fireworks are of the most reliable character, and, for public and private display, cannot be excelled in safety and brilliancy. Their box collections are an original feature with them, and a most economical plan for obtaining a variety. See advertisement in another column.

THIS PAPER is on file in Philadelphia at the Newspaper Advertising Bureau of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

[Concluded from 1st page]

"Show me a shabby man with money enough not to be shabby, and I will show you an ass." Deference to social custom is a necessity to all who live by society, and it is the chief custom of society to dress decently. The man who is singled out by his fellow men by the poverty which forces him to neglect his outer for his inner being is of course to be commiserated, but he who, through carelessness, parsimony or to gratify his vanity, adopts that means to distinguish himself in a crowd is worthy of contempt. If a man's egotism prompted him to adjure permanently soap and water in order to acquire a reputation for eccentricity, it would not be long before he became a loathsome object to the world which he polluted. In a less offensive degree the man who neglects his raiment becomes repugnant to society at large.—Somerville Journal.

Alexander H. Stephens.

He said "he would rather be hanged in Crawfordsville than live in Paris," meaning, of course, writes a correspondent of the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, that no place in this wide world had attractions for him like Georgia. Now that the grass begins to assume a luxuriant and succulent greenness around the Smithsonian institute, I recall his quaint desire one day, when driving there, that his "old cow at home could get a whack at it." Near where I am now scribbling is the hotel room, in which he worked, suffered, entertained visitors, and made so many friends happy. What pathetic vigils did he keep, with God as witness, when the night time came and labor had ceased for the majority of mankind! To me he was "guide, philosopher and friend," and something mysterious went out of my own life when he departed. I gaze wistfully at the closed door, but care not to pass it. The premises are haunted by memory sorely but the genius who made the place enchanting has gone, and the spell he wove is no longer there except in fancy. But his presence is still vital and spiritual by every mountain, vale, hillside, river, and cataract of Georgia, and there it will dwell as a bright beatitude while our state deserves to live.

A Kentuckian Not a Colonel.

"Did you hear about Theodore Hallam getting appointed 'mister?'" said a gentleman to a friend in a hotel lobby this evening.

"No," was the reply; "tell us about it."

"Well," continued the Kentuckian, a well-known Covingtonian, "Hallam is a very bright man; would be in congress, I reckon, were he not in the same district with Carlisle, and may be, some time, anyway, though he and Carlisle are great friends.

"Some time ago somebody called Hallam colonel, and he professed to be greatly alarmed at the prospect of getting mixed up and his identity lost with the great myriads of Kentucky colonels. So he applied to the present governor, who was then running for the office, for an appointment on his staff, with the title of 'mister.' The pledge was kept, and Hallam now has his commission, made out in due form, with seal and signature, regularly appointing Hon. T. F. Hallam to a position on the staff of the governor, with the rank and title of 'mister.' Hallam claims to be the only man of that rank and title in Kentucky."—Washington Cor.

A MARVELOUS CURE.

A Pure Malt Whiskey the Only Cure For Consumption.

It has become the settled practice of all physicians, of all dispensing druggists, to administer pure, unadulterated whisky for CONSUMPTION, and Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky has become the recognized and unquestioned specific for the Chief of this dreaded disease. The subjoined testimonials bear witness to its undoubted efficacy:

204 Madison Ave., Baltimore, Md.

"GENTLEMEN:—I had a patient in the last stages of consumption who, when food or medicine was given, would vomit it. I had given her various remedies, but all were expelled and she received nutriment only by enema and injection of Cod Liver Oil, which were exceedingly disagreeable to her. I had a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I administered a teaspoonful which was not vomited. The second dose, with a little meat juice was retained. Within a week she was able to eat heartily. All thinks for her family had assembled to see her die. I am convinced that it is not only free from fusel oil, but not in any way adulterated."

FLORA A. BRAWNER, M. D.

Baltimore, Md., May 8, 1883.

"GENTLEMEN:—I was suddenly stricken with a severe hemorrhage, losing about one gallon of blood at the first attack, and large quantities frequent thereafter. My case was considered hopeless; my friends arranged for my funeral. I was removed to the Brewer Hospital, and was there ordered by my physician to use Cod Liver Oil and Whiskey. On advice the whiskey I used was your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I discarded the oil using only the whiskey. I feel I owe my life to its purity, and earnestly recommend it for pulmonary complaints or hemorrhages."

SOLOMON WEIL,

63 N. Central Ave., Baltimore, Md.

"GENTLEMEN:—I have been ill; my friends all thought I would die of consumption. I was so sick and weak that they had to hold me up to give me your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. My doctor told them to give it, and then I began to improve. I shall use it while I can get it."

MRS. ANNIE GRIMES.

538 Master St., Phila., Pa., Nov. 8, 188 .

"DEAR SIRS:—My daughter had been in delicate health. Her mother died of consumption. The doctor said she would not live. I used your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and consumption cure in her case. The doctor died of consumption himself; she is now sixteen and is strong and hearty."

JOHN FLUGERELDER.

One of the best known Sisters of Charity in the United States, writes:

Rochester, N. Y., Home of Industry, Nov. 3, 188 .

"GENTLEMEN:—It gives me great pleasure to recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which I have used with great satisfaction in consumption: in the last stages of that dread disease. The patient can retain it when all other remedies fail. I recommend it to all."

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,

late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

A Beautiful Present.

The Virgin Salt Co., of New Haven, Conn., are making a grand offer. A pair of Doves as natural as life, new design, printed in ten beautiful colors on a fine lithograph card 9x10 inches, given away with Virgin Salt (four certificates) in order to introduce it. For household purpose this salt has no equal. It is the cleanest, purest and whitest salt ever seen or used. Large package costs only ten cents. Ask your grocer for it.

—"What reason have you for asking for leave off for a week?" "A domestic affliction, sir." "Ah! very sorry. A near relative, is it?" "Well—I—sir—you see, sir, I'm going to get married."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla operates radically upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing and invigorating it. As a safe and absolute cure for the various disorders caused by constitution taint or infection, this remedy has no equal. Take it this month.

—Said the lecturer: "I consider this vast audience a remarkable one, in view of the weather—the worst since I have begun my course." Several persons in the audience expressed the wish that he might be a little less ambiguous in his language.

Do not rot or injure your clothes by using washing powders or compounds, but use Beach's Washing Soap. Will not injure the finest fabrics.

One pound bar, seven cents.

Fifteen pound bars, $1.00.

The best and cheapest soap to buy. Sold by all grocers.

Send us twenty-five wrappers and ge an elegant picture.

BEACH SOAP CO., Dover, N. H.

—The Hotel Coburn hack at Skowhegan, Me., having for its only occupants two large bears, and no driver, started for the hotel at a rapid gate one day recently, creating quite a consternation among pedestrians. The horse had been left standing at the station and had become alarmed at the strange freight.

The Hop Porous Plaster is the best known. Hops, gums and Burgundy pitch combined.

—The San Francisco Wasp reminds its readers that the rule prohibiting the eating of meat in Lent applies to that form of social cannibalism known as backbiting.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

—A mistake is a thing to which you are liable. Blunders are made by the other fellow.

My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

—Jeweller (to new boy)—"Did you sell anything while I was out, Johnny?" New boy—"You bet, I sold six plain gold rings." Jeweller (very much pleased)—"Good, my boy. We'll make a first-class jeweller out of you one of these days. You got the regular price, of course?" New boy—"Oh, yes, sir. The price was marked on the inside, '18c.,' and the gentleman took all there was left."

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is used, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price twenty-five cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

—The Louisville Commercial reports the presence in that city of counterfeit dollars "calculated to deceive." This is evidently a new trick of counterfeit dollars which must be closely watched.

Housekeepers are cautioned against vile counterfeits on James Pyle's celebrated Pearline, with names of a similar sound, and in packages of a similar shape. Pearline is the only safe article to make washing easy, quick and cheap.

—Smith college girls have organized a society for the protection of birds. The larks of young gentlemen will receive their first attention.

—"Papa, what is a chestnut?" "The question you have just asked, my son."

If you are nervous or dyspeptic try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptic; either one renders you miserable and these little pills cure both.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites.

Is more reliable as an agent in the cure of consumption, chronic coughs and emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

HALE'S HONEY is the best Cough Cure, 25c, 50c., $1. GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP heals and beautifies, 25c. GERMAN CORN REMOVER kills Corns & Bunions, 25c. HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE—Black & Brown, 50c. PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS cure in 1 Minute, 25c. DEAN'S RHEUMATIC PILLS are a sure cure, 50c.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtJan

A MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to the great lines from the East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted road-bed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantial bridges, culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of Pullman buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison, are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are served. Other Express Trains over Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, no connections being made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this line, the Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefitted by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical imposters who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—their uses, frauds, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial ($7) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters, and until I began using them in my family, we had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. Since we began their use, we have had no doctor to pay, and three dollars invested in Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.—E. Knott, Postmaster, Waverly, Iowa.

The Excelsior block at Charlotte, Mich., was damaged by fire to the extent of $50,000. Frank Silverman and Clement Higby were fatally injured by falling from the building.

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get "Allcock's Porous Plasters." The popularity which these plasters have attained during the past thirty years has no parallel, so it is no wonder that imitations and counterfeits abound.

George Freeman, twenty-nine years old, colored, was found drowned in the Back bay at Portland, Me., Sunday. Foul play is suspected.

Hay fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. Fifty cents at druggists; by mail, registered, sixty cents. Ely Brothers, druggists, Owego, N. Y.

Winfield B. Thompson, who shot and killed his wife and then shot himself at the Sturtevant house in New York last week, died in the hospital. The crime is now attributed to the failure of Thompson's supply of money.

Whether to dye or not is a mere matter of taste; it is good taste to use Buckingham's Dye for the whiskers.

The men employed by Knapp & Avery, stone dealers of Detroit, Mich., are out on strike because the firm discharged two men owing to slackness of work, and the strike threatens to spread to all the stonecutters in the union there. The bosses have agreed to stand together, and architects and others, who say they have become tired of the "reign of terror" inaugurated by the labor organizations in the building trades of Detroit, back them up.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 80 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE STRENGTH.

When the skin is very tough and hard, and the follicle is apparently effectually closed, the single strength will sometimes fail to reach the papilla; in such cases the double or triple strength should be used in connection with the single, using them alternately.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. CURE SICK HEADACHE.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK HEADACHE, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD ACHE they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

CONFESSIONS OF A POETESS.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox contributes to Lippincott's the story of her literary career, and among other things says: In less than a year's time after that [the rejection of a tale of love, adventure, jealousy, and wo, which ended happily with the peal of wedding-bells] I received my first check, and felt fully launched on the great sea of literature. Poems and stories flowed from my pen like water running down hill; and when I was barely 18 years old I was clothing myself with the proceeds of my pen and helping to furnish and brighten up the humble little home. The prices I received were small, but I wrote so voluminously that I managed to earn quite a little income.

When I was about 19 I wrote eight poems in a single day! and I considered two in a day only a small achievement. Of course I sent out into the world an immense amount of trash, which I would gladly recall now. All my friends told me I was shaming the Muses by my reckless use of her gifts. I was urged to devote more time to study and to the perfecting of my work. But, look you! I was earning money to relieve the absolute necessities of life, and I was lifting many a burden from my mother's shoulders. With the wisdom of the world, our neighbors called me a lazy dreamer who sat scribbling all day while her "folks" hired help to do the work I ought to do. The truth was, my pen paid a servant to lighten my mother's dreary labors, besides supporting myself.

Those were memorable days to me. I was intoxicated with my success. I radiated with love for all the world. I knew nothing of the world as yet, nothing of human nature, nothing of myself even. People of intellect, and wealth, and social position began to seek me out. Invitations began to flow in upon me to visit in city homes. These visits increased my ambitions and my necessities. I saw how other people lived and dressed, and my desire for money exceeded my love for art. I was passionately fond of social pleasures, and the desire to appear in a becoming toilet at a party overcame my resolve to write only two poems a week. I wrote ten instead and sacrificed art to fashion. And the next day when I found that I had danced through my slippers I wrote four more extremely faulty poems. But they purchased a new pair of slippers and a pair of gloves. These are shocking confessions. But they are absolutely true, and I hope my brethren and sisters who listen to these experiences of one who is partially reformed will offer up prayers in my behalf.

Everything was "material" to me. The singing of a bird outside my window, the compliments paid me by my escort at the play, the sound of the reapers in the harvest-fields, the conversation of callers, my own restless heart, all gave me food for verses and romances.

I used to go to the book-stores and write down a list of addresses of various periodicals in different parts of the country. To these I would send out my manuscripts, often ten or twelve by one mail. I considered it a great misfortune that I was often denied credit for my work; I think now it was a blessing that so many of these waifs went nameless into the world. It never once occurred to me to seek the assistance of older writers in marketing my brain-waves, and I was too independent and too impatient to ask or allow any one to criticise my work before I sent it out. I was imbued with the foolish idea that it would be no longer my own original composition if I allowed any one to make suggestions. So off went my half-fledged birdlings almost as soon as they were through the shell. It all seems a great pity to me now. But I enjoyed life and caused others to enjoy it. After all, what is better than that?

That woman is endowed with a more delicate physical organization and more nervous sensibilities than man is an undisputed fact, and centuries of hothouse breeding have rendered her still more susceptible to the cold winds of publicity. In my early youth and ignorance of these things, I used to look upon a woman who had arrived at eminence, and say, "She has been blessed by the gods and favored by mankind; how fortunate the star under which she was born!" In the light of maturer years and experience I say now, "What courage, what patient endurance, what perseverance, what suffering, have been here!"

One of the most important things for a woman to remember who sets forth on a self-supporting career is the necessity of transacting all financial matters in a strictly business-like manner. If she borrows money she must repay it with interest, as a man would do. If she contracts debts she must pay them. And she must not expect especial consideration or favor in these things "because she is a woman." Not until women fully realize this can they expect to succeed.

We are dependent on the gallantries and affections of men in society and in the domestic relations; they are our courtiers or our kings, by nature and custom bound to give us the comfortable seat in the car or fetch our fan at the ball; in business transactions we must forget all this and consider them simply our equals, neither our masters nor our slaves; and if we would win their respect and encouragement, we must merit it by well-balanced accounts.

As I read over my own works and painfully realize their great defects, I am moved to wonder why I have been accorded such unusual success, when many writers who far excel me as poets and artists have failed even in recognition or remuneration. I think it must be due to the fact that I threw into my work a great deal of the extreme vitality with which I was endowed. It touched the public like an electric wave and

The contents of the June number of "The Cosmopolitan" are unusually rich and entertaining. Of the fourteen articles in the body of the magazine, there is not one that will fail to attract the attention of the general reader. It opens with a vivacious story by Lucy C. Lillie, followed by an article by Arnold B. Johnson, of the light-house board at Washington, on "Blunders in Hearing," which throws much light on the recent Oregon and other similar disasters at sea. "Down-Town New York," an illustrated article by Miss Viola Roseboro', contains many interesting and novel glimpses of the great metropolis. Rev. R. Huber Newton's article on "Shylock as an Employer," is a vigorous and timely discussion on the labor question. "What a Bird Knows," by Dr. Charles C. Abbott, shows how birds gain knowledge and use it. In "A Day in a Paris Library" James Breck Perkins gives the reader a gossipy historical sketch of the great National Library of France. Of the three short stories, "Doctor Li's Father," a Chinese story, will attract the most attention, since it presents a quaint and curious view of Chinese customs and civilization. This number has four full-page engravings, after pictures by celebrated artists; and the magazine is well printed on good paper. Published at Rochester, N. Y., by Schlict & Field, at $2.25 per year, with a premium; single number twenty-one cents.

THE SAFEST FOOD

IN SUMMER

FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN.

A Sure Preventive of

Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is

SURE CURE FOR

DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, LIVER AND KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, NERVOUSNESS, HEADACHE, WIND IN THE STOMACH OR PAINS IN THE BOWELS, HEADACHE, DROWSINESS, LOW SPIRITS, MELANCHOLY, AND INTEMPERANCE.

As a MEDICINE it is quick and effectual, curing the worst and most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels.

It will instantly revive the most melancholy and drooping spirits, and restore the weak, feeble, nervous, and sickly to health, strength, and vigor.

Nightly Dissipation.—Persons who, from dissipating too much over night, feel the evil effects of the poisonous liquors in violent headaches, sickness at Stomach, Weakness, Giddiness, etc., will find that one dose will remove all such feelings.

Sharp Pangs Athwart the Forehead, And in the muscles of the neck and shoulder usually most violent after nightfall, are among the cheerful manifestations of neuralgia. It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquilizer. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gout. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver and bowels, and enriches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of fortifying the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble.

The English steamer Miranda, of the Red Cross line, went ashore at Point Judith, early Sunday morning, on the passage from New York to Halifax. Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

Is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthing qualities. "How Old

Are you, little girl?" asked a Cambridge school teacher of a new pupil. "Please, marm," she replied, "I'm seven, except on the horse cars, and then I'm only five." The age of the G. O. Great Fire in Boston.

Passengers by the last train from Boston on Monday evening reported that when they left that city the New England Institute building was in flames. The structure cost over $400,000. The Metropolitan railroad repair shops were in the basement, and four of the workmen were reported as having perished in endeavoring to save their tools.

A Good Place for Anarchists.

The New York World says there ought to be an extensive migration of anarchists to East St. Louis. Matters are being conducted there at present after their own hearts. The police have been disbanded, because they were considered worse than the casual thieves. Men and women are robbed in the streets, and the passer-by is levied upon in front of the saloons to treat the crowds or terminate his existence then and there. The mayor cannot do anything without the aid of the city council; the city council will not do anything because there is no money in the treasury,—and it evidently would not stay there more than ten minutes if there were any. Two newspaper reporters have been virtually killed, and the reformers are having a good time generally.

Naval Intelligence.

Lieuts. G. A. Bicknell and W. H. Nostrand are ordered to the Essex.

Lieut. A. V. Wadhams is ordered from the Washington navy yard, Ensign J. J. Blondin from special duty at Baltimore, and Ensign A. F. Fechteler from the Portsmouth, to the Essex.

Boatswain Alexander McCone is detached from the Washington navy yard.

Medical Director Thomas J. Turner is ordered to take charge of the museum of hygiene.

Chief Engr. W. J. Lamdin is ordered to the Lancaster, South Atlantic station, to relieve Chief Engr. G. R. Johnson, detached and ordered home.

Carpenter J. Macfarlane is detached from the Saratoga, and granted sick leave.

Sailmaker Truman B. White is ordered to the Brooklyn.

Acting Gunner John Westfall is ordered to the Washington navy yard.

Capt. Lewis G. Fagan, U. S. M. C., is granted leave of absence for one month.

The Tennessee, Swatara and Yantic, of the North Atlantic squadron, left New York on Friday forenoon, the 18th inst., and arrived at Portland on Sunday afternoon about three o'clock, having steamed all the way. The Galena will join the other ships as soon as her repairs are completed, and the Juniata is also expected in Portland soon. The squadron will remain there until July 10th.

At the banquet of the Boston democrats given to Gov. Hill, Patrick Collins, the member of Congress who was able to pair with Congressman Haynes on the tariff bill, was present as the chief local celebrity, and occupied a seat at the left of the president of the club. It was noticed that Collector Saltonstall, who has succeeded Mr. Collins as the dispenser of patronage in the Bay state, was not present. The "tumultuous applause" which followed Gov. Hill's declaration of his "opposition to any policy or scheme which prevents the administration from recognizing faithful party service in the distribution of the important offices of the government," was of a kind which would hardly be agreeable to the collector's ear. It was a little too much of Hill, and far too little of Cleveland to accord with the Boston idea, which is now uppermost Possibly it was a fear of something of this kind which caused the collector of the port in another district to be conspicuously absent—if the absence of the incumbant of a small office can become at all conspicuous—when the governor went through New Hampshire. Gov. Hill's taffy on the office-holding question is far more agreeable to the democrats than is Mr. Cleveland's practice. The state may be considered as solid for Hill in the next democratic national convention—unless President Cleveland visits the White mountains and the Wentworth house during the summer.

Owing to the decision of the supreme court of Ohio in sustaining the validity of the action of the state senate since the ousting of the four Hamilton county democratic senators, the liquor league of Cleveland has decided to offer no furthur resistance to the Dow liquor-tax law, and all saloonists will pay their taxes forthwith. Had the democrats managed to keep in their seats the four senators elected by wholesale fraud, the liquor dealers would not have had to pay any tax.

John Johnson of Brooklyn, N. Y., was locked up Saturday night for throwing his furniture through a window into the street. During the night he forced his handkerchief down his windpipe with a two-foot rule, and in the morning he was found dead with the handkerchief and rule about six inches down his throat.

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes this dry hair to become thick, soft, and glossy. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandheis, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or sandy whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

Decatur in the Algerine war with the pirates in the Mediterranean. He was one of the party which helped burn the United States frigate Philadelphia, which had fallen into the hands of the Bey of Algiers. In 1822 he was a volunteer captain in the Mexican navy, in the war between Mexico and Spain; and he served throughout the war between the United States and Mexico as a warrant officer in our navy. He first visited California in 1836, and then in 1848, since which time he has been on the Pacific coast. He stood erect nearly six feet four inches, and his face up to within a few days of his death possessed the fullness and flush of youth.

NOT to "run", or to injure in any way the most delicate material in washing.

For heavy Outline Embroidery use two threads; for finer work use the thread singly.

The convenience of having this reliable brand on spools rather than doubtful goods in skeins which tangle and become quickly shop-worn, will be appreciated by traders and consumers. Sold by enterprising dealers, who will be supplied by NONOTUCK SILK CO., 18 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

FOR THE ISLES OF SHOALS.

The steamer Oceanic made her first trip to the Isles of Shoals on Monday forenoon. Quite a number of Capt. Robinson's old friends called on board the Oceanic, and tendered their congratulations to the captain on his return to his old route. An elegant bouquet presented in honor of the occasion, shed a fragrant aroma throughout the pilot house. Mrs. Robinson, who has been a guest at the Rockingham house of late, went out in the steamer to remain at the Oceanic for the season. The mails, with some freight, went by the Pinafore, which left soon after the Oceanic. The season is now formally opened at the Isles of Shoals. The steamer looks in capital trim, and under the skillful command of Capt. Robinson will make the customery two trips a day. A more delightful excursion than a visit to the Shoals by this swift and safe steamer cannot be found on the entire coast.

A MERITED REBUKE.

On Tuesday night of last week a deserved rebuke was administered by Miss Louise Pomeroy, at Music hall, to a number of persons who were annoying the actors and all decent persons in the house by their selfishness and ill manners, as manifested in their craunching of peanuts during the performance. At the close of one act, after having answered a call before the curtain, she again came to the front and said that the performers, herself included, had been greatly annoyed by the continuous cracking of peanut shells; that under such circumstances it was impossible for them to do justice to themselves, the play, or the people in the audience who wished to see and hear the play; and that unless the annoyance ceased the performance would have to. The applause with which this announcement was greeted showed that not only the people on the lower floor but nearly all of those in the gallery were in sympathy with her in their disgust at the champing of the peanut fiends, and the nuisance was abated for that evening, at least.

This peanut annoyance, and others, such as audible conversation carried on by hoodlums who think they thereby show themselves smart, have become altogether too much a part of the regular programme in the Music hall gallery. The expulsion of a few of the offenders, or a prohibition of their entry to the hall, would do away with the offensive practices, greatly to the satisfaction of hundreds of respectable people who not unfrequently have their evening's amusement marred by the boorishness of a few hobblede-boys or roughs.

PORTSMOUTH MACHINE COMPANY.

The adjourned annual meeting of this corporation was held at the company's shop in this city on Monday. Hon. Frank Jones presided. The call for the meeting was read by the clerk. The treasurer presented a report of the standing of the company, which was accepted. The by-laws were amended, reducing the capital stock to $128,000, the amount actually subscribed and paid in. Messrs. M. Eldredge, Wm. H. Rollins and Chas. H. Mendum were appointed a committee to present a list of names to be balloted for, for directors; the committee reported the names Frank Jones, Ezra H. Winchester, Marcellus Eldredge, Edward S. Fay, Claude M. Gignoux, Benjamin F. Webster, Charles H. Mendum, William Ward and Jeremiah A. Farrington. These gentlemen were subsequently unanimously elected to compose the board of directors. The meeting then dissolved.

At a meeting of the directors the officers of last year were re-elected, namely: Frank Jones, president; Edward S. Fay, vice-president; Jeremiah A. Farrington, treasurer; William H. Hackett, clerk.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, June 21st.

Edwin Lowd, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs being taxed at $6.90.

It looked like old times to see ex-City Marshal Entwistle and Ex-Officer J. B. White on duty as special policemen on Monday.

The number of people on the streets, residents and visitors from out of town, was not very large on Monday forenoon, considering that it was "circus day."

George Hector, a young man of African descent, lost a portion of one of his fingers last week by the explosion of a blank cartridge from a pistol. It would have been best for George had he waited until the fourth of July, the day we gained our Independence.

A nautical farmer on South road on Monday picked from his premises a dandelion leaf measuring 16 1-2 inches in length (exclusive of any stalk) and 33-4 inches at its greatest width. If he isn't a dandy liar it wouldn't take long to pick a peck of those greens.

About forty of the men connected with the Doris circus struck for more pay Monday forenoon, and were immediately paid off and discharged. The circus tents were pitched on the Middle street grounds early Sunday morning, but the employes kept so quiet during the day that its arrival was not generally known.

The trains passing through this city to the eastward are now heavily loaded, many of the passengers being hotel help and summer guests.

The bill granting Major A. J. Hill a pension has become a law without the president's signature.

The John B. Doris circus gave a very good show, Monday afternoon, to an audience that about half filled the tent. Some of the features were of unusual merit; especially worthy of mention being the equestrian performance of John Robinson, the athletic exhibition of Satuma, the Jap, and the bicycle riding. The attendance in the evening was much larger than in the afternoon.

Mr. George W. Peirce commenced haying at his farm at Frost's point last Friday.

An appraisal, in contemplation of a sale of all stores and material at the navy yard not suitable for service, will be made shortly by a board consisting of Capt. R. L. Meade, Naval Constructor Wm. L. Mintonye and Pay Director Edward May. After a report to the department all stores of the kind will be sold by auction.

Information has been received in this city of the death of Mr. Rinaldo Evans at his home in Defiance, Ohio, at the age of about sixty-seven years. He leaves a widow, but no children. He married Miss Mary A. Shaw, a daughter of the late Thomas Shaw of this city, and sister of Mrs. Plumer D. Norton.

A special car, hauled by locomotive Massachusetts, No. 9, left Boston by the Boston & Maine road on Saturday afternoon at eight minutes past one o'clock, and arrived at North Berwick, Me., at ten minutes before three, having made the distance of eighty miles in one hour and forty-two minutes, an average of one minute and 16 1-2 seconds per mile. The car contained Superintendent Furber and several directors of the road, and the trip was made to see how much speed express trains could attain on the road. The train went through to Portland.

Capt. Frank P. Coleman, of the schooner Emily C. Dennison, was able to spend Sunday last with his family in Newington. The schooner sails regularly between Saco and Boston, taking a regular cargo of bricks, and the captain is not able to reach home as often as when he sailed from the Piscataqua.

The sloop yacht Daisy, owned by Mr. George Knight of Boston, on a cruise along the coast with a party of ladies and gentlemen, from New York last, arrived at Portsmouth bridge on Sunday and made fast to the draw-pier, being unable to haul through on account of repairs being made on the draw. On the serving of the tide, Monday forenoon, she passed through the bridge and proceeded up the river to a point as near as practicable to South Berwick, where she anchored, and the party proceeded to a place in that town owned by Mr. Knight. Capt. Edward M. Baker, formerly of the steamer Appledore, is sailing master of the Daisy.

Mr. J. Mahlon Bickford of this city has secured a position as mate on one of the boats of the Boston & Hingham Steamboat Co., of which Elbridge G. Pierce, Esq., of this city, is superintendent.

The members of Osgood Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., realizing the need of resting places for visiting Masonic brethren on the occasion of the sesqui-centennial celebration of St. John's Lodge of Masons on Thursday, the 24th inst., voted, with the approval of the hall committee at their last meeting, to have Odd Fellows' hall opened for the accommodation of St. John's Lodge and their friends on that day.

In Portland, Saturday morning, several men employed in the Grand Trunk yard as section hands were at work, and well grouped together. A man named Jones was setting up bolts on one side of the track, and a man named Timothy Wade was doing the same work on the other side, perhaps eight feet from him. Jones heard an engine coming, and stepped aside. It proved to be a shifting engine, and was backing down. After it passed, a man named Burbank, who was handling corn on another track, stepped aside and hit against something, and looking down he was horrified to find that the obstruction was the head and trunk of Timothy Wade. The unfortunate man had been struck by the train and cut in two. Although literally surrounded by other men, no one heard a sound, or had the least suspicion that an accident had occurred. Wade was forty-seven years of age, and leaves a family.

There was a largely attended meeting of the York county Pomona grange at Buxton last Thursday.

brought my verses into immediate notice.

Yet I shall be forgotten while more careful and conscientious artists live in the memory of the world. While realize all my shortcomings, I do not see how I could have done differently in the past. I performed the duty nearest me as well as I knew how to do. Sweeter than fame, which is, like St. John's little book, only sweet in the mouth, is to me the consciousness that I have been of practical assistance to those dear to me. I heard recently that Mr. Edmund Clarence Stedman honored me by the remark that he wished he could have had the literary training of me from my 12th year; he would have made a better poet of me. I believe this to be true. He would have taught me that the manner of expression is as worthy of consideration as the thought to be expressed—a fact I was sadly tardy in discovering. He would have caused me to contribute more to art, but, I fear, less to duty, than I have done. I should have been a better poet, but a less useful financier and citizen. I should be remembered longer by critics, but less gratefully by those to whom I owe my existence.

An Ancient Mexican Village.

One of the most interesting places in Mexico is the old town of Zintzuntzin, only twenty miles from Morelia by the main highway. In its palmy days, four or five centuries ago, it was the seat of royalty, where was held the court of the ancient Kings of Michoacan; but now it is a poor Indian village, its palaces destroyed and its streets deserted. Its few poverty-stricken inhabitants cling with remarkable pertinacity to the customs of their ancestors, and are refreshingly ignorant of the doings of the world, for to them the whole universe is bounded by the near-by circle of hills. Some extensive ruins in the outskirts of the town—consisting chiefly of curiously-carved pillars and blocks of dressed stone—are the remains of the favorite residence of Caizonzi, the last monarch of Michoacan. In all the fields hereabouts great blocks of porphyry may be found, having strange hieroglyphical figures wrought upon them. The Indians heap them up in the hedges, and many squalid hut has its adobe walls eked out by remarkable stones, whose queer carvings of frogs, feathered serpents or crocodiles were traced with patient art by hands that have been dust perhaps 1,000 years. In this portion of Michoacan many mounds exist which are supposed to be the debris of ancient palaces over which the sands of time have drifted to a depth of several feet. Doubtless if excavations were made many of them would be found to contain valuable antiquities, but the dull inhabitants take no manner of interest in the relics of a forgotten past. In modern Zintzuntzin a great deal of pottery is made, as quaint in shape and device as that of ancient Egypt. According to tradition and to picture histories painted centuries ago by Tarrase Indians on the woven fibres of the maguey, much "provisions" (probably fish from the adjacent lake) were carried by regular running posts from Zintzuntzin to Montezuma's palace, in Tenochtitlan, a distance of 300 miles, with such dispatch that they were still smoking when placed on the Emperor's table!—Fanny Ward in Kansas City Journal.

A ten-year-old Boston girl says the Record, asked her teacher the other day if little was our father country, just as England was our mother country. "No, indeed," was the answer. "Why do you ask that?" "Nothing, only I see it's farther India on the map."

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a skin disease known as Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla operates radically upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing and invigorating it. As a safe and absolute cure for the various disorders caused by constitution taint or infection, this remedy has no equal. Take it this month.

Tim Kennedy, an old man aged eighty years, and partially demented, was found dead on the railroad track near Sutton, P. Q., Saturday morning. It is supposed that he was killed by the train, though foul play is suspected by some persons.

The Hop Porous Plaster is the best known. Hops, gums and Burgundy pitch combined.

Samuel V. B. Carter, the only colored clerk in the Wilmington, Del., postoffice has been arrested for robbing the mails. A large number of letters with money had been missed, and Carter was suspected, and captured by means of a decoy letter.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

Charles A. Hovey, son of C. F. Hovey of Boston, died suddenly at Manchester on Sunday of heart disease. He was paymaster of the Stark Manufacturing Co.

My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

Thomas Woodward, formerly a prominent ship builder of Damariscotta, Me., died Sunday, aged eighty-seven years.

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is used, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price twenty-five cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Elisha P. Barber, fifty-eight years old, a respected resident of Central Falls, R. I., hung himself to a beam in his cellar on Sunday. He leaves a widow and three children.

Housekeepers are cautioned against vile counterfeits on James Pyle's celebrated Pearline, with names of a similar sound, and in packages of a similar shape. Pearline is the only safe article to make washing easy, quick and cheap.

The Irish National League of America is making preparations for its annual convention, which will be held in Chicago in August.

If you are nervous or dyspeptic try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptic; either one renders you miserable and these little pills cure both.

There was a collision between freight and passenger trains on the Nashua & Worcester division of the Boston & Maine railroad, Saturday evening at East Pepperell, Mass. The engines and several cars were badly wrecked. A number of train men and passengers were hurt, but none fatally.

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

John C. Ware, of Jonesboro, Ill., shot his wife in the left side, and then shot himself through the stomach. He died in a short time. His wife is still living, but there are little hopes of her recovery. Mr. Ware was about seventy years old, and Mrs. Ware thirty-five; and the cause of the tragedy was jealousy.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is more reliable as an agent in the cure of consumption, chronic coughs and emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased, it is also very palatable.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Dependupon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodJan

A MAP

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

Traverses all its central positions and closes relations to all principal lines East and West, at Initial and Terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in the Great Chain of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of ponderous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that exciting discipline which governs the greatest operation of all its trains. Other specialities of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the westerly places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of Interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

WEAK, NERVOUS

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters, and until I began using them in my family, we had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. Since we began their use, we have had no doctor to pay, and three dollars invested in Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.—E. Knott, Postmaster, Waverly, Iowa.

Frank Dolliver of Revere, Mass., an inspector for the Waltham Watch company, shot himself Sunday afternoon. He was infatuated with a Revere young woman, who finally refused his attentions. Walking into a Sunday school where his father was teaching a class, young Dolliver put out his hand to him and said: "Good-by, father, I am going; Mattie won't have me." Without another word young Dolliver drew a revolver, and holding it close to his breast pulled the trigger, and after swaying for a moment in the air, dropped.

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get "Allcock's Porous Plasters." The popularity which these plasters have attained during the past thirty years has no parallel, so it is no wonder that imitations and counterfeits abound.

Hay fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. CAUGHT IN A CAVE.

How John Wright Unearthed a Criminal in the Mountains of West Virginia.

"In the fall of the year 1875 I learned there was a reward of $1,500 for a young man who had killed two men in the blue-grass section of Kentucky and burned the house over their bodies," said John Wright, a noted criminal-catcher of East Tennessee, to a correspondent of the Nashville American. "The detectives had traced his father to the mountains of West Virginia, on the head of Elk river, close to where the 1st Tennessee regiment camped during the civil war in 1861. The detectives knew the young man was in this section but could not catch him, although lots of time and money was spent after him.

"I had been up there in that section before, hunting for horse thieves and criminals, and knew it was a rough country, but determined to catch that young man, so I got two trusty men and planned everything before we got to his section of country. I got ahead of the two men and came to the old man's house at dark, and got permission to stay all night. I told him I had met with bad luck, that some parties had swindled me out of my mule and I had stolen him back again, and was expecting they were following me. I appeared to be very much excited, and asked him to help me out of the trouble and keep me hid from the men. The two men came and asked the old man if he had seen a medium-sized white man go by his house riding a black mule. The old man swore that he had not. I saw the men ride away from the place where I was hid. The old man came in and told me all they said. I was terribly excited and asked the old man to take me out in the mountains to a good hiding-place, for I was certain they would return that night. He took me out in the dark about one mile from his house, and hid me and my mule behind a big fodder stack, under a projecting rock, which would have made us very comfortable quarters if it had not been for the big rats that jumped over me like kangeroos in countless numbers.

"I staid in this rat den for several days without seeing anybody but the old man who brought me my meals. One day I gave him $20 in gold, and told him that was all the money I had. As I could not tell how long I would remain there I wanted him to take good care of me. The old man was pleased to get the money, and asked me if I wasn't getting mighty lonesome, and if I didn't want a partner. I told him I was afraid he would betray me. 'No' says he, 'he is my son, and is a good standing-in man, and if you want him I will take you to him to-night when the moon goes down.'

"When it was dark as it could get the old man came down there to me and we started to meet his son. He lived in a cave that had a four-foot entrance, but after we got inside the cave it opened in one large beautiful room that had a small opening at the top, through which the smoke escaped. He used dry hickory bark that did not make much smoke. He was well armed, he had two old muskets, one Winchester rifle, one shotgun, and three large pistols, all well loaded. His father supplied him with leather and he made boots and shoes, which his father sold. He was so suspicious of me that he watched every movement I made. I watched him, too, but did not let him catch me. We had been together two nights and neither one of us went to sleep. I knew if I went to sleep he would probably find the pair of handcuffs I carried in my hip pocket, which would mean certain death. On the third day about 3 o'clock he fell asleep, and while he was lying on his side with his hands close together I took my handcuffs out of my hip pocket and when I clamped one around his arm he jumped up, but I had him covered with my pistol, and made him fasten the other on his other wrist. He swore he would not do it, and I was pressing on the trigger and came in a second of killing him before he gave in."

The Epidemic of Strikes.

"Beats all the way dese working people is strikin," said the porter; "'pears as if they was never satisfied. They wants all dey can see, an' den go kickin fo' mo'."

"That's all right," said a ruddy-faced passenger, who another man said was a labor agitator; "that's all right, porter. Every servant is worthy of his hire, or should be. A working man is entitled to something in this world besides a bit to eat and a place to sleep. If he doesn't stand up for his rights nobody will, and the only thing he can do when he wants an improvement in his condition is to strike. Strikes are all right, I tell you."

"Guess that's so, boss; guess that's so. Brush you off, sah? Is this your hat? All right, sah; 75 cents, please."

"Seventy-five cents?"

"Yes, sah; we's on a strike fo' higher wages. Seventy-five cents, or the sleepin' cah po'tahs will blacklist an' boycott yo'; an' then yo' might as well travel in a stock car. Seventy-five cents is right, sah—thanks."—Chicago Herald.

Life Among The Nez Perces.

The Indians of this coast, says the San Francisco Examiner, have nearly all discarded their peculiar costume, and wear old and new civilized dress in a decidedly Indian fashion. Among the Nez Perces is seldom seen an entire Indian costume. Sometimes, however, one is forcibly reminded of the parody:

Let the poor Indian, whose untutored mind,
Wears all his clothes in front and none behind.

These Indians live in tents made of poles and covered with cloth or buffalo robes. The tents are left open at the top, and as the fire is built in the center, the smoke naturally goes out at the top. At night each individual wraps his blanket around him and lies down on the bare ground, without any other covering. The bucks are fond of gambling

She ran, and a second shot failed to stop her, but a third was fatal, she falling dead in the road. The assassin then started coolly to walk away, but was pursued by a crowd of boys, at whom he fired, cutting one young fellow's clothing. The boys retaliated with stones, one of which cut a terrible gash over the murderer's eye, when he took to his heels, but was captured after running a mile, and locked up for trial.

Sharp Pangs Athwart the Forehead,

And in the muscles of the neck and shoulder usually most violent after nightfall, are among the cheerful manifestations of neuralgia. It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquilizer. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gout. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver and bowels, and enriches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of fortifying the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble.

Terrible Disaster.

The vast building in Boston known as the New England Manufacturers & Mechanics' Institute, owned by the Metropolitan Railroad Co., and used by that corporation as a repair shop, was burned Monday afternoon. It was of brick, 550 by 400 feet on the ground, and had two stories; it cost $500,000 to build, but was sold once for $16,000; the railroad paid $300,000 for it and its site, the ground being valued at that amount. There was only $40,000 insurance on the building and stock, the railroad losing probably $500,000. But the most melancholy feature of the disaster was the loss of life, seven dead bodies being taken from the ruins in a short time after the fire was under control, some of them being so badly burned as to be unrecognizable. Two or three others were so badly burned that they will die, and others were severely injured. The fire caught in the paint room, and the whole huge building was on fire from end to end in less than fifteen minutes.

A Change of Heart.

Judge Durham of Kentucky, first comptroller of the treasury, recently married, and some of the subordinates contributed to made a suitable present in honor of the happy event. The judge has sent his face with a rigid fixedness of purpose against any deviations of this sort; in fact, he may be said to be as much of a chronic disapprover as Judge Holman is a chronic objector. But the world moves. Holman heard objections to his re-nomination, but they did not count; and now Durham's democracy succumbs to the inevitable and just winks at what he would once (before he took office under the administration) have considered as highly improper—the acceptance by a superior officer of presents from his subordinates in office.

Cardinal Taschereau Upheld.

The decrees of the Catholic church council recently held at Quebec having been submitted to and approved by Pope Leo XIII and the council of the Holy See, and the cardinal having received official notice of such approval, by order of the cardinal the following pastoral letter was read last Sunday in all the Catholic churches of Canada:

The cosmopolitan character of secret societies, and of that of the Knights of Labor in particular, necessarily expresses that many of their members will execute the orders of a council residing in a foreign country, which council at a given time may not only have interests at variance with those of the government to which its members owe allegiance, but may even be at war with God. For these and other reasons the church could not consistently tolerate the organization, or approve of the means resorted to in order to attain the desired end. The council who deemed it prudent in the interests of the church and Christianity to consider the secret aims of the promoters of Free Masonry and to warn the adherents of the Catholic churches against joining any such organization, and especially the Knights of Labor, on pain of excommunication.

The Dover Democrat says the closing of the barber shops in that city on Sunday is proving to be a great inconvenience, and remarks: "Since the law has been enforced there have been hundreds of men in Dover who go unshaved. Some of them fail of going to church in consequence, and others do not even come out of doors. Now if the barbers would mutually agree to keep open from six to nine a. m. and charge fifteen cents a shave, (no hair cutting done,) and the city authorities were satisfied to allow the agreement to be made, we think the change would be hailed with pleasure by business and working people who have to labor hard until late Saturday night."

There is a new house going up at the foot of Mount Agamenticus, York. Mr. Edward Lewis has charge of Mr. Ed. S. Marshall's new stable at the foot of the mountain, erected by Mr. Marshall for the accommodation of visitors, for putting up their horses, etc.; anything left in Mr. Lewis' care will be faithfully looked after, for a very moderate remuneration. Sunday last was a remarkably clear day, and by the aid of a glass the prominent points far inland and along the coast could be plainly discerned from the top of the mountain. The big pole erected on the highest point of the mountain by the United States coast and geodetic survey, has rotted off and blown down; it bears a painted sign giving warning to all not to meddle with it on pain of getting into trouble with the government, but the excursionists who were there on Sunday deliberately sat down on it to eat their luncheon.

Mr. Benjamin Moulton, a York charcoal dealer, has entered suit against the Portsmouth Bridge Co., for damages occasioned by the loss of a horse by going through that structure last fall.

Ripe blueberries were gathered on Mount Agamenticus on Sunday last by visitors from Kittery; there is promise of an abundant crop of these berries.

Among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds, were the following: Kittery—Sarah H. Riley to John Thaxter, land and buildings for $1000. Eliot—George W. Shapleigh to Sylvester Bartlett, real estate for $525. York—Asenath Main of York to Wallace Main of Kittery, house lot at Beech ridge, York, for $100; Charles B. Thompson of Lowell, Mass., to Sarah G. Thompson of Concord, N. H., real estate in York for $1200; Sarah K. Evans of York to Chauncey W. Clements of Manchester, N. H., real estate in York for $50. Wells—Avander Bourne to Jeremiah B. Norton, wood land for $120.

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and cures dandruff, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and gives the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." P. W. Sandbein, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and restore that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or sandy whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

Sold by all dealers in medicines.

At the democratic caucus holden in Rye, June 19th, the following delegates were chosen to attend the several conventions: State, Joseph J. Drake, Richard L. Locke; congressional, Daniel M. Foss, Emery C. Jenness; councillor, Charles A. Walker, Wallace S. Goss; senatorial, Joseph W. Garland, Emery C. Jenness; county, Warren Caswell, John O. Drake.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Manchester Union tells that paper that "There seems to be a growing and general confidence here that the state can be carried by the democrats this fall." This illustrates the superiority of the real newspaper man in the hunting up of information—the finding out of things which nobody else suspects—and is news indeed for the Portsmouth democracy.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. The procession will move through Bridge, Islington, Cabot and Middle streets to Cass street, countermarch, and proceed through Middle, State, Chapel, Daniel, Congress and Chestnut streets to Music hall, where the oration will be delivered. After the exercises in the hall lines will again form, and march through Chestnut, State, Pleasant and Water streets and Newcastle avenue to Marvin's island, where a collation will be served.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, June 22d.

John Rook, Peter Welsh, Charles Whitney and John Rooney, four ex-employes of the John B. Doris circus who were discharged in this city the previous day, having celebrated their release with much hilarity were before the court for drunkenness. Rooney was allowed to depart on condition that he leave the city at once, but the other three were assessed $9.90 each, fine and costs, and committed to the county farm in default of payment.

LAWN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Wright & Ditson's fifth annual lawn tennis tournament will be held at the Wentworth, Newcastle, on Tuesday, Aug. 3d, and Mr. R. D. Sears of Boston will be the referee. The trial matches will be the best two sets out of three; finals, best three out of five; all advantage sets. The tournament will be governed by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association rules; Wright & Ditson balls will be used, and first and second prizes will be given in both singles and doubles. An entrance fee of $1 for singles and $2 for doubles will be charged. Entries will close Saturday, July 31st.

WHEELMEN'S MEET.

The Rockingham bicycle club of this city have for the fourth time extended an invitation to New Hampshire wheelmen, whether members of clubs or not, to attend the annual meet of the New Hampshire division of the League of American Wheelmen, to be held here on the fifth of July. It is expected that over one hundred and twenty-five bicyclers will be present. The Manchester, Concord, Great Falls, Penacook, Nashua and Keene clubs have already accepted invitations. The programme will include a short parade, a steamboat trip down the Piscataqua to the ocean, a dinner at the Wentworth, a concert by the orchestra, and a run of about a dozen miles to Newcastle, and a fast run from Newcastle to Gravelly Ridge. Reduced rates have been secured on the Concord railroad, and at the league hotel. A circular with full details may be had by addressing the secretary of any of the clubs.

The Amoskeag Fire Insurance Co. of Manchester, which commenced business this week, has appointed C. A. Hazlett its agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The extension of the sidewalk from Dr. Parsons' office on Chestnut street to the corner of Warren street is a public convenience. A walk should be laid from Music hall to Congress street on the same side of Islington street.

The work of excavating Gangway rock under the contract of 1885-86 has been completed, and the drill platform and schooner removed. The schooner (the Yankee) was on Tuesday lying at Union wharf.

The old fish flakes on Goat (or Governor's) island are being repaired, and new ones put up.

Steamer Allentown, from Philadelphia with 1665 tons of coal, the schooner Martie A. Holmes, from Baltimore with 915 tons, and the schooner M. F. Corson, from Elizabethport with 386 tons, all to J. Albert Walker, arrived on Tuesday. The Martie A. Holmes came around from Martha's Vineyard in tow of the Ice King, of Bath, having been aground on Nashawena, afterward laid aground in Quick's Hole to prevent her sinking, and from there towed by the Knickerbocker to Vineyard Haven, where her bottom was examined by a diver before continuing her voyage.

Mr. Editor: Why is it that the Masonic female population are not allowed to participate in the clam-bake on the 24th instant? I have taken the degrees of Eastern Star and the Heroine of Jericho, and still I am not to have even a smell of a clam. RUTH.

The fast train over the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad last Saturday arrived at Portland at 3:29 o'clock P. M., two hours and twenty-one minutes from Boston, 108 miles, an average of one minute 18 3-4 seconds per mile. The train left Portland on the return at 2:30 P. M. Sunday, and arrived in Boston at 4:53; time, two hours and thirty-three minutes. The run from Dover to Exeter, eighteen miles, was made in nineteen minutes, an average of one minute 3 1-3 seconds per mile.

There was a big fleet of sail and row boats on the river and down the harbor on Tuesday. The fields and pastures on both sides were white with ox-eye daises, and flags flying from the Pepperell house at Kittery Point and the Hotel Pocahontas at Gerrish's island.

Somebody has lost a dog, which the owner probably values. That dog found our composing room on "circus day," and seems inclined to adopt it as a permanent residence. The owner can recover his property on calling for the same, and proving ownership.

Stillman B. Allen, Esq., of Boston, visited Appledore on Tuesday to select his rooms for the season.

Bridge street is having a rounding up of crushed stone.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs, Capt. Levi Downs, arrived on Tuesday from a mackereling trip.

The spring term of the high school closed with the session of Tuesday. Mr. Pickard, the principal, has gone to Hanover to attend the commencement exercises at Dartmouth college.

Elvin Newton was in from the Isles of Shoals the first of this week. He has built a new house forty-one feet long on Lunging island, which has the appearance, on the outside at least, of a summer boarding house. He reported but few mackerel appearing as yet, but is not at all discouraged; last year the mackerel fishing did not commence at the islands with any marked success until the 15th of July.

It is a fact that more persons suffer pain, and their vision rapidly growing more feeble, through the use of ill fitting spectacles, procured both of local and traveling dealers, whose argument consists in saying, "I can fit your eyes just as well as anyone, "and then allow the patient to select spectacles by trying one pair after another, than from any other cause. Prof. Brown's success in fitting all ametropic defects, and especially those unusual errors of refraction requiring lenses ground especially to order, is too well known in Portsmouth to need any comment. His thorough acquaintance with the anatomy, philology of the eye and science of light and vision, aided by all the appliances for an accurate and intelligent examination, consisting of test types, astigmatic test cards, trial lenses, and ophthalmascope, enable him to do all that can be done in his branch of the ophthalmic science. Call and have your eyes intelligently examined, and not take the chance of injury and loss of vision so often a result of the ignorant and blundering way of procuring spectacles.

Kennebunk Depot will in future be called "Mousam," to distinguish that section from Kennebunk village.

The fault that has been found with Insect Powder is because of the inferior advertised articles in the market. "Preston's Insect Powder" has attained an enviable reputation, and its quality is guaranteed.

Have you seen the men's all-wool suits for $5, $6 or $7, marked down from $9, $10 and $12, at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street?

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

Call and examine the children's all-wool plaited and Norfolk suits at $2.50 and $3, marked down from $4 and $4.50 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 32 Congress street.

Don't miss those men's black whipcord and blue diagonal suits for $10, marked down from $15 and $16.50 at the great slaughter sale at No. 32 Congress street, Hewitt & Co.'s.

Fire, Life and Accident Insurance Agency.

NOTICE!

The Insurance Copartnership of Morse & Ilsley, on and after July 1st, 1886, is dissolved by mutual consent. After that date the business in all its branches will be continued at the old stand,

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from Infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the Itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial. Using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, and in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggists, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I began to grow hair. It was thought by my friends, my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.
120 E. 4TH STREET, NEW YORK.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually severe attack this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influences. The poison is distributed throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, became but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have lingered by the sufferer of it like a living death of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and permanently puts a stopper on the tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

and understand the value of a bob tailed flush. They know how to play a lone hand, too, and if there is ever a scrapping match over the pot, there is a good feed on for breakfast already carved.

A third view of their encampment reveals some curious phases. In the largest tent every night witnesses a high jinks which is made hideous by the discordant notes of several tam-tams, a peculiar flute with a hoarse whistle, accompanied by the women, who crone through their closed teeth. The dances and athletic exercises are the same as the powwow and sun dance of the Sioux. Not the least interesting and picturesque are the children and dogs, which abound in great numbers. The little infant is firmly tied to a board with a strap, which the mother puts accross her forehead when she is walking about. A little buckskin string tacked on one corner with a knot for each month tells how old the little fellow is, and the presence of beads and a strip of oil-cloth for sanitary purposes reveals the sex. It is amusing to watch the older children play house with rag dolls and dogs substituted for horses. In their childish way they mimic the life of their chiefs, and they are as quaint and ugly as they are mirthless. The dogs contribute their share to the general fun and patiently submit to being ridden and made to carry all sorts of bundles. The children have no compunction about raiding one another's play-houses, and many laughable things occur during the melee which follows. The children receive but little attention from their parents, and are covered with vermin. They are all bow-legged because they are not taken from the board until they can walk, and a great portion of that time their hands and feet are pinioned. They are remarkably quiet, seldom if ever crying. Less than half of them reach maturity.

Her Dream Came True.

Three weeks ago, before any anxiety was felt over the lost steamship Rapidan, Mrs. Kennard dreamed that she was in her parlor and Capt. Towne, who is a friend of the family, entered the room.

"Why, captain," exclaimed Mrs. Kennard, "I thought you were on the ocean."

"So I am," replied the captain, and taking her by the hand led her under the water to a ship resting on the sand, and which she recognized as the Rapidan. They entered the cabin and saw the form of Capt. Towne at a table studying a chart. Mrs. Kennard asked which was the captain, her guide or the form at the table. The guide replied that he was the spirit of Capt. Towne, and that his body was seated in the chair. The ship had been sunk by an accident. All the people on board except one man, Mr. Leman, had perished. Mr. Leman was the purser of the ship.—N. Y. Tribune.

The woman Astie de Valsayre, who came into notoriety by fighting a duel on the field of Waterloo with another woman who had very properly called her a fool, first wanted Pasteur to experiment on her instead of rabbits with his anti-hydrophobia inoculation; but he refused. Then she wanted Dr. Grusdlbach to try on her his plan of freezing a person solid and thawing the subject out again after a year or two in as good vital condition as ever, but he also declined. Now she wants to go to the Congo country to help De Brazza civilize the blacks.

My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

A commission consisting of four United States army officers and four citizens of Texas, in session at Austin, Texas, has it is said decided that what has been called Green county in that state is part of the national domain, Texas not having a shadow of ground for claiming it. The county contains 1,628,000 acres of land, about 500,000 of which has been located on under state certificates, which by this decision are worthless.

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is used, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price twenty-five cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

A Large Dividend to Railroad Employees.

Mr. Chauncy J. Sedwell, Train Master of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cinn., and Indianapolis Ry, was said to have held one-fifth of ticket No. 76, 24 in Union Depot Company's Lottery, and on May 11th drew the capital prize of $75,000. May 29th he told a Plain Dealer reporter at his residence, 195 Lake street, Cleveland, O., that "it is true that the $15,000 drawn by the fifth of this ticket was paid to me, but I only acted as collector for others. The fortunate parties were five employees of the C. C. C. & I. Ry., in my department, as follows: H. Johnson, brakeman, 461 Sterling ave.; J. Lahiff, conductor, 35 Seymour ave.; Thos. Murphy, conductor, 44 Bailey st.; F. Williams, conductor, 75 Delaware st.; R. Constant, brakeman, 1767 Lorain st., who came and urged me to attend to the collection of the money and divide it. I forwarded the ticket to New Orleans, and it was promptly paid, and I paid each of them $3,000.

A MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the efficient operation of all its trains. Travelers for specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are largely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and Dominion Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another FAST EXPRESS LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been established between Chicago, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get "Allcock's Porous Plasters." The popularity which these plasters have attained during the past thirty years has no parallel, so it is no wonder that imitations and counterfeits abound.

Henry Couillard, of Charlemont, Mass., who did good service in assisting the wounded in the Fitchburg railroad disaster, being at the time on the train as a prisoner on his way to jail under sentence for liquor selling, has been pardoned by Gov. Robinson, and has received $2,600 damages from the railroad company for his injuries.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, etc., will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price twenty-five cents.

At Hartford, Conn., Ernest Strauss, a German aged forty years, attempted to shoot a doctor who was attending his wife in confinement, and after being taken to the police station hung himself to a bar in his cell, but was cut down just in time to save his life. Anxiety for his wife had set the poor fellow crazy.

Hay fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. Fifty cents at druggists; by mail, registered, sixty cents. Ely Brothers, druggists, Owego, N. Y.

At Richford, Vt., June 20th, Willie L. Noyes shot and killed himself. The shooting was the result of a row between Noyes and James B. Mudgett, a neighbor, who was mowing some grass which Noyes claimed as his. Noyes stabbed Mudgett with a pitchfork, making a slight wound. A doctor was called, and Noyes seeing the doctor pass his house, became excited, telling his wife what he had done, and saying "I will kill myself." He then went to the barn and shot himself three times near the heart, and died almost instantly. The affair caused great excitement in town, as Noyes had always been a peaceful and respected citizen.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 50 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

COURTSHIP IN MEXICO.

"Playing the Bear" with a Maiden on the Balcony—A Legal Elopement.

All the courting is done on the street. When the evening kindly lends its sheltering cloak, even though the moon smiles full faced at the many love scenes she is witnessing, the girl opens her casement window, and, with guitar in her hand or dreamily watching the stars, she awaits her lover. If her room is on the ground floor she is in paradise, for then they can converse—he can even touch her hand through the bars. But if she is consigned to a room above she steps out on the balcony. If the distance is not too great they can still converse, but otherwise, with the aid of pencil, paper, and tiny cord, they manage to spend the evening blissfully without burning papa's coal and gas and staying up until unseemly hours.

The lovers are unmindful of the people who pass and repass, and the kind-hearted policeman never thinks of telling the young man to "move on." If the house is secluded the lover tells his devotions in musical strains. Night is not only devoted to love-making, but in the broad light of day the young man will stand across the street and from the partly opened casement of the fair one are visible a hand and a nose—of course she has full view, but that is all that can be seen of her. With the hand they converse in deaf and dumb language which, added to their own signs, makes a large dictionary. It is not likely there exists a Mexican who is not an adept in the sign language. Courting is too vulgar a word for them, so they call it—translated in English—playing the bear.

Sometimes they play the bear for from seven to fifteen years—that is, if the parents are very wealthy—and even then not get the girl, for, with all their passionate love, they number many flirts. Often one girl will have two or more playing the bear at the same time. If they chance to meet they inquire, fiercely: "Whom are you after?" If the answer demonstrates the same girl one will request the other to step aside. If he refuses a duel follows. After that the girl is bound, by the custom of her country, to relinquish both. If a brother or father discovers a "bear," the latter must submit to a thrashing from their hands if he still desires to retain the girl's love. If a father notices the attention of a "bear" and looks with favor upon him, he does not disturb his "playing." When he concludes he has served long enough he is invited into the house. This means the same as if he had asked her hand in marriage and has been accepted. He is the intended husband, but never for a moment is he alone with his fiancee. He may aspire to take the driver's place sometimes, or to take the entire family to the theater.

If a man gets impatient and feels like becoming responsible for the price of his sweetheart's bonnets he asks the father. If he is rejected he can go to a public official and swear out a notice to the effect that his and the girl's happiness is ruined by the father's heartlessness. He then secures a warrant which gives him the privilege of taking the girl away bodily from the home of her parents. This is a Mexican elopement. If, on the other hand, he is accepted, the wedding day is named and agreements are drawn up as to how much will be the daughter's portion at the death of her parents. Before that period she receives nothing. The intended husband furnishes the wedding outfit, and all the wearing apparel she has been using is returned to her parents. She has absolutely nothing. The groom buys the customary outfit—white satin boots, white dress, and veil.

A Saw Without Teeth.

A saw without teeth, that will cut a steel rail in two minutes, is in operation at the Central-Hudson shops, in Greenbush, N. Y. The saw is run by a ninety horse power engine, more power than is required to run all the other machinery in the shops, and is 38 inches in diameter, and three-eighths of an inch thick at the edge. The disk is make of Bessemer steel, and runs at a high rate of speed. While in operation a band of fire encircles the saw, and the many sparks flying from the revolving disk resembles a display of pyrotechnics. To keep the saw cool and prevent it from cracking, a tank of water is placed above the machine, from which a small stream runs down and drops on the saw while in motion. By this plan one saw will cut nearly 3,000 rails before it is worn out. A steel rail, after about six years' constant use becomes battered at the ends, and by cutting them off the rails can be used in branch and switch tracks. Rails are cut by this machine for the whole line of the Central-Hudson R. R. railroad. The saw, while cutting, bears down hard on the rail, the end of which is left as smooth as the bottom of a flatiron. One remarkable thing about the machine is that the chips cut from the rail fly back under the saw with such force as to form a solid piece of steel nearly as firm as the rail itself.—Scientific American.

An Irish Goblin Story.

A wandering tailor in search of work happened to call at a house in which a woman resided who was tormented with a squalling child. From morning to night and from night to morning this little snub-nosed, big-mouthed wretch kept up a never-ending, maddening scream. The poor, afflicted woman was very glad to get the tailor to take care of it until she went out on some little business. Scarcely had she left the house before the child stopped squalling and glanced at the tailor from the corner of its eye. When the dinner hour arrived the tailor put some eggs into the hot peat ashes to roast, when the child sat up in its cradle and said: "Give me one." "Give you one!" echoed the tailor in astonishment. "Yes,

Sharp Pangs Athwart the Forehead, And in the muscles of the neck and shoulder usually most violent after nightfall, are among the cheerful manifestations of neuralgia. It is an affection of the nerve intensified by a cold. Repose, bringing with it a cessation of pain, is induced by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a fine nerve tonic and tranquilizer. It is also a reliable means of checking rheumatism and gout. These maladies have always more or less to do with the kidneys that, when inactive, fail to throw off the impurities which engender them. The Bitters can be relied upon to renew a healthy and purifying action of the renal organs. Besides this, it gives tone to the stomach, liver and bowels, and enriches the circulation. Appetite and sleep both profit by it, and it is a well-accredited means of fortifying the system against malaria. It hastens the recovery of strength by convalescents, mitigates the infirmities of age, and helps the constitutionally feeble.

The President and the Pension Bills.

The president in his views upon special pension legislation is sound, but when in his veto message he refers to "the pension bureau, fully equipped and regulated by the most liberal rules, in active operation," he indulges either in a gush of innocuous verdancy or a glow of withering sarcasm. These private bills come to the president in such numbers simply because the pension bureau makes a point to deny everything possibly to be denied. The fact that a claim is presented at a period remote from the time the disease was incurred or the injury received, is made of itself an object of suspicion. But it must be remembered that their wounds were received and the foundations of the various ills incident to a soldier's life were laid a quarter of a century ago, and when these men came marching home how many scorned to ask for a pension in their buoyant bravery of earlier years, who now feel the effects of southern campaigns with severe marches, wet bivouacs and prolonged hardships known only to those familiar with the fortunes of war. Again, the means of technically proving their cases have become diminished by deaths of officers or fellow soldiers, and by other results of the past twenty-five years, and it is for this reason that congressional committees have reported cases in great numbers, meritorious in themselves, but which could not be established by such legal evidence as the rules of the department require. If the president is to pause and draw the line in these cases, he will not have much time for other duties, public or private, during the session of the present Congress.

They Will Not "Tip."

The Dover correspondent of the Boston Post, in reporting to that paper the election of delegates from Dover to the democratic state convention, remarks:

Many delegates to the state convention are pronounced anti-administration men, and it is said that, according to the present indications, if the endorsement of Cleveland's policy is very strong, there will be a big opposition, particularly from Manchester, Portsmouth, Dover and other places.

We have heard similar talk to this from Portsmouth democrats; but we have it from high democratic authority that no such unpleasantness as is prophesied will occur, as all differences will be easily harmonized. The Dover correspondent further says:

Governor Hill's visit to Concord, and his utterances in Boston at the Bay State club banquet, have made him a strong favorite with the old-line democrats, who believe he will be the next democratic nominee for the presidency.

One of the Things Which Might Have Been Left Unsaid.

The Concord Monitor, in extending advice to Gov. Currier in regard to the appointment of a railroad commissioner to succeed Mr. O. C. Moore of Nashua, whose term expires in September, says: "The members of the legislature of 1883 were not entirely bereft of reason. Their judgment was not wholly fled." Perhaps this lucid interval occurred when the legislature made choice of the Monitor establishment as state printer.

"The rest is all but leather or prunello."

A New Democratic Departure.

Gov. Hill in his Boston speech told the democrats that the senatorial confirmation of presidential appointments was all wrong; that is, the president should be the sole judge as to appointments. This would suit the governor in case he becomes president, but it is rather a stretch for the democracy of Jeffersonian antecedents to acquiesce in this one-man power, which could wield a patronage (perhaps against his party) which would make him a dictator. We hardly think the democracy are quite ready for this departure, however the plan may have been applauded at the Bay State banquet. Let us wait for the "sober second thought" of our democratic friends in regard to this innovation.

The New Hampshire Fire Ins. Co. of Manchester.

The thirty-second semi-annual statement is issued and shows that the superior financial management has maintained the progressive march of the company. The directors have wisely paid dividends only from receipts from interest, so that all receipts from premiums above losses and expenses are held intact for the protection of the policy-holders and to strengthen the company.

The New Hampshire Fire Insurance company has over ten thousand patrons in the State, each glad to hold a policy, and gratified each year to be assured that their property is protected by a policy "to sleep on," with solid financial backing, and honorable record and motives.

In addition to the capital stock of $500,000, the company holds as re-insurance reserve $581,000 to meet expected losses on policies in force, and the total assets reach the round sum of $1,101,451.03.

During sixteen years, with no change of management, the company has paid out promptly for fire losses the great sum of $1,991,374, and yet each year added to the cash assets.

These things said, it would be superfluous to bestow compliments upon the company's management. Such results do not merely happen; they are wrought out by skill and diligence, by toil of brain and hand, and the bare record of them is the highest praise that can be given.

The company solicit risks on all productive non-hazardous property in the state at reasonable rates through local agents. The same well known officers and directors manage the affairs of the corporation: Ex-Gov. J. A. Weston, president; Hon. S. N. Bell, vice president; Geo. B. Chandler, treasurer; John C. French, secretary.

For the past fourteen years the Portsmouth agency has been represented and all claims promptly paid by C. A. Hazlett, at the First National Bank.

The yacht "Marion Wentworth," with Thos. W. Peirce, Esq., and a party of New York and Boston people on board, arrived at this port on the evening of the 21st inst. The party went up to Dover the next morning, and returned to the yacht in the afternoon for a cruise to Newport.

Fifty lasters employed at the Davis shoe shop in Kennebunk recently struck for higher pay, and received the asked-for rise. The company now say they shall run the manufactory until the present orders are filled, when they will shut down for at least two years, and perhaps permanently.

At Newington, on the evening of the 22d inst., a boy named Joseph Hoyt was bathing in Great bay when he accidentally stepped upon a horseshoe crab, and was severely hurt by the creature's pointed tail, which went deep into his foot and broke off in the wound. The fragment required the services of a surgeon to remove next day.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, a delicate fashionable toilet article. It stops the scalp in healthful, vigorous action, cleansing it from dandruff, and supplies the hair follicles with the nutriment needed to produce a luxuriant growth of hair, soft, glossy, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures Dandruff, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." E. T. Sandbein, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or sandy whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 22d.

The strawberry festival given by Morrill Lodge of Good Templars came off Thursday evening, the 17th inst., in the vestry of the 1st Methodist church. A good company was present, and all had a nice time.

Mr. Granville C. Spinney, the enterprising carriage maker at the depot, is building two fine nine-seated party wagons for Charles W. Cottle & Son, who have also lately added a new dog-cart to their stock of carriages.

Mr. James O. Trefethen is the agent in Kittery for the Portsmouth steam laundry. Work left with him will be done with neatness and dispatch at the laundry, under the new management.

Quite a number of farmers in this town, Eliot and York have commenced haying, and report a fair crop. Several of our farmers have had green peas and new potatoes of their own raising, and perhaps spring lamb.

Dr. D. Ed. Hill now appears on our streets in his handsome new road wagon behind his thoroughbred, and altogether they make a solid team.

Children's day will be observed June 27th, by several of our churches.

Frank Marshall, son of Edward S. Marshall of York, who lives with his grandfather, Hon. Alexander Dennett of West Kittery, recently rode from his home to South Berwick academy on his bicycle against a head wind, in a trifle over one hour, and returned by rail.

SUB ROSA.

Rev. Mr. Corey of the Methodist church at York baptised a number of persons at the head of Chase's pond on Sunday, the 20th inst. There was a large company present to witness the ceremonies.

A man in York county has just filed in the clerk of court's office at Alfred an application for a divorce from his wife, with whom he has lived since 1836.

The schooner Lucy D, Wall master, which arrived from Port Johnson on the 22d inst., brought coal to E. F. Sise & Co.

The new Boston & Maine station at Great Falls is to be a fine structure of brick, with freestone trimmings. The old one was mean-looking enough.

MARRIED.

CALDWELL—GRANT. In this city, June 22d, by Rev. C. D. Hainer, Mr. Chester L. Caldwell of St. Paul, Minn., and Miss Lillian C. Grant of this city.

DIED.

COLEMAN. In Newington, June 23d, Dorothy Coleman, aged 80 years and 5 months, widow of Nathaniel P. Coleman.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, June 23d.

Lena Brown, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90. County farm in default of payment.

DID NOT COVET THE SIGHT.

"There," said Manager Hill, as he drove up recently in front of the Wentworth piazza a stylish team which carried a celebrated theatrical manager as his guest, "you can see at night eight lighthouses from this porch." "Oh!" replied the dramatic director, "I don't wish to come here to see light houses. I can see enough of them in the winter season."

COUNTY EXPENDITURES.

The annual report of the county commissioners has been printed, making a pamphlet of sixty-five pages. Quite a saving in the cost of the book might be made if the treasurer's report was not in some respects a duplicate of that of the commissioners. The report of the treasurer might give the aggregate expenditures, while that of the commissioners could (as it does) recite them in detail. The treasurer's report could, in a condensed form, give the figures.

The receipts and expenditures from May 1, 1885, to May 1, 1886, were as follows:

Balance from the previous year,	$27,481.56
Other receipts from farm, c.c., and county tax, ($65,408.)	70,994.63
Total receipts,	$98,475.09
Expenditures:
For county, county farm ($23,432.29,) jails, etc., bands paid ($2500,) commissioners, treasurer, sheriffs, etc.,	$63,082.76
Balance,	$35,413.23
County debt, due some time in 1886,	$21,500.00
	$13,913 23

Just where this balance is to be found the report does not inform us. The county pays two members of the legislature $30 for their services in going to Exeter and certifying that the accounts are correctly cast and properly vouched, a duty which an expert accountant could and would gladly perform for five dollars. The auditors do not say what is the balance on hand, or where it is, what interest is paid for the use of thirty-five thousand dollars, how securely invested or loaned. The commissioners endorse the auditors in the statement that the treasurer's account is "properly vouched and correctly cast." As the commissioners are called upon to expend fifty-one thousand of the sixty-three thousand dollars, of course they would see to it that proper vouchers were had, and satisfy the auditors that a proper price was paid for the articles purchased, etc. Nowhere in the account of the treasurer do we find any credit for interest earned by the money of the county while remaining either on deposit or not required for expenditure, and as there is no law which compels the treasurer to keep the money of the county anywhere in particular, and he is paid a meagre salary of three hundred dollars and gives a bond varying from five to fifty thousand dollars, of course the financiering of the county must be done in accordance with the payment of the services rendered. The county affairs, as long as honest men are in office, will be conducted honestly, but it seems that in the proper system of accounts, in the safe-guards which are needed for a careful and methodical conduct of the business, and in justice to our county officials, a more satisfactory and business-like system of keeping the funds and stating the accounts should be made. In the entire sixty-five pages of this report all that is said of the debt is this:

"Bonds due 1886,	$21,500.00
" " 1891,	20,000.00
	$41,500.00
Cash on hand,	35,413.23
County debt less cash in hands of treasurer, May 1, 1886,	$ 6,086.77"

Of this county debt we can pay but $21,500 in 1886, because the remainder is not due. Neither the treasurer nor the commissioners give us a hint of what disposition is made of the surplus; nor do the custodians of the people's interest, the men "one each from the two leading political parties," give us any light on this subject. The blame must rest with the county convention of the legislative members, who permit too large sums to be raised each year, without perhaps considering the sum on hand available for county purposes.

A DOVER SCHOONER TOUCHES ON THE BOTTOM.

Schooner John J. Hanson, Capt. Stevens, from Baltimore with a cargo of coal bound to Boston, went ashore on Wednesday, June 16th, on Barren island, Chesapeake bay. The vessel was lightened of about seventy-five tons of coal, and pulled off on Saturday, the 19th, by a steam tug, which towed her into Patuxent river to take on board the lightered coal. The schooner was not injured.

AN UNPROFITABLE SPECULATION.

Half a dozen persons who ran lager beer stands at the circus grounds on Monday of this week, were on Wednesday notified by the collector of internal revenue to "walk up to the captain's office and settle," in case they did which, within a specified time, their going into the retail malt liquor business without paying the special tax would only cost them a trifle over $18 each; otherwise the usual legal suasion would be resorted to, with the result that the expense would be materially increased.

The public schools of the city hold no session to-day.

The 26th annual commencement of Mount St. Mary's Catholic school at Manchester took place on Tuesday, June 22d. Among the graduates was Miss Louie S. Albee of Newcastle, who was assigned a leading part in an operetta, and a reading in the general exercises. Miss Albee's reading was especially complimented in the press reports; and she was awarded the gold medal for general application, and one of six gold medals awarded for proficiency in music.

The Riverside base ball club of this city will play a game at Dover to-day with the Dover club.

The lessee of Newcastle bridges has tendered a free passage over them to the celebrating Freemasons.

The Masonic clambake takes 100 bushels of clams, 100 dozen eggs and 1000 lobsters. Neither sweet potatoes nor green corn are procurable.

The big sign painted by W. J. Sampson & Co., and just put in place on the front of Pythian hall, is the handsomest one in the city. The Pythians have tendered the use of their hall to the Freemasons, as a resting place for visiting brethren to-day.

A gentleman desires to obtain for binding, copies of the Naval Register for 1863, 1864, 1865, 1866 and 1867. If any one having these on hand would be willing to dispose of them, we should be glad to have them left at our office.

The fault that has been found with Insect Powder is because of the inferior advertised articles in the market. "Preston's Insect Powder" has attained an enviable reputation, and its quality is guaranteed.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

Don't miss those men's black whipcord and blue diagonal suits for $10, marked down from $15 and $16.50 at the great slaughter sale at No. 52 Congress street, Hewitt & Co.'s.

Have you seen the men's all-wool suits for $5, $6 or $7, marked down from $9, $10 and $12, at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, No. 52 Congress street?

SKIN TORTURES — AND — BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement. MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggists, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.
120 E. 4TH STREET, NEW YORK.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually severe skin summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.
UNIONTOWN, KY.

CURE IN EVERY CASE.

Your CUTICURA REMEDIES outsell all other medicines I keep for skin diseases. My customers and patients say they have effected a cure in every instance, where other remedies have failed.

BEAUTIFY the Complexion and Skin by using the CUTICURA SOAP.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than CATARRH. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and wherein unheard method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in its affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the more oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and accomplishes the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

give me an egg and I'll play you a tune on the pipes," said this infant prodigy. The tailor agreed, and the child performed three or four tunes extremely well. But it no longer appeared to be a child, but a little, wrinkled old man. When the mother's footstep was heard outside this abominable nuisance resumed its squalling, but the tailor told the poor woman all that had happened in her absence, and she resolved to consult the smith. "Leave the child in my care for a little," said Vulcan, and he went to the woman's house without delay and began to heat an iron in the fire. The mother having gone out, the infant stopped screaming, and, sitting up in its cradle, asked the smith: "What are you going to do with that iron?" "I'll soon let you know, you little mischievous devil!" replied the smith, whereupon the infant sprang nimbly out of the cradle and, in the likeness of a white-headed old man, ran out at the door, while the smith pursued him with the red-hot iron in his hand. But the goblin ran swiftly and disappeared in a little green hillock, on which the smith found the poor woman's genuine infant lying, a sweet little baby, sucking its thumb. It had been stolen by the fairies and the squalling little imp put in its place. Of course, the woman was delighted to get her own darling again. —Glasgow Herald.

Good Breeding.

On meeting an acquaintance who is in ill-health, how many rush forward exclaiming: "How badly you look, I should never have known you!" This is not only execrable on the part of the person who perpetrates it, but is often followed by serious consequences to the invalid, who is naturally depressed by such news. Invalids should always be met with cheerful words or manner, even if they have to be assumed. Those possessed of truly good manners, as distinguished from surface polish, will always and on every occasion have a proper regard for the aged. What more beautiful sight is there than devotion from youth to the aged around them? On the other hand, to see, as is frequently the case, children allowed to mimic and ridicule tottering age, is a shame and disgrace to the age in which we live! It is true that "it is never too late to learn," but those who have the most agreeable manners and who exhibit urbanity under any circumstances, are the ones in whom good manners were instilled in early childhood. It is not only rude but extremely heartless to laugh when a tale of distress is being told, yet this occurs frequently among those moving in what is considered the most exclusive society, which be it understood, is not a term synonymous with well-bred, although it is looked upon as such. A thoroughly well-bred person is mindful of the feelings of everyone, from the highest to the lowliest person, he or she may come in contact with, for thus, in trifles, do good manners and breeding show.—Mrs. Ellis L. Mumma, in Good Housekeeping.

Mrs. Malaprop, who returned last year from a visit to Japan with her husband, was describing the outward voyage to an acquaintance recently. It appears that the steamer encountered a regular Japanese gale when nearing the coast, which, although of short duration, was quite severe, the vessel at one time barely escaping disaster. "I shudder to think how near we came to being shipwrecked," she said, "for when we reached the coast of Japan we were met by one of those terrible Tycoons, and it was only through merciful Providence that we escaped."—Boston Record.

The democratic bosses of New York and Brooklyn have again demanded that Secretary Whitney shall at once make a clean sweep at the Brooklyn navy yard, and remove every republican clerk and mechanic. The ground taken is that if but little work is to be done in the navy yards the coming year, the democrats might just as well do the heavy resting as republicans, who have no other claim to the places than that of experience in repose in their situations. This is the same ground taken by some of the Kittery democrats, who claim that after Congress adjourns there will be important changes at this navy yard before the September election.

I was a Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for Rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I sat now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

Rev. Hezekiah Alltop conducted himself disgracefully at Ripley, W. Va., and the citizens gave him a fearful beating.

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is used, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price twenty-five cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

IA MAP

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of unusual weight of rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air brakes, and the rules and discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other attractions of the route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and magnificent Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely served. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route East-bound trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED. AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit. It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases. YOUNG AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything that sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way. THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy. Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free. Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get "Allcock's Porous Plasters." The popularity which these plasters have attained during the past thirty years has no parallel, so it is no wonder that imitations and counterfeits abound.

The strike of the Chicago furniture workers for eight hours was on the night of the 22d inst. officially declared at an end, at a meeting of the union. Every furniture worker in the city may now return to work, and work as many hours a day as he chooses. As a matter of fact, nearly all of the members of the union returned to work on the ten hour system some time ago. The question of boycotting the Brunswick-Blake Billiard Manufacturing company was discussed at some length, and it was finally decided that such boycott should be ordered.

Chairman Keyes of the executive board of the Knights of Labor of Candada says it has been decided to utterly ignore the church pastoral denouncing the order, and prohibiting Catholics from being members. He speaks for the English-speaking lodges. The French lodges, according to Chairman H. L. Brenner, will leave the order, as they fear the condemnation of the church. The English and Irish Catholic members both think the bishops have exceeded their authority in this matter.

BENTON'S HAIR GROWER.

All who are BALD, all who are becoming BALD, all who do not want to be BALD, all who are troubled with DANDRUFF, or ITCHING of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. EIGHTY PER CENT of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair from falling. Through sickness and fevers the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of Hair on those who have been bald and glazed for years, we have fully substantiated the following facts:

We grow Hair in 60 cases out of 100, no matter how long bald.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral poisons.

It is a specific for falling hair, dandruff, and itching of the scalp.

The Hair Grower is a hair food, and its composition is almost exactly like the oil which supplies the hair with its vitality.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing SICK Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured HEAD Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not. Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail. FLUSH TIMES IN THE SOUTH.

How Speculators Secured Fortunes There During the War.

Secession came just in time to keep the dry-goods men of the south from laying in their spring stocks, but they did the best that could be done, says the Atlanta Constitution. They sent their agents all through Tennessee and Kentucky and bought out the entire stocks of hundreds of country stores. Many Tennessee merchants refugeed with their goods during the first year of the war to the interior southern cities, so that the blockade found us pretty well supplied.

A depreciated currency does not hurt trade. It is offset by the continual rise in the price of merchandise. In those days it was out of the question to have any selling mark affixed to goods. Prices rose too rapidly for that. Clerks were instructed to raise their figures about once a week, sometimes jumping up 10 per cent, and sometimes as high as 50 per cent. Customers living in cities and towns took all this as a matter of course. They found confederate money easy to get and spent it liberally. Country people, however, were emphatic in their protests. Money was scarce with them, and, as many of their bread-winners were in the army, they had a bad time.

In the city active young men who had been clerking on $30 and $40 a month set up in business for themselves as soon as they saw the dawn of flush times. They made money. It was not necessary to buy with judgment. All they had to do was to buy something, in fact anything, and it soon turned to gold—that is, to confederate money. This sudden prosperity ruined many a young fellow. I recollect one clerk, a model young man, a strait-laced chap, who threw up his job in the summer of 1861 and plunged into speculation. In two years he was a bloated bondholder. His carriage and coachman fairly glittered. One of his speculative investments was a wife, and she exhibited his diamonds to splendid advantage. He was too sharp to be caught napping, and when the war ended he had money enough to satisfy any reasonable man. Then came bad luck. His wife died. His diamonds and equipage disappeared. He lost at every turn, and a few years ago, when I saw him for the last time, he was a slovenly barkeeper in a third-rate saloon.

More than one man in Atlanta made millions out of government contracts. Speculators, tradesmen, and manufacturers struck it rich. What did they do with their money? Some spent it in extravagant living. Some purchased slaves and others bought confederate bonds. Others, still, looked ahead and prepared for the final crash. These turned their money into greenbacks, gold, town property, tobacco, cotton, diamonds, etc. One man owned 100 dwelling houses in Atlanta. After Sherman's visit he had about twenty left. Another successful business man purchased thirty plantations, besides all the Atlanta property he could get.

Of the men who accumulated wealth so rapidly and invested it so wisely how many held their grip on their fortunes? Not one! It is a startling thing to put in cold type, but as I look back over a long list of men who rose from comparative poverty to affluence during the war I cannot think of a single one who is in comfortable circumstances today.

A Deluded Diplomate.

A count attached to one of the European legations in Washington was in New York several days ago, and, walking on Broadway, was accosted by a good-looking young man who claimed his acquaintance. He called the count by his right name and title. The count did not know who the young man was and said so. "Why, count," said the stranger, "I have often met you at my uncle's house in Washington. My name is Manning. I am the nephew of the Secretary." The stranger established his identity beyond a doubt in the mind of the count by telling of the secretary's paralytic attack. The count had not read the papers, and, being startled by the information, was led at once into a general conversation with the swindler. "By the way, count," said the stranger, "I have just drawn a prize in a lottery. It calls for two sets of 'Bancroft's History of the United States.' I have no use but for one, and I beg of you to accept the other set." The count permitted himself to be persuaded to go with "Mr. Manning" to a house on Twenty-third street, where they found several men playing cards and drinking mild drinks. The count's Washington friend took a hand at a game and the count was invited to play, but declined. His new-made friend soon exhibited winnings of $250, but the count still declined to take a hand. The alleged "nephew" now began to lose, and the banker called on him to square up, but he had nothing less than a $100 bill.

The count was asked if he could change a $100 bill. He said he could not, as he had only $20 with him. "Mr. Manning" then said: "Well, let me have that; I will get this bill changed when we go outside." The count handed over his $20, and "Manning" played and lost everything he had, even his $100 bill. The count now began to suspect that he was being swindled, and said if his money was not returned he would go to the police. The bunko man who had brought him affected great indignation and said: "Do you know, sir, who I am? Do you know that you are talking to the nephew of the Secretary of the Treasury? I will have you to understand that no man can call me a scoundrel and live." The count replied that he thought he was a thief.

Some one cried out: "Don't have any row with the fellow. Give him his money and let him go." The first bunko man then said, "We had better settle this," and shoved two bills into

Men and Women Who are constantly nervous are, in nineteen cases out of twenty, dyspeptic. The twentieth case will be found, upon investigation, to be that of a person who is troubled with symptoms of indigestion. Thinness, unnatural anxiety, peevishness, buzzing in the ears, a disposition to start on the sudden closing of a door, tremulousness of the hands—more particularly of the right—show that the nerves are weak and unsteady. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters strengthens and quiets the nerves. This effect is a speedy consequence of its invigorating and regulating action upon the organs of digestion and assimilation. It enriches the blood, conquers a chronic tendency to biliousness, relieves sick and nervous headaches, and regulates the bowels without griping them. A more trustworthy defense against fever and ague does not exist, and it subdues a tendency to rheumatism, kidney and bladder derangement. Taken before retiring, it induces sound repose.

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

A serious strike was inaugurated June 23d on the Lake Shore road at Chicago, sixty-six switchmen leaving work and causing practically a suspension of business. The strikers are union men, who demand the discharge of eight non-union men.

Are you, little girl?" asked a Cambridge school teacher of a new pupil. "Please, marm," she replied, "I'm seven, except on the horse cars, and then I'm only five." The age of the G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon and pure Rye Whiskey, when bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, is just the age to make it smooth, mellow and wholesome. NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK, June 22d.

Mr. Editor: The events of the two weeks last past have afforded but little material to a correspondent.

No one of the national anniversaries, in their observance, have as enduring echoes as the 30th of May. The talk is mostly wholesome, as is usually from the most wholesome of men. We have read the address of Mr. Albee, made in your city, with a peculiar satisfaction. He gave us good right to expect much of him, and there was not a moment of disappointment. Logan, Beecher, and the soldier minister, Paxton, were the voices heard with us; and the services of the day and evening had a more than usual interest.

The project of a Soldiers' Monument, that you have determined upon at Portsmouth, seems peculiarly opportune just now. Let it be creditable and worthy of the principles that were involved and the men who did battle for them. Let there be no uncertain sound, and be without compromise or apology; for, if rebellion was treason in '61, so would it be in '86, and for all time after. We have no share or fellowship with the namby-pambyism that obtains in some quarters. Hastening to do all that has been done to make the nation whole and intact, and to have every citizen in it equal before the laws, do not let us in the doing it, forget either the nation or its laws.

It is but a short quarter of a century ago, when a man swearing fealty to his country, arms himself to destroy it; and within the week just past stands in his seat in Congress to denounce the man who did so much to save his country, as an "Arch Conspirator." The history of Edwin M. Stanton is being written out of the mouths of the men who knew him and his services; and when completed will challenge the world for his better, in purity of private life, and in ability and patriotism as the great minister of war.

The speeches of Jefferson Davis, per se, go for nothing; but when the southern newspapers chronicle that they were cheered and applauded by the whole people, then there is significance.

There may be a lapse of grammar technique in some of the sentences of sturdy John A. Logan; but there is a royal ringing out of patriotism and its belongings that thoroughly antidotes the temporizing gush of a Beecher, who said, upon Decoration day, "If I had been born at the south, so would I strew flowers upon the graves of rebel soldiers." What then shall be laid over the bodies of those grand men and women at the south, who, in spite of the terrible persecution and great wrongs suffered by them, did from first to last contend and fight for the "old government?" How surely does every Federal soldier take off his hat, and keep it off, in the presence of these people, and how well, among other similar demonstrations, do the living of Burnside's army remember the Unionists of East Tennessee, when the thousands came out kissing the old flag, and shouting him welcome, as he triumphantly marched into Knoxville.

We understand how the stereotyped cry of "bloody shirt" may be flung at us; and we have to say in response to it—keep it clean. Then it will be forever folded.

The unveiling ceremony at Concord did make a Portsmouth man long for the presence and voice of Jeremiah Mason, or Levi Woodbury, or Ichabod Bartlett, to have told of their friend, the "Greatest American." Is it fact, or is it croaking that provokes the harsh criticism that once there were lawyers, and twas a profession; and to-day there are lawyers—but it's a traffic. There are notable exceptions. The famous telegraph suit now in progress in this city affords one of them, engaging perhaps the three ablest lawyers in the country, Ingersoll, Conkling and Choate.

Every son of Portsmouth, at home and abroad, will have a peculiar sorrow at the illness of their friend and townsman, Albert Laighton. He has planted many a fair bough upon old Strawberry Bank, that will live in an everlasting bloom and fragrance. May he have a recovered health and strength, with all his powers of bestowing good upon his fellows.

Theodore Parker used to urge upon the young that, howsoever poor the aged man, there were none richer than he if he had lived the right kind of a boyhood and youth. And I look at the average New York and Brooklyn boy, and wonder if he will ever have, or want to have, a retrospect. He plays base ball upon paving stones, in narrow streets, between houses, and calls it sport. He never fishes, picks berries, goes in swimming, shoots at anything but a cat, coasts, except upon his own level sidewalk, or does anything, one hundred feet away from the all-pervading "front-stoop." The Portsmouth boy finds his sport in an afternoon at Wallis' Sands, and he walks there; in a sail to the Shoals, himself at the tiller; in a chowder upon Gerrish's island—and he is no Portsmouth boy, if he does not know how to make it, and "fit for a King George."

If it was left with us to counsel Portsmouth boys, we would enjoin—"Stay there, all of you, while boys; and stay there, most of you, while men." Those who came to be men in big cities could find a compensation in telling the boys of their neighbors how, when they were in Portsmouth, they knew the flavor of every fruit that grew within five miles of their father's house; how, upon each 4th of July eve, they would scale the windows of the church-towers, and ring 10,000 people out of an innocent sleep, to come no more that day; how, on the next night, they would spin big balls of fired tar through the air, to the fright and dismay of the more soberly; and so on through an almost endless series of like experiences, until the boy goes and sits on the curb to ask himself "What's the matter with me that I was not born in Portsmouth?" E. G.

New Hampshire Patents.

The following list of patents granted June 22d, to citizens of New Hampshire, is specially reported by Franklin H. Hough, solicitor of American and foreign patents, 925 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C.:

No. 344,029. C. R. Brooks, New Durham, gate for railroad crossings.

No. 344,261. J. C. Emerson, Barnstead, fire-proofing compound.

No. 344,008. Z. Raby, Nashua, shuttle-binder for looms.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending June 22d was 341.

Prof. Brown, the optician, will be out of town for a few days after Friday, the 25th, but returns about the middle of the following week. Any persons who wish to improve their vision but have not given any order, should do so at once, as he will make no calls except where he has orders. A postal card at the Rockingham will be sufficient.

A boy named White was run over by a carriage on Congress street, Thursday evening about half-past seven o'clock, a wheel passing over his neck. He was taken home, but later was reported to be not seriously injured. The young man driving the team, named Dearborn, was temporarily taken in charge by the police, but is said not to have been driving carlessly.

Another New Idea—Music Free.

BOSTON, June 24.—A profound sensation was caused in musical circles to-day by the announcement that the Boston Sunday Globe will hereafter contain original songs and full scores of the music by popular authors. The new idea will be launched next Sunday with General Lew Wallace's popular poem, "Wake Not, but Hear Me, Love," with original music by George L. Osgood of Boston. It will be followed by "The Lord's Prayer," set to music by Charles R. Adams of Boston. The best original work and the best of the London publications and hits will follow. There will be an unprecedented rush for the Globe on Sunday. Wise people will order ahead.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

ST. JOHN'S DAY.

Thursday, June 24th, 1886, the festival of St. John the Baptist, will long be remembered by the Free & Accepted Masons of New Hampshire and the people of Portsmouth. The clouds which threatened all through the day did not break, and the rain which seemed imminent and promised to diminish the success of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of St. John's lodge, did not come in such quantities as to keep many of the Masons invited to participate from attending. The people of the city and vicinity turned out in large numbers to witness the parade; the street corners around which the line moved, and all other convenient points of observation, were crowded with carriages and people on foot. The clouded sky made the march much more comfortable for those who covered the entire route, than it possibly could have been under a clear sky and hot sun. Although some Masons may have been kept away by the threatening weather, the number was nearly up to the expectation, there being upward of 900 men in line, besides the several bands. The procession was made up in accordance with the official programme, previously published, and moved over the advertised route.

St. John's and St. Andrew's lodges, and De Witt Clinton commandery, assembled in Masonic hall at nine o'clock in the forenoon, in order that the reception of the visiting brethren might be promptly arranged for; and shortly after ten o'clock the local procession, numbering 200 men, proceeded to the railroad station to await the arrival of the out of town organizations. As the visitors came they were formed in line on Bridge street, with De Witt Clinton Commandery in a position to do escort duty. The last organizations arrived over the Dover road at eleven o'clock, and the procession was ready to move but little later, and arrived at Music hall at 12:45 P. M.

The previously arranged programme of hall exercises was carried out in a very successful and satisfactory manner, the principal feature of course being the address of Ill. Bro. Woodbury, which we give our readers in this issue, with the original ode written for the occasion by Bro. Tilton, as follows:

ADDRESS OF CHAS. LEVI WOODBURY.

BRETHREN OF ST. JOHN'S LODGE:

We meet upon an occasion doubly dear to us, the festival of St. John the Baptist, prized by Masons from time immemorial; kept also by our Saxon and Scandinavian ancestors long before Christianity had penetrated those nations. It is dear to us because this Lodge was organized on this day a century and a half ago, assumed the name of St. John as its cognomen, and held its first banquet as a chartered lodge. Have indeed, ever since then, has it failed to renew its fraternal feast in harmony, decent decorum and temperance on this day.

Fifty years ago a bevy of the peerless daughters of Portsmouth, as bright, as fair, as full of faith, hope and charity as the Masonic Temple, gathered to hear my good old friend Chas. W. Moore address this lodge on its centennial anniversary. Some of these, perhaps, had less elastic in their step, but with unwithered beauty they were present. It is not as uncommon to witness two centennials, and it is to witness two centennials.

A hundred years and upwards, it was not uncommon for the pure and lovely women of this town to gather at public occasions of this Lodge and wistfully wonder at the veil that obscured masonic mysteries.

There has been something of fibre and stam ina in the make up of a lodge that has run a regular existence for a hundred and fifty years. There must also be something of substantial good principles and good morals and good heart in the platform, of faith and works of a voluntary association of honest and respectable men which can make the lodge stand for a hundred and fifty years, outlasting governments and civil institutions, generations wax and dynasties, and being handed down through five generations without losing the esteem of the community or diminishing the pearl of its purity, or the warmth of its fraternity. A lodge now vigorous as a young tree, without a trace of decay or cracking finger, as ready in works of masonry or charity or patriotism as it was in the times that tried men's souls over a hundred years ago, neither moss grown with old fogyism, nor swamped under the recollections of its past glories, furnishes an assurance to the thoughtful that the future of our masonic institutions will be safe in the strong young hands that quit its destinies. Yet, on an occasion like this even young men and barbarians sing the war songs of their dead heroes. Why should not I warm your memories as to the rise and character of your lodge and the earnest way in which the craft developed the principles of Free Masonry. The story is of your own home folks, the kin of many among you; it is plain, and I hope it will be interesting.

Brethren. Five generations have swept across the stage since certain free masons of Portsmouth petitioned the Provincial Grand master of New England for a charter for this lodge. I have a fair similitude of that petition here.

Let us consider free masonry as it was then. It had its mysteries, its religious toleration and its social duties. Traces which indicate that in the craft of masonry from the earliest period whose remnants have come down to us there were mysteries, conventional arrangements, initiations and organizations, are numerous. I shall not teach you much when I remind you that Babylon and Jerusalem, which show how mystic the craft of a one mason was in the earliest ages, when architecture had risen to be a science. The care with which they guarded their secrets was only matched by the learning, science, mathematics and Geometry which they included. None but the masons had in those early ages this precious knowledge by means of which the lofty fronts of temples and palaces, pyramids and fortresses, obelisks and statues were raised for the admiration of the temporary and succeeding generations. It is enough to say that the discovery of the key to the dead languages found on the masonic works of Baby on and Egypt has within a few years revealed to the learned world that the ceremonies used in the initiations of those of important public structures in those ages bear the most marked similitude to those which our masonic institutions have in the habit of using on like occasions for long years before these dead languages that record them were found. Masonry has ever exhibited the power of tradition to continue habits, usages and technical method, for thrice a thousand years from generation to generation. Experience and study have only increased my respect for the traditions of Free masonry.

I shall not keep you to ponder upon the great master masons of Greece and Rome whose names have come to us, nor even upon those bands of Free masons who travelled through Europe in the dark and middle ages, building those Gothic Cathedrals that are yet the glory of the land where they were reared, and now are the sole monuments of the science of the craft, or of the piety of those who collected, and who built these temples of masses of the high science found in the lodges of mediæval master masons. In those times an apprentice was not made a journeyman until he knew something of his art; and the Craftsman was not made a master until he had proved himself worthy. A few words as to what freemasonry was at the beginning of the last century will be appropriate. Masonry, which had spread over England as early as 1692, written records show the peculiar organization of lodges of freemasons, composed of two classes, the speculative and operative masons, meeting upon one level, cultivating together social virtues and moral principles under the shield of secrecy, mystery and traditional initiations, a brotherhood where love dwelled, where friendship was cultivated, where equality was the law of the land, and where the independence of the mind in religion and in liberty was respected, cultivated and professed.

In these lodges some great philosopher of humanity had implanted the seed of the future liberty and progress of the human race. "Liberty, equality, and fraternity," were taught in their halls, and they exhibited the practical bigotry and intolerance of the feudal institutions which oppressed the human soul and enslaved the human body. It was the one all destroying angel that these principles were invoked for the liberation of humanity. Religious faith was tolerated, and men of different religious toleration, and men of different creed were invited to become better acquainted with their fellow creatures of other faiths and creeds. Men in different walks in life: the peer, the scholar, the soldier, the alchemist, the tradesman, the husbandman, the master, the apprentice and the master workman, and received their lessons in the equality of men and the freedom which should exist among men, honest, charitable and social of all conditions, who favored the principles of uplifting humanity. Order and subordination to lawful authority were other corner stones of the institution, and its philosophy was into the most practical and conservative way of promoting the divine cause of social regeneration.

I should not be understood to mean that we saw the future as we now see it, but that all entered on the exploring voyage, with faith that great results would come in the progress of craft headed; and their faith has borne fruit perhaps far beyond the expectation of the early workers, and yet as the divine power had intended in the inexorable logic of its law of progress.

MASONS BEFORE THE GRAND LODGE WAS FORMED IN LONDON.

The traditions of masons are that lodges were formed whenever a lawful number of masons came together for that purpose, when they worked at pleasure, and when they separated, dissolved the lodge. In Scotland, lodge records are preserved, some from as early as 1599. In England, though a few notices of lodges are preserved, the earliest known are those of the grand lodge of York, the fountain of old York masonry, with dates and accounts and proceedings, come as early as 1705, when Sir Geo. Tempest, was grand master, and other minutes of 1712 and so forth. This dearth of early minutes and records of lodges is accounted for by political reasons. There are, however, dozens of old constitutions and several ancient manuscripts which show masonry was in full but secret practice for centuries, prior to this date, in England. It was reserved to the masons of London, in the year 1722, the organization of a grand lodge with permanent officers, and granting the granting of charters to subordinate lodges, still representatives in the grand lodge, and the duty of keeping records.

The political horizon was favorable to this publicity; wise and comprehensive were these constitutions, and the spirit of the times under which the craft began at once to feel from this organization. Few years elapsed before the craft organized where there was no lodge, under grand lodge and fell into that firm and effective organization which still distinguishes it throughout the world. In 1733, Henry Price, Esq., of Boston, received from Viscount Montague, then the grand master of England, a deputation, making him provincial grand master of free and accepted masonry in New England, and charged him with the duty of extending the new organization among the craftsmen of this region. In the same year Major Price organized a grand lodge, and began the work of creating subordinate lodges. There were many masons in New England at that time, who cordially joined in the work. The most distinguished among them was Gov. Belcher, who was then Royal Governor of both the Provinces of New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and probably he was not surpassed in zeal by any of the brethren. In a letter written by Gov. Belcher, dated from those offices and became governor of the province of New Hampshire, the governor stated that he became a mason in 1726. He was fond of make him one of the earliest known masons of England and perhaps the earliest New England mason that we can name. Yet probably there were many earlier. In July, 1733, Andrew Faneuil, Esq., of Boston, and the merchant gentlemen of Boston, who described themselves "as we are a sufficient number of brothers regularly and duly made in the lodges in the Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, as appeared by proof on examination, petition to be made into a regular and constituted lodge, for our harmony, and union, etc." It was granted and their first meeting was at the Bunch of Grapes, kept by Edward Lutwych or by more heretics.

Let us turn to Massachusetts and come to New Hampshire. Jonathan Belcher, born in Cambridge in January, 1681, had been commissioner of Boston, and in Parliament, since then, has it failed to renew its fraternal feast in harmony, decent decorum and temperance on this day.

Fifty years ago a bevy of the peerless daughters of Portsmouth, as bright, as fair, as full of faith, hope and charity as the Masonic Temple, gathered to hear my good old friend Chas. W. Moore address this lodge on its centennial anniversary. Some of these, perhaps, had less elastic in their step, but with unwithered beauty they were present. It is not as uncommon to witness two centennials.

A hundred years and upwards, it was not uncommon for the pure and lovely women of this town to gather at public occasions of this Lodge and wistfully wonder at the veil that obscured masonic mysteries.

There has been something of fibre and stam ina in the make up of a lodge that has run a regular existence for a hundred and fifty years. There must also be something of substantial good principles and good morals and good heart in the platform, of faith and works of a voluntary association of honest and respectable men which can make the lodge stand for a hundred and fifty years, outlasting governments and civil institutions, generations wax and dynasties, and being handed down through five generations without losing the esteem of the community or diminishing the pearl of its purity, or the warmth of its fraternity. A lodge now vigorous as a young tree, without a trace of decay or cracking finger, as ready in works of masonry or charity or patriotism as it was in the times that tried men's souls over a hundred years ago, neither moss grown with old fogyism, nor swamped under the recollections of its past glories, furnishes an assurance to the thoughtful that the future of our masonic institutions will be safe in the strong young hands that quit its destinies. Yet, on an occasion like this even young men and barbarians sing the war songs of their dead heroes. Why should not I warm your memories as to the rise and character of your lodge and the earnest way in which the craft developed the principles of Free Masonry. The story is of your own home folks, the kin of many among you; it is plain, and I hope it will be interesting.

Brethren. Five generations have swept across the stage since certain free masons of Portsmouth petitioned the Provincial Grand master of New England for a charter for this lodge. I have a fair similitude of that petition here.

Let us consider free masonry as it was then. It had its mysteries, its religious toleration and its social duties. Traces which indicate that in the craft of masonry from the earliest period whose remnants have come down to us there were mysteries, conventional arrangements, initiations and organizations, are numerous. I shall not teach you much when I remind you that Babylon and Jerusalem, which show how mystic the craft of a one mason was in the earliest ages, when architecture had risen to be a science. The care with which they guarded their secrets was only matched by the learning, science, mathematics and Geometry which they included. None but the masons had in those early ages this precious knowledge by means of which the lofty fronts of temples and palaces, pyramids and fortresses, obelisks and statues were raised for the admiration of the temporary and succeeding generations. It is enough to say that the discovery of the key to the dead languages found on the masonic works of Baby on and Egypt has within a few years revealed to the learned world that the ceremonies used in the initiations of those of important public structures in those ages bear the most marked similitude to those which our masonic institutions have in the habit of using on like occasions for long years before these dead languages that record them were found. Masonry has ever exhibited the power of tradition to continue habits, usages and technical method, for thrice a thousand years from generation to generation. Experience and study have only increased my respect for the traditions of Free masonry.

I shall not keep you to ponder upon the great master masons of Greece and Rome whose names have come to us, nor even upon those bands of Free masons who travelled through Europe in the dark and middle ages, building those Gothic Cathedrals that are yet the glory of the land where they were reared, and now are the sole monuments of the science of the craft, or of the piety of those who collected, and who built these temples of masses of the high science found in the lodges of mediæval master masons. In those times an apprentice was not made a journeyman until he knew something of his art; and the Craftsman was not made a master until he had proved himself worthy. A few words as to what freemasonry was at the beginning of the last century will be appropriate. Masonry, which had spread over England as early as 1692, written records show the peculiar organization of lodges of freemasons, composed of two classes, the speculative and operative masons, meeting upon one level, cultivating together social virtues and moral principles under the shield of secrecy, mystery and traditional initiations, a brotherhood where love dwelled, where friendship was cultivated, where equality was the law of the land, and where the independence of the mind in religion and in liberty was respected, cultivated and professed.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignorant, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and stuffing, and breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

the hand of the count, who left, but on reaching the sidewalk found that he had received only two $1 bills. He thought he would not storm the house for the other $18 and went back to his hotel.

A day or two later, one of the secretaries of the French legation, while in New York, was approached by a bunko friend, who called him by his right name and gave him his title, and told him a story about a lottery drawing. The Frenchman listened politely for about a minute, then shrugging his shoulders and lifting his hat, said: "Sir, you will have to excuse me; I do not understand your English"—and with this he passed on.—*Cor. Sowing Good Seed.

Home is the hot-bed in which the seed of good manners should be sown; the parents are the gardeners who should pluck out all weeds from their tender plants; with proper care and culture these plants will blossom into flowers of courtesy. It is to the homes in this broad land, where so many youthful characters are forming, that improvement is looked for in manners; as they are there trained, such will their bearing in future life be. Their good manners should be brought into practice toward their parents and one another, not held in reserve for the benefit of strangers.

Many gaucheries now committed would be avoided if good manners were instilled in children while they are under home influence. Children are quick to imitate and the example of perfect courtesy among the older members of the family will be closely followed by childish imitators. A future of pleasing possibilities is before children who have been taught that good manners like charity, begin at home and should be brought into every day use there. When grown to men and women they may not achieve anything great or heroic, but rest assured, they will, through some kindly act or courtesy, comfort some poor creature, whose burden in life is at times too heavy to bear.

Unfortunately rudeness and bad manners are not confined to children. Who has not seen the young lady taking possession of a seat in a crowded horse-car, vacated for her by one who probably remembers early training and who is rewarded for his courtesy by a chill stare in lieu of a kindly "thank you?" On such occasions 'tis hard to refrain from exclaiming with Burns

"Oh! wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursels as others see us,
It wad free mony a blunder free us
An' foolish notion."

No fewer than 2,700 babies come squalling into old London town every week.

Said a well-known attorney last evening: "Let me tell you of a little incident connected with my beginning the practice of my profession in Buffalo. It was some years ago—never mind how many—that I came here, and the day I came to town I had just $35 in my pocket. Meeting a party of jovial youngsters, we unloaded considerable glassware, and when I awoke two days later I was dead broke. The Police justice was a particular friend of mine and so I went to his office and asked him to lend me $10. 'Haven't got a cent,' said he, 'but you just sit down there for a few minutes. Some sucker'll be brought in here soon; I'll fine him $5, and you can have the money.' And he was as good as his word. In less than half an hour I had the 'V' and went my way rejoicing."—Buffalo Courier.

Temperance in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md.—Perhaps the greatest set-back that the temperance cause has received in this city for a long time, was the recent disclosures made by a reporter of the Every Saturday. Among our oldest and most respected citizens are five survivors of the war of 1812, known as "The Old Defenders," whose ages range from 89 to 93, to whom the people have been accustomed to look with very great respect and veneration, on account of the part they took in the defence of Baltimore in that war. Every year it has been the custom to commemorate the defense by an anniversary parade and banquet, in which these veterans participate, the day being a general holiday throughout the State. These old soldiers, hale and hearty in appearance, have marched in procession annually and are the finest specimens of robust old age in the city. For some time past there has been considerable agitation in this section over the temperance question, the adherents of the cause going so far as to demand absolute prohibition. The reporter of the Every Saturday, who did not sympathize with this movement, accordingly set out in search of public opinion, and among others interviewed were these Old Defenders. He found that every one of them—Mr. John C. Morford, aged 89; George Boss, 92; Samuel Jennings, 89; John Peddecord, 90; Nathaniel Watts, 90—had always been in the habit of taking a little stimulant of some kind, and since the discovery of Duffy's pure malt whisky—an article from which every trace of fusel oil is eliminated by a secret process—this was their favorite brand. In the words of the venerable Nathaniel Watts—aged 90—when interviewed: "That sir," said she, "is what I call a pure article; that is Duffy's pure malt whiskey. That's like they use to have in my time."

An eminent London physician, John Gardner, M. D., whose specialty is diseases of the aged, has written a work on his favorite topic, and the result of his research is, that the only sure and abiding strength which old age receives is a medical treatment, with pure whiskey.

WEAK, NERVOUS HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.
AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.
It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopædia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long standing, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.
YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefited by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.
THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.
Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?), and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. The REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Porous Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury. Remember that Allcock's are the only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy ever known; and when purchasing plasters do not only ask for but see that you get "Allcock's Porous Plasters." The popularity which these plasters have attained during the past thirty years has no parallel, so it is no wonder that imitations and counterfeits abound.

Col. B. Frank Vittum was appointed postmaster of Dover by President Pierce in 1852. When installed, the colonel sent to Boston and procured a large American eagle, which occupied a prominent place in his office until his term expired, when he sold it to his successor. Each succeeding postmaster bought it in turn, until the present one declined to do so. Col. Vittum learning of this hastened to Ex-Postmaster Varney and bought the bird, and will preserve and keep it until a democratic postmaster under a Jeffersonian democratic administration takes charge of the office, when the colonel will present the bird to the new official and it will be placed in a prominent part of the office.—Dover Democrat.

The Wind and the Lily.

The lily lifted her milk-white bloom,
And she frighted the air with a soft perfume,
And the warm wind came from the sultry vale
And he kissed her petals so soft and pale.

With a fearless heart she reared her head,
For she thought there was naught from the wind to dread,
And she wrapped her round in her spotless pride,
And she shed her fragrance on every side.

But the wind grew warmer and stronger still
And he kissed her cup with an ardent will;
And her petals drooped in the burning air,
While her beauty waned with mute despair.

But the wind passed by with a careless smile,
And he sought new buds in a little while,
Yet he gave no wealth to the perfect flower,
But he took from her—beauty, pride, and power.

[I pondered the lesson in thoughtful fashion;
The lily was virtue—the wind was passion.]
Maude Annulet Andrews.

THE DICTATION OF SERVANTS.

There will be, always, some whose control is more agreeable to a servant than that of others, and these find little trouble in regulating their affairs according to their own ideas of right; but the majority see no alternative, but in the performance of the work themselves or entire submission to the dictation of a servant. The secret of the greater administrative ability must lie in the consciousness of the servant, that the mistress is possessed of greater intellectual strength than she is, and that it is superior in quality and substance to any physical force she can oppose to it. In this case the servant does not question the authority of the mistress, but yields a willing obedience to her regulations and appointment of labor. It is her right to allot to each the duties expected of them, and it is a woman's privilege to maintain a good government in her home; for what is possible to one can be attained by others. If obedience can be enforced, there will be better judgment and more deliberation on the part of the mistress in arranging her plan of work; she will be relieved of the nervous uneasiness incident to a fear of insubordination, and her exactions be marked by more calmness and consideration. It may appear that there is nothing left for the servant, but submission that women meet in conclave, decide upon requirements and regard no protest from those who serve.

An equalization of rights will be beneficial to both, but only the class of higher intellect will appreciate at first, this two-fold result; the other will feel themselves injured and imagine that they are being deprived of their just rights. They can not be blamed for this for, as a whole they are ignorant, and patience will be necessary on the part of housewives to bear their resentment; it will require time as well as patience to enlighten them and convince them that subordination to authority is their duty. The moral influence to which most of them are subjected in their childhood is pernicious in the extreme. Truth, honesty and faithfulness form no part in their education, generally, and yet we are disappointed to find a want of these virtues, in those employed. There is an insensible demand, on the part of every woman, for these valuable traits; when found they are attributed to the effect of their surroundings and teachings in early life. If this be the case it proves that they are susceptible to good influence and that they can be improved by education; not the education of textbooks—this will be limited by the necessity for labor, but an education in the principles of truth and uprightness; these may be instilled by intelligent housewives everywhere. The constant change of servants may seem to baffle any attempt at such influence and make the moral education of the typical servant girl a most absurd undertaking. But it is nevertheless practicable with the young. A nation's characteristics are impressed in youth; if one country is subdued by another, the young take the impress of the new while the aged are left as the only representatives of the old State. If the education of young domestics is undertaken and moral principles instilled, the next generation may be stamped with that training, and truth, honesty and sobriety become characteristic of the American servant girl. There are some already, who under the influence of good instruction in youth, are faithful to duty. They appreciate the fact that they are better off and happier for consulting the wishes of those who employ them, and understand that their fellows would be benefited if they were properly instructed with regard to their duty. The good old catechism of the church of England enjoins the obligation that we are "to do our duty in that state of life unto which it hath pleased God to call us." Many are obliging, kind and willing to perform their duty if they only know what it is. Shall kind-hearted and intelligent mistresses hold themselves aloof from imparting such knowledge? Shall they be content with a hasty reprimand for an offence, without pointing out good reasons for a different course and explaining the principle of right involved in carelessness or inattention to duty? There are so many opportunities in the intercourse of the mistress with the servant, for strengthening good impulses by commendation or for encouraging to new efforts when mistakes have been made. Good seeds thus sown by all on all proper occasions will yield good fruit after a while; a great yield can not be expected at once, but the years of such conscientious efforts will be marked by the improvement of the class. Many faults of servants might be overcome by a candid and direct appeal to their reason and judgment, by the mistress if she show forbearance instead of censure towards those demands which result from ignorance. One cause of dissatisfaction among them is the fact that

The July number of the "Eclectic Magazine" begins the forty-fourth volume of the new series, and we find ample evidences of the fact that this stirring periodical justifies its high reputation. No one who wishes to keep himself au courant with the best current thought of Europe can ignore this magazine. In the present number we find a large variety of papers and many eminent writers represented. Matthew Arnold attacks Gladstonism in an article called "The Nadir of Liberalism," and following this we have one by Dr. Henry Maudsley on "Heredity in Health and Disease." Frederick Harrison attacks the new pedantry of scholars in changing the orthography of well-established names, and Cardinal Manning contributes a pungent and suggestive article under the name of "The Child of the English Savage." Laurence Oliphant writes pleasantly about some of his own reminiscences. Other striking articles are papers on "Longfellow," on "The American Montaigne" (Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes,) "The People and their Friends," by a London artisan, "Criticism as an Inductive Science," by William Archer, and an astronomical article by Richard A. Proctor, "Whence Came the Comets?" The short articles are bright, suggestive and well selected. This number contains a fine steel-engraving entitled "Blind Man's Buff," copied from Myer Von Bremen's celebrated painting, and, as it begins a new volume, it is a good time to begin a new subscription. Published by E. R. Pelton, No. 25 Bond street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single numbers, forty-five cents; trial subscription for three months, $1. The Eclectic and any $4 magazine, $8.

Men and Women
Who are constantly nervous are, in nineteen cases out of twenty, dyspeptic. The twentieth case will be found, upon investigation, to be that of a person who is troubled with symptoms of indigestion. Thinness, unnatural anxiety, peevishness, buzzing in the ears, a disposition to start on the sudden closing of a door, tremulousness of the hands—more particularly of the right—show that the nerves are weak and unsteady. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters strengthens and quiets the nerves. This effect is a speedy consequence of its invigorating and regulating action upon the organs of digestion and assimilation. It enriches the blood, conquers a chronic tendency to biliousness, relieves sick and nervous headaches, and regulates the bowels without griping them. A more trustworthy defense against fever and ague does not exist, and it subdues a tendency to rheumatism, kidney and bladder derangement. Taken before retiring, it induces sound repose.

Why is it

That the sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla continues at such a rapidly increasing rate? CORESPONDENCE.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 22d.

A June trip up the Mississippi from New Orleans is a six days' delight. The steamers of the Anchor Line touch at all important points for freight and passengers. Plaquemine, Port Hudson, Vicksburg, Memphis, Cairo, Cape Girardeau and Kennett's Castle, are the most prominent objects of interest. The war-famous "Island No. 10" was washed from view years ago. The river still runs above low-water, and its shifting bars require the ready attendance of the wakeful leadsmen with their monotonous cries of: "Mark twain, quarter less three, mark three, no bottom." Below Cairo there is little scenery along the low and overflowed banks to attract the eye. At Cairo the muddy Ohio pours its golden-colored flood into the darker Mississippi, and the union of the two brings to the table a suspicious liquid filtered through charcoal.

St. Louis has been the headquarters for two weeks of the sporting element, and it has been difficult to obtain rooms at the principal hotels. The suppression of pool-selling on races at the east has inured to the financial benefit of this city, and turf and base-ball exchanges are plentiful, where every race and inning is eagerly bet on by jostling crowds. The visiting sportsmen have now betaken themselves to Chicago, where the spring season is just opened. Hot and sooty St. Louis resumes its wonted quiet.

Kansas City, 283 miles farther west, is reached in eleven hours from here, and is a lusty specimen of the rapidly growing western towns. Several Portsmouth boys have there found homes and prosperity. The place is a great railroad centre, and the rapid appreciation of real estate equals that at Minneapolis and St. Paul. It is said of these three cities that real estate purchased even at present high prices cannot entail loss to the purchaser.

The flood of emigration, west and northwest, shows no abatement, while far-off California with its equable climate and productive soil, catches no small proportion of the rushing tide. Los Angeles in particular attracts thousands for its richness of product and desirable location.

The decrease in the profits of cattle raising is leading to more attention to horse breeding. The famous farm of Swigert at Lexington, Ky., was purchased for $150,000 a few years ago. The purchaser got 550 acres of land, four thoroughbred stallions and eighty brood mares. In three years he sold yearlings enough to repay him for the whole outfit, and last month took in $55,000 for yearlings. The suppression of horse racing by the prevention of betting is likely to injure this branch of business ultimately.

Missouri is feeling gradually the benefit of immigration, and when new-comers decide to remain in the state in preference to passing through, some of your townsmen who have quietly purchased real estate at Poplar Bluffs will have their expectations realized. Poplar Bluffs is now a city of 3,500 people, and will soon be a railroad centre. It is situated in a triangle, of which St. Louis and Cape Girardeau are the other points.

G. W. M.

A number of heavy reports heard in the direction of the navy yard about noon on Friday were not, as many supposed, a salute of minute guns fired from the yard battery, all the noise being occasioned by Mr. Charles Gray blasting rocks on the beach at Four Tree Island.

Mr. Editor: Calvin Page, Esq., collector of internal revenue for New Hampshire, is proving himself a very efficient official. From his legal lore he understands well the duties of his position. Several boys were discovered to be violating the excise laws of the United States on the circus grounds here of late, in selling pop and lager beer, and they were speedily arrested and fined for selling liquor without a United States license. The boys were obliged to go about among their friends to collect funds to save themselves from imprisonment in the county jail or state prison, in which they finally succeeded. The sixty million people of the United States are very grateful to Collector Page for his efforts in their behalf; besides, the poor barrister is enabled to obtain fees for the support of himself and family.

CIRCUMSPECTOR.

The largest turnout made by any organization in the grand Masonic parade on St. John's day was by the Strafford Lodge of Dover, they having 150 Free and Accepted Masons in line.

Mr. Thomas J. Brooks of this city, now attached to the U. S. S. Brooklyn, ordered to the Asiatic station as flagship of the United States squadron in those waters, arrived at home last Friday on a brief leave of absence.

The sloop yacht Zingara, of Mattapoisett, Mass., arrived off the hotel Pocahontas on the 23d inst. Her owner, Mr. A. S. Bird, registered at that hotel.

The temporary poles for the new electric lights were being set up on Friday; the permanent poles will be straight, neatly finished sticks, which will not present an unsightly appearance.

The Marshall house, at York harbor, opens to-day, Saturday. The proprietor has put on the stage route between this city and the hotel a new barge, which will carry passengers alone, the baggage and mails following on another conveyance. This will abolish the long waits at the railway station for baggage, which have been much complained of in seasons past.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge, and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo. "Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

3. Essay, "Luck," Ruth R. Jarvis.
4. Class History, Harry Hutchinson.
5. Declamation, "Daniel O'Connell," George B. Stavers.
6. Discussion, "Resolved, That a Protective Tariff should be maintained." Chair, John W. Newell.

Affirmative.	Negative.
Ellen Morrissey,	Lucy M. Hoyt,
Thomas D. Noyes,	Clifton S. Humphreys,
Annie Wingate,	Lincoln Coleman,
Fred W. Boynton,	Everett W. Trefethen,
Theresa R. Wilson,	Agnes B. Webber,
Arthur H. Rand,	Florence A. Webb,
Anna C. Stimpson,	Stanley P. Tompson.
Frank E. Mason.

Singing—"In the Bay of Biscay, O!"
7. Poem, "Wayfarers," Grace F. Leavitt.
8. Prophecies, Katherine E. Rand.
9. Essay, "Age quod agis," with valedictory, Mabel A. Manson.

Class Ode.
Presentation of Diplomas.
Awarding of Medals.
Singing—"Good-Night."

The graduating class numbered twenty-four—the highest number within our memory—seventeen of them having taken the four years' course, and seven the three years' course, their names being as follows:

Four Years' Course—Young Ladies: Lucy Maria Hoyt, Ruth Reeves Jarvis, Grace Folsom Leavitt, Mabel Augusta Manson, Ellen Morrissey, Katherine Emma Rand, Anna Chase Stimpson, Agnes Bertha Webber, Theresa Rebecca Wilson, Annie Wingate. Young Gentlemen: Minot Hersey Beacham, Clifton Stewart Humphreys, Harry Hutchinson, Frank Edward Mason, John William Newell, George Boardman Stavers, Stanley Parker Tompson.

Three Years' Course—Young Lady: Florence Augusta Webb. Young Gentlemen: Fred. Whiting Boynton, Lincoln Coleman, Frank Coburn Hoyt, Thomas Davidson Noyes, Arthur Howe Rand, Everett Wesley Trefethen.

The following named pupils received diplomas for the full four years' course, with Greek additional: Mabel A. Manson, Minot H. Beacham, Harry Hutchinson and George B. Stavers. The following for the full Latin course: Misses Lucy M. Hoyt, Ruth R. Jarvis, Grace F. Leavitt, Ellen Morrissey, Katherine E. Rand, Anna C. Stimpson, and Masters Clifton S. Humphreys and John W. Newell. Four pupils have taken the full English course—Florence A. Webb, Frank C. Hoyt, Everett W. Trefethen, and Arthur H. Rand.

After the diplomas were presented the following was announced as the award of the Haven medals:

SECOND YEAR.

For diligent application, good deportment and general improvement during the two years: Young ladies—First medal, Ella Furber; second medal, Sadie E. deRochemont. Young gentlemen—First medal, William N. Johnston; second medal, Ralph H. Sweetser.

THIRD YEAR.

Young ladies—For excellence in general scholarship, first medal, Annie L. Morrison, (who has also maintained the highest rank in mathematics, during this and previous years.) For diligent application, good deportment and general improvement during the year, second medal, Alice Morrissey; third medal, M. Lizzie Ferguson.

Young gentlemen—For excellence in general scholarship, and for maintaining the highest rank in mathematics during this and previous years, first medal to Frank C. Hoyt, (who has also received the prize for best English composition, only young gentlemen contending.) For diligent application and general improvement during the three years, second medal, Everett W. Trefethen.

FOURTH YEAR.

Young ladies—For excellence in general scholarship during the four years, first medal, Mabel A. Manson, (who has also maintained the highest rank in Latin.) For diligent application, good deportment and general improvement during the four years' course, second medal, Grace F. Leavitt; third medal, Ellen Morrissey. The medal for the best English composition, (only young ladies contending.) was awarded to Ruth R. Jarvis.

Young gentlemen—For excellence in general scholarship during the four years, first medal, Minot H. Beacham, (who has also maintained the highest rank in Latin.) For diligent application, good deportment and general improvement during the course, second medal, Harry Hutchinson; third medal, Wm. J. Newell; fourth medal, Clifton S. Humphreys.

The exercises were fully equal in interest to those of any previous class day, and were greatly enjoyed by the large audience, which was composed mainly of ladies. The essay on "Luck," by Miss Jarvis, was well written and finely delivered, as was also the valedictory by Miss Manson. The declaiming of the young gentlemen, Messrs. Beacham, Hoyt and Stavers, was positively good; and the tariff discussion was well carried out (we came near writing "was better than many discussions in Congress," but that were indeed faint praise.) The class history, by Mr. Hutchinson, and the prophecies, by Miss Rand, were both very amusing, and highly entertained the audience; and Miss Leavitt's poem, "Wayfarers," was much admired. Our readers can judge for themselves of the CLASS ODE.

RUTH REEVES JARVIS.

Staring high up the mountain side,
Far from the haunts of men,
A little brooklet still did hide
Within a mossy glen.
It lived and sang there all alone,
Yet still it downward crept,
To where, full in the daylight, shone
The river's widening depth.

Thus far our lives have glided by,
And now with willing feet
We pause where beneath the sunny sky
The brook and river meet.
Behind lie all the happy hours
As schoolmates we have passed;
Before, the future's unknown powers,
For good or evil cast.

Now as the brooklet still pressed on,
Advancing day by day,
Until at last, its wanderings done,
It joined the river's way.
So may our lives, as on they speed,
Press forward, ever true,
Doing the best in word and deed,
Earnest in all we do.

The class reception and dance was given in Franklin hall on Friday evening, and was a brilliant affair.

The Riverside and Portsmouth (Red Stocking) base ball clubs will play a game at the Plains next Wednesday afternoon, for the championship of the city.

Monday next has been designated as the day on which Col. Edwards is to receive the official notice of his nomination as the democratic candidate for governor of Maine, and many prominent democrats of the state will be present, including Hon. E. C. Moody of York.

The river and harbor bill, as it will be reported to the senate, will have the following among the New England items: For improvement of Portsmouth harbor, $15,000; improving Little Harbor as a harbor of refuge, $10,000: improving the Cocheco river, $10,000; York harbor, Me., $15,000; Newburyport harbor, $50,000.

The bell of the North church, which enjoyed a season of innocuous desuetude several days this week, owing to the breaking of the bolt which suspended it from the yoke, so that it could neither be struck nor rung, was in working condition at noon on Thursday, the broken bolt having been replaced. Arrangements were made so that in case of an alarm of fire during the disability of the bell, the Unitarian church bell would have been rung.

It is reported that over seventy rooms are engaged at the hotel Wentworth, Newcastle. Some of the guests have already arrived, and are now at the Rockingham, awaiting the opening of the Wentworth on Saturday, July 3d.

Mrs. Emma Molloy, well known in this section as a temperance reformer, is under arrest at Springfield, Ill., charged with being accessory to a murder after the fact, and with being accessory before the fact to a bigamous marriage.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Torturers, Loathsome Scaly and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I am now well cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.
120 E. 4TH STREET, NEW YORK.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, these suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto unrivled method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief. In all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

[Concluded from 1st page]

their subordinate position deprives them of many social privileges enjoyed by their superiors. The colored servants of the South accept this distinction because they have never known social equality, but many white servants do claim social equality and are often unwilling to hire unless they can stipulate that "they are to be treated as one of the family." This seems peculiar to Americans and is due perhaps to the fact that everybody is politically equal. But political rights can not procure social privileges, which are inconsistent with a subordinate position and the duties connected with it. There is an aristocracy of refinement and cultivation that is as inaccessible as that of birth and position to the unrefined and illiterate. One can not hope to enter it without a fitness for it.—Mrs. E. J. Gurley, in Good Housekeeping.

The Lady Operator.

There evidently is one kind of business for which women seem to be well fitted judging from the number engaged in it, and that is telegraphy. Strolling about New York and dropping into almost any telegraph office from Harlem to the Battery there may be seen the female operator, and as a general thing she will be seen to be young and pretty and wide awake to her business. She will sometimes have about her a number of subordinates of the opposite sex in the form of callow youths and messenger boys over whom she queens it with a right royal will and an air of authority that is charming to behold. Generally these young women are very pleasant and obliging; only occasionally will one come across a terror, whose very look will freeze him to the marrow. However, they all seem to give satisfaction to their employers and to attend well to their work, and appear to be rapidly monopolizing the telegraphic business. Far out on the Western plains, wherever there is a railroad station, almost invariably the traveler sees a pretty face or muslin curtain at the window, a bird-cage hanging up aloft, and some flowering plants on the narrow sill, or a vine trained up over the red door (these stations all along the line are painted a dull, dark red), and other signs of the feminine presence, and if he looks out as the train stops he will be nearly sure to see a bright, neatly-dressed, white-aproned young woman come to the door and stand gazing out at the train, watching the passengers with a half-pleased, half-sorry air. This is the local telegraph operator, who has taken up her lonely life out here on the alkali desert amid the sage-brush, and whose only glimpse of the world she has left behind her is this brief acquaintance with the trains which pass and repass two or three times during the day. These are true types, all of them, of our brave American girl, whose courage is equal to any emergency.

A young wife in Portland, Me., was told by her brother that her husband gambled. She could not believe it, and to convince her the brother took her, dressed in a suit of his clothing, to a gambling house, where she saw her husband lose $400. Then she made herself known, and marched her astonished husband home by the arm.

Fifty years ago the boys had a very hard time of it. There were no furnaces in the house and few stoves, bedrooms as cold and colder than barns nowadays; warming-pans for bed at night in constant use, as the bed-clothes were like so many cakes of ice. Washing was done by first breaking through the ice found in the pitchers over night. All cooking was done by wood fires, and the wood had to be cut by the boys.

HEALTH AND STRENGTH REGAINED.

AND DEBILITATED MEN seeking Health, Strength and Energy, should avoid Drugs, Secret Medicines, etc., and send for "The Review," or "Health and Strength Regained," a large illustrated Journal published entirely for their benefit.

It treats on health, hygiene, physical culture, and medical subjects, and is a complete encyclopedia of information for suffering humanity afflicted with long stand-ng, chronic, nervous, exhausting and painful diseases.

YOUNG AND MIDDLE AGED MEN, and others who suffer from nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, premature decline, etc., are especially benefitted by consulting its contents. Everything such sufferers wish to know is fully given in its pages. If in need of medical aid or counsel, read it before "doctoring" or investing in medicines or appliances of any description, and you will save time, money and disappointment. If using medicine or medical treatment of any kind, read it and learn the better way.

THE REVIEW exposes the frauds practised by quacks and medical impostors who profess to "practice medicine," and points out the only safe, simple and effective road to health, vigor and bodily energy.

Electric Belts and all curative appliances are treated upon; all about them—which are genuine, which are bogus. Belts on thirty days' trial (?) and other fallacies reviewed. Thousands of dollars saved nervous-debility sufferers and others by the advice given. THE REVIEW is now in its ninth year of publication. Complete specimen copies mailed free.

An Unfailing Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills cure dyspepsia, or indigestion, headache, pain in the shoulders, coughs, tightness of the chest, dizziness, sour stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, inflammation of the lungs. Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of dyspepsia. One or two Pills every night for a week are sufficient.

David Davis, ex-vice president of the United States, died at his home in Bloomington, Ill., June 26th, of Bright's disease, aggravated by a carbuncle. He was seventy-one years old. A widow, who was his second wife, and two children by his first wife, survive him.

My Head was Fairly Rotten,

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover St., Boston.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtJan

While the Gloucester mackerel seiner Martha C., Captain Cunningham, was entering Liverpool, N. S., harbor on June 25th, Captain Quigley of the cruiser Terror ordered her to proceed no further. The Martha C. obeyed, and Captain Quigley placed two men on board of her to see that none of the crew landed and to watch her during the night.

A Portrait of the Pope.

Under the title of "Souvenirs d'un Journaliste Francaise a Rome," M. Henrides Houx, whose intimate relations with the Vatican are well known, has just written an interesting book on the ins and outs of the Vatican "prison." Here is his sketch of the Pope himself: "Leo XIII. blesses his audiences with a graceful and kingly gesture. He has a merry mouth. His smile does not possess that sardonic Voltarian expression found in so many of his photographs. On the contrary, it is rather gentle and paternal. His eyes are very black and brilliant. His features, ascetic and strongly marked, have become benevolent and engaging. He must have had great difficulty to accommodate his countenance, such as nature made it, to the august role of holy fatherhship. Perhaps the soul of a Pope modifies the exterior lineaments in the long run. Like St. Francois de Sales, who was born dogmatic and choleric, but who became, by continual self-subjection, an angel of sweetness, Leo XII. on being made Pope must have overcome, or at least subdued, a violent character. His holiness is still vigorous, in spite of his leanness and senile trembling. His hair is white, and arranged in curls over his temples. His cassock seems to envelop only the shadow of a body, just enough humanity to hold a soul. He speaks very slowly, particularly when he speaks in French. In Italian he improvises with rapidity, but in French he has to call on his memory, which is excellent. This slowness gives a singular relief to the utterances of Pope Leo. The action precedes rather than accompanies the word. With his arms extended he seems to invite the whole universe to come and receive his thoughts. The oratorical action of his holiness is in reality a curious study. It can hardly be called classic, but it gives to his speech an academic breadth and impassioned vivacity not to be found in the printed text. Nobody reading his allocutions would ever imagine the effect they produced on delivery. Unlike Piux IX., who allowed himself to be carried away by his fiery eloquence, and who always altered his discourses before they were printed, Leo XIII. has little to correct; his speeches are meditated, weighed, and learned beforehand. I remember of being at St. Peter's when he addressed seven thousand Italian pilgrims. I was too far off to hear what he said. His gesticulation was excessively violent. The next day I expected to read a terrible philippic; it was a honeyed homily, almost an idyl."

Two Stories About Gov. Seymour.

Uncle David Gray, of Marcy, the most popular man in Oneida county, has been adding to his published reminiscences of Horatio Seymour, and in a recent interesting letter to the Utica Observer tells these two anecdotes of the sage of Deerfield:

"As a farmer," says Uncle David, "Mr. Seymour was more theoretical than practical, and he had a thorough appreciation of his own methods and skill as a farmer. A few of the members of the Farmers' club requested me to call upon the governor and see if he would not like to have the club hold its annual picnic in his grove, and there have a speech from him on farming. He sat silent for a few moments and then said: 'Excuse me, Uncle David. Nothing would give me more pleasure than to have the Farmers' club come upon my grounds, but how can I stand the humiliation of having the Farmers' club of Oneida county come upon my farm. They will all then see just what an old humbug of a farmer I am. Do excuse me.' So we never went."

In 1826 Mr. Seymour and Mr. Gray were students at the Utica academy. "While at the academy," says the narrator, "the boys' habit was to assemble early in the morning and have a game of snap the whip. The string was made up of some fifty boys. I was upon the end of the string. Just as the string began to swing around, 'Pompey' Seymour (as he was called, coming from Pompey hill) came running up the common. I hailed him, and said: 'Pompey, take hold.' He said: 'I will if you will hold on to me and not let me go.' He took hold, and I broke my word and let him go. Of course he got a tumble. When he recovered he came for me in a big rage. He said: 'Did you let me go on purpose?' I then told him the truth, and said that I did. He went for me with a kick, and, as I could not stand much kicking, we got into quite a squabble, and were arrested and tried by a court martial of the school, Capt. Stuart being the umpire. He decided that we should toe a crack in the recitation room and look each other right in the eye for an hour. It was a punishment used in the British army for fighting. My recollections are that it was a very severe punishment."

A Bric-a-Brac Hunter Deceived.

It was unfortunate because she was going away after a delightful visit. All her friends were there to see her off, and she had no chance to explain it away. She was perfectly innocent, too, and it was not dissipated habits or strong tastes, but simply another example of the craze for bric-a-brac. But she is gone, and the young gentlemen who had doted upon her, the fellows who had looked upon her as a high and brilliant specimen of femalety, came home from the good-by matinee with sore disillusioned hearts. It was a very pretty jar. The gentleman who had been her host had packed up two and he sent them home. They were to be decorated. One had "Marquis of Lorne" on it and the other "Jeroboam." But they were unique, pretty jars. Men may have seen them, but the female bric-a-brac hunter saw artistic beauty in them; men never looked for. Here was "Jeroboam." All her trunks

Who are constantly nervous are, in nineteen cases out of twenty, dyspeptic. The twentieth case will be found, upon investigation, to be that of a person who is troubled with symptoms of indigestion. Thinness, unnatural anxiety, peevishness, buzzing in the ears, a disposition to start on the sudden closing of a door, tremulousness of the hands—more particularly of the right—show that the nerves are weak and unsteady. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters strengthens and quiets the nerves. This effect is a speedy consequence of its invigorating and regulating action upon the organs of digestion and assimilation. It enriches the blood, conquers a chronic tendency to biliousness, relieves sick and nervous headaches, and regulates the bowels without griping them. A more trustworthy defense against fever and ague does not exist, and it subdues a tendency to rheumatism, kidney and bladder derangement. Taken before retiring, it induces sound repose.

At New London, Conn., June 26th, the Columbia college crew defeated the Harvard university eight by eight boat's lengths. This result was wholly unexpected, and Harvard's backers lost a good deal of money, the betting before the race having been two to one against Columbia.

Ex-President Arthur, accompanied by his son Allan and his sisters, Mrs. McElroy and Mrs. Carr, and his physician, Dr. H. H. Peters, arrived at the Pequot house, New London, Conn., June 24th; they are to occupy the Jerome cottage. General Arthur felt very well, and not the least fatigued.

FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN.

A Sure Preventive of

Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is The Fishermen.

Letters received in Provincetown from the Banquero cod-fishing fleet report fish small and scarce. Schooner G. W. Bently is reported with 360 quintals cod, the Wenonah with 250 quintals, the Lottie Byrnes with 400 quintals, the Ethel Swift with 600 quintals, and the Willie Swift with 700 quintals.

Advices from Gloucester say: "Old mackerel are fast disappearing, and as no new mackerel have yet arrived the market in a short time will be clear. The vessels that arrived report no mackerel on the coast from Cape Hatteras to Canso. A number of the fleet will sail for Bay St. Lawrence, while others anticipate going in search of mackerel off the coast of Newfoundland. Last year mackerel were plenty until late in the fall. It is believed by many old fishermen that the large school of mackerel gone east this spring have taken another route, and they think that on the Labrador coast mackerel may be found, for it is reported that they have been seen as far north as Cape Harrison."

A despatch of June 25th from Block Island reported seventy-five sail of mackerel fishermen there. There are a few mackerel close in shore, and several seines have been torn and partly lost. A number of vessels will sail for the bay as soon as the weather clears.

A Nice Distinction.

Some of the democratic senators pretend to think, or would have the country think that they think, that it is very improper for a lawyer who is a senator of the United States to be counsel for a railroad corporation, as the corporation might at some time be interested in some question coming before the senate! Nothing is said in the proposed measure in relation to senators arranging a pool to break down a telephone company by starting a new ring which could use the government in their attempt to make a good thing by their speculation. It seems in the virtuous estimation of some of the democrats that it is wrong for a lawyer to represent in the courts a client who may perhaps at some time be interested in a measure coming before Congress; that the attorney for one purpose, must necessarily be retained to protect all interests. This therefore is wrong, because a senator cannot vote impartially upon a question in which his client may have an interest—an ingenuousness in legislative action truly refreshing to contemplate. At the same time a senator may properly be a large shareholder and officer in an electric company which seeks to build itself up by calling upon the government to break down an established company which the courts hold has a valid patent. If it were not for the world-wide repute for political integrity of some of these senators, one would almost incline to the belief that this was a back fire set in view of disclosures likely to be evolved from the report of the Pan Electric investigating committee, the evidence before which is more or less familiar to the public.

Will Save Time.

Among the new expenditures by the government are the costs of printing blank forms to be used as presidential vetoes. As the clerks at the White House, toward the end of a session of Congress, can by the use of these papers, partly printed as to form, save much valuable time, and to the administration time seems of consequence just now, these blanks will be of great service. The president has sent to Congress sixty-eight veto messages. President Grant during his entire administration, extending over eight years, signed twenty-eight of these messages; and no previous president had ever reached that number. Until the present administration came into existence, it is said that only one pension bill had ever been vetoed. The president apparently means that this kind of legislation shall not be indulged in.

Fitz John Porter.

The senate on Friday passed the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter after a lively debate, the vote being as follows:

Yeas—Beck, Berry, Blackburn, Brown, Butler, Call, Cameron, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, George, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hoar, Jones of Arkansas, Jones of Nevada, McPherson, Maxey, Mitchell of Oregon, Pugh, Ransom, Riddleberger, Sewell, Vance, Vest, Voorhees, Walthall, Whitehouse, and Wilson of Maryland—thirty.

Nays—Aldrich, Allison, Conger, Cullom, Evarts, Frye, Hale, Harrison, Hawley, Ingalls, Logan, Manderson, Palmer, Sawyer, Spooner, Teller, C. Wilson of Iowa—seventeen.

Among the pairs announced were the following: Dolph with Hearst, Blair with Pike, Chace with Kenna, Edmunds with Harris, Millan with Sabin, Miller with Hampton, Dawes with Payne, Platt with Camden, Plumb with Morgan, Morrill with Saulsbury, Van Wyck with Fair, Mitchell of Pennsylvania with Jones. The senator first named in each pair would have voted against the bill, and the senator last named in its favor.

The New York Steamboat Line.

The increase of the passenger traffic between Boston and New York over the Fall River line has caused the management to increase their service. On and after to-day, two steamers with connections by special express trains will leave for New York daily. The first train leaves Boston at 6:00 P. M., reaching Fall River, where a boat is taken which leaves for Newport and New York, at 7:30. The second train leaves Boston at 7:00 P. M., going to Fall River without stopping, connecting with a steamer which leaves for New York at 8:25, and goes through without stopping at Newport. The steamers are due in New York at 7:20 and 7:30 A. M. respectively. The equipment of the second special express is made up of splendid parlor cars with the latest modern appliances.

Returning, the boats leave from New York at 5:30 and 6:15 P. M., the first boat going direct to Fall River, and connecting with a train due in Boston at 6:50 A. M. The second boat touches at Newport about 6:00 A. M., and connects with Fall River at 7:30, reaching Boston at 9:00 A. M. Passengers eastward-bound who like their sweet morning nap, can come by the second boat, and rise at a comparatively comfortable hour. These arrangements will be very convenient for White mountain travel.

The widely-known steamers Pilgrim, Bristol, Providence and Old Colony will perform the sound service. The boats have been put in superb condition for the summer trips. Passengers from this vicinity by the Bangor express train leaving this city at 3:00 P. M., can have choice of two trains, leaving Boston either at 6:00 or 7:00 P. M. This is the best connection made with any New York line by train leaving Portsmouth at 3:00 P. M.

Prohibitory State Convention.

The prohibitory convention of New Hampshire will be held at White's Opera house in Concord on Wednesday, July 14th, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, to nominate candidates for governor and other state officers, and attend to any business lawfully presented. The basis of representation will be one delegate for every 100 legal voters in any place, and one for any fraction thereof, or place not having 100 voters. Volunteer delegates from unorganized districts are also invited, and will receive credentials from the state committee in attendance. The object is to open the door widely to all who sympathize with the movement, male and female.

Twenty-nine railway postal clerks in the west have been discharged, for combining after the plan of the trade-unions to prevent the discharge of any of their number. Their intent was, in case any "union" clerk was dismissed, to resign in a body and thus stop the railway postal service for the time being. The postmaster general took the business in his own hands, and did not give them a chance to work their plan.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Wehl, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are CORTICELLI WASH SILK.

SOLD ON SPOOLS ONLY.

COLOR WARRANTED

NOT to "run," or to injure in any way the most delicate material in washing.

For heavy Outline Embroidery use two threads; for lighter work use the thread singly.

The convenience of having this reliable brand on spools rather than doubtful goods in skeins which tangle and become quickly shop-worn, will be apparent to traders and consumers. Sold by enterprising dealers, who will be supplied by NONOTUCK SILK CO., 18 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

RAILROAD CHANGES.

The summer time-table of the Boston & Maine railroad, Eastern division, went into effect June 27th, and the new arrangement can be found in the "Transportation" column of this paper. There are three additional trains each way between this city and Boston. Instead of a train from this city at 7:15 A. M., as heretofore, one now leaves at 7:30, running express, and reaching Boston at 9:05, in fifteen minutes less time than the former train. An accommodation train starts from this city for Boston at 7:35, five minutes after the express, and reaches Boston at 9:40, thirty-five minutes behind it. An early afternoon train, starting at 1:55, is also put on for Boston.

The examination of candidates for admission to the High school will take place to-day and to-morrow at the school building, commencing at nine o'clock each day.

Mr. Henry H. Crane, of Millbury, Mass., son of the late Hosea Crane, formerly of this city, was in town on Friday, on his way to Wells, Me., to spend a two weeks' vacation. He informs us that Mr. Jasper G. Crane, brother of Hosea and at one time associated in business with him here, is now living in Hamilton, Canada, having retired from active business life.

Mrs. Celia Thaxter came in from Appledore on Saturday, and called upon Albert Laighton, the invalid poet.

The Misses Foster of Richards avenue arrived home last week from California, where they passed the winter.

Mrs. Lucy Conway arrived in this city last week from Atlantic, Iowa, to spend the summer, after an absence of eleven years. Mrs. Conway was a daughter of the late Capt. Joseph Patten of this city, and is sister to Mrs. John H. Cheever and Mrs. Albert Rand.

The Deer street tunnel was in thirty-five feet at the western end of the workings, Saturday evening; drilling was commenced at the easterly end on Saturday, and work will hereafter be prosecuted at both ends of the tunnel until a meeting is effected in or near the middle.

A crop of grass was harvested on the navy yard, Saturday, from the grounds to the eastward of the Franklin shiphouse. The roof of the office building at the yard has been retinned and painted.

A new two-masted sailboat of the whaleboat pattern, built at Kittery Foreside for Capt. Nickerson of Cape Cod, started under sail on Saturday for the Cape. The boat showed good sailing qualities.

Sheriff Kent on Friday afternoon raided five places in Hampton, on search and seizure warrants sworn out by temperance women of Hampton. The raid resulted in four persons being arraigned on the charge of keeping liquors for sale, pleading guilty, and being fined.

A Chinese laundryman of this city got drunk one night last week, and was taken home by a policeman—alias same Melican man.

Our editorial den was made fragrant on Friday and Saturday by a large bouquet of beautiful roses from Mrs. John Nutter.

Capt. Henry Erben was detailed as one of the members of the naval court martial convened at the Charlestown navy yard for the trial of Commander Henry L. Johnson, formerly stationed at the navy yard opposite this city. Capt. Erben had too decided views of the subject matter to properly serve on the court, and he was excused. The charges against Commander Johnson, read in the court, are as follows: While awaiting orders at Burlington, April 12th, 1884, he was subpoenaed to appear before the county court. He failed to appear, and for contempt of court was arrested by the sheriff of the county and confined in the county jail in Burlington. He failed to pay his lawyers, E. A. Smalley and Henry Ballard. He is charged with making false representations to Secretary Whitney about the matter. Another charge is that he failed to pay a $386 grocery bill at San Francisco, and did not answer Secretary Whitney's inquiry concerning it. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The sloop yacht Daisy, Capt. E. M. Baker, which was in this port several days last week, and went as far up the river toward South Berwick as prudence would allow, sailed for Boston on Saturday. The party of ladies and gentlemen who came in here on the yacht as guests of the owner, Mr. Knights of Boston, went home by rail earlier in the week.

Lyman Hodgdon, formerly a resident of this city, died of Chagres fever on the Isthmus of Panama, May 30th. His career through life was a checkered one. He went to California when but fourteen years of age and acquired a fortune in the mines, after which he travelled over the civilized world and many parts which were not civilized, and finally settled in Dover, where he lived until a few years ago, when he came to Portsmouth, and not long afterward went to Panama with the party taken out by Col. James S. Peirce to aid in running the Grand Central hotel in that place. Nearly all the others returned within a year from the time they went away, the climate and circumstances not being just what they preferred, but Hodgdon remained on the isthmus, and has now laid his bones there. His divorced wife, who survives him, still lives in Dover.

Twenty-one young women and four young men were graduated from the Dover high school June 25th. The graduating class gave a reception and dance in the evening, in city hall.

A Washington dispatch of June 25th says: "The gold medal from the Royal Geographical Society, by a happy coincidence, reached Lieutenant Greeley on June 20th, the fifth anniversary of his departure on the Lady Franklin bay expedition. Meanwhile his own government shows its sense of his services by deducting $40 from his pay on account of a leave of absence granted because he was too unwell to leave Portsmouth, where he asked to be left on duty."

At the annual meeting of the Great Falls Manufacturing company, June 24th, the following officers were chosen: Directors, T. W. Amory, T. Jefferson Coolidge, George T. Gardner, S. W. Marston, Samuel R. Payson, E. G. Wallace, T. Wigglesworth; clerk, Emory J. Randall; agent, E. M. Shaw. The company has three mills, containing 100,000 spindles and 3046 looms, employs 1800 hands, uses 19,000 bales of cotton, and manufactures 29,000,000 yards of cloth annually. It also operates a bleachery, with a capacity for bleaching three tons of goods daily.

There will be a meeting of the finance committee, Soldiers' Monument, Tuesday evening, June 29th, at the common council room, at seven o'clock.

C. M. GIGNOUX, chairman.

The great success of the grand reduction sale of Men's, Boy's and Children's Clothing at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s proves that people really do appreciate good goods at low prices, notwithstanding the assertions of some dealers to the contrary.

The fault that has been found with Insect Powder is because of the inferior advertised articles in the market. "Preston's Insect Powder" has attained an enviable reputation, and its quality is guaranteed.

Children's elegant corduroy velvet suits marked down to $5.60 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, 32 Congress street.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

—Servant to woman at the door—"The mistress was took very sick last night and can't see any one. Them's my orders." Woman—"Yes. Will you please say that the dressmaker is at the door?" Servant (after a brief absence)—"Ye are to walk up stairs, mum."

—An honest Philadelphian speaking of the city's regard for art, said: "We tolerate it, we have no taste for it—but we are strong on fried oysters."

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions, Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from Infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the Itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.
130 E. 4TH STREET, NEW YORK.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially in this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGO, Druggist.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it during their lifetime. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all, passed into hands at once competent and truly worthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, causing snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the sense of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable decision at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1876.
E. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1865, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occidentally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, is your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

were packed and gone. She was wiping the tears from her eyes, for she did not want to go home. She had such a good time. "Oh," said the hostess, suddenly, "I declare, you've forgotten Jeroboam.' What shall we do?"

"Jeroboam!" she said, "my 'Jeroboam! Leave my 'Jeroboam' behind! Never! Never!"

"How can we take it?"

"I will carry it."

So she took Jeroboam and kissed it tenderly, and she seized a piece of delicate yellow ribbon and tied it equally tenderly around Jeroboam's neck; then she took it gracefully in her arms and bore it off, and as she passed into the ferry she saw Jeroboam was attracting a great deal of attention. Everybody looked at it and turned away. She was proud of Jeroboam. Then, after this had gone on for half an hour and the boat was nearly at Oakland, the host said:

"I guess you might as well let me fill it."

"Fill it! What do you mean?"

"Well, it might as well be full, since everybody can see what it is supposed to contain."

"What are you talking about?"

Then she took a long look at Jeroboam and found that all the time she had been carefully displaying a jar bearing the strange and appalling legend: "Jeroboam Scotch Whisky."—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Woman Detective.

When a woman sets deliberately to work as a detective she knocks the spots off a man almost every time. This is illustrated by the striking achievements in this line of Mrs. L. Cook, a wealthy Louisville woman, who, as she drove home one day in her carriage, discovered a brutal-looking ruffian emerging from a side entrance to her premises with a well-stored bag upon his shoulder. The man's whole appearance breathed the word "burglar" so plainly that Mrs. Cook whispered to her coachman to shadow him, and the equipage was turned around and followed slowly after the retreating villian. After many devious windings he was tracked to his lair, which proved to be a respectable hotel. The carriage was at once driven to the police headquarters, and two detectives, in plain clothes, accompanied Mrs. Cook back to the lair. The brutal-looking ruffian proved to be a garbage collector, and when Mrs. Cook got home she found she hadn't lost anything.—Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

Col. Cowles, a North Carolina congressman, who served under Gen. Hampton during the late unpleasantness has a bald head revealing a singular wound. It is a long seam, as if ripped up by a pointed weapon, but was really inflicted by a musket ball which plowed the cranium. The colonel's brain was partially exposed at first but the bone thinly healed over it. I am told that the least unusual excitement would be apt to kill him, and it is one of the gallery jokes that he came to congress to avoid any dangerous commotion.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

A Nashville (Tenn.) paper says: "Col. Fred Grant, son of the late Gen. U. S. Grant, is probably the most fashionable breeder of mastiffs in this country. His kennels are at Boston, Mass., and he has forty-seven stock dogs. A letter received from Col. Grant by a gentleman in Nashville says: "My stock dog Major is undeniably the largest and most distinguished private mastiff in our country, and is valued at $2,500.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertising contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure. It contains an unfailing antidote and specific for miasmatic poisons, together with remedial agents which purify and re-invigorate the system.

Twenty-four men were killed and sixteen others buried alive by a mine explosion at Rockamp, France, June 25th.

No medicine is more conscientiously prepared, more powerful, or more highly concentrated, than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its standard of excellence is the result of careful study. This preparation is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the best blood purifier.

The university of Edinburgh last week made Oliver Wendell Holmes a LL.D. of that insititution.

Scrofula diseases manifest themselves in the warm weather, Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, and removes every taint of scrofula.

Fifty-one persons were killed and hundreds wounded during the election riots in Chili.

Working people are practically benefitted by the use of James Pyle's Pearline. It lessens the toil and drudgery of wash day, without damage to fabric or hands, and expedites all kinds of cleansing work surprisingly, without the aid of soap, soda, or other preparations. Sold by all grocers, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

The annual report of the savings bank commissioners will show the total amount of deposits to be $46,631,913.72, being an increase over 1885 of $2,804,557.31. The aggregate deposits of last year were the largest in the history of the state up to that date. The surplus and guarantee fund is $3,820,880.37, being an increase of $354,483.76.

The new combination of Smart Weed and Belladonna, as used in Carter's Backache Plasters has proved to be one of the best that could be made. Try one of these popular plasters in any case of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, soreness of the chest or lungs, &c., and you will be surprised and pleased by the prompt relief. In bad cases of chronic dyspepsia, a plaster over the pit of the stomach stops the pain at once. Ask for Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

The report of the receiver of the bankrupt firm of Grant & Ward shows that Ward carried on the entire business of the firm, his partner being a mere figurehead.

Carter's Little Liver Pills will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. To be had of all Druggists. See advertisement.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS.—The number of people annually afflicted with this most annoying and malady seems to be greatly on the increase. * * * The editor of this journal is an annual victim, and, with a view to discover a specific cure, has tried numerous remedies. Of these, "Ely's Cream Balm" is by all odds the quickest and most satisfactory, two applications greatly allaying the usual symptoms in the nose and eyes. We would recommend its use by all subject to hay fever, and we gladly hear unsolicited testimony to its efficiency in our own case. * * * —Media, Pa., Record.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built cuttings and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other superiorities of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the superb equipment, comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which the celebrated Rock Island meals are served a la carte.

Still another DIRECT LINE via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

An Unfailing Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills cure dyspepsia, or indigestion, headache, pain in the shoulders, coughs, tightness of the chest, dizziness, sour stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, inflammation of the lungs. Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of dyspepsia. One or two Pills every night for a week are sufficient.

The steamer Austrian, at Halifax June 26th, picked up the previous day two fishermen named George McNeil and John Mellett, they having got adrift in a dory from the Gloucester schooner Sea Foam.

My Head was Fairly Rotten,

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover St., Boston.

At Youngstown, Ohio, June 25th, a fight took place between the canvas-men of Barnum's circus and a gang of roughs who attempted to sneak into the tent. Pat Burley, a noted rowdy, had a leg broken, and others were badly beaten; and next day the dead body of Bill Gallagher, a notorious rough, was found in the river, and it is supposed he was killed in the fight.

The worst blood diseases are cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its effects are felt immediately.

The United States grand jury found indictments against ten leaders of the anti-Chinese riots in Seattle, Washington territory. The report alleges that evidence has been laid before the grand jury sufficient to convince them that there exists througout the country a treasonable organization known as the "Red American International Workingmen's Association," whose creed is arson, robbery and murder, and that it was this association, or leading members of it, that planned and carried out the murderous and cowardly attacks upon the Chinese, in the name of "labor."

Advice to Mothers.

Don't Undervalue the Boy.

The following sound reasoning we find in the American Agriculturist. It would be a benefit to both fathers and their sons if its precepts were more often regarded.

Too many men make their boys feel that they are of little or no account while they are boys. Lay a responsibility on a boy, and he will meet it in a manful spirit. On no account ignore their disposition to investigate. Help them to understand things. Encourage them to know what they are about. We are too apt to treat a boy's seeking after knowledge as mere idle curiosity. "Don't ask questions" is poor advice to boys. If you do not explain puzzling things to them, you oblige them to make many experiments before they find out; and though experimental knowledge is best in one sense, in another it is not, for that which can be explained clearly does not need experimenting with. If the principle involved is understood, there is no further trouble, and the boy can go ahead intelligently.

Do not wait for the boy to grow up before you begin to treat him as an equal. A proper amount of confidence, and words of encouragement and advice, and giving him to understand that you trust him in many ways, helps to make a man of him long before he is a man in either stature or years.

The Boston Journal of Commerce also makes a good suggestion to parents apropos to the above.

Give him tools, says the writer, and let him find out for himself whether he has got any mechanical taste or not. Do not discourage him, as parents are apt to do, by saying: "Oh, it is no use for you to try to do anything with tools. I never have any taste that way, and of course you have not." If a boy finds he can make a few articles with his hand, it tends to make him rely on himself. And the planning that is necessary for the execution of the work is a discipline and an education of great value to him. The future welfare and happines of the boy depends on the surroundings of his youth. When he arrives at that period in his life when he is obliged to choose what profession or what line of business to follow, it is highly important that he should take no false step. And if in his youth he has cultivated a taste for any particular branch, the choice of a profession or business will be made more easy.

How the Indians Made Sugar.

Thomas Conant, an old resident of Canada writes to the Toronto Globe: The Jesuit fathers, who were the first white men in this country among the Indians made sugar regularly every spring by tapping the sugar maple. At this time the Indians did not have iron kettles for boiling the maple sap in. Then it became a curious question how they did manage to boil down the succulent juice without a kettle to boil it in. They tapped the trees with their tomahawks, and inserted a spile in the incision to conduct the sap from the tree to their vessel beneath. Their spile was a piece of dry pine or cedar wood, grooved on its upper side for the sap to flow down. No doubt this process was extremely crude, still with all its crudities they succeeded in producing a considerable quantity of sugar each spring. Their buckets were made by taking a roll of birch bark, and sewing up the ends with deer sinews or roots. Thus they got a vessel capable of holding a pailful, and no doubt the sap caught in such vessels was just as sweet as that which we now gather in our bright tin pails, at far greater expense and trouble. Gathering the sap from the birchen buckets it was carried by the original red man to the boiling place. At this boiling place was a large caldron made of large sheets of birch bark. Beside the caldron a fire was built, and in this fire was placed a lot of stones. As soon as the stones become heated to a red heat they were dropped into the birchen caldron, previously filled with sap. By taking out the cooled stones and putting in more hot ones, and repeating the process, even slow as it was, they got the sap to boiling. Once got to boiling, by repeating the extracted stones, they kept up the boiling, and so continued the process, until after a time they got the sap boiled down, and sugar was the result. That was making sugar without the aid of a kettle, and no doubt many will almost doubt the accuracy of the statement. It is a positive fact, for my forefathers who came to this province in the last century have handed down in family tradition the story of the process just as I have narrated it. Indeed they were eye witnesses of the process themselves. With the advent of settlers of course the Indian soon learned better, and traded his furs with the furdealers for iron kettles, and then began making sugar much as the white man does now.

Not on Time.

"Talking about the signal service and its bad luck with the weather prophesying business," said a station agent, "let me tell you a little story about Swift, superintendent of telegraph on the Rock Island. Some time last winter the signal service people told Swift they would furnish him their bulletins if he would undertake to send them out and have them posted along the road. Swift accepted the offer and thought it a big thing. He had instructions sent out to all operators concerning posting of the weather bulletins, and felt so proud of the new service that he went around bragging what a good thing it would be. In a few days the signal service predicted a very heavy snowstorm, and Swift sent word to the superintendents, suggesting that they had better make arrangements in advance to keep the tracks clear of the unusual fall of snow sure to come.

"Now, you see," he said, "how valuable this service is to a railroad. When

Who are constantly nervous are, in nineteen cases out of twenty, dyspeptic. The twentieth case will be found, upon investigation, to be that of a person who is troubled with symptoms of indigestion. Thinness, unnatural anxiety, peevishness, buzzing in the ears, a disposition to start on the sudden closing of a door, tremulousness of the hands—more particularly of the right—show that the nerves are weak and unsteady. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters strengthens and quiets the nerves. This effect is a speedy consequence of its invigorating and regulating action upon the organs of digestion and assimilation. It enriches the blood, conquers a chronic tendency to billousness, relieves sick and nervous headaches, and regulates the bowels without griping them. A more trustworthy defense against fever and ague does not exist, and it subdues a tendency to rheumatism, kidney and bladder derangement. Taken before retiring, it induces sound repose.

—"I wish, your reverence," said Curran, one day, to Father O'Leary, "that your were St. Peter, and had the keys of heaven. Then you'd be able to let me in." "By my honor and conscience," replied O'Leary, "it would be better for you that I had the keys of the other place; for then I could let you out."

Yachting Disaster.

The yacht Wanderer, of Providence, R. I., while sailing in Narragansett bay on Sunday, June 27th, was struck by a sudden flaw, took in considerable water, and suddenly sank. She was in charge of Wm. G. Brayton, an experienced boatman; and E. G. Farmer, also a good amateur boatman, was tending the sheet, which was not belayed, and the disaster is unaccountable. There were in the boat twelve persons, of whom six were drowned, namely: Mrs. Mary Farmer, wife of E. G. Farmer, aged twenty-nine years; Mr. Brayton, who was drowned while trying to save Mrs. Farmer; Mamie Farmer, aged six; May Girsch, aged twelve; Charlie Girsch, aged seven; and Lottie Garland, aged thirteen. The four children were found drowned in the cabin of the boat. The six survivors, Mr. Farmer, Mrs. Brayton, Mr. Girsch and wife and their daughter Emma, and Frank Garland, saved themselves by clinging to the mast.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, June 29th.

Sheriff Kent paid an official visit last week to several of our cider and liquor criminal shops. Some of the low place cider venders were let off with fines. The Union house machine was not visibly running at the time, it is said. It is passing strange, that intelligent, respectable gentlemen in every other way, honorable citizens and good neighbors, will persistently and defiantly break this law, which they themselves admit is a just law for the public good. A gentleman (who habitually drinks liquor himself) recently told me that he counted, in one evening, between thirty and forty boys and young men from thirteen years of age upwards, as they went into the bar room of one of these (in every other way) highly respectable hotels in this good old town of Hampton.

Mrs. David Philbrick died on Saturday, aged ninety-three years.

The Messrs Leavitt have built an addition to the Hampton Beach hotel, for culinary conveniences. * *

A current paragraph runs thus: "A man who can run a democratic paper and make it really 'good' deserves any office in the gift of the government." This is a good deal like the truth, but it is nearer to it to say that any man who can run any paper, democratic, republican or independent, so as to make it really "good," doesn't need any government office and is foolish to aspire to one.—Manchester Union.

The steamship Germanic, from New York for Liverpool, arrived at Queenstown, Ireland, June 26th, having on board two fishermen named Olsen and Brown, who were picked up by the steamer June 18th, in a dory. The men, who belonged to the crew of the schooner Lillian Baxter, of Gloucester, were separated from their vessel during a dense fog while attending trawls, and were driven out to sea by a gale, which sprung up a few hours after they had lost sight of their vessel. They had drifted about for three days before they were picked up, and suffered terribly from thirst, hunger and exposure.

The schooner Mathilde Kranz, Rich master, from Trinidad for Philadelphia with a cargo of pitch, has been totally lost on Norman island, the captain and crew, and the captain's wife and daughter, arriving at St. Thomas in one of the schooner's boats. The Mathilde Kranz was a three-masted schooner of 751 tons, built in Kennebunk, Me., in 1873, and owned in Provincetown, Mass.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Graphic Account of a Most Wonderful Occurrence.

(Special Correspondence Boston Herald.)

An event has taken place in this city so remarkable in its nature that I venture to describe it in full. The principal in the affair is Mr. Jere Smith, son of Cornelius B. Smith, of the State Insurance Department at Albany, who is well known, stands very high and is in every way reliable. I have had a long and most interesting interview with him, which I transcribed and send you in his own words, trusting it may prove valuable to your readers:

"During last year," he said, "I could not understand what was the trouble with me. I had always felt strong and hearty but I gradually became aware that something was undermining me. I first began to feel drowsy and then in a day or two I would be unnaturally wide awake. Strange pains would come in different parts of my body. My head did not ache much but it usually felt heavy. I was sometimes hungry and sometimes I hated food, while my sleep was very irregular. I could not understand what it meant but thought it might pass away after a time; but it did not. I don't see how I could have been so blind, but I suppose I was like most people who are troubled in the same way, and thought it nothing dangerous. After awhile I noticed a peculiar color and odor about the fluids I was passing; that they were dark at times and very light at others. Finally I began to gain flesh, but I knew it was unnatural and that I was bloating. This frightened me, and I consulted physicians who were very kind in their attentions, but did not help me in the least. My friends urged me with me to New York and we consulted the eminent Dr. Keyes, who treated me for several weeks. At that time my condition was horrible. I was bloated from head to foot, it was almost impossible to breath and I could not sleep. In several places on my body the skin burst open, so great was the pressure from within. The agony I endured was indescribable. Then the doctor told me my case was hopeless, that I had Bright's disease in its worst form, and that I had only a few days to live.

"Fortunately I had a friend who accompanied me and would not see me die without a struggle. He did not urge, he insisted on my making one more effort, and I did so. I noticed an improvement at once; in four days the swelling greatly decreased and the pain wholly ceased. I continued to improve and am a well man to-day, and owe my life to the marvellous effects of that wonderful preparation, Hunt's Remedy. I believe this is the greatest medicine that was ever discovered by man, and I only wish the whole world might know what it has done for me.

"I know there are thousands of people troubled as I was and in just as great danger, but they do not realize it. Bright's disease is the most deceptive, the most horrible malady the world has ever known. It has no settled symptoms, but assumes every imaginable form. I had no idea it was Bright's disease that was undermining me until I began to bloat, and now that I am well and enjoying life I feel like telling everybody about my miraculous escape. Is it any wonder this town is aroused over my resurrection?"

Such is the account of probably as narrow an escape from death as was ever known. The first symptoms which Mr. Smith felt were such as many others feel but do not consider worth noticing. It is plain, however, that the early indications of a dangerous disease cannot be trifled with, but must be met promptly, and by such a remedy as has been proven to be indeed a friend in time of need. WINTHROP.

Hiram Waterhouse, postmaster at Lyman, after a continuous service of over forty-two years recently tendered his resignation, to take effect the 30th day of June.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

JOHN P. SWEETSER

NO. 46 MARKET STREET.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire.

RESPECTFULLY SHOWS MARY L. ROSE of Boston, in the County of Suffolk and State of Massachusetts, that she is Guardian of ANNIE C. ROSE, of said Boston, by the appointment of the Judge of Probate for the County of Suffolk, that her said ward is seized of a lot of land situated in Portsmouth, in the County of Rockingham, and State of New Hampshire, bounded northerly by the road leading to Little Harbor, easterly by land of Wm. P. Jewell, southerly and westerly by land of Dennis Shea, and that it is necessary for the support of her said ward and will be conducive to her interest to have the premises sold; wherefore she prays that she may be licensed and authorized to sell the same at public auction, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

MARY L. ROSE, Guardian.

State of New Hampshire, Rockingham, ss.

Probate Office at Exeter, in said County, June 19, A. D. 1886.

UPON the foregoing Petition, it is Ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at a Court of Probate to be holden at Exeter, in said County, on the Wednesday next following the second Tuesday of July next; and that the Petitioner notify all persons concerned to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, slowly rising temperature, nearly stationary barometer.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 54 degrees above zero.

Cloudy.

THE COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

The directors of the hospital very gratefully acknowledge the handsome donation of eight bottles of Malt Extract and one bottle of Malt Wine from Charles Sise, Esq.; also a large package of magazines from Miss Lucy Salter, and two large packages of bulbs from a friend.

The visiting hours at the hospital on the afternoons of Tuesdays and Fridays will be extended during the warm weather, to five o'clock.

An umbrella stand is very much needed at the hospital.

Twelve patients have been received at the Cottage Hospital since November last. There are four there now.

The hospital in Newburyport started with a bequest of $20,000. The hospital in Concord is being generously supported; one of the beds is endowed by a gift of $5,000 from the widow of Rev. Dr. Eames of Concord.

FOREPAUGH'S GREAT SHOW.

Of this tremendous tented entertainment, which is to exhibit here on Thursday, July 8th, the Boston papers speak in the warmest praise. The daily Transcript of June 15th thus comments:

"Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon 'em." Evidently Adam Forepaugh was born great; and that his greatness should most properly manifest itself in the direction in which he has acquired fame is plain, for his name is an instant reminder of the earliest days of creation, when man and the beasts of the forests were on terms of friendly intimacy, while the name also calls to mind the numerous species of the quadruped kingdom. It has been the fashion of late years to have the circus conducted on a big scale, and though some long for the old one-ring system, when every spectator could see the entire performance, it must be admitted that with two rings and a large platform there is provided sufficient entertainment for half a dozen performances, and the spectator has his attention constantly drawn to new and startling features. In the menagerie is a lioness with cubs and also a tigress with a mischievous family of three little ones, whose playful antics hold the spectator to the spot. To see two of these cubs boxing each other's ears like a pair of kittens is amusing, and perhaps one of them will suddenly bound across the cage and play with its mother's tail. The herd of elephants is also an important feature of the menagerie. In the circus tent is seen some dashing riding by Indians and cowboys, excellent riding by half a dozen men and women, some remarkable bicycle trick riding, daring trapeze exhibition and an admirable performance by trained elephants. The wonderful possibilities of animal training are shown in the case of the horse Blondin, which at a dizzy height walks across a very narrow bridge. The feats of strength performed by one athlete show great muscular development, and the bareback riding of several of the company is unusually good. The trapeze performance of two men is also of a high order. The funny actions of the trick elephants show what these unwieldy creatures are capable of being taught by careful and patient labor. The entertainment closes with races on the hippodrome track, some of them being quite exciting and arousing much enthusiasm.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooners Charles L. Davis and Henry Sutton, from Baltimore, the Maggie Andrews, from Newport News, the Falmouth, from Norfolk, and the Minnie Rowan, from Philadelphia, arrived at this port between Saturday night and Monday noon with over 4500 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker; the Minnie Rowan brought the largest cargo, 1022 tons.

The brick schooners J. Chester Wood, Lillie, D. K. Ham and Satellite, from this port, and the Emily C. Dennison, from Saco, arrived at Boston on Sunday, June 27th. Also the schooner Golden Gate, Amee master, from this port. The brickers Triton and Emily A. Staples arrived at this port on the 27th, from Boston.

The north end wharves presented a lively aspect on Monday. At the Eastern railroad wharf, Noble's island, two British schooners were completing their discharge, and two others, with their decks piled high with ties, were awaiting their turns. The new addition to the Concord railroad wharf was occupied on one side by a big schooner which was putting out coal from two hatches; a huge threemaster, loaded down like a sand barge, was lying across the end of the wharf; and at the other side Capt. Fernald's gondola, the Alice, was loading coal for South Newmarket. The Alice looks like a new craft, having been entirely rebuilt as to her upper works, raised-on eighteen inches, had new decks, beams and knees, new planking where needed, and been put in first-class condition every way. Further down the river were the tugs Clara Batemen and Ann, with steam up ready for a start, and the May Queen; and at Sise's lower wharf another big schooner was putting out coal.

The schooner Ira Lafrenier, Crowell master, is lying at the Haven wharf, under the northern face of Church hill, receiving some needed repairs, including the scarfing on of a new mainmast head, new crosstrees, overhaul of rigging, etc.; the carpenter work is being done by Warren Keen, and Capt. Jos. C. Muchmore is doing the rigging work. The schooner John Lenthall, which recently started on her first trip for this season, was overhauled in her upper works by Mr. Keen before starting.

The schooner Nautilus, Perkins master, bound for Boston with a load of bricks from one of the yards at Dover point, sprung a leak on Sunday, June 27th, off Thatcher's island, and tried to make Gloucester harbor, but went down off Niles' beach in fifteen fathoms of water. No insurance on vessel or cargo.

The arrangements of the recently-made extension of the Concord railroad wharf are convenient beyond anything previously seen here. Elevated some twenty feet above the wharf on a heavily-framed platform is a house containing two hoisting engines, which are thus close to their work; a derrick seventy feet high, with two booms, stands at the edge of the wharf, midway of the engine house; and by a very ingenious plan of mounting on car-wheels, the brows can be shifted so as to breast the hatches of a vessel no matter what their distance apart. The derrick and boom gear has been found so handy that Mr. J. Albert Walker has had put up, on the splendid wharf last year built for him by Warren Keen on the site of what was long known as Fernald's wharf, a derrick eighty-one feet high, also with two booms. This wharf, by the way, with its heavy piling and aspect of solidity and strength, and its large, neatly-painted and substantial-looking storehouses, presents a wonderful improvement, as seen from the river, over the old, dilapidated wharf and tumble-down carpenter shop which occupied the spot for years. The building on the front of the wharf is divided into five coal pockets, and has capacity for many hundred tons; the building on the landward side, with the large addition which runs a considerable part of its length, is used for the storage of thousands on thousands of barrels of lime, plaster and American cement, a large quantity of plasterers' hair, etc., and more Portland (imported) cement than could have been found in the entire city twenty-five years ago.

Children's day was observed at the Freewill Baptist church on Sunday last. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and many song birds added their cheery voices to the exercises. In the afternoon the pastor, Rev. J. D. Waldron, preached a very appropriate sermon, and in the evening there was a bible exercise, with singing and speaking by the children of the Sunday school.

The pump and watering-trough on Miller avenue have been restored, and the excellent water can again be procured by thirsty animals and human beings.

There was not a very enthusiastic number of delegates mustered at the railroad station on Monday evening when the train left this city for Concord, and it is understood that the democratic state convention in that city to-day will be of a pacific and harmonious nature, and not largely attended from this part of the state.

The Oceanic, at Star island, will open on Thursday, July 1st, under more favorable auspices than in any previous year, there being many rooms engaged, and a number of guests already at the Appledore, awaiting the opening. No more agreeable way of spending a day could be devised during the heated term, than a trip to the Shoals in the fast and staunch new steamer Oceanic, Capt. Robinson, and dinner at the Oceanic. The fare by steamer is fifty cents each way, and dinner at the hotel a dollar; but even these very moderate charges are lowered for parties of five or more, who can procure of Capt. Robinson, on the boat, tickets good for the fare both ways, and dinner, at $1.75 each.

A memorial tablet was last week put up in the southeast corner of St. John's church, over the Wentworth pew. It is of brass, five feet long and four feet wide, and is erected "In memory of Ebenezer Wentworth, born Sept. 4, 1779, died Aug. 15, 1860; his wife, Catharine Henshaw Hall; and their sons, Charles Ebenezer and George Joshua.

Dr. Fay draws the reins over an elegant pair of Kentucky bred horses purchased by him of Beacham & Son on Monday.

A gold ring bearing the name of Sir Wm. Pepperell has been unearthed at Lancaster. It bears the date of Sir William's death, which occurred at Kittery in 1759, and was probably a mourning ring. It was, no doubt, lost in the field a hundred years or more ago.

Quite a number of brick masons from this city are at work on the new hospital building at the county farm in Brentwood.

[Concluded from 1st page]

that snow comes we'll be prepared for it, and not a wheel will be stopped.

"Instructions were sent out to station agents and section bosses, and in some places gangs of extra laborers were hired to shovel snow. But the snowstorm didn't seem to be in a hurry. The day passed as bright and clear as one could ask for, the night following was equally pleasant, and the next day started in as clear as a morning in June, with no sign of snow to be discerned.

"The boys couldn't stand it any longer. First one sent a message to Swift inquiring 'Where is that snowstorm?' and then another took it up and sent in his question. In a few hours Swift received about five hundred messages from Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, and Minnesota, inquiring where that snowstorm was, and when it might be expected to arrive at the station of the inquirer. One of the boys wanted his storm sent by express, and another asked what snow looked like, any way. In this way they kept it up until poor Swift was 'knocked out of the box,' as the base ball people say, and after giving orders that the signal service reports should be fired from the road he went home and stayed there for thirty-six hours."—Chicago Herald.

Long Confinement From Sickness.

When the sick person is confined to bed for more than a few days, bed sores are a danger that must be carefully guarded against. They are most insidious in their approach and often neither patient or nurse is aware of anything being wrong until the mischief is done. In most cases they are easily prevented but they are always very difficult to cure. They appear most frequently on the lower part of the back, particularly if the sick person is in the habit of lying on the back and seldom changing the position. To prevent their formation the back must be bathed twice a day with a solution of tannic acid, alcohol, brandy, or any spirits, to toughen the skin, and when dry powdered with corn starch, buckwheat meal, pulverized common starch, or any absorbent powder. If this is done faithfully it will be effectual. When the sufferer is very thin the shoulder blades and elbows should be frequently examined, and if there is redness, or chafing treat it in the same way. If through neglect a bed sore has formed the part must be relieved from pressure by arranging two pillows on a firm foundation so that the sore will come in the space between them. It must be washed by squeezing tepid water over it from a sponge and dressed with any healing ointment spread on soft linen.—Elizabeth Robinson Scovil, in Good Housekeeping.

The Seligman-Wormser Wedding.

A young and enterprising Hebrew stock-broker saw a large, square envelope among the wedding presents with the legend "From father to Julia." Most people would have felt some delicacy in investigating the package, but not so with this young man. He appeared after the wedding at Delmonico's cafe and stated that Mr. Wormser had given his daughter $131,000 in Lake Shore firsts. "How do you know?" he was asked. "Because I opened the envelope and counted the bonds," was the reply.

"Were they not afraid to allow you to do so?"

"Oh, no; there were two detectives watching me, and, besides, the bonds were all in the bride's name."

As Lake Shore firsts are selling at 131 1-2, the envelope must have contained one hundred $1,000 bonds and the counting process must have been somewhat prolonged.—N. Y. Letter in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure. It contains an unfailing antidote and specific for miasmatic poisons, together with remedial agents which purify and re-invigorate the system.

By a collision of freight trains at Des Moines, Iowa, four men were killed and two others injured.

No medicine is more conscientiously prepared, more powerful, or more highly concentrated, than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its standard of excellence is the result of careful study. This preparation is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the best blood purifier.

By a fire at Peoria, Ill., the railroad station and a huge oil tank were destroyed; loss $250,000.

Scrofula diseases manifest themselves in the warm weather, Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, and removes every taint of scrofula.

A man giving his name as Allen was through Deerfield recently, engaging wool. He was carried about and got his board several days among the farmers, got money from several parties, and then left for parts unknown.

Working people are practically benefitted by the use of James Pyle's Pearline. It lessens the toil and drudgery of wash day, without damage to fabric or hands, and expedites all kinds of cleansing work surprisingly without the aid of soap, soda, or other preparations. Sold by all grocers, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

Among the largest contributors to the fund for the erection of a new building for the Conference Seminary at Tilton are Dr. Chase, $10,000, and Col. Beach, $5000, both of Massachusetts; and Chas. E. Tilton of Tilton, $5000.

The new combination of Smart Weed and Belladonna, as used in Carter's Backache Plasters has proved to be one of the best that could be made. Try one of these popular plasters in any case of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, soreness of the chest or lungs, &c., and you will be surprised and pleased by the prompt relief. In bad cases of chronic dyspepsia, a plaster over the pit of the stomach stops the pain at once. Ask for Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

The Commercial Bulletin of Montreal charges gross corruption among the government officials.

Carter's Little Liver Pills will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. To be had of all Druggists. See advertisement.

Mrs. Timothy White, of Meredith, has been granted a pension of $12 a month, and $2,319 back pay.

Rheumatism, sciatica, kidney pains, female weaknesses are promptly cured by the Hop Plaster.

Thomas Kelley, of South Tamworth, has received about $1,300 back pay, and has had his pension increased from $2 to $10 per month.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS.—The number of people annually afflicted with this most annoying malady seems to be greatly on the increase. * * * The editor of this journal is an annual victim, and, with a view to discover a specific cure, has tried numerous remedies. Of these, "Ely's Cream Balm" is by all odds the quickest and most satisfactory, two applications greatly allaying the usual symptoms in the nose and eyes. We would recommend its use by all subject to hay fever, and we gladly bear unsolicited testimony to its efficiency in our own case. * * * — Media, Pa., Record.

A MAP

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS REPRESENTATION

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a well ballasted and well ironed road-bed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unequaled comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Possessions. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

COR. DEER AND VAUGHAN STS NEAR B. & R. R. DEPOT.

Having on hand the largest and best selected stock of this side of Boston, I would respectfully call your attention to the same, believing that in most cases it is better for persons about purchasing to see what they are buying than to buy of irresponsible agents with nice looking Photographs of Monumental work. Having a thorough knowledge of the business gained in the principal cities of the Union and still giving my personal attention, all will be satisfied who will give me a call, as to quality of work and prices.

Particular attention given to fencing cemetery lots with marble or granite posts or curbs.

An Unfailing Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills cure dyspepsia, or indigestion, headache, pain in the shoulders, coughs, tightness of the chest, dizziness, sour stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, inflammation of the lungs. Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of dyspepsia. One or two Pills every night for a week are sufficient.

John Riley, aged ten years, and James Crean, aged thirteen, were drowned in the Connecticut river at Greenfield, Mass., while bathing.

My Head was Fairly Rotten, And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover St., Boston.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

W. H. Merrifield, of Brighton, Mass., made an attempt in Cambridge to commit suicide, by shooting himself in the left temple with a revolver.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

The lasters employed in the boot factory of D. T. Bridges & Co., of South Framingham, Mass., seventy-five in number, have left their benches, their alleged grievance being the violation on the part of the firm of the articles signed by both parties in the spring.

"I was all run down, and Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the medicine I needed," write hundreds of people. Take it now.

The strike of the Lake Shore switchmen at Chicago is claimed by the road officials to be broken; trains are moving freely under guard of the sheriffs' men and Pinkerton's detectives, and the United States court has granted an injunction restraining the strikers from interfering.

Now Again Another Hartford Man Wins.

Occasionally a Hartford man is a winner, and it is likely to be made in The Louisiana State Lottery. Only a short time ago a lad named Duffy drew $5,000, and the money was promptly forwarded to him. And now Benjamin F. Prouty, a bookkeeper in Gold street, is the winner of one-fifth of ticket No. 84,514, which drew one of the fourth capital prizes of $6,000. It was in the drawing of May 11th, and to-day he received his share, $1,200. A few years ago the same man drew $2,000, and was promptly paid. He may be considered a lucky man.—Hartford (Conn.) Times, May 20th.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. codtJan

DAN CLASH'S MULE.

She Puts Two Hostile Indians to Flight and Saves Her Master's Life.

"A band of redskins had come into the valley—mebbe a huntin' party, and mebbe a whole village," said Dan Clash, a Montana hunter, describing an adventure with Indians to a New York Sun reporter. "It was a warmin' that a white man about my size had better pack up and be off, and I tell you I didn't let no grass grow under my feet in gettin' ready. I had traveled in the timber durin' the day, to keep out of sight and to hide my trail, but now I left the shelter and took to the valley. I had four or five hours to daylight, and the way that mule and me got up and humped ourselves amazed the coyotes. I jist know that we were fully twenty miles away when daylight broke. The timber now was scattered along in groves, and afore daylight was too strong we took to shelter in a bit of timber containin' perhaps half an acre. This timber run to the bank of the river, and on the bank at that spot was a log fort two logs high.

"I wasn't jist what you might call an Al Injun fighter. As I had put twenty miles between me and the Injuns down the valley, I sorter figgered that there wasn't another redskin nigher than them and that I could take things purty easy for a spell. I unloaded the mule and turned her loose, and had jist eaten a bite of cold breakfast when the beast cum slyly through the bushes, ears laid back and eyes shinen', and gin me to understand that sunthin' was wrong agin. She didn't pint her head to'rds the valley, but straight fur the river, and I says to myself that perhaps she scented Injuns who were passin' up or down in canoes. I shouldered my rifle and crept to'rds the bank, but I hadn't gone thirty yards when crack! crack! went two rifles, and two bullets zipped past my head in a way to make me dizzy. With a scream such as a wild beast might give, the mule made a rush in the direction of the shots and I followed on.

"This was what had happened and what did happen. A couple of Injuns were, perhaps, comin' down the valley when they saw me take to the grove. They saw me, but I didn't see them. They entered the grove on the upper side, leavin' their ponies tied to a tree, and were workin' around to get a shot at me but the mule twigged the game. Both fired at the same instant, and as a consequence both rifles were empty when the mule charged 'em. To escape her—and I'm tellin' you that she'd have taken right hold like a dog—they scrambled up a cottonwood growin' on the very edge of the bank. One of 'em dropped his rifle on the ground, while the other took his up. The mule stood nigh the foot of the tree pawin' and squealin', and as soon as I saw how the land lay I lifted my rifle fur a shot. The feller who had taken his gun up was workin' to load her, but I stopped him. My bullet hit him in the shoulder, and it was catch-and go-that he didn't tumble. I was loadin' fur another shot, and was takin' notice that the unwounded one was climin' higher, when the mule jumped back with a snort and the rifle began to go over. It went slowly and the two reds yelled out in terror. When it struck the water there was an awful splash and a great commotion. The tree was too green to float, and the water was so deep that only a few branches showed above the surface. I reckon that both Indians were pinned down in some manner, fur neither one of 'em showed up after the splash. I kept a clus watch all about the place fur half an hour, but not a sign of them could I see.

"I got one of their rifles, which was a splendid weapon, two ponies, worth $100 apiece, a lot of steel traps, and a large amount of powder and lead. It was more'n a week after that when I rode into Fort Benton, but I never saw another Injun nor had the least worry. When the fellers at the fort wanted to pat me on the back and call me big Injun, I pointed to the mule and said:

"'Gents, there stands the old gal entitled to all the credit, and the thing I'm onhappy about is that she can't wear a silk dress.'"

A Tunnel Under a Mountain.

"We were doing prospect work and took out some pretty good stuff for the depth," said a prospector to a Leadville Democrat reporter. "The boys were willing to go ahead as long as the grub lasted, and one day I was workin' at the windlass while one of the others was pickin' down at the bottom. Of course when he'd get the bucket full he'd swing the rope to hoist. I had been there for 'bout a hour without a stir from below, and was about half nappin'. All at once I jumped up and yelled down the shaft. There wasn't no reply and I naturally got scared as a man sometimes does. I started for the other boys who were off cutin' timbers, and told 'em somethin' had happened. We went on a fox trot back to the shaft, and when they had almost shouted a lung out I agreed to go down. Well, sir, when I got down to the end of the rope I found the bottom out of the shaft and a chamber as dark as pitch open before me. I could here the water runnin' and called out to the man. He answered that he had struck the devil's gizzard at last, and said he had hurt himself. I shouted to the boys to hoist. It didn't take us long to piece out the rope, and, with a fresh candle, I started back. There was our partner standin' in a room 'bout as big as this one, and pale as a corpse. He was forty feet below the bottom of the shaft, and when he stepped on the bucket and went to the surface you bet your life he was happy."

They resolved to keep the matter quiet until they had secured the cave by a series of locations. Not long after they came into the city and procured an engineer, with whom they returned.

"We wasn't long in getting to the bottom that day, either," continued Mr. Youtsler, "for every mother's son of us

Men and Women

Who are constantly nervous are, in nineteen cases out of twenty, dyspeptic. The twentieth case will be found, upon investigation, to be that of a person who is troubled with symptoms of indigestion. Thinness, unnatural anxiety, peevishness, buzzing in the ears, a disposition to start on the sudden closing of a door, tremulousness of the hands—more particularly of the right—show that the nerves are weak and unsteady. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters strengthens and quiets the nerves. This effect is a speedy consequence of its invigorating and regulating action upon the organs of digestion and assimilation. It enriches the blood, conquers a chronic tendency to biliousness, relieves sick and nervous headaches, and regulates the bowels without griping them. A more trustworthy defense against fever and ague does not exist, and it subdues a tendency to rheumatism, kidney and bladder derangement. Taken before retiring, it induces sound repose.

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia are indescribable. The distress of the body is equalled or surpassed by the confusion and tortures of the mind, thus making its victims suffer double affliction. The relief which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

On Monday, June 21st Miss Betsy Quimby, who lives in the family of Samuel Davis, at Union, attained her one hundredth birthday. Miss Quimby was born at Enfield, June 21st, 1786, and lived on the farm where she was born until she was about fifty years of age, when she went to reside with a sister, the wife of W. Barnham, who then owned and occupied the farm where Miss Quimby now resides.

Democratic State Convention.

The democratic state convention met in Concord on Tuesday. Col. Frank G. Noyes of Nashua was appointed chairman, with one vice president from each county. A "home rule" resolution, and resolutions endorsing the Cleveland administration, were adopted unanimously. Col. Thomas Cogswell of Gilmanton was nominated for governor, receiving 346 out of 452. The convention met at 11:15 A. M. and dissolved at 2:45 P. M.

The President and the Governor.

A prominent New York democrat explains to a Washington correspondent the origin of the unfriendly relations between President Cleveland and Governor Hill, and says:

"It would surprise me to know that Hill has forgiven the attempt of Mr. Cleveland to defeat his nomination last fall. I was informed of two of those attempts by a prominent Brooklyn democrat who was present when they were made. Some time before the meeting of the democratic state convention, Secretary Manning was sent to New York to head off Hill's nomination. After a conference with Hubert O. Thompson, the twain proceeded to Brooklyn and called on 'Boss' McLaughlin, Andrew McLean, of the Brooklyn Eagle, and other democratic leaders, to whom appeals were made to join hands with the county democracy and send anti-Hill delegates to the convention. They reminded the Brooklyn men that they had worked in harmony with the county democracy in the past.

Manning and Thompson were asked why they desired Hill's defeat, and the reply was: 'The President does not want him nominated.'

'Well, whom does he want?'

'Edwin Cooper is his first choice, but he will favor any good man to defeat Hill.'

There was a pretty lively discussion, and at last McLean said, 'It is true that we worked with the county democracy in the past, but then it was right. We think it is wrong this time, and we shall join forces with Tammany and go in for Hill's nomination.'

Secretary Manning continued to urge that the President's inclination ought to be respected, until he was frankly informed that a good many Brooklyn democrats were in a mood to administer a rebuke to the president rather than to respect his wishes. He returned to Washington and reported his failure. A week later Secretary Whitney went to New York to exert his influence and powers of persuasion in the president's behalf and against Hill. He met with no better success than Manning. The Brooklyn delegates, except eight, I believe, voted with the Tammany men for Hill in the convention. Of course he knew all about those efforts to defeat him, and I happen to know that his resentment was not allayed by the support he received subsequently from the administration, or by Mr. Cleveland's journey to Buffalo to cast his vote for the straight democratic state ticket. As I said, I should be surprised to learn that cordial relations have been re-established between Governor Hill and the man who sought to compass his defeat and throw Hill into politics' bankruptcy only a few months ago."

The president sees a formidable rival in his successor at Albany. The governor will advocate a different policy from the president in regard to patronage, and the president will doubtless be obliged to get on to the governor's platform, let the mugwumps go, and come back to the Marcy doctrine of the victors enjoying the spoils.

The Big Sloops.

The Eastern yacht club races were sailed off Marblehead, Mass., June 29th. The Priscilla, Mayflower and Puritan were in the race for first-class sloops, the course being a triangle five miles on a side, and the distance twice around, thirty miles in all. There was all the wind that was wanted and the Puritan won by five minutes, the Priscilla being second and the Mayflower last. Over 5,000 people witnessed the race from Marblehead neck.

The Democrats and the Navy.

In the national house of representatives, last week, an attempt was made to amend the sundry civil service bill by adding an appropriation of $125,000 for the repair and preservation of the dry dock in the Brooklyn navy yard. General Viele said that unless the repairs are made the wall of the dry dock will fall down, and he described the condition of the dock as precarious in the extreme and a disgrace to the government.

Mr. Hiscock asked if General Viele understood that a navy is to be built, and whether any dry dock will be needed if there is to be no navy. His own information was to the effect that it had been decided to build no navy.

Mr. Herbert replied that this was a mistake. Mr. Randall resisted the amendment, admitted that he knew nothing about the necessity of the appropriation, and declared that it was the business of the naval committee to include the item in the naval appropriation bill which passed the house some time ago. This provoked a wrangle between him and the members of the naval committee as to which committee is responsible for the item. The amendment was rejected on a division by a vote of twenty-seven to seventy-five.

Mr. Randall having decided that it is not in the interest of the state of Pennsylvania that the United States should have a navy, of course the democratic party have nothing to do but reject every proposition that looks toward a restoration of naval ships or repairs in navy yards. This policy may suit the notions of the people in some parts of the country, but whether it is best for the nation at large to endorse this democratic idea is doubtful. Still it seems to be a received democratic rule that nothing should be done for the navy.

The steamer City of Nassau, ship Miroslav, barque Batavia, and schooners Allie Burnham, William Irelan and Muskee, all owned in or sailing from Philadelphia, have left port within the past six months, and not one of them since been heard from. Eighty-four persons and over $500,000 worth of property went down with these vessels.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, variable winds, stationary or lower temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 50 degrees above zero.

Clear.

THE KICKERS DID NOT KICK.

The talk which had for some days been quite prevalent among the dissatisfied wing of the democracy—which "wing," in this city, is considerably larger than all the rest of the party—about a big fight being made in the democratic state convention against an endorsement of the administration, petered out completely by Monday night. Not many delegates attended the convention from this city; none, it is said, from wards two and four. The democrats of one ward in Dover voted not to choose any delegates, and in other wards some of those who were chosen did not go; but there were 527 reported present at the convention, and the Cleveland administration was heartily endorsed, as the leaders had decided should be done. The predicted opposition did not materialize worth a cent.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

Two seamen belonging to the schooner Charles S. Davis, which arrived recently from Baltimore with a cargo of coal for Jones' brewery, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hackett on Tuesday on the complaint of Capt. Walter C. Scoy, for absenting themselves from duty on board the vessel without sufficient reason. The two men, who shipped at Philadelphia for Baltimore and this port, and from here to an eastern port and back to Philadelphia, desired to be discharged, alleging that they were not sufficiently fed on board the vessel. The captain testified that there was an abundance of food on board, and orders for it to be supplied liberally to the crew; these men had made no complaint until after their arrival in this port, when a job of tarring down the rigging was in prospect. The case was continued to Thursday, to enable the men to consider whether they would return to duty or suffer the penalty of their refusal.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, June 28th.

Louisa M. Roberts, charged with keeping a disorderly house on Madison street, was held in $400 to answer at the October term of the supreme court.

TUESDAY, June 29th.

Michael Lynch, Jr., and Walter Hoyt, charged with malicious mischief in throwing a lighted bunch of fire crackers into an open window of the residence of Patrick Holland, of the Creek, were discharged, the evidence not being conclusive against them.

Commodore David B. Harmony, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, paid an official visit to the navy yard, Tuesday forenoon, and received the regulation salute.

The exercises comprised singing, speaking, etc., and though the programme was quite long the young people did so well that the interest of the spectators was maintained throughout.

The second annual meeting of the National Railway & Street Rolling Stock Co. was held at the Phenix hotel in Concord on Monday, June 28th, and the following directors elected: Charles B. Rogers, Portland; James M. Stone, Kennebunk; M. V. B. Stimson and J. C. French, Concord; J. F. Nickerson, Boston; Thomas E. Call, Jr., Portsmouth; J. A. Stover, Kittery. The directors subsequently organized by the choice of Charles B. Rogers as president, J. M. Stone as treasurer, and M. V. B. Stimson as clerk. The directors made a cheering report of the outlook for the company.

Mr. Gilbert Hoyt of Newington on Monday brought in to Moses Bros. twenty-five crates of strawberries, thirty-two boxes to the crate. Large, nice looking, sweet, freshly-picked strawberries were selling at the fruit stores on Monday at three boxes for a quarter.

Gov. Robie of Maine has nominated Ira S. Libby of Limerick to be a justice of the peace, and Abner Oakes of South Berwick to be a trial justice.

George A. Silsbee, conductor on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, has been transferred to the main line between this city and Boston, and Herbert Barney has been promoted to be conductor on the Portsmouth & Dover train.

The schooner J. B. Knowles, Lamson master, arrived June 27th from Perth Amboy with coal to E. F. Sise & Co.

The Eastern railroad funding bill was rejected by the Massachusetts senate on Tuesday, and the stock dropped to 82 1-2 in consequence.

There was a brutal fight in Eliot last Sunday afternoon, two French-Canadians and several residents of the town being concerned in it. The Canadians got the worst of it, and were very roughly handled.

Alvah Trafton of York is building a large two-story double-tenement house in that town, not far from Mount Agamenticus.

Children's day was observed by the Methodist society of Greenland last Sunday, the church being beautifully dressed with flowers. The pastor preached to the children in the forenoon, and in the evening there was a Sunday school concert under direction of Mrs. N. P. Marston, the North Hampton choir also taking part. The attendance was very large, and all were much pleased.

The true inwardness of some of Cleveland's vetoes begins to appear. A few weeks ago Congress passed a bill granting the widow of Gen. Hancock a pension of $200 a month. The president was only too ready to sign it. On June 23d he sent back, with his veto, the bill granting a pension of $50 a month to the wife of Major General Hunter, one of the distinguished officers of the late war, with the same rank as Gen. Hancock and who served as bravely and faithfully. Gen. Hunter was the presiding officer of the court martial that tried Fitz John Porter, and this notable veto tallied well with the passage of the bill by the senate, on June 25th, relieving Porter from the charge of treason. Senator Blair well said that there "were circumstances in Mrs. Hunter's case that made a veto of her pension almost like a stab of death." Who says the results of the war are not being reversed?

Several Harvard students who had been dining out, and were drunk, raised a row in the Miller house on Court street, Boston, on the night of June 12th, and one of them had his head broken by a blow of a billiard cue; he has been dangerously ill, but is now recovering.

BOSTON, MASS., June 14, 1886.

MR. WALTER F. GREGG, Sec'y U. B. A., 110 Tremont St., Room 4.

Dear Sir:—I have this day received from the Universal Benefit Association of N. H., payment in full of my certificate No. 25. As one of the first members I feel it my duty to give my testimony as to its benefits, that other young men may reap likewise. I can recommend the Association to any one whom it may concern as an honorable Society doing a commendable work, and paying benefits promptly at a time when money is very acceptable.

Yours Respectfully,
(Signed) Alfred Spear, 897 Wash. St.

According to the narrator they found the chambers divided by partitions through which the wear of the water had made a continuous avenue. There was a draft through it and they were all convinced that there was some opening upon the other side of the mountain. Mr. Youtsler said they failed to find the gold-clothed stalactites and stalagmites, but an abundance of porphyry similar to that which characterizes the formation at Red Cliff. He volunteers to head a party to the locality and prove what he alleges at any time, and says he is satisfied that, had not the candles burned out, they would have found the end of the tunnel upon an open surface. As near as he could describe it, the tunnel is about ten miles from Leadville across Tennessee park.

Monkey Friendship.

Albert Messner, captain of a Bremen East-Indiaman, vouches for an incident which seems to prove that the friendships of animals, even of different species, can assume the form of uncontrollable passions. In Singapore the captain had bought a fine gibbon ape (Kylobates nigger), which proved rather slow in getting over its shyness, and would squeal at the mere touch of a human hand, but soon became the fast friend of a good-natured young Newfoundlander. They would roll and romp together on the deck, run races along the bulwarks, and often keep in the same corner, unless the roughness of the weather made it necessary to transfer the gibbon's couch to the cabin. Near Sumbawa the schooner encountered a violent gale, which played havoc with a portion of the rigging, and in the midst of the confusion, Omar, the Newfoundlander, was knocked overboard by a swinging spar. The ship was scudding along at a twenty-knot rate, and it would have been worse than useless to lower a boat, but the heart of every man on board was wrung when they heard through night and darkness the howling appeal of their poor dog, who was making desperate efforts to overtake the fast-receding chance of salvation. While all hands were tugging away at the reeling ropes several sailors noticed the gibbon dashing in wild excitement about the deck, and uttering yells that sounded like answers to the cries of his drowning friend. At last the captain himself heard those yells from the stern of the ship, and, hastening back, thought that he heard a splash in the water, but the darkness of the night prevented him from recognizing the dim object seeming to toss about in the wake of the schooner. As soon as the storm abated they searched and hailed all over the ship, but only the howling of an old tom-cat answered their calls. The gibbon had joined his friend.

The onions of Weathersfield, Conn., have long been famous, but Sunderland Township, in Western Massachusetts, devoted sixty-three acres to that odoriferous bulb last year, which yielded 52,000 bushels to the acre, worth $20,000, or about $318 to the acre.

A novel case was tried in Boone, Iowa. One man sold another a horse which he said was blind. On examination it turned out the horse was not blind, and the purchaser sues to recover on the warranty, as he didn't want a horse that can see.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. I used your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggists, from I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially is this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some local influence in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, are one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope or believed at this side of the grave. It is then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all placed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto unknown remedy adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all nasal colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

SOMETHING FOR MALARIA.

Quinine in Distiyer.

(From Southern Morning Herald)

In the Kharkoo region of Russia, quinine is considered of no account for the cure of chills and fever. The Kharkoo doctor catches a mess of live crabs, pours whiskey over them until they become hilariously drunk, and then puts them in a hot oven. After being well dried, they are pulverized, shells and all and administered in drachm doses. Where the crabs most abound in this country, in the waters of the Eastern shore of Maryland and the Eastern shore of Virginia, the inhabitants have long since abandoned the use of quinine and sensibly resort to prevention in the use of pure whisky. In the malarial districts of the great West, Southwest and South, this once famed remedy is now looked upon as worse than the disease. In territories where the virgin soil is broken, malarial poison is exhaling therefrom spreads pestilence far and near. Years ago in the homes of the first settlers, an admixture of whisky and quinine was the favorite dose for the chills, but after years of dosing in this crude manner, quinine has long since been given up and whisky only remained in the field. For family, and medicinal use Experience taught these settlers long ago, that the amount of quinine required to drive out the malarial poison in Kentucky, left in its place, if not a worse poison, a condition of the system made worse instead of better. The effects of the quinine were soon followed in long continued headaches, disordered stomachs, clouded mental faculties, disturbed sleep, and morbid appetite, and the only virtue discovered in

A New Study Essential.

The faculty of Harvard college will have to enlarge the curriculum. Heretofore it has been regarded that the prime object of a modern college training was proficiency in athletism. But the recent exhibition of college prowess at the Court street saloon in Boston by a half-dozen of Cambridge students showed an apparent lack of training in the manly art of self defence. Some rich Bostonian should give the college a hundred thousand dollars to establish a professorship to this end, and Mr. Sullivan should at once be invited as an instructor of the youth, whose education, if they are expected to cope in a melee with the frequenters of Boston drinking saloons, must of course in this respect be enlarged.

An Important Function Stimul...

The kidneys exercise most imp... functions, which are so wearisome ... they tax to the utmost the strength an... endurance of these busy little organs. Every breath, every pulsation of the heart, every movement of a limb, every thought, makes waste and necessitates the development of new atoms. The used up particles in the blood are sifted from it and dissolved in a watery fluid by the kidneys, which then discharge this fluid into the bladder. A train of disasters to the system would follow if these "ashes," so to speak, were not thoroughly strained off and discharged. This is the case when the kidneys become inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by restoring their activity, not only keeps open a most important outlet for impurities, but prevents diseases of the kidneys themselves, which when inert become liable to fall a prey to diabetes, Bright's disease, mephitis, albumenuria, and other maladies specially incident to them, which, although not specially rapid in their progression, are particularly obstinate and fatal.

The Democratic State Convention.

The gathering of the democrats at Concord on the 29th ult. was marked by the quiet resignation which any one familiar with the history of conventions of the democracy in New Hampshire for years past can appreciate. The promised criticism upon President Cleveland, as might have been supposed and as the Chronicle predicted, of course was not forthcoming. Everything was lovely, and the democrats of New Hampshire heartily—as far as resolutions extend—"endorse" the administration.

Mr. Frank L. ...er, an employee of the Waltham Watch Co., is at his home at the Foreside on a short vacation.

The Harbor View house, Charles H. Bartlett proprietor, will open Thursday, July 1st.

Mr. Daniel W. Riley, who has for several years past been a resident of Omaha, Neb., is at his old home here on a short visit. We understand he is soon to make his residence in San Francisco, Cal., in the future.

Rev. Eugene E. Colburn, pastor of the 2d Christian church, preached an excellent sermon last Sunday evening; subject, "The Principles of the Christian Church."

Whipple lodge of Good Templars held a strawberry festival in Trefethen's hall on Friday evening.

Mr. William Manent, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting his brother, Geo. Manent, Esq., of the Foreside.

Children's day was observed at the Christian church last Sunday, with appropriate services.

Most of the schools in town close this week.

The graduating exercises of the Free High school take place Friday afternoon at two o'clock, at the 2d Methodist church.

SUB ROSA.

Mr. George Moulton of Hampton Falls, who has been spending the past few winters in the south, lately returned from Newbern, S. C., married to a lovely widow with two children. Having spent most of his life a bachelor, his friends were so rejoiced at his reformation that they gave him a grand reception on June 22d. A band furnished music; the ladies presented Mrs. Moulton with a china toaset, and carried all kinds of cake, pastry, fruit, etc., to satisfy the inner man, while the gentlemen carried two boxes of lemons. One hundred and fifty persons were present. A number of weddings and receptions have occurred beneath this roof, as one after another of the girls left home, but none like this. The visitors at length departed with kind wishes for the future, all feeling that it is much more blessed to give than to receive.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using

The proposed grand opening of the ...aire democratic campaign proved a grand collapse. It was announced that three thousand enthusiastic democrats would congratulate Candidate Edwards at Bethel. The result was that just fifty-five persons, mostly democratic wire pullers, were all that even a brass band could incite to attend. It turned out to be a fizzle of the cheapest sort. Wm. H. Clifford attacked Mr. Bodwell as a representative of the money power. This was doing things up "brown."

Seventeen of the thirty United States senators who voted in favor of the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter were in the army or civil service of the confederacy.

Any gentleman or lady who wishes to see some rare and beautiful specimens of the feathered creation, should visit the aviary of Mr. George A. Jackson on Christian Shore, as I did last Sunday, and be shown his three Irish thrushes, the two young eagles from the Rocky mountains, and the small black bear from the White hills. The collection is well worth inspection.

FOREPAUGH'S GIANT SHOW.

The coming of this great show is looked forward to with uncommon interest by the excited public, and its visit here on Thursday, July 8th, will be the event of the year. The recent engagement in Boston was splendidly successful and the endorsements of the press most hearty. The Boston Daily Advertiser of June 15th, says:

"Adam Forepaugh's circus opened on the Coliseum lot yesterday afternoon and evening, after a brilliant and popularly attended street parade to a very large audience, in spite of the rainy, chilly and altogether uncircuslike weather. The show maintains the features, now popularized in the great circuses, of a central platform and two rings, and the spectator is under the necessity of frequently neglecting one 'attraction' for another so great is the number of features that must be introduced in rapid succession. The Forepaugh show may be set down as preeminent in one respect, — the performance of the elephants under Mr. Adam Forepaugh, Jr.'s, direction. This part of the exhibition is simply marvellous. Not only was the 'elephant drill,' performed under Mr. Forepaugh's command, a most remarkable proceeding, but the tricks of the two clown elephants, 'Pickaninny' and the boxing elephant 'Sullivan,' were quite unprecented. The horse-back riding was far above ordinary, and the performances of the contortionists, tumblers and trapezists were uniformly good, exhibiting startling novelty. The hippodrome races, with their mad cowboy charge, their four-horse chariotteering, their wheelbarrow races, etc., duplicated as nearly as possible the thing that has now become familiar; they were strangely thrilling. The menagerie is well supplied and interesting. A lioness with a family of five irresistable cublets attracted what was by right the lioness' share of the attention of the spectators.

The great success of the grand reduction sale of Men's, Boy's and Children's Clothing at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s proves that people really do appreciate good goods at low prices, notwithstanding the assertions of some dealers to the contrary.

The fault that has been found with Insect Powder is because of the inferior advertised articles in the market. "Preston's Insect Powder" has attained an enviable reputation, and its quality is guaranteed.

Children's elegant corduroy velvet suits marked down to $5.60 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, 32 Congress street.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

A Macon lawyer declares that he ver makes a speech at the bar with- reading a decision of the Supreme ourt. "I say, waiter!" shouted the impatient gentleman, "do you know that you remind one of the millennium, you're such a long time coming." "I beg your pardon, sir," replied the polite attendant, "but you also remind me of something—towit: the American Eagle—such a distance between tips, you know." The matter was straightway settled by arbitration.

Business is business. At an election in Dakota of a Justice of the Peace one of the candidates announced that if elected he would marry couples for one dollar apiece and wait for his pay till the first child was born. It is superfluous to state that he is now Justice of the Peace by a considerable majority. He seems to be a man who is willing to grow up with the country.—Springfield Union.

What's the row?" rapidly questioned the astonished member. "It's Lent," solemnly responded the dealer. "O," said the Congressman "I forgot," and he got up and went away.—Philadelphia News.

The lumber inspectors of Georgia are very careful to condemn logs when rotten knots indicate a decayed interior. This has resulted in a remarkable development of skill in the lumbermen, who plug the bad knotholes so that an inspector must be very shrewd to detect the fraud.

Mrs. Mary Brenenman is no doubt the oldest woman in the United States, if not the oldest person in the world. She was 117 years old on April 27, 1886, and upon the same day her oldest son, Peter Coulter, celebrated his eighty-first birthday. Mrs. B., her son, his wife and daughter, reside upon a small farm one mile north of Russiaville, a village twelve miles west of Kokomo, Ind.

Love letters at breach of promise suits are usually amusing, but none more so than one written by an English young man, which was of such a strain as the following: "Dearest, most charming, superlative Sally—I am longing really for the time to come when I shall have you in a home, a bower of lovers' bliss, where you can coo or bill all the day long. We soon shall have a splash, dash-up wedding of our own, and then we shall take the shine out of them."

An Unfailing Remedy.

Brandreth's Pills cure dyspepsia, or indigestion, headache, pain in the shoulders, coughs, tightness of the chest, dizziness, sour stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, inflammation of the lungs. Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of dyspepsia. One or two Pills every night for a week are sufficient.

Four democratic members of the Pan-Electric investigating committee have submitted to the house a report in which Attorney General Garland is liberally whitewashed.

THE WASTING DISEASES OF INFANTS and children are by no means confined to an insufficient supply of food. The trouble is that the food is injudiciously selected, and the limited digestive power of the child is unable to assimilate it. Mellin's food, when prepared according to the directions, forms the best substitute for mothers' milk that has ever been produced.

Eight persons were killed and twenty wounded by a railway accident in Ireland, June 23d.

My Head was Fairly Rotten, And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover St., Boston.

A society reporter wrote: "Dr. Jones and wife were were present, dressed in white tulle." This unprofessional attire of the doctor should be condemned generally by physicians.

The worst blood diseases are cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Its effects are felt immediately.

The London court disallows the appeal of Sir Charles Dilke and Mrs. Crawford from the decision in the divorce court refusing to allow Dilke to give evidence, on the Queen's proctor's intercession. It also refused to allow the applicant to take the case to the house of lords.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

Engineers say that, as a matter of theory, it is possible to make steamers to run forty knots an hour and cross the Atlantic in three days. But the vessel could only carry passengers.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

The New York Tribune, noticing the marriage of Miss Paulding, says she was descended from many distinguished people, "but principally from her grandfather." This is supposed to be the first case on record where any one descended principally from his or her grandfather.

He Got His Five Cents.

Sam Lung didn't know much English, but what little he did know he was prepared to use for all it was worth in defense of his rights. Last Sunday he started down-town to pay a visit to some of his brethren from the Celestial empire in Mott street. Sam likes comfort when it can be bought cheaply, so he decided to take a Third avenue elevated railway train. He travels that way when the fare is 5 cents. When it is 10 cents he takes a horse-car. He bought a ticket at the Twenty-third street and Third avenue station. He held that he gave the ticket-seller a dime and wanted 5 cents change. The ticket-seller was certain that he had received only a nickel from the Chinaman. They were arguing the point when a reporter came on the scene.

"What's ze matter? Come off," said the Chinaman. "Give me 5 cents."

"No, John," (everybody calls an unknown Chinaman John), said the ticket-seller in a mildly expostulatory tone, "you only gave me 5 cents."

"What's ze matter? Come off," repeated the Chinaman in wrathful tones and with the peculiar emphasis which a Bowery "tough" gives to that form of objurgation. "Give me 5 cents."

"I tell you John, you only gave me 5 cents."

"What's ze matter? Come off. Give me 5 cents."

Sam Lung evidently thought he was using some choice "Melican" blasphemy peculiarly appropriate to his grievance, and he stuck to it persistently for five minutes, while the ticket-seller in vain tried to convince him that no change was due him.

At length Sam Lung, discovering that the ticket-seller, in the language of the vulgar, "had the bulge on him," decided to change his tactics. A passenger came along and laid down a nickel. When the ticket-seller had given him a ticket, the wily Celestial grabbed the nickel like lightning and bolted for the door, shouting to the astonished agent as he ran:

"Me square now."

"Hi there! come back, you pig-tailed thief," yelled the ticket-seller.

"What's ze matter? Come off," retorted the Chinaman with a grin as he boarded the train.

"Its a cold day when the Chinaman gets left," remarked a man who had enjoyed the scene. And doubtless the Chinaman thought so too, though he didn't know how to express the idea in vernacular English.—New York Tribune.

Center Shot at a Great Bore.

One elderly hyperbolator has become a fearful nuisance to his friends with his War yarns. The other day this excellent gentleman sauntered into a newspaper office, took a chair beside a journalistic friend, pulled out a Century, and opened to the map of a celebrated engagement. With a sigh the editor, who, by the way, stutters most disastrously, laid down his pen and prepared to be bored for an hour. Said the veteran:

"O, this was a famous battle, and how well I remember the day and recall the scene. How plainly this map recalls to mind the green fields and the dusty roads! Here, where my finger points, is where the enemy tried to turn our left flank. Here is where we charged, driving them back in disorder. At this point our gallant Major fell, penetrated by a score of minie bullets. And here, right beside this clump of trees, is where I had my leg broken by a bullet."

"G-G-General," said the editor, his face as impassive as a wall, "w-w-won't you show the b-b-boys, please, where your b-b-brains were blown out?"—Boston Record.

Color of the Sea.

The changes in the color of the sea have attracted the attention of seafaring men from the earliest times, says a writer in Science for All. They struck with wonder the Phœnicians when first they ventured out of the Mediterranean into the Atlantic; they excited the astonishment of Columbus and terrified his companions while in search of the far-famed India, and they are no less a surprise to the modern navigator. To whom the march of discovery has left few unexplored regions in store. Numerous theories were offered in explanation of these changes, some ascribing them to the varying color of the sea bottom, some to differences in depth, others to the presence of certain coloring substances, others again to the chemical composition of the water. Most of these suggestions contained an element of truth, although no one of them, taken by itself, sufficed to account for alteration in color which has often been observed to occur in the course of a few hours' sail, and within a distance measuring less than a ship's length. Of late years, as the reader is aware, numerous scientific expeditions have been fitted out and dispatched by the governments of England, Norway and America for the express purpose of exploring the secrets of the deep. Among the problems which have now for the first time received a satisfactory solution, new light has also been thrown upon the conditions, which affect the color of the sea water in every part of the ocean, thus completing the information for which we were indebted to the unaided exertions of earlier travelers. One of the most widely distributed contrasts of color is that which is known to exist between the intensely blue seas situated between the tropics and the green seas of higher latitudes. It appears, as the result of recent observations and more especially of a series of experiments made on board the German frigate Gazelle, that there is an intimate relation between the colors of sea-water and the proportion of salt held in solution by the latter. On comparing the specific gravity of green water with that of blue

The usual monthly test of the electric fire alarm was made on Thursday forenoon last, and the apparatus, including the two new boxes, numbers nine and fifty-eight, found to be in a satisfactory condition.

The morning freight train of coal cars over the Conway division of the Boston & Maine railroad, July 1st, consisted of thirty-three short cars and eleven long ones, with an aggregate of 275 tons of coal, and six long cars filled high with sleepers. The train was drawn by two heavy locomotives.

Atwood Foster, a young man who had for some time been employed by Landlord Grant of the Limerick house at Limerick, Me., suddenly departed a few days ago, taking with him Mr. S. A. Grant's band suit, but leaving in exchange an old overcoat—which doesn't fit Mr. Grant at all. A short time before Foster's begira he was paid off by the proprietor of the hotel, who also advanced him a few dollers to enable him to pay a bill he owed at a store; unfortunately, in the hurry of departing Mr. Foster forgot to pay the store bill.

"Wide Awake" for July has a story by Alice Wellington Rollins, entitled "How Milly was faithful." This number also contains "The first blow for American liberty"—the oft-told story of the surprise party at Fort William and Mary under Capt. Pickering. It was written by Emma W. Demeritt, perhaps a descendant of Captain John DeMeritt, who carted part of the captured powder concealed beneath a load of straw in an ox-team from Durham to the headquarters of the army of the revolution at Cambridge, whence it was sent to our troops at Bunker Hill and did there such excellent service against the regulars.

THE SAFEST FOOD

IN SUMMER

FOR YOUNG OR DELICATE CHILDREN.

A Sure Preventive of

Cholera Infantum

It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

Its basis is SUGAR OF MILK, the most important element of mother's milk. It contains no unchanged starch and no Cane Sugar, and therefore does not cause sour stomach, irritation, or irregular bowels.

For Infants deprived of mother's milk, or when weaning, it is unequalled.

For Invalids, either in chronic or acute diseases, it restores digestion, and builds up the strength. It is

The Most Nourishing,
The Most Palatable,
The Most Economical,
Of All Prepared Foods.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

An Important Function Stimulated.

The kidneys exercise most important functions, which are so wearisome that they tax to the utmost the strength and endurance of these busy little organs. Every breath, every pulsation of the heart, every movement of a limb, every thought, makes waste and necessitates the development of new atoms. The used up particles in the blood are sifted from it and dissolved in a watery fluid by the kidneys, which then discharge this fluid into the bladder. A train of disasters to the system would follow if these "ashes," so to speak, were not thoroughly strained off and discharged. This is the case when the kidneys become inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by restoring their activity, not only keeps open a most important outlet for impurities, but prevents diseases of the kidneys themselves, which when inert become liable to fall a prey to diabetes, Bright's disease, mephitis, albumenuria, and other maladies specially incident to them, which, although not specially rapid in their progression, are particularly obstinate and fatal.

Oscar Neebe, one of the eight anarchists under indictment at Chicago for complicity in the Haymarket riots, declares that after a persistent investigation he found that the fellow who threw the fatel bomb was Rheinhold Krueger. Krueger was fatally shot the next day, while trying to kill Officer Madden; and Neebe asserts that, fearing capture and the gallows, he made up his mind to "die with his boots on." Krueger was a German, twenty-two years old, and a tanner. He was one of the more radical of the anarchists, and it is said the police have evidence tending to corroborate Neebe's statement.

is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthing qualities. A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will last a month, while others will average to last not over a week. Hence, for economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Democratic Resolutions.

The democracy of New Hampshire in their resolutions make mention of their triumph in the late presidential campaign, whereby they elected a president, etc., as if the democracy in this state really added in the result. The resolution is understood to be complimentary to those democrats of the Granite state who contributed to aid in carrying the state of New York. The "endorsement" of President Cleveland consists of a pledge to support his efforts to reform the deep-rooted abuses by republicans being kept in office, and means that more of the New Hampshire democrats are willing to be sacrificed in the matter of taking office under the administration, rather than to see them continue to be filled by republicans. There is a lack of unreserved, whole hearted endorsement of the administration in the platform, which is a sort of milksop effusion, as if it was designed to meet the conventional usage, but left the party to indulge freely in their individual opinions. The kickers were satisfied with this, and consequently a harmonious and quiet convention was held. The convention recognized the evils of intemperance, and was convinced that a judicious license law, properly enforced, would be best to promote the cause of temperance.

A Big Steal.

Philadelphia is excited over the wholesale defalcation by J. A. L. Wilson, treasurer of the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal company, effected by an over issue of $615,260 of bonds made under the thirty-year mortgage loan of the company of July, 1858, for $3,800,000. The loan matured July 1, last., and measures were taken for its extension. Wilson is sixty-five years old, and has been connected with the company for over thirty years. The over issue is said to have been made under the administration of Henry V. Lesley, Wilson's predecessor as treasurer. Lesley and Wilson are reported to have left the city together.

The Congregationalists are to make a special effort next Sunday, (July 4th,) to free the American Missionary Association of a $30,000 debt which has been carried for the past two years. This is a national society, and is doing a great educational work among the colored people in the south. There seems to be a special fitness in what the Congregationalists propose to do, and we trust the effort will be successful.

The alarm of fire rung in from box nineteen about quarter past two o'clock P. M. on the 1st inst. was due to a slight fire on the shed roof of the kitchen of house No. 4 Atkinson street, occupied by Wm. F. Shields and owned by George B. French. The fire department responded promptly, but their services were not needed; the damage amounted to nothing worth estimating. A firecracker, aided by a small boy, caused the mischief.

Mrs. William Lambert, formerly of this city, is paying a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Hebb, wife of Col. C. D. Hebb, commandant of the marines at the navy yard.

Mr. Sol. Gray, a native of this city but for some years past a resident of Kingston, left for home this week after a short visit to his brother, Mr. Walter S. Gray of Hanover street.

Worldlings in this section very generally discarded the revised version when speaking of the temperature on the 1st inst.

There was a large audience in Franklin theatre on Wednesday evening, 30th ult., to witness the performance by the Sunday school children of St. John's parish, and others. The whole entertainment was highly enjoyable, especially pleasing being the "Alphabet," the "three little maids from school," and the fan drill.

The North Berwick band has been hired by the city for the fourth of July, and concerts will be given afternoon and evening on the Parade. A band stand will be built for their accommodation. The musicians will arrive here at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

The new hose wagon for Moses H. Goodrich steam fire engine arrived from Portland on the 1st inst., and is now part of the department's apparatus. It cost $400. The day of hose carriages has gone by, they being superceded by wagons.

Mr. Charles S. Drowne has entered his sloop yacht Tryphosa in a race to take place at Anisquam, Cape Ann, on Saturday, July 17th, for a miniature yacht modelled in silver and valued at $300. Wm. W. Dixon of Kittery is reported as being getting his sloop yacht Dolphin ready for the same event; and after the Cape Ann race, unless in it one of the two boats named should fairly distance the other, a match race between them for $25 or $50 a side, to be sailed off this harbor, five or ten miles to windward and return, is talked of as likely to come off.

Unless some unforeseen obstacle develops itself, the electric lights will be shown in this city to-morrow night.

According to the dispatches everything pertaining to the democratic convention at Concord was hunky-dory for "Cleveland and Reform," just as it was "put up" beforehand. The pap-dispensers and pap-suckers have the machine in very good control, and have done just as we advised them to do. They haven't always done that heretofore.—Dover Democrat.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, June 29th.

Glad we were to see Colonel Kent in this vicinity on Friday last, and we trust a thorough work will be done. When a cider vender will charge a poor fellow twenty cents for a quart of poor cider, and urge him to have another, it is shameful. These dens are doing more real damage to our young men than the hotel traffic, and selling liquor in private dwellings ought not to be tolerated in any town.

On the Exeter road is the neatest and most comfortable watering place for miles around, built by Norman Marston, Esq.; on the trough are the words, "Pro Bono Publico." Mr. Marston is one of the most energetic young men of the place. He is a piano tuner, and cannot be excelled in musical branches; he goes to Boston daily. A new brass band has lately been formed under his leadership; for the past few weeks their rehearsals have been frequent, and those living within the sound have enjoyed the soft strains blending with the summer air.

Loring Jones, formerly of this town, graduated with high honors at the Exeter high school last Friday evening. He was the valedictorian of the class, and was not absent nor tardy during the five years' attendance at the grammar and high schools. He deserves more than a passing notice. When quite a little boy he seemed a perfect gentleman, and we trust now he will aim high and meet with great success.

Be Warned

is time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, July 1st, Mayor Eldredge in the chair:

Present the full board, except Alderman Russell.

Records of the last meeting were read and approved.

Petition of W. J. Fraser for light corner of Commercial alley and Penhallow street, was referred.

C. H. Kenniston's resignation as supernumerary police officer was accepted.

Abatement of a nuisance at the head of Puddle dock, near Washington street, was referred to the committee on streets, with power.

The bid of the New Hampshire National bank for the city's business, (4 1-2 per cent for loans, and 2 3-4 per cent on deposits,) was accepted.

The locating of a fire alarm box on Miller avenue was referred to the committee on fire department, with power.

Department bills amounting to $5670 were ordered to be paid.

Adjourned for two weeks.

DIVIDENDS.

The Rockingham National bank paid a dividend of five per cent July 1st.

The dividend on shares in the Portsmouth & Dover railroad was paid at the office of the Portsmouth Trust & Guarantee Co. on the 1st inst.

The usual dividend on the shares of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad was sent by checks from the office of the treasurer of the Concord railroad on the 1st inst.

The New Hampshire Fire Ins. Co. has declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

Two seamen who shipped in Boston to come to this port by rail and go to sea on board the schooner Henry Sutton, of New Haven, Capt. Tullock, bound for a coal port north of Cape Henry, were brought by United States Deputy Marshal Kent before Commissioner Hackett on Thursday, the 1st inst., on a charge of refusing to go on board the vessel, etc. The men pleaded guilty, and were held to appear at the October term of the United States circuit court. Their only excuse was that the vessel, a three-masted schooner of a little over five hundred tons, was too heavy for them. The commissioner admonished the men that they were incurring a severe penalty for refusing duty, and doubtless they will be glad to reconsider their unfortunate action.

NO DEMOCRATIC DISSATISFACTION.

The indorsement of the administration by the New Hampshire democrats fulfills our anticipation that they would not grumble at the president—out loud.—Boston Herald.

The is no ground for the Herald's covert insinuation that the New Hampshire democrats are inclined to grumble at the president in any manner whatsoever. The democratic party in New Hampshire, as everywhere else, is abundantly satisfied with the president's course. The dissatisfaction which has been talked about is found in the wish of republican newspaper editors and politicians, which is the father of their thought, and in the mind of the solitary post-office kicker at Dover who never was a democrat at heart, and is powerless to injure the party except by his support. The Herald may rest assured that the Cleveland administration is not dependent upon the mugwumps for support. It is a democratic institution pure and simple, and is supported heartily by democrats everywhere.—Concord People & Patriot.

The People & Patriot is of course good democratic authority, and when it announces that the democrats of New Hampshire are "abundantly satisfied" with the Cleveland administration, and that "the only dissatisfaction to be found in the wish of republican editors and politicians," it makes us wonder to what party belong such men as Samuel W. Emery, George B. French, George E. Hodgdon, Daniel Marcy, David Urch and others, who though elected delegates to the democratic state convention, would not attend because it was known that the fiat had gone forth to "endorse" Cleveland. And if the only New Hampshire democrat who is "inclined to grumble at the president in any manner whatsoever" is the editor of the Dover Democrat, where are we to place, politically, such men as John R. Reding, Gideon H. Rundlett, Moses H. Goodrich, Samuel Spinney, Thomas Watkins, George W. Lord, Asa Ham, N. K. Raynes, Simon H. Mills, Benjamin Russell, Alonzo K. W. Green, Augustus A. Walden, Fred S. Wendell, Richard Hoyt, and pretty much all the rest of the so-called democrats of Portsmouth, excepting those who hold offices under the administration?

STEAMER MYSTIC.

Owing to lack of funds the navy yard ferry steamer Emerald was taken off the route on the 1st inst., and it is reported will be repaired while lying up. Until the Emerald starts up again the steamer Mystic will make trips between this city and the navy yard as follows: Leaving this city at 7:30, 8:55, 9:30 and 11:00 A. M., and 3:30 P. M.; leaving the navy yard at 9:00, 10:00 and 11:45 A. M., and 2:00, 4:00 and 5:00 P. M.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, July 1st.

Mary Reagan, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90.

George W. Day, a mischievous and unruly boy, was sent to the State Industrial school for three years.

MASONIC.

It having been stated that Sullivan Lodge of Epping, organized in 1807, is the second oldest Masonic lodge in New Hampshire, and will be the next to celebrate its centennial, A. W. Baker of Lebanon writes to the Boston Journal that "Franklin Lodge, No. 6, of Lebanon, was chartered April 29, 1796, and the charter bears the signatures of Hall Jackson, grand master; Nathaniel Adams, deputy grand master; Joseph Bass, senior grand warden; Moses Woodward, junior grand warden; Edward St. Loe Livermore, grand secretary; and Nathaniel Folsom, grand treasurer. Dr. Hall Jackson was deputy grand master under President John Sullivan, grand master. Franklin Lodge purposes celebrating its centennial in 1896, it being one of the prosperous lodges within the jurisdiction, and eleven years the senior of Sullivan at Epping. Among the members of Franklin Lodge who take great interest in its concerns at the present time are Egbert B. Kendrick and Brackett L. Greenough, made members in 1823, and John Burnham, made in 1826, the latter an interested and constant attendant of its meetings. St. John's Lodge is but sixty years older than its next eldest Masonic brother lodge in New Hampshire."

GOOD TEMPLARS' ANNIVERSARY.

Rockingham Lodge of Good Templars, with their friends, celebrated their tenth anniversary on Wednesday evening of this week at the hall on Pleasant street, (the anniversary occurring on the previous Sunday,) by a strawberry and ice-cream festival. The hall presented an attractive appearance, being draped with flags, and the tables bore handsome bouquets. Deputy C. T. Wiggin made a brief address, giving a sketch of the order and its principles, after which the company sat at the tables and disposed of the refreshments. A pleasing feature of the entertainment was the presentation of an elegant Grand Lodge regalia to Miss Ida M. Dearing, the efficient secretary of the lodge, as a testimonial of appreciation of her faithful services in this capacity. She has been a member for nearly eight years, and during that time has held this office fourteen quarters. Mrs. Laskey also received a present of a beautiful Grand Lodge regalia, from her husband, B. Stowe Laskey, Chief Templar Chas. H. Besselievre making the presentation. Music on the harmonica was furnished by Master Frank Horne, to good acceptance. The making of the ice cream was in charge of Mrs. Emma A. Horne, and it was carefully prepared. On the whole it proved a satisfactory and pleasing entertainment; singing was indulged in until a late hour, when the company separated.

This lodge was organized June 27th, 1876, with ten charter members, only one of whom, Mrs. Amanda Holbrook, now retains her membership. The roll shows the names of 191 persons who have been members during the ten years of its existence, the present membership being forty-five. In the year 1880 a separation occurred, and as the result, Strawberry Bank Lodge was organized.

In view of the failure of Congress to make provision for continuing work at the different navy yards and stations after Wednesday, June 30th, the secretary of the navy on that day telegraphed to the officers in charge that until the regular appropriations shall have been made employes will be allowed to continue on duty, provided they will stipulate that they work voluntarily, and without contract or agreement that they shall be paid therefor. As a Kittery democrat contemplated the foregoing order on Thursday he turned to his political friend and remarked: "See here—tell me how much better off we are than if Jim Blaine had been elected president? I'm blanked if I can see it, anyhow."

The annual meeting of the committee on the Return of the Sons and Daughters will be held at the counting rooms of the president, Col. William H. Sise, Monday, July 5th, at 10:30 A. M.

Mr. Charles Fernald, who has been for a number of years at the Western Union telegraph office as messenger boy and operator, has been appointed night operator at Conway Junction for the Boston & Maine railroad.

The mail service between York and this city was on the 1st inst. increased to two trips each way daily, to continue until October. Putnam Bros. are the contractors for the work.

Forepaugh's circus goes to Dover from this city on the 9th, and from Dover to Saco on the 10th inst.

The Portsmouth Shoe Factory on Wednesday evening, June 30th, shut down until after the 4th, to take account of stock.

Charles W. Ham, assistant janitor of the United States building, has resigned the position, and begins work as night clerk at the Wentworth. Mr. Ham has served under Manager Hill in former years, and we have every reason to believe will give great satisfaction in his new role.

Messrs. W. J. Sampson & Co. have taken the contract to paint all of Messrs. Main & Winchester's buildings on Congress street from the North church to National block.

The great success of the grand reduction sale of Men's, Boy's and Children's Clothing at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s proves that people really do appreciate good goods at low prices, notwithstanding the assertions of some dealers to the contrary.

The fault that has been found with Insect Powder is because of the inferior advertised articles in the market. "Preston's Insect Powder" has attained an enviable reputation, and its quality is guaranteed.

Children's elegant corduroy velvet suits marked down to $5.50 at H. C. Hewitt & Co.'s, 32 Congress street.

C. E. Myers & Co., at the old stand, corner of Market and Bow streets, are offering a full line of men's and boys' nice merino underwear at thirty-five cents, well worth fifty. Ready made clothing as cheap as goods of equal quality can be sold by any one in the city.

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is leaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

SKIN TORTURES — AND — BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Scurfs, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

SCALP, FACE, EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggist, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignorant, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands in which it becomes a speedy and true remedy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the sense of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

water. It was found that the latter is always heavier than the former, and, therefore, contains more salt, the two differently colored waters being supposed to have the same temperature. In other words, the greater or lesser intensity of the blue color of sea water may be taken as a direct index of its saltness and of its specific gravity, so that when we observe the color of the water successively change from a deep blue to a bluish green and a dark green we may conclude that the water has become at the same time less salt and less heavy. This result agrees with the experience of navigators in every part of the ocean, for as the vessel proceeds from the dense and salt waters of the tropical regions toward the lighter and fresher waters of higher latitudes and of the polar regions the color of the sea is seen to change from an intense blue to a greenish blue and green tint. There are, however, numerous exceptions. Green seas are met with between the tropics and blue seas are encountered in the temperate region, and even within the Arctic circle, but these exceptions, far from contradicting, only tend to confirm the above rule.

Amateur Photographing.

I am afraid this amateur photographing crowd will have to be stopped. I met a man the other day, and the conversation by his dexterous management turned to the subject.

"Do you know———?" he asked, naming one of the amateur photographers.

"I do, very well."

"I wish you'd go up and see him."

"What for?"

"Well, he was over at Saucelito the other day, and I saw him taking a picture of a very pretty bit of view. I want to get it."

"Yes?"

"Yes," he went on, as a fellow always does, and gave himself away; "I was over there with a friend, and———," he hesitated.

"Was she very pretty?"

"I know I'd make a mess of it. I say, don't put it in the paper. The fact is that I took Miss ———. You know we are to be married very soon? We were walking very happily. I won't deny it, we were rather tenderly inclined. ——these photographers. You can't go anywhere but you find a lens on you. Well, we were walking along, when I happened to turn, and there was a cursed photographer, and he'd just taken a picture. I want you to go up and see him and find out if—well—if—there's anything in that plate except the landscape."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Tramp as a Financier.

There is a tramp who haunts the east end of Dallas who has got it down fine. He has reduced it to a perfect system. He has his peculiar customers, so to speak. He knocked at the door of a house. The owner came out. As soon as he saw the tramp he said:

"Now, look here; last week I gave you a nickel to stay away ten days, and here you are back again. I've got four days yet before my assessment is due."

The tramp put his hand to his forehead and was lost in thought for several minutes. Then he said:

"You are right, colonel. Your assessment does not come due until next Wednesday. When I get back to my counting-room I'll pay off my head book-keeper and discharge him. He has neglected to give you the proper credit on the ledger."—Texas Siftings.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1876.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1866, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business. In your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

KIDNEY PAINS

And that weary, lifeless all-gone sensation ever present with those of inflamed kidneys, weak back and loins, aching hips and sides, overworked or worn out by disease, debility or dissipation, are relieved in one minute and specifically cured by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, a new, original, elegant and infallible antidote to pain and inflammation. At all druggists, 25c.; five for $1.00; or of Potter Drug Co., Boston.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure. It contains an unfailing antidote and specific for miasmatic poisons, together with remedial agents which purify and re-invigorate the system.

James H. Willoughby, a graduate of Dartmouth, '73, teaching at Middleboro, Mass., has been elected principal of the high school at Dover, vice Herbert W. Kittredge, resigned to accept the position of principal of the Fitchburg, Mass., high school.

No medicine is more conscientiously prepared, more powerful, or more highly concentrated, than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The standard of excellence is the result of careful study. This preparation is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the best blood purifier.

The traffic on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad, at Chicago, has been resumed in earnest. Trains were moved on the 30th ult. as rapidly as occasion demanded, under strong police protection. No interference was attempted by the strikers or their sympathizers, there being too many Winchester rifles in sight among the police.

Working people are practically benefitted by the use of James Pyle's Pearline. It lessens the toil and drudgery of wash day, without damage to fabric or hands, and expedites all kinds of cleansing work surprisingly, without the aid of soap, soda, or other preparations. Sold by all grocers, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

Hans Holdorf, the second to be tried of the boycotters of Theiss, the New York concert hall proprietor, was found guilty in the court of oyer and terminer. Sentence was deferred. The trials of the other incicted boycotters of Mr. Theiss will follow speedily.

The new combination of Smart Weed and Belladonna, as used in Carter's Backache Plasters has proved to be one of the best that could be made. Try one of these popular plasters in any case of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, neuralgia, soreness of the chest or lungs, &c., and you will be surprised and pleased by the prompt relief. In bad cases of chronic dyspepsia, a plaster over the pit of the stomach stops the pain at once. Ask for Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

Carter's Little Liver Pills will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. To be had of all Druggists. See advertisement.

James Cooper and Joseph Van Winkell quarrelled a year ago at Gatesville, Texas, over some cattle. They met June 28th, and agreed to fight a duel to the death. They measured the ground, and each stood with watch in hand awaiting the designated moment. At the first shot Van Winkell was wounded in the bowels, and Cooper was unhurt; at the second shot Cooper was killed by a bullet in the head. Van Winkell died June 29th.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS.—The number of people annually afflicted with this most annoying malady seems to be greatly on the increase. * * * The editor of this journal is an annual victim, and, with a view to discover a specific cure, has tried numerous remedies. Of these, "Ely's Cream Balm" is by all odds the quickest and most satisfactory, two applications greatly allaying the usual symptoms in the nose and eyes. We would recommend its use by all subject to hay fever, and we gladly bear unsolicited testimony to its efficiency in our own case. * * * — Media, Pa., Record.

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which carries and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a well, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous rail, substantially built bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill and ingenuity can make it, the safety appliances of modern times, platforms and air-brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are delicately eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Dominions, via the route. Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, fishing and hunting grounds of Iowa and Minnesota, and the grazing and agricultural lands of interior Dakota.

THE MANITOBA LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Chicago and Indianapolis and Lake City, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover St., Boston.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS.—The number of people annually afflicted with this most annoying malady seems to be greatly on the increase. * * * The editor of this journal is an annual victim, and, with a view to discover a specific cure, has tried numerous remedies. Of these, "Ely's Cream Balm" is by all odds the quickest and most satisfactory, two applications greatly allaying the usual symptoms in the nose and eyes. We would recommend its use by all subject to hay fever, and we gladly bear unsolicited testimony to its efficiency in our own case. * * * — Media, Pa., Record.

CUMMINS JACKSON.

Anecdotes About an Uncle of the Famous Stonewall.

Cummins Jackson, besides being the owner of an extensive farm, was a large slaveholder, says a writer in the Louisville Courier-Journal; and also, Jackson-like, had a mill situated on the West Fork river, only a few steps in front of his house, giving his place the name of Jackson's Mill, a name it still bears.

He was a remarkable man, of powerful frame and lofty stature, of an unscrupulous character, and a will that bowed everything before it. He was liberal to the poor and defiant to the rich. Though of a limited education, he had a giant intellect, combined with all the native ruggedness of his race. His influence was great and he was independent of law or man; in fact, he treated the law as an individual, obeying its behest only when it suited him. The following circumstances will well illustrate his unlawful, independent nature:

On one occasion he was summoned to the court house, but he refused to go. A posse of men headed by the sheriff was sent after him. They found him on his farm getting out sawlogs. They made known their commission. He deliberately walked out into the open field, sat down on a sawlog, with a handspike across his lap, and said: "Gentlemen, I am not going. Here I am; take me if you can." They well knew his nature. Not one of them would lay hands on him. They entered into a useless parley with him, and finally rode away without him.

History states that in 1849 he went to California and died the autumn of that year, but it does not state all—it does not give the true reason of his going. I have said he had an open disregard for the law; it was in defiance of law that he went. Here is the circumstance: In the bed of the West Fork river, on his farm, he found a peculiar kind of ore, out of which he was able to make some passable counterfeit money. It is well known to this day that it came from there, though the precise place has never been found. Some of his counterfeit is still in existence in his country, hoarded up as mementos of its maker. The writer remembers of seeing a piece of it. He was, therefore, arrested for counterfeiting money and presented before the United States court at Clarksburg, in Harrison county, the birthplace of Stonewall. He was released by giving bail.

On the day of his trial he presented himself before the court, thus releasing his bondsmen. He sat close to the bar, and paid marked attention to the progress of his case. When the trial ended and he heard the decision against himself, he rose up to his full stature, and, gazing upon the crowded court room with flashing eyes, cried out in a loud voice: "Make way, gentlemen!" His case had gained notoriety, and the room was packed from bar to door; but at his towering stature, flashing eyes and commanding voice, the crowd unconsciously parted a road for him. While bewildered amazement was marked on every countenance, he walked down the full length of the room, threw himself on the back of a fleet nag he had in readiness at the door, slapped his long spurs into its sides, and, at a terrific speed, outstripping all his pursuers, dashed headlong to his home in Lewis county, twenty miles away.

He immediately organized a company of gold hunters and started for California. This company was made up principally of his relatives, one of whom was his nephew, Ned J. Jackson. Soon after arriving at their destination, Cummins Jackson was attacked with a severe case of fever, which proved fatal some forty days afterward in the month of December, 1849. This last event was told to the writer no more than a year ago by Ned J. Jackson, who nursed his uncle during his last illness, and buried him in the wilds of California. Thus died Cummins Jackson, whose wonderful influence was felt by other men, but which had no effect in forming the moral, courageous character of his more wonderful nephew, Stonewall.

A Close Call.

The case of Horizon Smith was then called up. A policeman had arrested him with a chicken in a bag, and although he had been discharged when taken to the station, it was considered an occurrence that ought to be investigated. The Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture reported that he had made a faithful investigation of this case. While it was a fact that Brother Smith had a chicken in a bag and was going home at a late hour, his assertion that the fowl came up to him on the street, and was taken home to preserve its life, could not be disproved. Nobody has reported the loss of a chicken to the police, and the committee must therefore report that Brother Smith was an innocent man. "De report of the committee am accepted," remarked the president, "but I want Brodder Smith to understan' that he will neber hav a closer call. De next time he happens to be walkin' 'long de street wid a bag on his arm, an' a fat chicken happens to come up an' asks to be adopted, an' it happens dat de owner doan show up, de name of Horizon Smith will be scratched off our books so quick dat he will think hisself hit by lightning."—Detroit Free Press.

How Secretary Lamar Rides.

When Secretary Lamar was in the Senate he used to join the Senatorial riding parties every time they could be induced to take him along. He enjoyed it thoroughly, but he did not like to go fast, and his fits of absent-mindedness did not add charm enough to his conversation to make it worth while to stay back and enjoy it. As a consequence he has been going by himself late-

A west bound passenger train which left San Antonio, Texas, June 30th, over the "Sunset route," was stopped at Kline station, 145 miles westward, by Deputy Sheriffs Baylore and Nimmo, who attempted to arrest two Mexican horse thieves. A desperate fight followed. Both Mexicans were killed, and the officers' clothing was riddled with bullets, but they escaped unhurt. The passengers took refuge under the seats, supposing the train was captured by robbers.

A plot to murder Joseph Chamberlain and Lord Hartington is said to have been discovered in London.

In the court at Newport, R. I., June 30th, there was a great sensation during the Dorsey murder trial. Rev. Mr. Van Horn testified to a confession which Mrs. Dorsey made. In substance Mrs. Dorsey admitted having had a quarrel with her father, and been knowing to the fact that her husband intended to kill him. She knew when the deed was to be done, and went to the neighbors so that she should not hear the shots fired. At the afternoon session Mrs. Dorsey stated that the testimony given by Mr. Van Horn was correct. The jury returned a verdict of guilty for both Dorsey and his wife, and a sentence of imprisonment for life at hard labor in Providence county jail was imposed on both.

An Important Function Stimulated.

The kidneys exercise most important functions, which are so wearisome that they tax to the utmost the strength and endurance of these busy little organs. Every breath, every pulsation of the heart, every movement of a limb, every thought, makes waste and necessitates the development of new atoms. The used up particles in the blood are sifted from it and dissolved in a watery fluid by the kidneys, which then discharge this fluid into the bladder. A train of disasters to the system would follow if these "ashes," so to speak, were not thoroughly strained off and discharged. This is the case when the kidneys become inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by restoring their activity, not only keeps open a most important outlet for impurities, but prevents diseases of the kidneys themselves, which when inert become liable to fall a prey to diabetes, Bright's disease, mephitis, albumenuria, and other maladies specially incident to them, which, although not specially rapid in their progression, are particularly obstinate and fatal.

It is reported that the "union" carpenters at Chicago have determined to force the 200 non-union workmen of Chicago either into the union or out of the city. A regular system of harassing will be kept up, and violence will be persistently resorted to if found necessary. It is to be hoped that this outrageous attempt to interfere with the personal liberty and unquestionable civil rights of the American working man will result in dire disaster to the would-be tryants.

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

The Voice of the People.

The people, as a whole, seldom make mistakes, and the unanimous voice of praise which comes from those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, fully justifies the claims of the proprietors of this great medicine. Indeed, these very claims are based entirely on what the people say Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them. Read the abundant evidence of its curative powers, and give it a fair, honest trial.

A despatch of the 1st inst. from Halifax, N. S., says: "The American fishing schooner City Point, of Portland, was seized yesterday afternoon by the Dominion cruiser Terror in Shelburne, N. S., harbor, for taking on board water before reporting at the custom house. The captain of the City Point was on his way to the custom house when he met the captain of the Terror." Another despatch of the same date says the City Point was prevented by the Terror from procuring bait at Shelburne, but says nothing of her being seized.

Mr. Reed Has an Eye on Mr. Randall.

While Mr. Randall was piloting through the house of representatives recently the sundry civil service bill, Representative Reed, when a certain paragraph was reached, quietly remarked, "Go to, Samuel; I perceive a job in the language of that sentence." Mr. Randall was indignant, but he at once accepted the advice of the alarmed Judge Holman, and consented to go back, as Mr. Reed had suggested, while the house could consider the clause which prohibited the sale of "any property belonging to the government until after a publication in a daily paper at Washington to be designated by the president"—which would be a good thing for the administration organ. Mr. Randall got into a passion at the interruption. Mr. Reed was as placid as usual, and with his inimitable drawl just reined in the steeds of the democracy, who were travelling through the house at a rate which led them to infer that the minority would not perceive at what they were driving.

The Harvard—Yale Race.

The freshman race between Yale, Columbia and Harvard was rowed at New London, Conn., July 1st, in very rough water. The Yale boat was swamped when well ahead, and the Columbia boat was half full of water at the finish. The Harvard boat, having the smoothest water, won the race.

The boat race at New London, Conn., Friday, was won by Yale, beating Harvard by eight and one-half seconds.

Terrible Explosion.

The mixing house at the Atlantic Dynamite Co.'s works at High Bridge, N. J., blew up on Friday, and ten men were blown to atoms so that no distinguishable remnant of their bodies could be found.

The Records of the Rebellion.

The senate committee on appropriations has struck out of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill the provision for the publication of the records of the rebellion. This action will, of course, cause a lively discussion when the bill is reported to the senate. It is said the committee was influenced by the fact that one or two ex-confederate officers have charge of the compilation of the confederate records. It is alleged that undue coloring in favor of the south has been given some of the records. Among other things it has been ascertained that the report of the board of officers convened as late as 1878 to examine the new evidence in the Fitz John Porter case has been published in Volume 13 of the history of the war. It is claimed that much matter unfavorable to Porter has been omitted from the publication, while everything favorable has been prominently inserted. It is said that an investigation has been demanded. In the meantime General Logan and those acting with him insist that the publication shall be suspended.

The July number of the "Atlantic" contains the Autocrat's engaging description of his first visit to Europe, more than fifty years ago. Dr. Holmes has written nothing for a long time more charming in quality or more thoroughly characteristic. Philip Gilbert Hamerton gives the first paper of his series, "French and English," which bids fair to be as interesting and valuable as his delightful book "Round my House." In these articles he will indicate the differences in manners and morals, modes of life and of thought, between the neighboring nations. As an Englishman who has been for many years really domesticated in France, there is a peculiar fitness in his doing this. George Frederic Parsons' vigorous and extremely sensible paper on "The Labor Question" is a timely contribution. John Fiske has another noteworthy article relating to the time of confusion and almost bankruptcy succeeding the revolutionary war. "The Princess Casamassima," perhaps the strongest novel Mr. James has ever written, grows interesting. There are installments of Craddock's "In the Clouds" and Bishop's "The Golden Justice," and a good short story, "Sibyl the Savage," by Mrs. Champney. There are, of course, some excellent literary articles, the most noticeable being Miss Preston's admirable paper on "Ouida." The "Contributors' clubs" and "Books of the month" complete a remarkable number, which fifty opens the fifty-eighth volume of the magazine. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

One of the pension bills recently vetoed by the president was in favor of the family of a soldier who had been charged with desertion, when it was afterwards discovered that he had been takep prisoner and died in Andersonville. The boys who had a taste of that prison pen and came out alive will naturally ask what constitutes a pension claim in Cleveland's eyes, if death in that hell on earth does not?

The plank relating to the tariff in the platform of the recent state democratic convention means free trade for those who do not desire protection. It was not intended to hit the hosiery interests at Laconia and Franklin.

The steamer Mystic, Capt. H. W. Trefethen, will leave this city for the Isles of Shoals on Sundayat about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, after the arrival of the train from Boston, returning in the afternoon. These Sunday trips with the mails and newspapers she will probably continue throughout the warm term. The Mystic is a remarkably able seaboat for a craft of her size, and has always done very well as to speed; but with the new machinery put in her since last season, and a new and larger propeller, she now performs better than ever.

While Perry Moore was mowing at the Isles of Shoals on Wednesday of this week he swung his scythe through a nest which an old hen had "stolen," and on which she was sitting when thus rudely disturbed. Every one of the thirteen eggs in the nest was cut exactly in two, but the old hen went off unhurt, though squawking at a terrible rate over the destruction of her chicken industry. This is a good story, and also true, for Mr. Moore told it himself.

The prohibitory law against selling spirituous liquors went into effect in Rhode Island on the first instant. The brewers in this city have heretofore found a market for their ales in that state. It is said that a rigid enforcement of the law will be had. In the meantime the democrats of New Hampshire will advocate a license law, as usual.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 123 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Landon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

Saved My Life,

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

SUMMER BEVERAGES.

The intensely hot weather which has come in with July causes a great increase in the call for cooling and soothing beverages, and this demand cannot be more satisfactorily filled than by giving an order to C. E. Boynton, who fifteen years ago started business on a very moderate scale in Bow street, as an experiment, and has year by year enlarged its scope and increased its capacity until he is now able to supply all demands either in the city or its vicinity, with the very best articles made in his line, and at the most reasonable rates. His bottled ale, lager and cider have met with a steadily increasing sale during these years, owing to the care taken in selecting and bottling only the best; of lager two kinds are put up by him, Milwaukee and Eldredge's, the latter being generally preferred here. Of still lighter drinks he manufactures soda and mineral waters, tonic, birch, strawberry, pine-apple, ginger and lemon beers, and extract of nerve food for the benefit of persons suffering from nervous exhaustion; these drinks are as good as the best made anywhere, in or out of the city, and are sold at the lowest prices, delivered free either at business establishments or private houses.

PORTSMOUTH ATHENÆUM.

A list of new books added to the Athenæum from Jan. 1, 1883, to April 1, 1886, arranged by title only, has been printed. These additions, contained in twelve closely printed pages, show the increase of the library to have been quite extensive during the past three years. The increased number of volumes, the excellent care of the rooms, the services of a most competent librarian constantly in attendance, combined with the efforts of the president and other officers to make the library each year of more importance and value to the proprietors, should induce those who would avail themselves of the inestimable privileges of this institution to secure a share in the corporation, by means of which at a comparatively small annual outlay the benefits of the Athenæum can be fully enjoyed.

OUR BEAUTIFUL ROBINS.

Of all the birds protected by the law for the preservation of insectivorous birds, the common robin is the most egregious and unmitigated fraud. The insects he most affects are cherries, strawberries and the like, whereof he destroys a dozen by pecking, for every one he eats. It is very easy to keep him from a cherry tree however; [by cutting it down.] This season I made a grand test of my theory by decorating the three with strips of bright tin and of bright red cloth. The robins tried to pull off the flannel to line their nests for a second crop;—but what they wanted of the strips of tin, unless to slice cherries or cut up worms is beyond my ken. Two ladders placed in the tree reaching to its very top were an equal source of amusement to the little pirates, who alighted on the upper rounds thereof before the foot was out of the hands of those placing them. Even while in the tree myself I stood in some fear from these marauders, who would alight in its branches and give me a terrible scolding. As a songster the robin is not much of a success, its plaintive note being about as cheerful as the caw of a crow—which under the ban of a bounty for its head, destroys more insects hurtful to farmers in one week than any robin ever did in his whole life. True, they will eat worms, if they crawl out of their holes themselves or if they are dug for them by some accommodating gardener; and then when your garden is placed in fine order, as the robin digs with both feet at once he can do more damage in a given time than an athletic Thomas cat, or a brace of well trained dogs.

Plump with his plunder of the hard-tilled gardens of the north he wings his way to the fertile south in the fall; to fall in myraids before the shotgun of the sportsman, to be sold as a dainty game bird. Cooked with the head—as a woodcock—they make the best bird pie ever known. In Louisiana and parts of Texas where they feed on the seeds of the magnolia blossom (which imparts an aromatic flavor to their flesh as does wild celery to the canvas-back duck,) they are sold as "Ortolans."

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Russell Sage and many other prominent business men of New York have signed a request to President Sewall, of the Maine Central railroad, that he will join President Lord, of the Boston & Maine road, in an attempt to reduce the time from Augusta to Boston by forty-five minutes, so that connection may be made at Boston by the 4:30 P. M. train for New York. The signers desire to be able to visit summer resorts along the Maine coast, and on their return to reach New York by the late evening train. The Boston train for New York now leaves Boston fifteen minutes before the arrival of the train on the Boston & Maine road. The next train leaves Boston at 10:30 P. M. The Maine Central train by which the travellers reach Boston is known as the "Flying Yankee," and averages twenty-three miles an hour. President Lord has promised to make half the desired increase in speed, if President Sewall will do likewise.

The Bangor and Bar Harbor express train due here at 10:55 A. M. on Friday consisted of four palace cars and five other passenger cars. Seats in the parlor cars were not to be had at any price by those who had not previously engaged them.

The Boston & Lowell railroad will run special refrigerator cars over its White Mountain division, to supply the hotels and boarding houses among the mountains with luxuries from the Boston markets. Fresh fish will be tabooed.

FOREPAUGH'S TENTED SHOW.

Of the unprecendented popularity of this famous entertainment to be here on Thursday, July 8th, there can be no doubt. It has taken the leading place among tented amusements, and, upon its recent exhibition in Boston, the papers of that city say so. The Daily Post, of June 15th, in a long and elaborate comment makes the appended statement:

"The famous Forepaugh circus began a week of entertainment in its mammoth pavilion on the Union ball grounds yesterday afternoon. In the morning there was a street parade through the resident and business section of the city, with a magnificent display of chariots, a large herd of elephants, headed by the huge Bolivar; fine horses, Cleopatra's barge, cowboys, bands and the shrill calliopes. The first performance was given in the afternoon, the different acts taking place in two rings and on an elevated stage and around the hippodrome course. The equestrian feats were excellent, the riding of Miss Annie Carroll, on a horse that would march and polka, elicited much applause. The trick elephants, Pickaninny and Sullivan, were particularly good, the latter in a boxing match keeping the audience in roars of laughter. Among other features were exhibitions of bicycle riding, trapeze acts, Daisy Belmont on the revolving globe, contortionists, bareback riding, and scores of other interesting events, the whole concluding with a series of exciting hippodrome races, including Roman chariots, elephants, steeple chases and wheelbarrow races. Performances are given every afternoon and evening, and are matchlessly perfect and without comparison."

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, July 3d, 1886.

Frequent complaints having been brought to my notice that men and boys are in the habit of bathing in the waters exposed to the streets, highways and other public places, especially in Sagamore Creek near Lafayette road and Sagamore road, in violation of the city ordinances; notice is hereby given that all persons found offending in this particular will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

The City Marshal and Police Officers are hereby directed to see that the laws in this regard are strictly enforced.

SKIN TORTURES —AND— BLOOD HUMORS

HUMILIATING Eruptions Itching and Burning Skin Tortures, Loathsome Sores, and every species of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Inherited, Scrofulous and Contagious Diseases of the Blood, Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, from Infancy to old age, are positively cured by CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally.

COVERED WITH SORES.

I have been afflicted since last March with a Skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your CUTICURA REMEDIES so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and RESOLVENT internally, for four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

MRS. CLARA A. FREDERICK.
BROAD BROOK, CONN.

SCALP, FACE EARS AND NECK.

I was afflicted with Eczema on the Scalp, Face, Ears and Neck, which the druggists, where I got your remedies, pronounced one of the worst cases that had come under his notice. He advised me to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five days use my scalp and part of my face were entirely cured, and I hope in another week to have my ears, neck, and the other part of my face cured. HERMAN SLADE.
199 E. 4TH STREET, NEW YORK.

ITCHING DISEASES CURED.

CUTICURA stands at the head of its class, especially in this the case with the CUTICURA SOAP. Having had an unusually good sale this summer, owing to the prevalence of an aggravated form of Itch through some localities in the country, in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES proved satisfactory. W. L. HARDIGG, Druggist.

CURE IN EVERY CASE.

Your CUTICURA REMEDIES outsell all other medicines I keep for skin diseases. My customers and patients say they have effected a cure in every instance, where other remedies have failed.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastening the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won its way into hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, River and kidneys.

ly to the imminent danger of tree-boxes and fences, which are not able to get out of his way. He is a striking figure when he gets thoroughly wrapt up in one of his day dreams on horseback. His baggy trousers climb up far enough to leave a hiatus between his shoe tops and their lower ends, and his loose coat rises in a ridge around his neck. His hat catches the infection and settles down towards his ears, and the omnipresent umbrella hangs under his arm by so slender a grip that small boys follow to catch it when it falls. Fortunately for the country in general and the interior department in particular, the horse is sensible enough to do nothing but walk around, usually in quiet streets, where nobody will see the old gentleman. When he gets tired he runs against a tree-box, wakes Lamar up, and then ambles off home with him.—Cor. Pittsburg Chronicle.

Some of the returned North Carolina tourists relate that five of them attended a negro meeting in that State during their recent visit there, and that a collection was taken up, when the unanimous generosity of the congregation footed up to $1.34. A vote of thanks was extended, on motion of the preacher. After the benediction one of the visitors multiplied 25 by 5 and subtracted it from $1.34, and gave as the actual result of the calculation consistent with the actual facts that the rest of the congregation, apart from themselves, had put in just nine cents.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

In the portfolio of Mr. Longfellow soon after his death were found the following lines, which were written by him in July, 1879, and which were not made public recently:

In the long, sleepless watches of the night,
A gentle face—the face of one long dead—
Looks at me from the wall, where round its head
The night-lamp casts a halo of pale light.
Here in this room she died, and soul more white Never through martyrdom of fire was led
To its repose; nor can its books be read.
The legend of a life more benedight.
There is a mountain in the distant West
That, sunset-lying, in its deep ravines
Displays a cross of snow upon its side.
Such is the cross I wear upon my breast
These eighteen years, through all the changing scenes
And seasons, changeless since the day she died.

State Senator John Elkins, of Colorado, was in Denver when the news flashed over the wires that New York was so close that it was thought Cleveland had it. He took the train that night to come east. He was in the sleeper, and at a station some distance this side of Denver a man got on the train, who, after inquiries of the porter, came back where the senator was sitting and asked: "Are you not Mr. Elkins? Are you not a relative of Stephen B. Elkins? I want to find out about the election." The senator's response was: "I am not related to Steve Elkins in the slightest degree. Before election I was his brother."

"Passive resistance" in Ireland has some humor. At Ballysimon, near Limerick, forty-four head of cattle were advertised to be sold for non-payment of rent. Preceded by two donkeys, decorated with gay ribbons, the cattle were driven into Limerick, followed by a great crowd of jolly, boisterous people. The auctioneer, fearing the numerciful guying of the multitude, refused to perform his office. The Sheriff was appealed to, and he also declined. Had a seller been found it is morally certain there would have been no buyers. After a vain attempt to get an auctioneer the sale was abandoned, and the cattle, preceded by their couriers and followed by the rollicking rabble, were driven back to the defaulting tenants.

A BARGAIN!

For all who want to buy so as to compete with those who buy a second quality of goods and force them on the market as "cheap" goods. I have just received a car-load of

PORK & LARD,

Put up expressly for my trade at a time it was at its lowest at Chicago, and I propose giving my customers the benefit for once, so they can sell the best as low as others can sell a poorer quality.
